(d) Within sixty days after the issuance of the order for construction of an underpass or overpass or the installation of other safety device as herein provided for, the railroad company against which such order is issued shall submit to the Commission plans for such construction or installation, and within ten days thereafter said Commission, through its chairman, shall notify such railroad company of its approval of said plan or of such changes and amendments thereto as to it shall seem advisable. If such plans are not submitted to the Commission by said railroad company within sixty days as aforesaid, the chairman of the Commission shall have plans prepared and submit them to the railroad company. The railroad company shall within ten days notify the chairman of its approval of the said plans or shall have the right within such ten days to suggest such changes and amendments in the plans so submitted by the chairman of the Commission as to it shall seem advisable. The plans so prepared and finally approved by the chairman of the Commission shall have the same force and effect, and said railroad company shall be charged with like liability, and said underpass or overpass shall be constructed or such safety device installed in accordance therewith as if said plans had been originally prepared and submitted by said railroad company. If said railroad company shall fail or neglect to begin or complete the construction of said underpass or overpass, or the installation of such safety device, as required by the order of the Commission, said commission is authorized and directed to prepare the necessary plans therefor, which plans shall have the same force and effect, and shall fix said roadroad company with like liability, as if said plans had been originally prepared and submitted by said railroad company, and the Commission shall proceed to construct said underpass or overpass or install such safety device in accordance therewith. An accurate account of the cost of said construction or installation shall be kept by the Commission and upon the completion of such work a statement of that portion thereof chargeable to such railroad company as set out in the order of the commission shall be rendered said railroad company. Upon the failure or refusal of said company to pay the bill so rendered, the Commission shall recover the amount thereof by suit therefor against said company in the Superior Court of Wake County: Provided, that the payment by such railroad company of said proportionate part may be made under such rules and regulations and by such methods as the Commission may provide. If the Commission shall undertake to do the work, it shall not obstruct or impair the operation of the railroad and shall keep the roadbed and track safe for the operation of trains at every stage of work. If said railroad company shall construct such underpass or overpass or shall install such safety devices in accordance with the order of the Commission, one-half of the cost of such construction shall upon the completion of said work be paid to such railroad company by the Commission. The Commission may inspect and check the expenditures for such construction or installation so made by the railroad company and an accurate account of the cost thereof shall upon the completion of said work be submitted to the commission by the railroad company. If the Commission shall neglect or refuse to pay that portion of the cost of said construction or installation chargeable to it, the railroad company shall recover the amount thereof by suit therefor against the Commission in the Superior Court of Wake County.

(e) If any railroad company so ordered by the Commission to construct an underpass or over-pass or to install safety devices at grade crossings as hereinbefore provided for shall fail or refuse to comply with the order of the Commission requiring such construction or installation, said railroad company shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be fined not less than fifty nor more than one hundred dollars in the discretion of the court for each day such failure or refusal shall continue, each said day to constitute a separate offense.

(f) The jurisdiction over and control of said grade crossings and safety devices upon the State highway system herein given the Commission shall be exclusive.

(g) From any order or decision so made by the Commission the railroad company may appeal to the Superior Court of the county wherein is located the crossing affected by said order. Such appeal shall not defer or delay the construction of such underpass or overpass or the installation of such safety device as required by the order of the commission, but the railroad company shall proceed to comply with such order in accordance with its terms. The action of the railroad company in complying with and carrying out such order pending said appeal shall not prejudice or affect the rights or remedies of such railroad company on such appeal. Upon such appeal the court shall determine only whether the order of the commission for such construction or installation is unreasonable and unnecessary for the protection of the traveling public and the apportionment of the cost to the extent hereinafter provided in this subsection, and if upon the hearing of said appeal it shall be determined that said order was unnecessary for the protection of the traveling public, the Commission shall bear the total cost of the construction of such underpass or overpass or the installation of such safety device. In event the decision on appeal should be that the construction or installation was necessary but the cost thereof unreasonable, then the railroad company shall bear its proportion (not to exceed fifty per cent) of such cost as may be determined on appeal would have been reasonable to meet the necessity in the instant case. Upon said appeal from an order of the Commission, the burden of proof shall be upon the railroad company, and if it shall not be found and determined upon said appeal that said order was unreasonable or unnecessary for the protection of the traveling public at said crossing, then such railroad company shall bear its proportion of the cost of such construction or installation in accordance with this section. § 136-21. Drainage of highway; application to court; summons; commissioners.—Whenever in the establishment, construction, improvement or maintenance of any public highway it shall be necessary to drain said highway, and to accomplish such purpose it becomes necessary to excavate a canal or canals for carrying the surplus water to some appropriate outlet, either along the right-of-way of said highway or across the lands of other landowners, and by the construction, enlargement or improvement of such canal or canals, lands other than said highway will be drained and benefited, then, and in such event, the State Highway and Public Works Commission, if said highway be a part of the State highway system, or the county commissioners, if said road is not under state supervision, may, by petition, apply to the Superior Court of the county in which, in whole or in part, said highway lies or said canal is to be constructed, setting forth the necessity for the construction, improvement or maintenance of said canal, the lands which will be drained thereby, with such particularity as to enable same to be identified, the names of the owners of said land and the particular circumstances of the case; whereupon a summons shall be issued for and served upon each of the proprietors, requiring them to appear before the court at a time to be named in the summons, which shall not be less than ten days from the service thereof, and upon such day the petition shall be heard, and the court shall appoint three disinterested persons, one of whom shall be a competent civil and drainage engineer recommended by the Department of Conservation and Development, and the other two of whom shall be resident freeholders of the county or counties in which the road and lands are, in whole or in part, located, as commissioners, who shall, before entering upon the discharge of their duties, be sworn to do justice between the parties. (1925, c. 85, s. 3; c. 122, s. 4; 1933, c. 172, s. 17.)

§ 136-22. View by commissioners; report; judgment.—The commissioners, or a majority of them, one of whom must be the engineer aforesaid, shall, on a day of which each party is to be notified at least five days in advance, meet on the premises, and view the highway, or proposed highway, and also the lands which may be drained by the proposed canal, and shall determine and report what lands will be drained and benefited by the construction, enlargement or improvement of such canal, and whether said drainage ought to be done exclusively by said highway authorities, and if they are of opinion that the same ought not to be drained exclusively at their expense, then they shall decide and determine the route of the canal, the dimensions and character thereof, and the manner in which the same shall be cut or thrown up, considering all the circumstances of the case, the extent, area and identity of lands which shall be permitted to drain therein, and providing as far as possible for the effectual drainage of said highway, and the protection and benefit of the lands of all the parties; and they shall apportion the cost of the construction, repair and maintenance of said canal among said highway authorities and said landowners, and report the same to the court, which when confirmed by the clerk shall stand as a judgment of the court against each of the parties, his or its executors, administrators, heirs, assigns or successors. (1925, c. 85, s. 4.)

§ 136-23. Appeal.—Upon the entry of the judgment or decree aforesaid the parties to said action, or any of them, shall have the right to appeal to the Superior Court in term time under the same rules and regulations as apply to other special proceedings. (1925, c. 85, s. 5.)

§ 136-24. Rights of parties.—The parties to such special proceeding shall have all the rights which are secured to similar parties by article gone of chapter one hundred fifty-six of this Code and shall be regulated by the provisions thereof and amendments thereto, in so far as the same are not inconsistent herewith. (1925, c. 85, s. 6.)

§ 136-25. Repair of road detour.—It shall be mandatory upon the state highway and public works commission, its officers and employees, or any contractor or subcontractor employed by the said commission, to select, lay out, maintain and keep in as good repair as possible suitable detours by the most practical route while said highways or roads are being improved or constructed, and it shall be mandatory upon the said commission and its employees or contractors to place or cause to be placed explicit directions to the traveling public during repair of said highway or road under the process of construction. All expense of laying out and maintaining said detours shall be paid out of state highway fund. (1921, c. 2, s. 11; 1933, c. 172, s. 17; C. S. 3846(s).)

§ 136-26. Closing of state highways during construction; injury to barriers, warning signs, etc. — If it shall appear necessary to the state highway and public works commission, its officers, or appropriate employees, to close any road or highway coming under its jurisdiction so as to permit of proper completion of work which is being performed, such commission, its officers or employees, may close, or cause to be closed, the whole or any portion of such road or highway deemed necessary to be excluded from public travel. While any such road or highway, or portion thereof, is so closed, or while any such road or highway, or portion thereof, is in process of construction or maintenance, such commission, its officers or appropriate employees, or its contractor, under authority from such commission, may erect, or cause to be erected, suitable barriers or obstructions thereon; may post, or cause to be posted, conspicuous notices to the effect that the road or highway, or portion thereof, is closed; and may place warning signs, lights and lanterns on such road or highway, or portions thereof. (1921, c. 2, s. 12; 1933, c. 172, s. 17; C. S. 3846(t).)

§ 136-27. Connection of highways with improved streets; pipe lines and conduits; cost. — When any portion of the state highway system shall run through any city or town and it shall be found necessary to connect the state highway system with improved streets of such city or town as may be designated as part of such system, the state highway and public works commission shall build such connecting links, the same to be uniform in dimensions and materials with such state highways: Provided, however, that whenever any city or town may desire to widen its streets which may be traversed by the state highway, the commission may make such arrangements with said city or town in connection with the construction of said road as, in its discretion, may seem wise and just under all the facts and circumstances in connection therewith: Provided further, that such city or town shall save the commission harmless from any claims for damage arising from the construction of said road through such city or town and including claims for rights of way, change of grade line, and interference with public-service structures. And the commission may require such city or town to cause to be laid all water, sewer, gas or other pipe lines or conduits, together with all necessary house or lot connections or services, to the curb line of such road or street to be constructed: Provided further, that whenever by agreement with the road governing body of any city or town any street designated as a part of the state highway system shall be surfaced by order of the commission at the expense, in whole or in part, of a city or town it shall be lawful for the governing body of such city or town to declare an assessment district as to the street to be improved, without petition by the owners of property abutting thereon, and the costs thereof, exclusive of so much of the cost as is incurred at street intersections and the share of railroads or street railways whose tracks are laid in said street, which shall be assessed under their franchise, shall be specially assessed upon the lots or parcels of land abutting directly on the improvements, according to the extent of their respective frontage thereon by an equal rate per foot of such frontage. (1921, c. 2, s. 16; 1923, c. 160, s. 4; 1933, c. 172, s. 17; C. S. 3846(ff).)

Local Modification.—Durham: 1925, c. 312; Town of Siler City: 1935 Pr. c. 143.

Letting of contracts to bidders after advertisement; enforcing claims against contractor by action on bond.—All contracts over one thousand dollars that the commission may let for construction, or any other kinds of work necessary to carry out the provisions of this chapter, shall be let, after public advertising, under rules and regulations to be made and published by the state highway and public works commission, to a responsible bidder, the right to reject any and all bids being reserved to the commission.

No action shall be brought upon any bond given by any contractor of the commission, by any laborer, materialman or other person until and after the completion of the work contracted to be done by the said contractor. Any laborer, materialman or other person having a claim against the said contractor and the bond given by such contractor, shall file a statement of the said claim with the contractor and with the surety upon his bond, and, in the event the surety is a corporation, with the general agent of such corporation, within the State of North Carolina, within six (6) months from the completion of the contract, and a failure to file such claim within said time shall be a complete bar against any recovery on the bond of the contractor and the surety thereon. Only one suit or action may be brought upon the said bond and against the said surety, which suit or action shall be brought in one of the counties in which the work and labor was done and performed and not elsewhere. The procedure pointed out in § 44-14 shall be followed. No surety shall be liable for more than the penalty of the bond. Any person entitled to bring an action shall have the right to require the Commission to furnish information as to when the contract is completed, and it shall be the duty of the Commission to give to any such person proper notice. If the full amount of the liability of the surety on said bond is insufficient to pay the said amount of all claims and demands, then, after paying the full amount due the Commission, the remainder shall be distributed pro rata among the claimants. Any claim of the Commission against the said bond and the surety thereon shall be preferred as against any cause of action in favor of any laborer, materialman or other persons and shall constitute a first lien or claim against the said bond and the surety thereon. (1921, c. 2, s. 15; 1923, c. 160, s. 3; 1925, cc. 260, 269; 1933, c. 172, s. 17; C. S. 3846(v).)

Note.—Public Laws 1941, c. 4 amended this section but its provisions are not codified because by express provision in § 3, the Act expires Jan. 31, 1943.

§ 136-29. Settlement of controversies between commission and awardees of contracts.—Upon the completion of any contract awarded by the state highway and public works commission to any contractor, if the contractor fails to receive such settlement as he claims to be entitled to under his contract, he may, within sixty days from the time of receiving his final estimate, file with the state highway engineer a claim for such amount as he deems himself entitled to under the said contract; and the state highway engineer shall, within thirty days from the receipt of the said claim, pass upon the same and notify the contractor in writing of his decision. If the contractor desires to do so, he may, within thirty days from the receipt of the said decision of the state highway engineer, appeal in writing to the state highway and public works commission. Upon receipt of the said appeal, the chairman of the state highway and public works commission shall immediately appoint a committee of three members of the said commission, no one of whom shall be the commissioner from the division in which the said work was done; and the committee so appointed shall promptly set a time and place for the hearing of the said appeal. The committee or the claimant shall have power and authority to summon persons and papers and the committee shall make a complete investigation of all matters relating to the said appeal and the contract and the work out of which it grows, and determine all matters at issue in a fair and equitable manner according to their best judgment. The decision of the said committee shall be final and any amount which they may award the said contractor will be a valid claim against the state highway and public works commission; provided, however, an appeal may be had from the decision of the said committee to the superior court of Wake county under the same terms, conditions and procedure as appeals from the industrial commission, as provided in § 97-61. The provisions of this section shall be deemed to enter into and form a part of every contract entered into between the state highway and public works commission and any contractor, and no provision in said contracts shall be valid that are in conflict herewith. (1939, c. 318.)

Highways shall be distinctly marked with some standard, uniform design and the numbers thereon shall correspond with the numbers given the various routes by the commission and shown on official maps issued by the commission. Other guide signs and warning signs shall also be of uniform design. The system of marking and signing highways shall correlate with and so far as possible conform to the system adopted in other states.

The commission shall have the power to control all signs within the right-of-way of state highways.

The commission may erect proper and uniform signs directing persons to roads and places of importance. (1921, c. 2, ss. 9(a), 9(b); 1927, c. 148, s. 54; 1933, c. 172, s. 17; C. S. 3846(q), 3846(r).)

No person shall erect or maintain upon any highway any traffic or highway sign or signal bearing thereon any commercial advertising: Provided, nothing in this section shall be construed to prohibit the erection or maintenance of signs, markers, or signals bearing thereon the name of an organization authorized to erect the same by the State Highway and Public Works Commission or by any local authority referred to in § 136-31. Any person who shall violate any of the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and punished in the discretion of the court. The commission may remove any signs erected without authority. (1921, c. 2, s. 9(b); 1927, c. 148, ss. 56, 58; 1933, c. 172, s. 17; C. S. 3846(r).)

§ 136-34. State Highway and Public Works Commission authorized to furnish road equipment to municipalities.—The State Highway and Public Works Commission is hereby authorized to furnish municipalities road maintenance equipment to aid such municipalities in the maintenance of streets for which no State highway funds are provided, upon such rental agreement as may be agreed upon by the State Highway and Public Works Commission and the said municipality. Such rental, however, is to be at least equal to the cost of operation, plus wear and tear on such equipment; and the State Highway and Public Works Commission shall not be required to furnish equipment when to do so would interfere with the maintenance of the streets and highways under the control of said commission. (1941, c. 299.)

§ 136-35. Cooperation with other states and federal government.—It shall also be the duty of the State Highway and Public Works Commission, where possible, to cooperate with the state highway commissions of other states and with the federal government in the correlation of roads so as to form a system of intercounty, interstate, and national highways. (1915, c. 113, s. 12; 1933, c. 172, s. 17; C. S. 3584.)

§ 136-36. Appropriations to cities and towns for maintenance, construction, and improvement of streets.—The money appropriated and provided for in the Appropriations Bill for the fiscal years one thousand nine hundred and forty-one and one thousand nine hundred and forty-two and one thousand nine hundred and forty-three from funds collected from the tax on gasoline and license fees on motor vehicles and such further sums as may be appropriated from time to time and allocated to cities and towns shall be spent for the maintenance, repair, improvement, construction, reconstruction, or widening of highways and streets in cities and towns, as provided in §§ 136-36 to 136-41. Should any balance remain in the allotment to any city or town at the end of a fiscal year, such balance shall accrue to the credit of such city or town to be added to its allotment for the ensuing fiscal year. (1941, c. 217, s. 3.)

§ 136-39. Performance of work on streets; specifications.—The work of maintaining, repairing, improving, constructing, reconstructing, or widening such streets shall be performed by the state highway and public works commission, except that in the discretion of the commission it may contract with any city or town having adequate facilities that the city or town shall do the work of maintaining, repairing, improving, constructing, reconstructing, or widening such streets. In the event the work is performed by the city or town, it shall account quarterly to the state highway and public works commission for the use of the funds in such work; and in the event the work is performed by the state highway and public works commission, it shall account annually to the city or town for the use of the funds in such work. All work for which the funds herein provided for are spent shall be in accordance with the specifications of the state highway and public works commission. (1941, c. 217, s. 4.)

§ 136-40. Right of municipalities to construct, improve, etc., additional streets.—Neither the undertaking nor doing of any work upon streets in cities and towns by the state highway and public works commission shall deprive the cities or towns of the right to construct streets or to improve or maintain them as they may deem necessary, in addition to the work done by the state highway and public works commission. (1941, c. 217, s. 4.)

§ 136-41. Enforcement of contracts between commission and municipalities.—All contracts entered into between the state highway and public works commission and the municipalities of the state under §§ 136-36 to 136-41 or other provision of the state highway law may be enforced by proper actions either in the superior court of the county in which said municipality exists or in Wake county. (1941, c. 217, s. 5.)

§ 136-42. Markers on highway; coöperation of commission.—The State Highway and Public Works Commission is hereby authorized to cooperate with the North Carolina Historical Commission in marking historic spots along the State highways. (1927, c. 226, s. 1; 1933, c. 172, s. 17.)

§ 136-43. Expenditure of highway funds for erection of historical markers.—Whereas, the State of North Carolina is rich in points of historic interest, such as the first attempt at colonization on this continent, the efforts of the thirteen colonies to gain independence, Revolutionary and Civil War history, numerous birthplaces and graves of foremost North Carolinians who have played important roles in the history of the nation, as well as other historic shrines; and

Whereas, such facts are not generally known save to a few historians, and in many instances only to residents of the immediate territory; and

Whereas, no effective method has yet been adopted or provided for imparting knowledge of all these important facts to citizens of this and other states; and

Whereas, at the request and pursuant to a resolution of the Department of Conservation and Development, and the State Historical Commission, a group of five historians, one from each of the following named institutions of learning: Duke University, University of North Carolina, North Carolina State College, Wake Forest College and Davidson College, together with the State Historian, have agreed to serve as an advisory committee without expense to the state, and to designate such points of historic interest in the order of their importance, and to provide appropriate wording for their proper marking;

Now, therefore, in order to enable the Department of Conservation and Development to carry out this plan, in cooperation with the State Historical Commission, and the State Highway Commission; the General Assembly of North Carolina do enact:

That expenditures by the State Highway and Public Works Commission in cooperation with the Department of Conservation and Development and the State Historical Commission for the purposes of carrying out the program outlined in the preamble hereof is hereby declared to be a valid expenditure of State Highway maintenance funds: Provided, that not more than five thousand dollars in any one year shall be expended for this purpose, but this limitation shall not be construed to prevent the expenditure of any Federal Highway Funds that may be available for this purpose. (1935, c. 197.)

§ 136-44. Maintenance of grounds at home of Nathaniel Macon and grave of Anne Carter Lee.—The Highway and Public Works Commission is hereby authorized and directed through the Highway Supervisor of the Warren County District, to clean off and keep clean the premises and grounds at the old home of Nathaniel Macon, known as "Buck Springs," which are owned by the County of Warren, and also to look after the care and keeping the grounds surrounding the grave of Miss Anne Carter Lee, daughter of General Robert E. Lee, in Warren County. (1939, c. 38.)

Art. 3. State Highways.

Part I. Highway System of 1921.

§ 136-45. General purpose of law; control, repair and maintenance of highways.—The general purposes of chapter two of the Public Laws of 1921 are for the state to lay out, take over, establish and construct, and assume control of approximately 5,500 miles of hard-surfaced and other dependable highways running to all county-seats, and to all principal towns, state parks, and principal state institutions, and linking up with state highways of adjoining states and with national highways into national forest reserves by the most practical routes, with special view of development of agriculture, commercial and natural resources of the state, and for the further purpose of permitting the state to assume control of the state highways, repair, construct, and reconstruct and maintain said highways at the expense of the entire state, and to relieve the counties and cities and towns of the state of this burden. (1921, c. 2, s. 2; C. S. 3846(a).)

Note.—The statutes in Parts I, II, and III of this article reflect the growth and culmination of general state control of the public roads, and must be read in this light. Sections 136-45 to 136-47 are codified from the act which authorized the state highway system of 1921—the first important step. Sections 136-48 to 136-50, enacted in 1927, authorized an extension of this system. Sections 136-51 to 136-53 authorized the assumption of control by the state of the county public roads.

§ 136-46. Establishment of system of state highways; work leading to hard-surfaced construction.—The purpose and intent of chapter two of the Public Laws of 1921 is to establish a system of state highways for the state, hard-surfacing said highways as rapidly as possible, and maintaining the entire system of said highways in the most approved manner as outlined in that act. Work on the various links in the state highway system shall be of such a character as will lead to ultimate hard-surfaced construction as rapidly as money, labor, and materials will permit, and to a state system of durable hard-surfaced, all-weather roads, connecting the various county-seats, principal towns, and cities. (1921, c. 2, s. 3; C. S. 3846(b).)

§ 136-47. Maximum mileage; routes and maps; objections; changes. — Fifty-five hundred (5500) miles shall be the approximate maximum limit of mileage of the state highway system. The designation of all roads comprising the state highway system as proposed by the state highway and public works commission shall be mapped, and there shall be publicly posted at the courthouse door in every county in the state a map of all the roads in such county in the state system, and the board of county commissioners or county road-governing body of each county, or street governing body of each city or town in the state shall be notified of the routes that are to be selected and made a part of the state system of highways; and if no objection or protest is made by the Board of County Commissioners of the county, road-governing body of any county, or street-governing body of any city or town in the state within sixty days after the notification before mentioned, then and in that case the said roads or streets, to which no objections are made, shall be and constitute links or parts of the state highway system. If any objections are made by the board of county commissioners or county road-governing body of any county or street-governing body of the city or town, the whole matter shall be heard and determined by the state highway and public works commission in session, under such rules and regulations as may be laid down by the commission, notice of the time and place of hearing to be given by the commission at the courthouse door in the county, and in some newspaper published in the county, at least ten days prior to the hearing, and the decision of the commission shall be final. A map showing the proposed roads to constitute the state highway system is attached to chapter two of the Public Laws of one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one and made a part hereof. The roads so shown can be changed, altered, added to or discontinued by the commission: Provided, no roads shall be changed, altered or discontinued so as to disconnect county-seats, principal towns, state or national parks or forest reserves, principal state institutions, and highway systems of other states. The rights of way to all roads taken over under this section shall be not less than thirty (30) feet: Provided, that no toll road shall be taken over under this section unless by agreement or condemnation as herein provided. (1921, c. 2, s. 7; 1933, c. 172, s. 17; C. S. 3846(c).)

Part II. Expansion of Highway System in 1927.

§ 136-48. Additional roads for state maintenance.—The State Highway and Public Works Commission is authorized and empowered, and it shall be their duty to take over for State maintenance additional roads heretofore maintained by the several counties. The amount of additional roads so taken over for State maintenance shall not exceed twenty per cent of the present mileage as is now designated and maintained as State Highways. (1927, c. 200, s. 2; 1933, c. 172, s. 17.)

§ 136-49. Laying out and designation of roads discretional.—The laying out, and designation of new roads placed on the State Highway System as State maintained road, shall be left entirely in the discretion of the said Highway and Public Works Commission in the respective districts, dividing the mileage of new roads taken on in counties which have heretofore not received as much State Highway mileage as to make said county or counties share equally as nearly as practicable with other counties of the State, or in the discretion of the Commission in said District to place said additional roads on State maintenance that will best serve that section of the State. (1927, c. 200, s. 2; 1933, c. 172, s. 17.)

§ 136-50. Coöperation with county road authorities.—The State Highway and Public Works Commission shall work in coöperation with the road governing body of the counties in their respective and several districts in the laying out of these roads, always looking after the interest of both county and State in so doing. (1927, c. 200, s. 3; 1933, c. 172, s. 17.)

Part III. County Public Roads Incorporated into State Highway System.

§ 136-51. Maintenance of county public roads vested in State Highway and Public Works Commission.—From and after July first, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one, the exclusive control and management and responsibility for all public roads in the several counties shall be vested in the State Highway and Public Works Commission as hereinafter provided, and all county, district, and township highway or road commissioners, by whatever name designated, and whether created under public, public-local, or private acts, shall be abolished:

Provided, that for the purpose of providing for the payment of any bonded or other indebtedness, and for the interest thereon, that may be outstanding as an obligation of any county, district, or township commission herein abolished, the board of county commissioners of the respective counties are hereby constituted fiscal agents, and are vested with authority and it shall be their duty to levy such taxes on the taxable property or persons within the respective county, district, or township by or for which said bonds or other indebtedness were issued or incurred and as are now authorized by law to the extent that the same may be necessary to provide for the payment of such obligations; and the respective commissions herein abolished shall on or before July first, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one, turn over to said board of county commissioners any moneys on hand or evidences of indebtedness properly applicable to the discharge of any such indebtedness (except such moneys as are mentioned in paragraph (a) above); and all uncollected special road taxes shall be payable to said board of county commissioners, and the portion of said taxes applicable to indebtedness shall be applied by said commissioners to said indebtedness, or invested in a sinking fund according to law. All that portion of said taxes or other funds coming into the hands of said county commissioners and properly applicable to the maintenance or improvement of the public roads of the county shall be held by them as a special road fund and disbursed upon proper orders of the Commission.

Provided, further, that in order to fully carry out the provisions of this section the respective boards of county commissioners are vested with full authority to prosecute all suitable legal actions. (1931, c. 145, s. 7; 1933, c. 172, s. 17.)

§ 136-52. Eminent domain with respect to county roads.—To the end that the State Highway and Public Works Commission may the better take over the maintenance and improvement, reconstruction and construction of the public roads in the various counties, together with the bridges and railroad grade crossings thereon, and may the better carry out the intent and purposes of § 136-51, the Commission is vested, in respect of and to the public roads in the various counties, with the same powers of and responsibility of eminent domain as are conferred and imposed upon the Commission in §§ 136-18 and 136-19 in respect of and to the State Highway System, and the Commission is authorized and empowered to adopt rules and regulations governing the use of the various county road systems and to promulgate the same. (1931, c. 145, s. 10; 1933, c. 172, s. 17.)

§ 136-53. Map of county road systems posted; objections.—On or before May first, one thousand and nine hundred and thirty-one, the designation of all roads comprising the several county road systems as are proposed to be taken over for maintenance and improvement by the State Highway and Public Works Commission shall be mapped, and there shall be publicly posted at the courthouse door in each county a map of all the roads in such county to be contained in the county road system of such county, and the board of county commissioners of such county and the street-governing body of each city or town in such county shall be notified of the roads that are to be selected and to be made a part of the county road system of such county. If no objection is made by the board of county commissioners or the street-governing body of any city or town in such county within thirty (30) days after the notification herein provided for, then and in that event the roads to which no objections are made shall be and constitute the county road system for such county. If objections are made by the board of county commissioners of the county or the street-governing body of any city or town in the county, the Commission shall as soon as practicable send an agent to such county who shall take the matter up with the view of adjusting the objections and agreeing with the county commissioners or the street-governing body of any city or town. If such agent and the board of county commissioners or the street-governing body of any city or town cannot agree, then the whole matter shall be heard and determined by the Commission in session under such rules and regulations as may be made by the Commission. Notice of the time and place of the hearing shall be given by the Commission at the courthouse door and in some newspaper, if any, published in the county, at least ten days prior to the hearing, and the decision of the Commission shall be final. It is the intent and purpose of this section that all roads legally established and used as public roads in the various counties on March 20, 1931, are to and shall be included in the county road systems of the various counties. Maps showing the proposed roads to constitute the county road systems in the several counties have been printed and bound and are now on file in the office of the Commission, and are the maps which shall be posted. If it shall appear to the Commission prior to the posting of the maps under this section that any road or roads which should be included in the county road systems of any county have been omitted from the map of any county as printed, the commission may change such maps so as to include such road or roads before posting. (1931, c. 145, s. 11; 1933, c. 172, s. 17.)

Part IV. Power to Make Changes in Highway System.

§ 136-54. Power to make changes.—Subject to the provisions of §§ 136-56, 136-57 and 136-60 the State Highway and Public Works Commission shall be authorized, when in its judgment the public good requires it, to change, alter, add to, or abandon and substitute new sections for, any portion of the State highway system, as now or hereafter, taken over, maintained and established: Provided, no road shall be changed, altered, or abandoned so as to disconnect county seats and principal towns. (1927, c. 46, s. 1; 1933, c. 172, s. 17.)

Note.—The relation between §§ 136-54, 136-55, 136-56, 136-57 and 136-60 should be noted. Section 136-55 prescribes a procedure for the change or abandonment of portions of the state highway system, under which the decision of the Commission is final. However, §§ 136-54 and 136-55 are subject to the provisions of § 136-56 (requiring the consent of the street governing body of a town before the number of state highways entering certain towns may be reduced); § 136-57 (requiring the consent of the road governing body of the county if the road in question has been located and constructed in accordance with plans and specifications prepared by and on file with the Commission); and § 136-60 (requiring the consent of the county commissioners if the road in question was a portion of the county road system taken over by the State by virtue of §§ 136-51 to 136-53). Thus, §§ 136-54 and 136-55 must be read with these limitations in mind.

§ 136-55. Notice to local road authorities.—Before any road, which is being maintained by the State Highway and Public Works Commission as a part of the State Highway System, can be changed, altered, or abandoned, the chairman or his duly authorized agent shall notify the road governing authorities of the county or counties in which said change, alteration, or abandonment is proposed, of the extent, nature and character of the proposed change, alteration or abandonment, and a map showing the old location and the new proposed location shall be posted at the courthouse door. If within thirty days after the giving of such notice and the posting of such map the road governing body of such county or the street governing body of any county seat or principal town immediately affected thereby, shall protest the proposed change, alteration or abandonment by filing a written notice of such protest with the Commission at Raleigh; the Commission shall thereupon designate three members of the Commission, one of whom may be the chairman, to hear such protest. The place, which shall be within the county, and the time of such hearings shall be fixed by the chairman and notice given to the protesting parties. Such hearings shall be held publicly and all persons desiring to be heard shall be heard. At the close of such hearing the committee shall publicly state their decision. The protesting parties may appeal from such decision to the whole Commission and such appeal shall be heard at a regular or duly called meeting for this purpose in the city of Raleigh and notice given to the appellants. The decision of the whole commission shall be determined by roll call vote duly recorded upon the minutes of the commission.

Any county seat or principal town shall be deemed "immediately affected" if the proposed change or alteration shall enter or leave said town by streets other than those used for such purposes prior to the proposed change. (1927, c. 46, s. 2; 1931, c. 145; 1933, c. 172, s. 17.)

§ 136-56. Number of highways entering town not reduced without consent.—The number of State highways entering the corporate limits of a county seat, principal town, or town in which is located any of the principal State institutions, now served by the State Highway system, shall not be reduced without the consent of the street governing body of said town. (1927, c. 46, s. 3.)

§ 136-57. Consent of local road authorities.—No portion of the State Highway system which has heretofore, or which shall hereafter be located and constructed in accordance with plans and specifications prepared by and on file with the State Highway and Public Works Commission, shall be changed or abandoned without the consent of the road governing body of the county in which said road is situated. (1927, c. 46, s. 4; 1933, c. 172, s. 17.)

§ 136-58. Confirmation.—All changes in, alterations of, and/or abandonments of any portion of the State Highway system heretofore made by the State Highway and Public Works Commission which are not now the subject of litigation, are hereby ratified, approved and confirmed and the newly-established routes are hereby made a part of the State Highway system as fully and to the same extent as if they had appeared upon the map and surveys made and posted by the Commission as required in § 136-47 and no action shall hereafter be maintained in any court of this State against the Commission on account of such change, alteration and/or abandonment. (1927, c. 46, s. 6; 1933, c. 172, s. 17.)

§ 136-59. No court action but by local road authorities.—No action shall be maintained in any of the courts of this State against the State Highway and Public Works Commission to determine the location of any State highways or portion thereof, by any person, corporation, or municipal corporation, other than the road governing body of the county in which said road is situated, or the county seat or principal town affected, as defined in § 136-55 by any change, alteration or abandonment. (1927, c. 46, s. 7; 1933, c. 172, s. 17.)

§ 136-60. Road taken over not to be abandoned without consent of county commissioners.—No road, which shall be a part of any county road system as the same shall be finally adopted in pursuance of § 136-53 shall be abandoned or materially changed without the consent of the board of county commissioners of the county in which said road is located. (1931, c. 145, s. 12.)

§ 136-61. Petition by county commissioners to change or abandon roads or build new roads.—The board of county commissioners of any county may, when in the opinion of said board the best interests of the people of said county or of any particular community thereof will be subserved thereby, petition the State Highway and Public Works Commission to change or abandon any road in the county road system or to add thereto any new road. Said petition shall be filed with the chairman of the Commission, who shall personally or by his duly constituted deputy, after conference with the board of county commissioners of said county, make diligent inquiry into and study of the proposed change, abandonment, or addition, and if in his opinion the public interest demands the same, such change, abandonment, or addition shall be made. Provided, however, that if any such change or abandonment of a road shall affect a road connecting with any street of any city or town in such county, no such change or abandonment shall be made until the street-governing body of such town shall have been duly notified thereof and given opportunity to be heard upon the question. If the chairman of the Commission shall be of the opinion that the public interest does not demand the change, abandonment, or addition petitioned for, the board of county commissioners filing such petition may appeal from his decision to the whole commission, who shall, at such time and place as shall be designated, due notice of which shall be given the parties interested, give public hearing on the matter. The action of the Commission upon all such matters shall be final. Provided, however, any petition which has been declined by the Commission may be again presented under the provisions hereof after the expiration of twelve (12) months. (1931, c. 145, s. 13; 1933, c. 172, s. 17.)

§ 136-62. Petition of citizens to county commissioners to ask Commission to make road changes.—When any number of citizens of any county or any community thereof, not less than twenty-five (25), shall sign and file with the board of county commissioners of such county a petition asking that any road in the county road system of the county be changed or abandoned or that any new road be added to said system, it shall be the duty of said board of county commissioners to make full and thorough investigation, and if in their opinion the best interests of the people of said county or of the particular community thereof to be affected require such change, abandonment, or addition, the said board of county commissioners shall file and prosecute before the State Highway and Public Works Commission the petition provided for in § 136-61. (1931, c. 145, s. 14; 1933, c. 172, s. 17.)

§ 136-63. Public hearings on road changes.—All public hearings provided for in §§ 136-61 and 136-62 shall, when practicable, be held in the county in which the road or roads under consideration and the subject of said hearing, shall be located. (1931, c. 145, s. 15.)

§ 136-64. Filing of complaints with Commission; hearing and appeal.—In the event of failure to maintain the roads of the State Highway System or any county road system in good condition, the board of county commissioners of such county may file complaint with the State Highway and Public Works Commission. When any such complaint is filed, the Commission shall at once investigate the same, and if the same be well founded, the said commission shall at once order the repair and maintenance of the roads complained of and investigate the negligence of the persons in charge of the roads so complained of, and if upon investigation the person in charge of the road complained of be at fault, he may be discharged from the service of the commission. The board of commissioners of any county, who shall feel aggrieved at the action of the Commission upon complaint filed, may appeal from the decision of the Commission to the Governor, and it shall be the duty of the Governor to adjust the differences between the board of county commissioners and the Commission. (1921, c. 2, s. 20; 1931, c. 145, s. 17; 1933, c. 172, s. 17; C. S. 3846(11).)

§ 136-65. District road commissions. — When any road district comprised of territory in two or more counties with a population in excess of twenty thousand inhabitants, as shown by the census of one thousand nine hundred and thirty, has heretofore been established, the Governor shall appoint a road commission for the said district, consisting of three members, which shall, with respect to the roads in said districts, have and exercise the same rights and duties as the board of county commissioners of said county have and exercise with respect to the county road systems under §§ 136-53, 136-60, 136-61, 136-62, 136-64 and this section. Members of the commission shall be appointed for a term of two years. Vacancies in the commission shall be filled by the Governor. (1931, c. 145, s. 18.)

§ 136-66. Definitions. — Wherever the word "County" or the words "County Commissioners" appear in §§ 136-51 to 136-53, 136-60 to 136-64, and 136-99, or in any other section of chapter 145 of the Public Laws of 1931 that may appear in this Code, they shall be construed to include any commission or commissioners provided for in § 136-65. (1931, c. 145, s. 36.)

Art. 4. Neighborhood Roads, Cartways, Church Roads, etc.

§ 136-67. Neighborhood public roads.—All those portions of the public road system of the State which have not been taken over and placed under maintenance or which have been abandoned by the State Highway and Public Works Commission, but which remain open and in general use by the public, and all those roads that have been laid out, constructed, or reconstructed with unemployment relief funds under the supervision of the Department of Public Welfare, and all other roads or streets or portions of roads or streets whatsoever outside of the boundaries of any incorporated city or town in the State which serve a public use regardless of whether the same have ever been a portion of any state or county road systems, are hereby declared to be neighborhood public roads and they shall be subject to all of the provisions of §§ 136-68, 136-69 and 136-70 with respect to the alteration, extension, or discontinuance thereof, and any interested citizen is authorized to institute such proceeding, and in lieu of personal service with respect to this class of roads, notice by publication once a week in any newspaper published in said county, or in the event there is no such newspaper, by posting at the courthouse door and three other public places, shall be deemed sufficient: Provided, that this definition of neighborhood public roads shall not be construed to embrace any street, road or driveway that serves an essentially private use. Upon request of the Board of County Commissioners of any county, the State Highway and Public Works Commission is permitted, but is not required, to place such roads in a passable condition without incorporating the same into the State or County Systems, and without becoming obligated in any manner for the permanent maintenance thereof.

This section shall not authorize the reopening on abandoned roads of any railroad grade crossing that has been closed by order of the State Highway and Public Works Commission in connection with the building of an overhead bridge or underpass to take the place of such grade crossing. (1929, c. 257, s. 1; 1933, c. 302; 1941, c. 183.)

§ 136-68. Special proceeding for establishment, alteration or discontinuance of cartways, etc.; petition; appeal. — The establishment, alteration, or discontinuance of any cartway, church road, mill road, or like easement, for the benefit of any person, firm, association, or corporation, over the lands of another, shall be determined by a special proceeding instituted before the Clerk of the Superior Court in the county where the property affected is situate. Such special proceeding shall be commenced by a petition filed with said Clerk and the service of a copy thereof on the person or persons whose property will be affected thereby. From any final order or judgment in said special proceeding, any interested party may appeal to the Superior Court for trial de novo and the procedure established under chapter 40, entitled "Eminent Domain," shall be followed in the conduct of such special proceeding insofar as the same is applicable and in harmony with the provisions of this section. (Rev., s. 2683; Code, s. 2023, 1879, c. 82, s. 9; 1931, c. 448; C. S. 3835.)

Local Modification.—Burke, Caldwell, Catawba, Lincoln: 1931 Pub. Loc. c. 313; Graham: 1935 Pub. Loc. c. 224.

§ 136-69. Cartways, tramways, etc., laid out; procedure. — If any person, firm, association, or corporation shall be engaged in the cultivation of any land or the cutting and removing of any standing timber, or the working of any quarries, mines, or minerals, or the operating of any industrial or manufacturing plants, or taking action preparatory to the operation of any such enterprises, to which there is leading no public road or other adequate means of transportation affording necessary and proper means of ingress thereto and egress therefrom, such person, firm, association, or corporation may institute a special proceeding as set out in the preceding section, and if it shall be made to appear to the Court necessary, reasonable and just that such person shall have a private way to a public road or watercourse or railroad over the lands of other persons, the Court shall appoint a jury of view of three disinterested freeholders to view the premises and lay off a cartway, tramway, or railway of not less than fourteen feet in width, or cableways, chutes, and flumes, and assess the damages the owner or owners of the land crossed may sustain thereby, and make report of their findings in writing to the Clerk of the Superior Court. Exceptions to said report may be filed by any interested party and such exceptions shall be heard and determined by the Clerk of the Superior Court. The Clerk of the Superior Court may affirm or modify said report, or set the same aside and order a new jury of view. All damages assessed by a judgment of the Clerk, together with the cost of the proceeding, shall be paid in to the Clerk's office before the petitioners shall acquire any rights under said proceeding. (Rev., s. 2686; Code, s. 2056; 1917, c. 282, s. 1; 1917, c. 187, s. 1; 1909, c. 364, s. 1; 1903, c. 102; 1887, c. 46; R. C., c. 101, s. 37; 1798, c. 508, s. 1; 1822, c. 1139, s. 1; 1879, c. 258; 1921, c. 135; Ex. Sess. 1921, c. 73; 1929, c. 197, s. 1; 1931, c. 448; C. S. 3836.)

§ 136-70. Alteration or abandonment of cartways, etc., in same manner. — Cartways or other ways established under this article or heretofore established, may be altered, changed, or abandoned in like manner as herein provided for their establishment upon petition instituted by any interested party: Provided, that all cartways, tramways, or railways established for the removal of timber shall automatically terminate at the end of a period of five years, unless a greater time is set forth in the petition and the judgment establishing the same. (Rev., s. 2694; Code, s. 2057; 1887, c. 46, s. 2; R. C., c. 101, s. 38; 1798, c. 508, ss. 1, 2, 3; 1834, c. 16, s. 1; 1887, c. 266; 1931, c. 448; C. S. 3837.)

See "Local Modifications" under § 136-68.

§ 136-71. Church roads laid out on petition; procedure.—Necessary roads leading to any church or other place of public worship may be established in the same manner as set forth in the preceding sections of this article upon petition of the duly constituted officials of such church. (Rev., ss. 2687, 2689; Code, ss. 2062, 2064; 1872-3, c. 189, ss. 1-3, 5; 1931, c. 448; C. S. 3838.)

Art. 5. Bridges.

§ 136-72. Load limits for bridges; liability for violations. — The State Highway and Public Works Commission shall have authority to determine the maximum load limit for any and all bridges on the State Highway System or on any county road systems, to be taken over under §§ 136-51 to 136-53, and post warning signs thereon, and it shall be unlawful for any person, firm, or corporation to transport any vehicle over and across any such bridge with a load exceeding the maximum load limit established by the Commission and posted upon said bridge, and any person, firm, or corporation violating the provisions of this section shall, in addition to being guilty of a misdemeanor, be liable for any or all damages resulting to such bridge because of such violation, to be recovered in a civil action, in the nature of a penalty, to be brought by the Commission in the Superior Court in the county in which such bridge is located or in the county in which the person, firm, or corporation is domiciled; if such person, firm, or corporation causing the damage shall be a nonresident or a foreign corporation, such action may be brought in the Superior Court of Wake County. (1931, c. 145, s. 16; 1933, c. 172, s. 17.)

§ 136-73. Duty as to bridges of millowners on, or persons ditching or enlarging ditches across, highways.—It shall be the duty of every owner of a water-mill which is situate on any public road, and also of every person who, for the purpose of draining his lands, or for any other purpose, shall construct any ditch, drain or canal across a public road, respectively, to keep at his own expense in good and sufficient repair all bridges that are or may be erected or attached to his milldam, immediately over which a public road may run; and also to erect and keep in repair all necessary bridges over such ditch, drain or canal on the highway, so long as they may be needed by reason of the continuance of said mill, or milldam, ditch, drain or canal. Nothing herein shall be construed to extend to any mill which was erected before the laying off of such road, unless the road was laid off by the request of the owner of the mill. The duty hereby imposed on the owner of the mill, and on the person cutting the drain or canal, shall continue on all subsequent owners of the mill, or other property, for the benefit of which the said ditch, drain or canal was cut. When any ditch or drain originally constructed across any public road, and bridged for the convenience and safety of the traveling public, has been or may hereafter be enlarged by the owner of adjacent lands to drain his lands, it shall be the duty of such owner to keep up and in repair all bridges crossing such ditch, drain or canal, and such charge shall be imposed upon all subsequent owners of the lands so drained. (Rev., s. 2697; Code, s. 2036; 1887, c. 261; R. C., c. 101, s. 24; 1817, c. 941, s. 1; 1846, c. 35, s. 1; 1881, c. 290; C. S. 3795.)

§ 136-74. Liability for failure to maintain bridges; penalty and damages.—If any owner of a watermill situated on any public road, or any other person whose duty it is under this chapter to keep up and repair bridges built across any public road or across any ditch, drain, or canal, shall refuse or neglect to keep up and repair, or shall suffer to remain out of repair for the space of ten days, unless repair was prevented by unavoidable circumstances, any bridges which by law he may be required to keep up and repair, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be liable for such damages as may be sustained. (Rev., ss. 2703, 3772, 3773; Code, ss. 1086, 2037; R. C., c. 34, s. 40; c. 101, s. 25; 1817, c. 941, ss. 2, 3; 1876-7, cc. 90, 211; C. S. 3796.)

§ 136-75. Railroad companies to maintain bridges which they make necessary.—All railroad companies shall keep up, at their own expense, any bridge on or over public roads, when the building of such bridge was made necessary in establishing the railroad; and on failure to do so, shall forfeit and pay twenty-five dollars to any person who may sue for the same, and in addition shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. (Rev., ss. 2700, 3775; Code, s. 2054; R. C., c. 101, s. 35; 1838, c. 5, ss. 1-4; C. S. 3797.)

§ 136-76. Counties to provide draws for vessels.—The county or counties which may erect bridges shall, by their boards of commissioners, provide and keep up draws in all such bridges, where the same may be necessary to allow the convenient passage of vessels. When any such draw shall be necessary to be erected for the passage of timber-rafts, said draw may not exceed twenty feet in width. (Rev., s. 2698; Code, s. 2053; 1891, c. 168; R. C., c. 101, s. 34; C. S. 3798.)

§ 136-77. Owner of bridge to provide draws on notice.—Owners of steamboats or other craft, who may intend to navigate any river or creek over which any person may have a bridge, may give three months notice of such intention in one of the public journals of the state, published nearest the river or creek intended to be navigated, and to the owner of the bridge, to construct a draw of sufficient width to allow the passage of the boat which is to be used; and if the owner of the bridge shall not, within three months from the date of the notice, construct the required draw, he shall forfeit and pay the person so notifying, if he be thereby prevented from navigating the watercourse, fifty dollars; and shall be further subject to the like penalty, under like circumstances, for every three months default thereafter. (Rev., s. 2699; Code, s. 2052; R. C., c. 101, s. 32; 1846, c. 51, ss. 1, 2; 1838-9, c. 5; C. S. 3799.)

§ 136-78. Railroad companies to provide draws.—Railroad companies, erecting bridges across watercourses, shall attach and keep up good and sufficient draws, by which vessels may be allowed conveniently to pass. Declaration of necessity for subsistence homesteads; agencies established to effect purpose.—It is hereby declared that it is necessary in the public interest to make provision for the establishment of small individual farms or subsistence homesteads with the necessary dwellings and other structures in planned rural communities, together with livestock, farm implements, equipment and initial materials and supplies to enable success of the applicant and his family, and that the providing of such subsistence homesteads or farm homes and operating facilities in community settlements, being now otherwise impossible, it is essential that provision be made for the investment of private and public funds at low interest rates, the acquisition at fair prices of adequate parcels of land (not classed as sub-marginal lands) the construction of new agricultural facilities, the clearing, grading, draining of lands, and building of planned rural communities under public supervision in accord with proper standards of sanitation and safety at a cost which will permit their use or sale at prices which families of low income and/or families of agricultural experience or ability can afford to pay. Therefore, there are created and established the agencies and instrumentalities hereinafter prescribed which are declared to be the agencies and instrumentalities of the State of North Carolina and/or the agencies and instrumentalities of the United States government when and if designated by it as such, for the purpose of attaining the ends herein recited and their necessity in the public interest. The board may by approval of its charter likewise permit any limited dividend and/or non-dividend corporation to organize and operate one or more rural community projects which may be organized and operated independently of each other under such by-laws, rules and regulations authorized by the board, not inconsistent with the provisions of this article, as may be necessary for the proper conduct of the affairs of the corporation. (1935, c. 459, s. 8.)

§ 137-9. Other powers of board. — In pursuance of its power and authority to supervise and regulate the operations of limited dividend and/or non-dividend companies incorporated under this article the board may in its discretion:

(a) Order all such corporations to do such acts as may be necessary to comply with the provisions of the law, the rules and regulations adopted by the board, or by the terms of any project approved by the board for protection of its security holders or creditors, or to refrain from doing any acts in violation thereof.

(b) Examine all such corporations and keep informed as to their general condition, their capitalization, and the manner in which their property is constructed, operated, or managed and sold.

(c) Either through its members or agents duly authorized by it, enter in or upon and inspect the property, equipment, buildings, plants, offices, apparatus, and devices of any such corporation, examine all books, contracts, records, documents, and papers of any such corporation, and by subpoena duces tecum compel the production thereof.

(d) In its discretion prescribe uniform methods and forms of keeping accounts, records, and books to be observed by such companies and to prescribe by order accounts in which particular outlays and receipts shall be entered, charged, or credited.

(e) Require every such corporation to file with the board an annual report setting forth such information as the board may require, verified by the oath of the president and general manager or receiver, if any, thereof, or by the person required to file the same. Such report shall be in the form, cover the period, and be filed at the time prescribed by the board.

(f) From time to time make, amend, and repeal rules and regulations for carrying into effect the provisions of this article. (1935, c. 459, s. 9.)

§ 137-10. Price fixing for farms sold; determination of payments made by corporations; dividends; sinking funds.—The board shall fix the maximum and minimum purchase price to be charged for the farms sold by such corporation. Such minimum purchase price shall be determined upon the basis of the actual final cost of the project so as to secure, together with all other income of the corporation, a sufficient income to meet all necessary payments to be made by said corporations, as herein prescribed, and such purchase prices shall be subject to revision by the board from time to time. The payments to be made by such corporation shall be (a) all fixed charges and all operating and maintenance charges and expenses, which shall include taxes, assessments, insurance, amortization charges in amounts approved by the board to amortize the mortgage indebtedness in whole or in part, depreciation charge, if, when, and to the extent deemed necessary by the board; reserves, sinking funds, and corporate expenses essential to operation and management of the project in amounts approved by the board. (b) A dividend, if any, not exceeding all the maximum fixed by this article upon the stock of the corporation allotted to the project by the board. (c) Where feasible, in the discretion of the board, a sinking fund in an amount to be fixed by the board for the gradual retirement of the stock and income debentures of the corporation to the extent permitted by this article, or specified in the issues outstanding. (1935, c. 459, s. 10.)

§ 137-11. Reorganization of corporations. — (1) Reorganization of limited dividend and/or non-dividend companies incorporated under this article shall be subject to the supervision and control of the board and no such reorganization shall be had without its authorization.

(2) Upon all such reorganizations the amount of capitalization, including therein all stocks, income debentures and bonds and other evidence of indebtedness, shall be such as is authorized by the board, which, in making its determination, shall not exceed the fair value of the property involved. (1935, c. 459, s. 11.)

§ 137-12. Power of board to enjoin illegal acts of corporations.—Whenever the board shall be of opinion that any such limited dividend and/or non-dividend company is failing or omitting, or about to fail or omit, to do anything required of it by law or by order of the board, and is doing or about to do anything, or permitting anything or about to permit anything to be done, contrary to or in violation of law or of any order of the board, or which is improvident or prejudicial to the interests of the public, the lien holders or the stockholders, it may commence an action or proceeding in the superior court of the county in which the said company is located, in the name of the board for the purpose of having such violations or threatened violations stopped and prevented by mandatory injunction. The board shall begin such action or proceeding by a petition and complaint to the said superior court, alleging the violation complained of and praying for appropriate relief by way of mandatory injunction. It shall thereupon be the duty of the court to specify the time, not exceeding thirty days after service of a copy of the petition and complaint, within which the corporation complained of must answer the petition and complaint.

In case of default in answer or after answer, the court shall immediately inquire into the facts and circumstances in such manner as the court shall direct without other or formal pleadings, and without respect to any technical requirements. The final judgment in any such action or proceeding shall either dismiss the action or proceeding or direct that a mandatory injunction be issued as prayed for in the petition and complaint, or in such modified or other form as the court may determine will afford appropriate relief. (1935, c. 459, s. 12.)

§ 137-13. Acquisition by corporations of property for projects; power of eminent domain.— When the board shall have approved a project for the construction or establishment of a rural community or communities presented it by a limited dividend and/or non-dividend company, such company may undertake the acquisition of the property needed for said project. Such property may be acquired by gift, bequest, or purchase, or, in the case of limited dividend and/or non-dividend companies engaged in the construction and development of rural communities, by the exercise of the power of eminent domain under and pursuant to the law providing for the appropriation or condemnation of private property by corporations with specific authorization by the board to be in the public interest and necessary for the public use. (1935, c. 459, s. 13.)

§ 137-14. Application for charter. — Any number of natural persons, not less than three, a majority of whom are citizens of the United States, may become a corporation by subscribing, acknowledging, and filing in the office of the secretary of state articles of incorporation, hereinafter called "articles," setting forth the information required by the general corporation act of the State, except as herein modified or changed. (1935, c. 459, s. 14.)

§ 137-16. Preference to applicants possessing certain qualifications. — Preference shall be given to applicants who are married or who have dependent families, have good moral character, and are experienced in farming and familiar with farm operations, or who are or recently were farmers, farm tenants, share croppers, or farm laborers, or to good families of small incomes who will contribute to social advantages of the community, and each of whom may be approved by designated representatives of the federal and state agricultural extension service. (1935, c. 459, s. 14.)

The bonds so issued and secured and the mortgage or trust indentures relating thereto may create a first or senior lien and a second or junior lien upon the real property embraced in any project or projects. Such bonds and mortgages may contain such other clauses and provisions as shall be approved by the board, including the right to assignment of rents and entry into possession in case of default; but the operation of the rural community projects in the event of such entry by mortgagee or receiver shall be subject to the regulation of the board under this article. Provisions for the amortization of the bonded indebtedness of companies formed under this article shall be subject to the approval of the board, and the amortization period shall begin three years after the farm family or families are established on the land and continue semi-annually up to a limit of forty years. § 137-20. Application of general corporation laws.—The provisions of the general corporation act, as hereafter from time to time amended, shall apply to limited dividend and/or non-dividend rural rehabilitation companies, except where such provisions are in conflict therewith. (1935, c. 459, s. 14.)

§ 137-21. Dividends on stock restricted. — No stockholder in any company formed hereunder shall receive any dividend, or other distribution based on stock ownership, in any one year in excess of six per centum per annum, except that when in any preceding year, dividends of the amount prescribed in the articles of incorporation shall not have been paid on the said stock, the stockholders may be paid such deficiency without interest out of any surplus earned in any succeeding years. (1935, c. 459, s. 15.)

§ 137-22. Issuance of stock and bonds regulated.—No limited dividend and/or non-dividend company incorporated under this article shall issue stock, bonds, or income debentures except for money, services, or property actually received for the use and lawful purpose of the corporation. § 137-23. Exchange of stock and bonds for income debenture certificates. — The articles of incorporation may authorize the issuance of income debenture certificates bearing no greater interest than five per centum per annum. After the incorporation of a limited dividend rural rehabilitation company, the directors thereof may, with the consent of two-thirds of the holders of any preferred stock that may be issued and outstanding, offer to the stockholders of the company the privilege of exchanging their preferred and common stock in such quantities and at such times as may be approved by the board of rural rehabilitation for such income debenture certificates, whose face value shall not exceed the par value of the stock exchanged therefor. (1935, c. 459, s. 17.)

§ 137-24. Restrictions on corporations. — No limited dividend nor non-dividend company incorporated under this article shall:

(1) Acquire any real property or interest therein unless it shall first have obtained from the board a certificate that such acquisition is necessary or convenient for the public purposes defined in this article.

(2) Sell, transfer, assign, or lease any real or personal property without first having obtained the consent of the board: Provided, however, that leases and/or sales conforming to the regulations and rules of the board and for actual occupancy by the lessees and/or purchasers may be made without the further consent of the board. Any conveyance, incumbrance, lease or sub-lease made in violation of the provisions of this section, and any transfer or assignment thereof, shall be void.

(3) Charge or accept any rental, purchase price, or other charge in excess of the amounts prescribed by the board, except for the insurance of mortgage loans as provided under the Federal Housing Act.

(4) Pay interest returns on its mortgage indebtedness and its income debenture certificates at a higher rate than six per centum per annum.

(5) Issue its stock, debentures and bonds covering any project or projects undertaken by it in an amount greater in the aggregate than the total actual final cost of such project, including the lands, improvements, charges for financing and supervision approved by the board and interest and other carrying charges during construction and the necessary supervision of the project or projects thereafter.

(6) Mortgage any real property or issue any securities or evidences of indebtedness without first having obtained the approval of the board.

Earnings transferable to surplus; distribution upon dissolution; surplus paid into general fund of state.—The amount of net earnings transferable to surplus in any year after making or providing for the payments specified in subdivisions (a), (b), and (c) of section 137-10 shall be subject to the approval of the board. The amount of such surplus shall not exceed fifteen per centum of the outstanding capital stock and/or income debentures of the corporation, but the surplus so limited shall not be deemed to include any increase in assets due to the reduction of mortgage or amortization or similar payments. On dissolution of any limited dividend and/or non-dividend company the stockholders and income debenture certificate holders shall in no event receive more than the par value of their stock and debentures plus accumulated, accrued, and unpaid dividends or interest thereon less any payment or distributions theretofore made other than by dividends provided in § 137-21, and any remaining surplus or other undistributed earnings shall be paid into the general fund of the State of North Carolina, or shall be disposed of in such other manner as the board

Otherwise the property shall be sold free of all restrictions imposed by this article.

(2) Notwithstanding the foregoing provisions of this section, wherever it shall appear that a corporation, subject to the supervision either of the state insurance department or state banking department, or the federal government or any agency or department of the federal government, shall have loaned on a mortgage, which is a lien upon any such property, such corporation shall have all the remedies available to a mortgagee under the laws of the State of North Carolina, free from any restrictions contained in this section, except that the board shall be made a party defendant and that such board shall take all steps necessary to protect the interests of the public, and no costs shall be awarded against it. Fees for examination of plans and supervision of construction and for other purposes; state not liable for board expenses. — The board may charge and collect from a limited dividend or non-dividend corporation, incorporated under this article, reasonable fees in accordance with rates to be established by the rules of the board for the examination of plans and specifications and the supervision of construction in an amount not to exceed one-quarter of one per cent of the cost of the project; for the holding of a public hearing upon application of a limited dividend or non-dividend corporation an amount sufficient to meet the reasonable cost of advertising the notice thereof and of the transcript of testimony taken thereat; for any examination or investigation made upon application of a limited dividend or non-dividend corporation and for any act done by the board, or any of its employees, in performance of their duties under this article an amount reasonably calculated to meet the expense of the board incurred in connection therewith. In no event shall any part of the expenses of the board ever be paid out of the state treasury. The board may authorize a limited dividend or non-dividend corporation to include such fees as part of the cost of a project, or as part of the charges specified in § 137-10, pursuant to rules to be established by the board. 139-11. Nonobservance of prescribed regulations; performance of work under the regulations by the supervisors.
139-12. Co-operation between districts.
139-13. Discontinuance of districts.

§ 139-1. Title of chapter.—This chapter may be known and cited as the Soil Conservation Districts Law. (1937, c. 393, s. 1.)

§ 139-2. Legislative determinations, and declaration of policy.—It is hereby declared, as a matter of legislative determination—

A. The Condition.—The farm, forest and grazing lands of the state of North Carolina are among the basic assets of the state and the preservation of these lands is necessary to protect and promote the health, safety, and general welfare of its people; improper land-use practices have caused and have contributed to, and are now causing and contributing to, a progressively more serious erosion of the farm and grazing lands of this state by wind and water; the breaking of natural grass, plant, and forest cover has interfered with the natural factors of soil stabilization, causing loosening of soil and exhaustion of humus, and developing a soil condition that favors erosion; the topsoil is being blown and washed out of fields and pastures; there has been an accelerated washing of sloping fields; these processes of erosion by wind and water speed up with removal of absorptive topsoil, causing exposure of less absorptive and less protective but more erosive subsoil; failure by any land occupier to conserve the soil and control erosion upon his lands causes a washing and blowing of soil and water from his lands onto other lands and makes the conservation of soil and control of erosion on such other lands difficult or impossible.

B. The Consequences.—The consequences of such soil erosion in the form of soil-blowing and soil-washing are the silting and sedimentation of stream channels, reservoirs, dams, ditches, and harbors; the loss of fertile soil material in dust storms; the piling up of soil on lower slopes, and its deposit over alluvial plains; the reduction in productivity or outright ruin of rich bottom lands by overwash of poor subsoil material, sand, and gravel swept out of the hills; deterioration of soil and its fertility, deterioration of crops grown thereon, and declining acre yields despite development of scientific processes for increasing such yields; loss of soil and water which causes destruction of food and cover for wildlife; a blowing and washing of soil into streams which silts over spawning beds, and destroys water plants, diminishing the food supply of fish; a diminishing of the underground water reserve, which causes water shortages, intensifies periods of drought, and causes crop failures; an increase in the speed and volume of rainfall run-off, causing severe and increasing floods, which bring suffering, disease, and death; impoverishment of families attempting to farm eroding and eroded lands; damage to roads, highways, railways, farm buildings, and other property from floods and from dust storms; and losses in navigation, hydro-electric power, municipal water supply, drainage developments, farming, and grazing.

C. The Appropriate Corrective Methods.—To conserve soil resources and control and prevent soil erosion, it is necessary that land-use practices contributing to soil wastage and soil erosion be discouraged and discontinued, and appropriate soil-conserving land-use practices be adopted and carried out. Among the procedures necessary for widespread adoption, are the carrying on of engineering operations such as the construction of terraces, terrace outlets, check-dams, dikes, ponds, ditches, and the like; the utilization of strip cropping, lister furrowing, contour cultivating, and contour furrowing; land irrigation; seeding and planting of waste, sloping, abandoned, or eroded lands with water-conserving and erosion-preventing plants, trees, and grasses; forestation and reforestation; rotation of crops; soil stabilization with trees, grasses, legumes, and other thick-growing, soil-holding crops; the addition of soil amendments; manurial materials, and fertilizers for the correction of soil deficiencies and/or to promote increased growth of soil-protecting crops; retardation of run-off by increasing the absorption of rainfall; and retirement from cultivation of steep, highly erosive areas and areas now badly gullied or otherwise eroded.

D. Declaration of Policy.—It is hereby declared to be the policy of the legislature to provide for the conservation of the soil and soil resources of this state, and for the control and prevention of soil erosion, and thereby to preserve natural resources, control floods, prevent impairment of dams and reservoirs, assist in maintaining the navigability of rivers and harbors, preserve wildlife, protect the tax base, protect public lands, and protect and promote the health, safety, and general welfare of the people of this state. (1937, c. 393, s. 2.)

§ 139-4. State soil conservation committee. —A. There is hereby established to serve as an agency of the state and to perform the functions conferred upon it in this chapter, the state soil conservation committee. The following shall serve, ex-officio, as members of the committee: The director of the state agricultural extension service, the director of the state agricultural experiment station, and the state forester. The committee may invite the secretary of agriculture of the United States of America to appoint one person who is a resident of North Carolina to serve with the above-mentioned members as a member of the committee. The committee in cooperation with the North Carolina State College of Agriculture and Engineering in the state shall develop a program for soil conservation and for other purposes as provided for in this chapter, and shall keep a record of its official actions, shall adopt a seal, which seal shall be judicially noticed, and may perform such acts, hold such public hearings, and promulgate such rules and regulations as may be necessary for the execution of its functions under this chapter.

B. The state soil conservation committee may employ an administrative officer and such technical experts and such other agents and employees, permanent and temporary, as it may require, and shall determine their qualifications, duties and compensation. The committee may call upon the attorney general of the state for such legal services as it may require; it shall have authority to delegate to its chairman, to one or more of its members, or to one or more agents or employees, such powers and duties as it may deem proper. It shall be supplied with suitable office accommodations at the seat of the state government, and shall be furnished with the necessary supplies and equipment. Upon request of the committee, for the purpose of carrying out any of its functions, the supervising officer of any state agency, or of any state institution of learning shall, insofar as may be possible under available appropriations, and having due regard to the needs of the agency to which the request is directed, assign or detail to the committee members of the staff or personnel of such agency or institution of learning, and make such special reports, surveys, or studies as the committee may request.

C. The committee shall designate its chairman, and may, from time to time, change such designation. A member of the committee shall hold office so long as he shall retain the office by virtue of which he shall be serving on the committee. A majority of the committee shall constitute a quorum, and the concurrence of a majority of the committee in any matter within their duties shall be required for its determination. The chairman and members of the committee shall receive no compensation for their services on the committee, but shall be entitled to expenses, including traveling expenses, necessarily incurred in the discharge of their duties on the committee. The committee shall provide for the execution of surety bonds for all employees and officers who shall be entrusted with funds or property, shall provide for the keeping of a full and accurate record of all proceedings and of all resolutions, regulations, and orders issued or adopted; and shall provide for an annual audit of the accounts of receipts and disbursements.

D. In addition to the duties and powers hereinafter conferred upon the state soil conservation committee, it shall have the following duties and powers:

(1) To offer such assistance as may be appropriate to the supervisors of soil conservation districts, organized as provided hereinafter, in the carrying out of any of their powers and programs.

(2) To keep the supervisors of each of the several districts organized under the provisions of this chapter informed of the activities and experience of all other districts organized hereunder, and to facilitate an interchange of advice and experience between such districts and cooperation between them.

(3) To coordinate the programs of the several soil conservation districts organized hereunder so far as this may be done by advice and consultation.

(4) To secure the cooperation and assistance of the United States and any of its agencies, and of agencies of this state, in the work of such districts.

(5) To disseminate information throughout the state concerning the activities and programs of the soil conservation districts organized hereunder, and to encourage the formation of such districts in areas where their organization is desirable. (1937, c. 393, s. 4.)

§ 139-5. Creation of soil conservation districts. —A. Any twenty-five occupiers of land lying within the limits of the territory proposed to be organized into a district may file a petition with the state soil conservation committee asking that a soil conservation district be organized to function in the territory described in the petition. Such petition shall set forth:

(1) The proposed name of said district.

(2) That there is need, in the interest of the public health, safety, and welfare, for a soil conservation district to function in the territory described in the petition.

(3) A description of the territory proposed to be organized as a district, which description shall not be required to be given by metes and bounds or by legal subdivisions, but shall be deemed sufficient if generally accurate.

(4) A request that the state soil conservation committee duly define the boundaries for such districts; that a referendum be held within the territory so defined on the question of the creation of a soil conservation district in such territory; and that the committee determine that such a district be created.

Where more than one petition is filed covering parts of the same territory, the state soil conservation committee may consolidate all or any such petitions.

B. Within thirty days after such a petition has been filed with the state soil conservation committee, it shall cause due notice to be given of a proposed hearing upon the question of the desirability and necessity, in the interest of the public health, safety, and welfare, of the creation of such districts, upon the question of the appropriate boundaries to be assigned to such district, upon the propriety of the petition and other proceedings taken under this chapter, and upon all questions relevant to such inquiries. All occupiers of land within the limits of the territory described in the petition, and of lands within any territory considered for addition to such described territory, and all other interested parties, shall have the right to attend such hearings and to be heard. If it shall appear upon the hearing that it may be desirable to include within the proposed district territory outside the area within which due notice of the hearing has been given, the hearing shall be adjourned and due notice of further hearing shall be given throughout the entire area considered for inclusion of the district, and such further hearing held. After such hearing, if the committee shall determine, upon the facts presented at such hearing and upon such other relevant facts and information as may be available, that there is need, in the interest of the public health, safety and welfare, for a soil conservation district to function in the territory considered at the hearing, it shall make and record such determination, and shall define, by metes and bounds or by legal subdivisions, the boundaries of such district. In making such determination and in defining such boundaries, the committee shall give due weight and consideration to the topography or the area considered and of the state and composition of soils therein, the distribution of erosion, the prevailing land-use practices, the desirability and necessity of including within the boundaries the particular lands under consideration and the benefits such lands may receive from being included within such boundaries, the relation of the proposed area to existing watersheds and agricultural regions, and to other soil conservation districts already organized or proposed for organization under the provisions of this chapter, and such other physical, geographical and economic factors as are relevant, having due regard to the legislative determination set forth in § 139-2. The territory to be included within such boundaries need not be contiguous. If the committee shall determine after such hearing, after due consideration of the said relevant facts, that there is no need for a soil conservation district to function in the territory considered at the hearing, it shall make and record such determination and shall deny the petition. After six months shall have expired from the date of the denial of any such petition, subsequent petitions covering the same or substantially the same territory may be filed as aforesaid and new hearings held and determinations made thereon.

C. After the committee has made and recorded a determination that there is need, in the interest of the public health, safety and welfare for the organization of a district in a particular territory and has defined the boundaries thereof, it shall consider the question whether the operation of a district within such boundaries with the powers conferred upon soil conservation districts in this chapter is administratively practicable and feasible. To assist the committee in the determination of such administrative practicability and feasibility, it shall be the duty of the committee, within a reasonable time after entry of the finding that there is need for the organization of the proposed district and the determination of the boundaries thereof, to hold a referendum within the proposed district upon the proposition of the creation of the district, and to cause due notice of such referendum to be given. The question shall be submitted by ballots upon which the words "For creation of a soil conservation district of the lands below described and lying in the county (ies) of ....., ... and ....." and "Against creation of a soil conservation district of the lands below described and lying in the county (ies) of ..... and ....." shall appear with a square before each proposition and a direction to insert an X mark in the square before one or the other of said propositions as the voter may favor or oppose creation of such district. The ballot shall set forth the boundaries of such proposed district as determined by the committee. All occupiers of land lying within the boundaries of the territory, as determined by the state soil conservation committee, shall be eligible to vote in such referendum. Only such land occupiers shall be eligible to vote.

D. The committee shall pay all expenses for the issuance of such notices and the conduct of such hearings and referenda, and shall supervise the conduct of such hearings and referenda. It shall issue appropriate regulations governing the conduct of such hearings and referenda, and providing for the registration prior to the date of the date of the referendum of all eligible voters, or prescribing some other appropriate procedure for the determination of those eligible as voters in such referendum. No informality in the conduct of such referendum or in any matters relating thereto shall invalidate said referendum or the result thereof if notice thereof shall have been given substantially as herein provided and said referendum shall have been fairly conducted.

E. The committee shall publish the results of such referendum and shall thereafter consider and determine whether the operation of the district within the defined boundaries is administratively practicable and feasible. If the committee shall determine that the operation of such district is not administratively practicable and feasible, it shall record such determination and deny the petition. If the committee shall determine that the operation of such district is administratively practicable and feasible, it shall record such in the manner hereinafter provided. In making such determination the committee shall give due regard and weight to the attitudes of the occupiers of lands lying within the defined boundaries, the number of land occupiers eligible to vote in such referendum who shall have voted, the proportion of the votes cast in such referendum in favor of the creation of the district to the total number of votes cast, the approximate wealth and income of the land occupiers of the proposed district, the probable expense of carrying on erosion control operations within such district, and such other economic and social factors as may be relevant to such determination, having due regard to the legislative determination set forth in § 139-2: Provided, however, that the committee shall not have authority to determine that the operations of the proposed district within the defined boundaries is administratively practicable and feasible unless at least a majority of the votes cast in the referendum upon the proposition of creation of the district shall have been cast in favor of the creation of such district.

F. If the committee shall determine that the operation of the proposed district within the defined boundaries is administratively practicable and feasible, it shall appoint two supervisors to act, with the three supervisors elected as provided hereinafter, as the governing body of the district. Such district shall be a governmental subdivision of this state and a public body corporate and politic, upon the taking of the following proceedings:

The two appointed supervisors shall present to the secretary of state an application signed by them which shall set forth (and such application need contain no detail other than the mere recitals): (1) that a petition for the creation of the district was filed with the state soil conservation committee pursuant to the provisions of this chapter, and that the proceedings specified in this chapter were taken pursuant to such petition; that the application is being filed in order to complete the organization of the district as a governmental subdivision and public body, corporate and politic under this chapter; and that the committee has appointed them as supervisors; (2) the name and official residence of each of the supervisors, together with a certified copy of the appointment evidencing their right to office; (3) the term of office of each of the supervisors; (4) the name which is proposed for the district; and (5) the location of the principal office of the supervisors of the district. The application shall be subscribed and sworn to by each of the said supervisors before an officer authorized by the laws of this state to take and certify oaths, who shall certify upon the application that he personally knows the supervisors and knows them to be the officers as affirmed in the application, and that each has subscribed thereto in the officer's presence. The application shall be accompanied by a statement by the state soil conservation committee, which shall certify (and such statement need contain no detail other than the mere recitals) that a petition was filed, notice issued, and hearing held as aforesaid, that the committee did duly determine that there is need, in the interest of the public health, safety and welfare, for a soil conservation district to function in the proposed territory and did define the boundaries thereof; that notice was given and a referendum held on the question of the creation of such district, and that the result of such referendum showed a majority of the votes cast in such referendum to be in favor of the creation of the district; that thereafter the committee did duly determine that the operation of the proposed district is administratively practicable and feasible. The said statement shall set forth the boundaries of the district as they have been defined by the committee.

The secretary of state shall examine the application and statement and, if he finds that the name proposed for the district is not identical with that of any other soil conservation district of this state or so nearly similar as to lead to confusion or uncertainty, he shall receive and file them and shall record them in an appropriate book of record in his office. If the secretary of state shall find that the name proposed for the district is identical with that of any other soil conservation district of this state, or so nearly similar as to lead to confusion and uncertainty, he shall certify such fact to the state soil conservation committee, which shall thereupon submit to the secretary of state a new name for the said district, which shall not be subject to such defects. Upon receipt of such new name, free of such defects, the secretary of state shall record the application and statement, with the name so modified, in an appropriate book of record in his office. When the application and statement have been made, filed and recorded, as herein provided, the district shall constitute a governmental subdivision of this state and a public body corporate and politic. The secretary of state shall make and issue to the said supervisors a certificate, under the seal of the state, of the due organization of the said district, and shall record such certificate with the application and statement. The boundaries of such district shall include the territory as determined by the state soil conservation committee as aforesaid, but in no event shall they include any area included within the boundaries of another soil conservation district organized under the provisions of this chapter.

G. After six months shall have expired from the date of entry of a determination by the state soil conservation committee that operation of a proposed district is not administratively practicable and feasible, and denial of a petition pursuant to such determination, subsequent petitions may be filed as aforesaid, and action taken thereon in accordance with the provisions of this chapter.

H. Petitions for including additional territory within an existing district may be filed with the state soil conservation committee, and the proceedings herein provided for in the case of petitions to organize a district shall be observed in the case of petitions for such inclusions. The committee shall prescribe the form for such petitions, which shall be as nearly as may be in the form prescribed in this chapter for petitions to organize a district. Where the total number of land occupiers in the area proposed for inclusion shall be less than twenty-five, the petition may be filed when signed by two-thirds of the occupiers of such area, and in such case no referendum need be held. In referenda petitions for such inclusion, all occupiers of land lying within the proposed additional area shall be eligible to vote.

I. In any suit, action or proceeding involving the validity or enforcement of, or relating to any contract, proceeding or action of the district, the district shall be deemed to have been established in accordance with the provisions of this chapter upon proof of the issuance of the aforesaid certificate by the secretary of state. A copy of such certificate duly certified by the secretary of state shall be admissible in evidence in any such suit, action, or proceeding and shall be proof of the filing and contents thereof. (1937, c. 393, s. 5.)

§ 139-6. Election of three supervisors for each district. — Within thirty days after the date of issuance by the secretary of state of a certificate of organization of a soil conservation district, nominating petitions may be filed with the state soil conservation committee to nominate candidates for supervisors of such district. The committee shall have authority to extend the time within which nominating petitions may be filed. No such nominating petitions shall be accepted by the committee unless it shall be subscribed by twenty-five or more qualified voters of such district. Qualified voters may sign more than one such nominating petition to nominate more than one candidate for supervisor. The committee shall give due notice of an election to be held for the election of three supervisors for the district. The names of all nominees on behalf of whom such nominating petitions have been filed within the time herein designated, shall appear, arranged in the alphabetical order of the surnames, upon ballots, with a square before each name and a direction to insert an X mark in the square before any three names to indicate the voter's preference. All qualified voters residing within the district shall be eligible to vote in such election. The three candidates who shall receive the largest number, respectively, of the votes cast in such election shall be elected supervisors for such district. The committee shall pay all the expenses of such election, shall supervise the conduct thereof, shall prescribe regulations governing the conduct of such election and the determination of the eligibility of voters therein, and shall publish the results thereof. (1937, c. 393, s. 6.)

§ 139-7. Appointment, qualifications and tenure of supervisors.—The governing body of the district shall consist of five supervisors, elected or appointed as provided hereinabove. The two supervisors appointed by the committee shall be persons who are by training and experience qualified to perform the services which will be required of them in the performance of their duties hereunder.

The supervisors shall designate a chairman and may, from time to time, change such designation. The term of office of each supervisor shall be three years, except that the supervisors who are first appointed shall be designated to serve for terms of one and two years, respectively, from the date of their appointment. A supervisor shall hold office until his successor has been elected or appointed and has qualified. Vacancies shall be filled for the unexpired term. The selection of successors to fill an unexpired term, or for a full term, shall be made in the manner in which the retiring supervisors shall, respectively, have been selected. A majority of the supervisors shall constitute a quorum and the concurrence of a majority in any matter within their duties shall be required for its determination. A supervisor shall receive no compensation for his services, but he shall be entitled to expenses, including traveling expenses, necessarily incurred in the discharge of his duties.

The supervisors may employ a secretary, technical experts, whose qualifications shall be approved by the state committee, and such other employees as they may require, and shall determine their qualifications, duties and compensation. The supervisors may call upon the attorney general of the state for such legal services as they may require. The supervisors may delegate to their chairman, to one or more supervisors, or to one or more agents, or employees such powers and duties as they may deem proper. The supervisors shall furnish to the state soil conservation committee, upon request, copies of such ordinances, rules, regulations, orders, contracts, forms, and other documents as they shall adopt or employ, and such other information concerning their activities as it may require in the performance of its duties under this chapter.

The supervisors shall provide for the execution of surety bonds for all employees and officers who shall be entrusted with funds or property; shall provide for the keeping of a full and accurate record of all proceedings and of all resolutions, regulations, and orders issued or adopted; and shall provide for an annual audit of the accounts of receipts and disbursements. Any supervisor may be removed by the state soil conservation committee upon notice and hearing, for neglect of duty, incompetence or malfeasance in office, but for no other reason.

The supervisors may invite the legislative body of any municipality or county located near the territory comprised within the district to designate a representative to advise and consult with the supervisors of the district on all questions of program and policy which may affect the property, water supply, or other interests of such municipality or county. (1937, c. 393, s. 7.)

§ 139-8. Powers of districts and supervisors.—A soil conservation district organized under the provisions of this chapter shall constitute a governmental subdivision of this state, and a public body corporate and politic, exercising public powers, and such district, and the supervisors thereof, shall have the following powers in addition to others granted in other sections of this chapter:

(1) To carry out preventive and control measures within the district including, but not limited to, engineering operations, methods of cultivation, the growing vegetation, changes in use of land, and the measures listed in subsection C of § 139-2, on lands owned or controlled by this state or any of its agencies, with the co-operation of the agency administering and having jurisdiction thereof, and on any other lands within the district upon obtaining the consent of the occupier of such lands or the necessary rights or interest in such lands.

(2) To co-operate, or enter into agreements with, and within the limits of appropriations duly made available to it by law, to furnish financial or other aid to, any agency, governmental or otherwise, or any occupier of lands within the district, in the carrying on of erosion-control and prevention operations within the district, subject to such conditions as the supervisors may deem necessary to advance the purposes of this chapter.

(3) To obtain options upon and to acquire, by purchase, exchange, lease, gift, grant, bequest, devise, or otherwise, any property, real or personal, or rights or interest therein; to maintain, administer, and improve any properties acquired, to receive income from such properties and to expend such income in carrying out the purposes and provisions of this chapter; and to sell, lease, or otherwise dispose of any of its property or interest therein in furtherance of the purposes and the provisions of this chapter.

(4) To make available, on such terms as it shall prescribe, to land occupiers within the district, agricultural and engineering machinery and equipment, fertilizer, seeds, and seedlings, and such other material or equipment, as will assist such land occupiers to carry on operations upon their lands for the conservation of soil resources and for the prevention and control of soil erosion.

(5) To construct, improve, and maintain such structures as may be necessary or convenient for the performance of any of the operations authorized in this chapter.

(6) To develop comprehensive plans for the conservation of soil resources and for the control and prevention of soil erosion within the district, which plans shall specify in such detail as may be possible, the acts, procedures, performances, and avoidances which are necessary or desirable for the effectuation of such plans, including the specification of engineering operations, methods of cultivation, the growing of vegetation, cropping programs, tillage practices, and changes in use of land; and to bring such plans and information to the attention of occupiers of lands within the district.

(7) To act as agent for the United States, or any of its agencies, in connection with the acquisition, construction, operation, or administration of any soil conservation, erosion-control, or erosion-prevention project within its boundaries; to accept donations, gifts, and contributions in money, services, materials, or otherwise, from the United States or any of its agencies, or from this state or any of its agencies, and to use or expend such moneys, services, materials, or other contributions in carrying on its operations.

(8) To sue and be sued in the name of the district; to have a seal, which seal shall be judicially noticed; to have perpetual succession unless terminated as hereinafter provided; to make and execute contracts and other instruments, necessary or convenient to the exercise of its powers; to make, and from time to time amend and repeal, rules and regulations not inconsistent with this chapter, to carry into effect its purposes and powers.

(9) As a condition to the extending of any benefits under this chapter to, or the performance of work upon, any lands not owned or controlled by this state or any of its agencies, the supervisors may require contributions in money, services, materials, or otherwise to any operations conferring such benefits, and may require land occupiers to enter into and perform such agreements or covenants as to the permanent use of such lands as will tend to prevent or control erosion thereon.

(10) No provisions with respect to the acquisition, operation, or disposition of property by other public bodies shall be applicable to a district organized hereunder unless the legislature shall specifically so state. (1937, c. 393, s. 8; 1939, c. 341.)

§ 139-9. Adoption of land-use regulations.— The supervisors of any district shall have authority to formulate regulations governing the use of lands within the district in the interest of conserving the soil and soil resources and preventing and controlling soil erosion. The supervisors may conduct such public meetings and public hearings upon tentative regulations as may be necessary to assist them in this work. The supervisors shall not have authority to enact such land-use regulations into law until after they shall have caused due notice to be given of their intention to conduct a referendum for submission of such regulations to the occupiers of lands lying within the boundaries of the district for their indication of approval or disapproval of such proposed regulations, and until after the supervisors have considered the result of such referendum. The proposed regulations shall be embodied in a proposed ordinance. Copies of such proposed ordinance shall be available for the inspection of all eligible voters during the period between publication of such notice and the date of the referendum. The notices of the referendum shall recite the contents of such proposed ordinance, or shall state where copies of such proposed ordinance may be examined. The question shall be submitted by ballots, upon which the words "For approval of proposed ordinance number ....., prescribing land-use regulations for conservation of soil and prevention of erosion" and "Against approval of proposed ordinance number ....., prescribing land-use regulations for conservation of soil and prevention of erosion" shall appear, with a square before each proposition and a direction to insert an X mark in the square before one or the other of said propositions as the voter may favor or oppose approval of such proposed ordinance. The supervisors shall supervise such referendum, shall prescribe appropriate regulations, governing the conduct thereof, and shall publish the result thereof. All occupiers of lands within the district shall be eligible to vote in such ferendum. Only such land occupiers shall be eligible to vote. No informalities in the conduct of such referendum or in any matters relating thereto shall invalidate said referendum or the result thereof if notice thereof shall have been given substantially as herein provided and said referendum shall have been fairly conducted.

The supervisors shall not have authority to enact such proposed ordinance into law unless at least two-thirds of the votes cast in such referendum shall have been cast for approval of the said proposed ordinance. The approval of the proposed ordinance by a two-thirds of the votes cast in such referendum shall not be deemed to require the supervisors to enact such proposed ordinance into law. Land-use regulations prescribed in ordinances adopted pursuant to the provisions of this section by the supervisors of any district shall have the force and effect of law in the said district and shall be binding and obligatory upon all occupiers of lands within such district.

Any occupier of land within such district may at any time file a petition with the supervisors asking that any or all of land-use regulations prescribed in any ordinance adopted by the supervisors under the provisions of this section shall be amended, supplemented, or repealed. Land-use regulations prescribed in any ordinance adopted pursuant to the provisions of this section shall not be amended, supplemented, or repealed except in accordance with the procedure prescribed in this section for adoption of land-use regulations. Referenda on adoption, amendment, supplementation, or repeal of land-use regulations shall not be held more often than once in six months.

The regulations to be adopted by the supervisors under the provisions of this section may include:

1. Provisions, requiring the carrying out of necessary engineering operations, including the construction of terraces, terrace outlets, check dams, dikes, ponds, ditches, and other necessary structures.

2. Provisions requiring observance of particular methods of cultivation including contour cultivating, contour furrowing, lister furrowing, sowing, planting, strip cropping, seeding, and planting of lands to water-conserving and erosion-preventing plants, trees and grasses, forestation, and reforestation.

3. Specifications of cropping programs and tillage practices to be observed.

4. Provisions requiring the retirement from cultivation of highly erosive areas or of areas on which erosion may not be adequately controlled if cultivation is carried on.

5. Provisions for such other means, measures, operations, and programs as may assist conservation of soil resources and prevent or control soil erosion in the district, having due regard to the legislative findings set forth in § 139-2.

The regulations shall be uniform, throughout the territory comprised within the district except that the supervisors may classify the lands within the district with reference to such factors as soil type, degree of slope, degree of erosion threatened or existing, cropping and tillage practices in use, and other relevant factors, and may provide regulations varying with the type or class of land affected, but uniform as to all lands within each class or type. Copies of land-use regulations adopted under the provisions of this section shall be printed and made available to all occupiers of lands lying within the district. (1937, c. 393, s. 9.)

§ 139-10. Enforcement of land-use regulations.—The supervisors shall have authority to go upon any lands within the district to determine whether land-use regulations adopted under the provisions of § 139-9 are being observed. The supervisors are further authorized to provide by ordinance that any land occupier who shall sustain damages from any violation of such regulations by any other land occupier may recover damages at law from such other land occupier for such violation. (1937, c. 393, s. 10.)

§ 139-11. Nonobservance of prescribed regulations; performance of work under the regulations by the supervisors.—Where the supervisors of any district shall find that any of the provisions of land-use regulations prescribed in an ordinance adopted in accordance with the provisions of § 139-9 are not being observed on particular lands, and that such non-observance tends to increase erosion on such lands and is interfering with the prevention of control of erosion on other lands within the district, the supervisors may present to the superior court for the county or counties within which the lands of the defendant lie a petition, duly verified, setting forth the adoption of the ordinance prescribing land-use regulations, the failure of the defendant land occupier to observe such regulations, and to perform particular work, operations, or avoidances as required thereby, and that such non-observance tends to increase erosion on such lands and is interfering with the prevention or control of erosion on other lands within the district, and praying the court to require the defendant to perform the work, operations, or avoidances within a reasonable time and to order that if the defendant shall fail so to perform, the supervisors may go on the land, perform the work or other operations or otherwise bring the condition of such lands into conformity with the requirements of such regulations, and recover the costs and expenses thereof, with interest, from the occupier of such land. Upon the presentation of such petition, the court shall cause process to be issued against the defendant, and shall hear the case. If it appear to the court that testimony is necessary for the proper disposition of the matter, it may take evidence, or appoint a referee to take such evidence as it may direct and report the same to the court with his findings of fact and conclusions of law, which shall constitute a part of the proceedings upon which the determination of the court shall be made. The court may dismiss the petition, or it may require the defendant to perform the work, operations, or avoidances, and may provide that upon the failure of the defendant to initiate such performance within the time specified in the order of the court, and to prosecute the same to completion with reasonable diligence, the supervisors may enter upon the lands involved and perform the work or operations or otherwise bring the condition of such lands into conformity with the requirements of the regulations and recover the costs and expenses thereof, with interest at the rate of five per centum per annum, from the occupier of such lands.

The court shall retain jurisdiction of the case until after the work has been completed. Upon completion of such work pursuant to such order of the court the supervisors may file a petition with the court, a copy of which shall be served upon the defendant in the case, stating the costs and expenses sustained by them in the performance of the work and praying judgment therefor with interest. The court shall have jurisdiction to enter judgment for the amount of such costs and expenses, with interest at the rate of five per centum per annum until paid, together with the costs of suit, including a reasonable attorney's fee to be fixed by the court. This judgment, when filed in accordance with the provisions of § 1-234, shall constitute a lien upon such lands. (1937, c. 393, s. 11.)

§ 139-12. Co-operation between districts.—The supervisors of any two or more districts organized under the provisions of this chapter may co-operate with one another in the exercise of any or all powers conferred in this chapter. (1937, c. 393, s. 12.)

§ 139-13. Discontinuance of districts.—At any time after five years after the organization of a district under the provisions of this chapter, any twenty-five occupiers of land lying within the boundaries of such districts may file a petition with the state soil conservation committee praying that the operations of the district be terminated and the existence of the district discontinued. The committee may conduct such public meetings and public hearings upon such petition as may be necessary to assist it in the consideration thereof. Within sixty days after such a petition has been received by the committee it shall give due notice of the holding of a referendum, and shall supervise such referendum, and issue appropriate regulations governing the conduct thereof, the question to be submitted by ballots upon which the words "For terminating the existence of the ..... (name of the soil conservation district to be here inserted)" and "Against terminating the existence of the ..... (name of the soil conservation district to be here inserted)" shall appear with a square before each proposition and a direction to insert an X mark in the square before one or the other of said propositions as the voter may favor or oppose discontinuance of such district. All occupiers of lands lying within the boundaries of the district shall be eligible to vote in such referendum. Only such land occupiers shall be eligible to vote. No informalities in the conduct of such referendum or in any matters relating thereto shall invalidate said referendum or the result thereof if notice thereof shall have been given substantially as herein provided and said referendum shall have been fairly conducted.

The committee shall publish the result of such referendum and shall thereafter consider and determine whether the continued operation of the district within the defined boundaries is administratively practicable and feasible. If the committee shall determine that the continued operation of such district is administratively practicable and feasible, it shall record such determination and deny the petition. If the committee shall determine that the continued operation of such district is not administratively practicable and feasible, it shall record such determination and shall certify such determination to the supervisors of the district. In making such determination the committee shall give due regard and weight to the attitudes of the occupiers of lands lying within the district, the number of land occupiers eligible to vote in such referendum who shall have voted, the proportion of the votes cast in such referendum in favor of the discontinuance of the district to the total number of votes cast, the approximate wealth and income of the land occupiers of the district, the probable expense of carrying on erosion control operations within such district, and such other economic and social factors as may be relevant to such determination, having due regard to the legislative findings set forth in § 139-2: Provided, however, that the committee shall not have authority to determine that the continued operation of the district is administratively practicable and feasible unless at least a majority of the votes cast in the referendum shall have been cast in favor of the continuance of such district.

Upon receipt from the state soil conservation committee of a certification that the committee has determined that the continued operation of the district is not administratively practicable and feasible, pursuant to the provisions of this section, the supervisors shall forthwith proceed to terminate the affairs of the district. The supervisors shall dispose of all property belonging to the district at public auction and shall pay over the proceeds of such sale to be covered into the state treasury. The supervisors shall thereupon file an application, duly verified, with the secretary of state for the discontinuance of such district, and shall transmit with such application the certificates of the state soil conservation committee setting forth the determination of the committee that the continued operation of such district is not administratively practicable and feasible. The application shall recite that the property of the district has been disposed of and the proceeds paid over as in this section provided, and shall set forth a full accounting of such properties and proceeds of the sale. The secretary of state shall issue to the supervisors a certificate of dissolution and shall record such certificate in an appropriate book of record in his office.

Upon issuance of a certificate of dissolution under the provisions of this section, all ordinances and regulations theretofore adopted and in force within such districts shall be of no further force and effect. All contracts theretofore entered into, to which the district or supervisors are parties, shall remain in force and effect for the period provided in such contracts. The state soil conservation committee shall be substituted for the district or supervisors as party to such contracts. The committee shall be entitled to all benefits and subject to all liabilities under such contracts and shall have the same right and liability to perform, to require performance, to sue and be sued thereon, and to modify or terminate such contracts by mutual consent or otherwise as the supervisors of the district would have had. Such dissolution shall not affect the lien of any judgment entered under the provisions of § 139-11, nor the pendency of any action instituted under the provisions of such section, and the committee shall succeed to all the rights and obligations of the district or supervisors as to such liens and actions.

The state soil conservation committee shall not entertain petitions for the discontinuance of any district nor conduct referenda upon such petitions, nor make determinations pursuant to such petitions, in accordance with the provisions of this chapter, more often than once in five years. (1937, c. 393, s. 13.)

Upon the completion and execution of the definitive bonds or notes, such temporary bonds or notes shall be exchangeable without charge therefor to the holder of such temporary bonds or notes for definitive bonds or notes of an equal amount of principal. Such exchange shall be made by the treasurer or by a bank or trust company in North Carolina or elsewhere appointed by him as agent which shall have a capital and surplus of not less than the amount of the definitive bonds or notes to be so exchanged, and in making such exchange the treasurer shall detach from the definitive bonds or notes all coupons which represent interest theretofore paid upon the temporary bonds or notes to be exchanged therefor, and shall cancel all such coupons; and upon such exchange such temporary bonds or notes and the coupons attached thereto, if any, shall be forthwith canceled by the treasurer or such agent. Until so exchanged, temporary bonds and notes issued under the authority hereof shall in all respects be entitled to all the rights and privileges of the definitive securities. (1925, c. 43.)

The commission is empowered to appoint one or more of its members for the purpose of making purchases and sales of securities. (1925, c. 62, s. 6; 1941, c. 17.)

(1925, c. 62, s. 12.)

§ 142-42. Interest of member in securities; removal.—If any member of the commission shall have any pecuniary interest, either directly or indirectly, proximately or remotely, in any securities purchased or sold by the commission, or shall act as agent for any investor or dealer for any securities to be purchased or sold by the commission, or shall receive directly or indirectly any gift, emolument, reward, or promise of reward for his influence in recommending or procuring any such purchase or sale, he shall forthwith be removed from his position, and shall upon conviction be guilty of a misdemeanor, and fined not less than fifty dollars nor more than five hundred dollars, and be imprisoned, in the discretion of the court. (1925, c. 62, s. 13.)

Whenever the word "Director" is used herein, it shall be construed to mean "Director of the Budget." Whenever the word "Commission" is used herein, it shall be construed to mean "Advisory Budget Commission," if the context shows that it is used with reference to any power or duty belonging to the Budget Bureau and to be performed by it, but it shall mean when used otherwise any state agency, and any other agency, person or commission by whatever name called, that uses or expends or receives any state funds. "State funds" are hereby defined to mean any and all moneys appropriated by the General Assembly of North Carolina, or moneys collected by or for the state, or any agency thereof, pursuant to the authority granted in any of its laws. (1925, c. 89, s. 1; 1929, c. 100, s. 1.)

§ 143-2. Purposes.—It is the purpose of this article to vest in the Governor of the State a direct and effective supervision of all agencies, institutions, departments, bureaus, boards, commissions, and every State agency by whatsoever name now or hereafter called, including the same power and supervision over such private corporations and persons and organizations of all kinds that may receive, pursuant to statute, any funds either appropriated by, or collected for, the State of North Carolina, or any of its departments, boards, divisions, agencies, institutions and commissions; for the efficient and economical administration of all agencies, institutions, departments, bureaus, boards, commissions, persons or corporations that receive or use State funds; and for the initiation and preparation of a balanced budget of any and all revenues and expenditures for each session of the General Assembly.

The Governor shall be Ex-officio Director of the Budget and shall be the responsible head of the Budget Bureau, which Bureau is a part of the Governor's office. The Governor shall on or before the first day of July next after his inauguration appoint a budget officer, who shall be known as the "Assistant to the Director," and such officer shall serve for a term of four years beginning on the first day of July next after the inauguration of each Governor, at a salary to be fixed by the Director, who makes the appointment. The purpose of this article is to include within the powers of the Budget Bureau all agencies, institutions, departments, bureaus, boards, and commissions of the State of North Carolina under whatever name now or hereafter known, and the change of the name of such agencies hereafter shall not affect or lessen the powers and duties of the Budget Bureau in respect thereto.

The test as to whether an institution, department, agency, board, commission, or corporation or person is included within the purpose and powers and duties of the Budget Bureau shall be whether such agency or person receives for use, or expends, any of the funds of the State of North Carolina, including funds appropriated by the General Assembly and funds arising from the collection of fees, taxes, donations appropriative, or otherwise. The Director or his authorized representative shall have the right and the power to examine any State institution or agency, board, bureau, division, commission, corporation, person, and to inspect its property, and inquire into the method of operation and management.

The Director shall have power to have the books and accounts of any of such agencies or persons audited; to supervise generally the accounting and auditing systems thereof now in force, and to inaugurate such changes in respect thereto which may be necessary, in his opinion, to exhibit and to furnish complete and correct information as to its financial condition, including the budget accounts of such departments, bureaus or associations within the terms of this article. The cost of making all audits and effecting all necessary changes in the system of accounting shall be paid from the regular maintenance appropriation made by the General Assembly for such bureaus, departments, divisions, institutions, commissions, persons or agencies that may be thus audited.

It shall be the duty of the Director to recommend to the General Assembly at each session such changes in the organization, management and general conduct of the various departments, institutions and other agencies of the State, and included within the terms of this article, as in his judgment will promote the more efficient and economical operation and management thereof.

The Director of the Budget under the provisions of the Executive Budget Act shall prescribe the manner in which disbursements of the several institutions and departments shall be made and may require that all warrants, vouchers or checks, except those drawn by the State Auditor and the State Treasurer, shall bear two signatures of such officers as will be designated by the Director of the Budget. If the Director and the Commission shall agree in their recommendations for the Budget for the next biennial period, he shall prepare their report in the form of a proposed Budget, together with such comment and recommendations as they may deem proper to make. If the Director and Commission shall not agree in substantial particulars, the Director shall prepare the proposed Budget based on his own conclusions and judgment and shall cause to be incorporated therein such statement of disagreement and the particulars thereof, as the Commission or any of its members shall deem proper to submit as representing their views. The Budget report shall contain a complete and itemized plan of all proposed expenditures for each State department, bureau, board, division, institution, commission, State agency or undertaking, person or corporation who receive or may receive for use and expenditure any State funds as hereinbefore defined, in accordance with the Classification adopted by the Director, and of the estimated revenues and borrowings for each year in the ensuing biennial period beginning with the first day of July thereafter. Opposite each item of the proposed expenditures, the Budget shall show in separate parallel columns the amount expended for the last preceding appropriation year, for the current appropriation year, and the increase or decrease. The Budget shall clearly differentiate between General Fund expenditures for operating and maintenance, special fund expenditures for any purpose, and proposed capital outlays.

The Director shall accompany the Budget with:

The message will include an explanation of increase or decrease over past expenditures, a discussion of proposed changes in existing revenue laws and proposed bond issues, their purpose, the amount, rate of interest, term, the requirements to be attached to their issuance and the effect such issues will have upon the redemption and annual interest charges of the State debt.

To the end that all expenses of the State may be brought and kept within the Budget, the Budget Appropriation Bill shall contain a specific sum as a contingent or emergency appropriation. The manner of the allocation of such contingent or emergency appropriation shall be as follows: Any institution, department, commission, or other agency or activity of the State, or other activity in which the State is interested, desiring an allotment out of such contingent or emergency appropriation, shall upon forms prescribed and furnished by the Budget Bureau, present such request in writing to the Director of the Budget, with such information as he may require, and if the Director of the Budget shall approve such request, in whole or in part, he shall forthwith present the same to the Governor and Council of State, and upon their order only shall such allotment be made. The said joint committee or any sub-committee thereof shall have full power and authority to punish for disobedience of its writs or orders requiring persons to attend such hearings and to answer under oath such questions as may be put to them by such committee or anyone acting in its behalf; such punishment shall be such as is now, or may hereafter be prescribed for direct contempt, but with the right of such offender to appeal from the judgment of such committee to the Superior Court of Wake County, upon the giving of such bond as may be required by such committee. Art. 7. Inmates of State Institutions to Pay Costs.

§ 143-117. § 143-118. Governing board to fix cost and charges.—The respective boards of trustees or directors of each of said institutions, by whatever name they may be called, are hereby empowered with the final authority to determine and fix the actual cost of such training, treatment, care and maintenance, to be paid for by or for each inmate or patient, and the said boards of trustees or directors shall, to the best of their ability, fix such cost so as to include all the cost of such care, maintenance, treatment and training at such institutions, for each respective inmate, pupil or patient thereof, and the said sum, when so fixed, shall be the actual cost thereof: Provided, that the respective boards of directors of each of said institutions above named, in determining and fixing the actual cost of such care, maintenance and treatment to be paid for by non-indigent inmates thereof, are hereby given full and final authority to fix a general rate of charge, to be paid on a monthly basis by inmates able to pay same, or in cases where indigent inmates later are found to be non-indigent, then such cost for past care and maintenance of such inmates shall be paid in one or more payments based on the monthly rates of cost in effect for the period or periods of time during which such inmates have been confined in said institutions. The past acts of the boards of directors in fixing a monthly rate to be paid by non-indigent inmates for their care and maintenance in such institutions are hereby in every respect ratified and validated, and on all claims and causes of actions for such purpose now pending and are unsettled, or which hereafter may be made or begun for the payment of said past indebtedness for care, maintenance and treatment, the rates so fixed by said board of directors shall prevail and said collections shall be made in accordance therewith. In any action by any of said state's charitable institutions for the recovery of the cost of the care, maintenance and treatment of any inmate, now pending or which may hereafter be instituted, a verified and itemized statement of the account, showing the period of time during which the said non-indigent inmate was confined to the institution, the monthly rate of charge as fixed by said board of directors of such institution for the period of time that the inmate was confined therein, the total amount claimed to be due thereon as predicated upon said rate of charge, and the proper credits for any payments which may have been made on said account, shall be filed with the complaint and shall constitute a prima facie case, and such state institution shall be entitled to a judgment thereon in the absence of allegation and proof on the part of the inmate's guardian, trustee, administrator, executor, or other fiduciary, that said verified and itemized statement of the superintendent or bookkeeper of said institution is not correct because of—

(a) an error in the calculation of the amount due as predicated upon said monthly rate or charge fixed by the board of directors, or

(b) an error as to the period of time during which the inmate was confined in said state institution, or

(c) an error in not properly crediting the account with any cash payment, or payments, which may have been made thereon. (1925, c. 120, s. 2; 1935, c. 186, s. 1.)

§ 143-119. Payments.—Such cost, when so fixed and determined by the respective boards of trustees or directors of each institution, shall be paid by the patient, pupil or inmate thereof, or by his parent, guardian, trustee or other person legally responsible therefor, and the payment thereof shall constitute a valid expenditure of the funds of any such pupil, patient or inmate by any fiduciary who may be in the control of such fund, and a receipt for the payment of such cost in the hands of such fiduciary shall be a valid voucher to the extent thereof in the settlement of his accounts of his trust. Immediately upon the determination of the cost, as herein provided for, the superintendent of the institution shall notify the patient, pupil, inmate, parent, guardian, trustee, or such other person who shall be legally responsible for the payment thereof, of the monthly amount thereof, and such statement shall be rendered from month to month. The respective boards of trustees or directors of the various institutions are vested with full and complete authority to arrange with the patient, pupil, inmate, parent, guardian, trustee, or other person legally responsible for the cost, for the payment of any portion of such cost monthly or otherwise, in the event such patient, pupil, inmate, parent, guardian, trustee or other person legally responsible therefor shall not be able to pay the total cost. The head of the various institutions shall annually file with the Auditor of the State a list of all unpaid accounts. The provisions of this article directing the boards of directors of the various institutions of this State above named to ascertain which of the inmates are non-indigent and able to pay for their care, maintenance and treatment, and also directing said boards of directors to make certain periodical demands upon the guardians or other persons responsible for said inmates for the payment of said charges, and which further directs them to remove all of those inmates found able to pay but who refuse to pay, and all of the other provisions of this article relating to the manner in which said board shall collect said costs, shall be construed to be directory provisions on the part of the authorities of said institutions and not mandatory, and the failure on the part of said authorities of such institutions to perform any or all of said provisions shall not affect the right of the state institutions so named to recover in any action brought for that purpose, either during the life-time of said inmates or after their death, in an action against their guardian if alive, or other fiduciary, or against the inmate himself, and if dead, against their personal representatives for the cost of their care, maintenance and treatment in said institutions. (1925, c. 120, s. 3; 1935, c. 186, s. 2.)

§ 143-120. Determining who is able to pay.—From and after March 4, 1925, the respective boards of trustees or directors of each institution shall ascertain which of the various patients, pupils or inmates thereof, or which of the parents, guardians, trustees, or other persons legally responsible therefor, are financially able to pay the cost, to be fixed and determined by this article, and so soon as it shall be ascertained such patient, pupil, inmate, parent, guardian, trustee or other person legally responsible therefor shall be notified of such cost, and in general of the provisions of this article and such patient, pupil, inmate or the parent, guardian, trustee, or other person legally responsible therefor shall have the option to pay the same or to remove the patient, pupil or inmate from such institution, unless such person was committed by an order of a court of competent jurisdiction, in which event the liability for the cost as fixed by this article shall be fixed or determined and payment shall be made in accordance with the terms of this article. (1925, c. 120, s. 4.)

§ 143-121. Action to recover costs.—Immediately upon the fixing of the amount of such actual cost, as herein provided, a cause of action shall accrue therefor in favor of the State for the use of the institution in which such patient, pupil or inmate is receiving training, treatment, maintenance or care, and the State for the use of such institution may sue upon such cause of action in the courts of Wake County, or in the courts of the county in which such institution is located, against said patient, pupil or inmate, or his parents, or either of them, or guardian, trustee, committee, or other person legally responsible therefor, or in whose possession and control there may be any funds or property belonging to either the said pupil, patient or inmate, or to any person upon whom the said patient, pupil, or inmate may be legally dependent, including both parents. (1925, c. 120, s. 5.)

§ 143-122. No limitation of such action.—No statute of limitation shall apply to or constitute a defense to any cause of action asserted by any of the above-named institutions for the collection of the cost of care, treatment, training or maintenance, or any or all of these against any person liable therefor, as herein provided, and all statutes containing limitations which might apply to the same are hereby pro tanto repealed, as to all such causes of action or claims, and this section shall apply to all claims, and causes of action for like cost heretofore incurred with such institutions and now remaining unpaid. (1925, c. 120, s. 6.)

§ 143-123. Power of trustees to admit indigent persons.—This article shall not be held or construed to interfere with or to limit the authority and power of the management of the boards of trustees, or directors of any of the institutions named herein, to make provision for the care, custody, treatment and maintenance of all indigent persons who may be otherwise entitled to admission in any of the said institutions, and as to indigent pupils, inmates and patients, the same provisions now contained in the several statutes relating thereto shall continue in force, but if at any time any of the said indigent patients, pupils or inmates shall succeed to or inherit, or acquire, in any manner, property, or any of the persons named above as legally responsible for the cost of care, treatment and maintenance of the pupil, inmate and patient at the above named institutions, shall acquire property, or shall otherwise be reputed to be solvent, then each of said institutions shall have the full right and authority to collect and sue for the entire cost and maintenance of such inmate, pupil or patient, without let or hindrance on account of any statute of limitation whatsoever. (1925, c. 120, s. 7.)

§ 143-124. Suit by attorney general; venue.—At the request of such institution, all actions and suits shall be sued upon and prosecuted by the Attorney General, and such institution shall have the right to elect as to whether it will institute such action in the courts of Wake County or in the courts of the county in which such institution is located. (1925, c. 120, s. 8.)

§ 143-125. Judgment; never barred.—Any judgment obtained by the State for the use of any of the above named institutions shall never be barred by any statute of limitation, but shall continue in force, and, at the request of the Attorney General or the superintendent of any of said institutions, an execution shall issue therefor at any time without requiring such institution to revive the said judgment, as is now provided by statute, but in case any judgment debtor, or any fiduciary responsible for the payment thereof, shall make affidavit and file the same with the clerk of the Superior Court from which such execution is issued, that payments have been made upon the said judgments, then the clerk shall recall said execution and proceed to hear and determine what is the true amount due thereon, if anything, in the same manner as is now required in motions to revive dormant judgments with the right of appeal to the judge of the Superior Court, as now provided in such motions, and the clerk of the Superior Court and the judge thereof shall have authority, in their discretion, to require security for the payment of the amount of said judgment pending such appeal. (1925, c. 120, s. 9.)

§ 143-126. Death of inmate; lien on estate.—In the event of the death of any inmate, pupil or patient of either of said institutions above named, leaving any such cost of care, maintenance, training and treatment unpaid, in whole or in part, then such unpaid cost shall constitute a first lien on all the property, both real and personal, of the said decedent, subject only to the payment of funeral expenses and taxes to the State of North Carolina. (1925, c. 120, s. 10.)

§ 143-127. Money paid into state treasury.—All money collected by any institution pursuant to this article shall be by such institution paid into the State treasury, and shall be by the State Treasurer credited to the account of the institution collecting and turning the same into the treasury, and shall be paid out by warrants drawn by the Auditor as in cases of appropriations made for the maintenance of such institutions and shall be used by such institution as it uses and is authorized by law to use appropriations made for maintenance. (1925, c. 120, s. 11.)

Art. 8. Public Building Contracts.

§ 143-128. Separate specifications for building contracts. — Every officer, board, department, commission or commissions charged with the duty of preparing specifications or awarding or entering into contract for the erection, construction or altering of buildings for the State, when the entire cost of such work shall exceed ten thousand dollars, must have prepared separate specifications for each of the following branches of work to be performed: 1. Heating and ventilating. 2. Plumbing and gas fitting. All such specifications must be so drawn as to permit separate and independent bidding upon each of the classes of work enumerated in the above subdivisions. All contracts hereafter awarded by the State or a department, board, commissioner, or officer thereof, for the erection, construction or alteration of buildings, or any part thereof, shall award the respective work specified in the above subdivisions separately to responsible and reliable persons, firms or corporations regularly engaged in their respective line of work. (1925, c. 141, s. 2; 1929, c. 339, s. 2; 1931, c. 46.)

§ 143-129. Procedure for letting of public contracts.—No construction or repair work, or purchase of apparatus, supplies, materials, or equipment requiring an estimated expenditure of public money in an amount equal to or more than one thousand dollars ($1000.00), except in cases of special emergency involving the health and safety of the people or their property, shall be performed, nor shall any contract be awarded therefor, by any board or governing body of the state, or of any institution of the state government, or of any county, city, town, or other subdivision of the state, unless the provisions of this section are complied with.

Advertisement of the letting of such contracts shall be as follows:

Where the contract is to be let by a board or governing body of the state government, or of a state institution, as distinguished from a board or governing body of a subdivision of the state, proposals shall be invited by advertisement at least one week before the time specified for the opening of said proposals in a newspaper having general circulation in the state of North Carolina.

Where the contract is to be let by a county, city, town or other subdivision of the state, proposals shall be invited by advertisement at least one week before the time specified for the opening of said proposals in a newspaper having general circulation in such county, city, town or other subdivision. Provided, if there is no newspaper published in the county and the estimated cost of the contract is less than two thousand dollars ($2000.00), such advertisement may be either published in some newspaper as required herein or posted at the court house door not later than one week before the opening of the proposals in answer thereto, and in the case of a city, town or other sub-division wherein there is no newspaper published and the estimated cost of the contract is less than two thousand dollars ($2000.00), such advertisement may be either published in some newspaper as required herein or posted at the court house door of the county in which such city, town or other subdivision is situated and at least one public place in such city, town or other subdivision.

Such advertisement shall state the time and place where plans and specifications of proposed work or a complete description of the apparatus, supplies, materials or equipment may be had, and the time and place for opening the proposals, and shall reserve to said board or governing body the right to reject any or all such proposals.

Proposals shall not be rejected for the purpose of evading the provisions of this article and no board or governing body of the state or subdivision thereof shall assume responsibility for construction or purchase contracts or guarantee the payments of labor or materials therefor.

All proposals shall be opened in public and shall be recorded on the minutes of the board or governing body and the award shall be made to the lowest responsible bidder, taking into consideration quality and the time specified in the proposals for the performance of the contract. No proposal shall be considered or accepted by said board or governing body unless at the time of its filing the same shall be accompanied by a deposit with said board or governing body of cash or a certified check on some bank or trust company authorized to do business in this state, in an amount equal to not less than two per cent (2%) of the proposal. This deposit shall be retained if the successful bidder fails to execute the contract within ten days after the award or fails to give satisfactory surety as required herein.

All contracts to which this section applies shall be executed in writing, and the board or governing body shall require the person to whom the award of contract is made to furnish bond in some surety company authorized to do business in the state, or require a deposit of money, certified check or government securities for the full amount of said contract for the faithful performance of the terms of said contract; and no such contract shall be altered except by written agreement of the contractor, the sureties on his bond, and the board or governing body. Such surety bond or securities required herein shall be deposited with the treasurer of the branch of the government for which the work is to be performed until the contract has been carried out in all respects.

Nothing in this section shall operate so as to require any public agency to enter into a contract that will prevent the use of unemployment relief labor paid for in whole or in part by appropriations or funds furnished by the state or federal government. (1931, c. 338; 1933, cc. 50, 400, s. 1; 1937, c. 355.)

§ 143-131. When counties, cities, towns and other subdivisions may let contracts on informal bids.—All contracts for construction or repair work or for the purchase of apparatus, supplies, materials or equipment, involving the expenditure of public money in the amount of two hundred dollars ($200.00) or more but less than one thousand dollars ($1,000.00), made by any officer, department, board or commission of any county, city, town or other subdivision of this State, when practical, shall be awarded to the lowest responsible bidder after informal bids have been secured, and it shall be the duty of such officer, department, board or commission to keep a record of all bids submitted, and such record shall be subject to public inspection at any time. (1931, c. 338, s. 2.)

Minimum number of bids for contracts for state institutions. — No contracts to which § 143-129 applies for construction or repair work on any permanent improvement of any institution of the State shall be awarded by any board or governing body of such institution unless proposals shall have been made by at least three reputable contractors where the estimated cost thereof shall not exceed five thousand dollars ($5,000.00) and by at least five reputable contractors where the estimated cost thereof shall exceed five thousand dollars ($5,000.00). (1931, c. 291, s. 3.)

§ 143-137. Purpose of article.—It is the purpose of this article to protect life, health, and property and all its provisions shall be construed liberally to that end. (1933, c. 392, s. 2.)

§ 143-138. Administration by insurance commissioner; duties of state board of health.—It shall be the duty of the insurance commissioner or his deputy or deputies in coöperation with local officials in accordance with §§ 160-115 to 160-123, inclusive, to enforce the building code hereinafter ratified and adopted, and all rules and regulations which the building code council is authorized to promulgate in modification or addition to said building code under the authority of this article, and further, in coöperation with local authorities, to enforce ordinances of municipal corporations relating to a building code or building rules and regulations: Provided, however, it shall be the duty of the state board of health, instead of the duty of the insurance commissioner, to enforce all provisions of the building code hereinafter designated and all other rules and regulations duly promulgated by the building code council relating to plumbing where such plumbing regulations are not otherwise prescribed by local ordinance or rules and regulations of county health boards. (1933, c. 392, s. 3; 1941, c. 280, s. 1.)

§ 143-139. Building code council created; powers and duties; application of building code.—There is hereby created a building code council which shall consist of the following members registered in accordance with the laws of North Carolina where registration laws apply: One architect, one general contractor, one structural engineer, one plumbing and heating contractor, and one representative of organized labor. Members of the building code council shall be appointed or removed by the governor. The terms of office shall be as follows: One architect five years, one general contractor four years, one structural engineer three years, one plumbing and heating contractor two years and one representative of organized labor one year. Vacancies caused by expiration of term of office shall be filled by the governor and appointments made for a period of five years. Vacancies caused by resignation or otherwise shall be filled by the governor for the unexpired term of the person leaving office.

Within thirty days after the passage and publication of this article, the building code council shall meet and organize and shall have power to elect its own officers, to fix the times and places for its meetings, to adopt necessary rules of procedure, and to adopt all other rules and regulations not inconsistent herewith which may be necessary for the proper discharge of its duties and it shall keep an accurate record of all its proceedings. Subject to the limitations hereinafter set forth, the said building code council is authorized and empowered to establish reasonable and suitable classifications of buildings, both as to use and occupancy; to determine general building restrictions as to location, height and floor areas; to promulgate rules for the lighting and ventilation of buildings; means of egress therefrom; construction thereof and precautions to be taken during such construction; materials, loads and stresses of construction; chimneys and heating appliances and elevators; plumbing, heating, electrical control and protection; and to adopt such other rules and regulations as may be reasonably necessary to effectuate the purposes of this article: Provided, however, the said building code council shall not establish any standard or adopt or promulgate any rule, regulation, classification, limitation or restriction more rigid, exacting or stringent in its requirements than is authorized in the "North Carolina Building Code" adopted and promulgated by said council in the year one thousand nine hundred and thirty-six and published in full in August of that year in a printed volume as an official publication of the North Carolina State College of Agriculture and Engineering of the University of North Carolina, the said volume being known and designated as the "North Carolina Building Code, prepared by the North Carolina Building Code Council" and also known and identified as "Bulletin number ten, Engineering Experiment Station, State College Station, Raleigh." The provisions of said "North Carolina Building Code" so published are hereby in all respects ratified and adopted and shall continue in full force and effect unless and until they may be modified as hereinafter authorized: Provided, further, the said building code council may, subject to the approval of the insurance commissioner, promulgate rules and regulations which shall have the effect of establishing requirements less rigid and less stringent than those set forth in said "North Carolina Building Code"; Provided, further, any municipal corporation may adopt a building code or building rules and regulations which are more rigid, stringent and exacting than the "North Carolina Building Code" referred to above as the same is now adopted or as it may be hereafter modified pursuant to the provisions of this article. (1933, c. 392, s. 4; 1941, c. 280, s. 2.)

§ 143-140. Appeals to council.—An appeal from the decision of the insurance commissioner upon any matter affecting the building code may be taken to the building code council as hereinafter provided. (1933, c. 392, s. 5.)

§ 143-141. Compensation; appeals to council and to courts; buildings to meet code standards.—The members of the building code council may each receive five dollars per day as compensation for the time given in the performance of his duty and may be reimbursed for compensation and actual traveling expenses from funds of the organization which he represents.

When the insurance commissioner shall reject or refuse to approve the mode or manner of construction proposed to be followed, or materials to be used in the erection or alteration of any building or structure, or when it is claimed that the provisions of this code do not apply, or that an equally good or more desirable form of construction can be employed in any specific case, the owner of such building or structure, or his duly authorized agent, may demand that the decision of the insurance commissioner be reviewed by the chairman and two or more members of the building code council who are qualified to render a fair and impartial decision where the amount in question shall exceed the sum of $1,000.00. The members best qualified in the opinion of the chairman shall be selected to review the decision of the insurance commissioner.

After a review of the decision of the insurance commissioner the chairman shall forward the findings and recommendations to the insurance commissioner immediately. It is understood that the building code council shall serve in an advisory capacity only and that the final decision and responsibility for such decision shall rest upon the insurance commissioner: Provided, nothing in this article shall prohibit the owner his right of appeal to the superior courts.

It shall be the duty of the council not only to make recommendations to the insurance commissioner relative to the proper construction of the pertinent provisions of the building code but it shall also recommend that he shall allow materials and methods of construction other than those required by the building code to be used, when in its opinion such other material and methods of construction are as good as those required by the code, and for this purpose the requirements of the building code as to such matters shall be considered simply as a standard to which construction shall conform. (1933, c. 392, s. 6.)

§ 143-142. Hearings before insurance commissioner as to questions under law or building code, etc.—Any person desiring to raise any question under this article or under the "North Carolina Building Code" or any rule or regulation promulgated by the building code council shall be entitled to a full hearing before the insurance commissioner, and upon request in writing by any such person, the insurance commissioner shall appoint a time for the hearing, giving such person reasonable notice thereof. The insurance commissioner shall conduct a full and complete hearing of the matters in controversy and make a determination thereof. Any person affected by any decision of the insurance commissioner upon such matters may, either before or after appeal to the building council as provided for in § 143-141, proceed against the insurance commissioner in the superior court of Wake county, to enjoin the enforcement of the ruling or decision. In any such injunction proceeding the trial of all matters which may have been involved in the hearing before the insurance commissioner shall be de novo but the decision and ruling of the commissioner shall be prima facie correct and valid and the burden of proof shall be on the party attacking such decision. The provisions of this section shall not deprive any person of any other right of action or appeal which he may have and shall not limit any party to the assertion of said right by injunction as herein permitted: Provided, however, that where the question raised relates to any provision, regulation, ruling or decision regarding plumbing, the hearing shall be held before the state board of health instead of the insurance commissioner; but otherwise the procedure, rights and remedies in such cases shall be as outlined in this section. (1941, c. 280, s. 3.)

§ 143-143. Violation of act subjects offender to fine.—If any employer, owner or other person shall violate any of the provisions of this article, or shall do any act prohibited herein, or shall fail to perform any duty lawfully enjoined within the time prescribed by the insurance commissioner or his deputy or shall fail, neglect, or refuse, to obey any lawful order given or made by the insurance commissioner, for each such violation, failure, or refusal, such employer, owner or other person upon conviction thereof shall be fined in any sum not less than ten dollars ($10.00), nor more than fifty dollars ($50.00) for each offense. Each seven days neglect shall constitute a separate and distinct offense. (1933, c. 392, s. 7.)

Art. 12. Law Enforcement Officers' Benefit and Retirement Fund.

§ 143-166. Law Enforcement Officers' Benefit and Retirement Fund.—In every criminal case finally disposed of in the criminal courts of this state, wherein the defendant is convicted, or enters a plea of guilty or nolo contendere and is assessed with the payment of costs, or where the costs are assessed against the prosecuting witness, there shall be assessed against said convicted person, or against such prosecuting witness, as the case may be, one dollar ($1.00) additional cost to be collected and paid over to the treasurer of North Carolina and held in a special fund for the purposes of this article. The local custodian of such costs shall monthly transmit such moneys to the state treasurer, with a statement of the case in which the same has been collected.

(a) One hundred thousand dollars ($100,000.00) of the moneys so received shall annually be set up in a special fund to be known as "The Law Enforcement Officers' Benefit and Retirement Fund," or so much of the said sum of one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000.00) as shall be required to pay benefit payments as provided in this article, and to match the contributions which shall be made to the law enforcement officers' benefit and retirement fund by eligible law enforcement officers, and the balance of the moneys so collected shall be paid into the general fund of the state.

(b) For the purpose of determining the recipients of benefits under this section and the amounts thereof to be disbursed and for formulating and making such rules and regulations as may be essential for the equitable and impartial distribution of such benefits to and among the persons entitled to such benefits, there is hereby created a board to be known as "The Board of Commissioners of the Law Enforcement Officers' Benefit and Retirement Fund," which shall consist of the state auditor, who shall be chairman ex-officio of said board, the state treasurer, the state insurance commissioner, and four members to be appointed by the governor and to serve at his will, one of whom shall be a sheriff, one a police officer, one from the group of law enforcement officers as hereinafter defined, employed by the state, and one representing the public at large. No member of said board of commissioners shall receive any salary, compensation or expenses other than a per diem of not exceeding seven dollars ($7.00) for each day's attendance at duly and regularly called and held meetings of the commission, the total of which meetings for which per diem may be allowable as herein provided not to exceed eight meetings in any one year. Four members of said board shall constitute a quorum at any of said meetings, and no business shall be transacted unless a quorum be present. Ex-officio members shall not receive any per diem.

(c) As soon as is practicable after March 13, 1941, and after the appointment of the four members herein authorized to be appointed by the governor, the organization of said board shall be perfected by the selection from its members of a vice-chairman, and secretary, to serve for a term of one year and until their successors shall have been elected and qualified, and by the selection by the board, by a majority vote, of such employees as in the opinion of the board, with the approval of the governor, may be necessary for the proper handling of the business of the board of commissioners, such employee or such employees to hold office at the will of the board of commissioners. No employee of the board of commissioners shall during the period of such employment or during any leave of absence therefrom hold any public office, be a candidate for any public office, or engage in any political activity whatsoever for or on behalf of any candidate for public office, either in the primary or election. The violation of the restriction herein contained against political activity shall subject such employee to immediate discharge; and any such employee who shall use any funds of the commission for political purposes or shall incur any expense whatsoever in connection with any political activity, paid or payable out of the funds of said commission, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punishable as provided by law in the case of misdemeanors. Nothing herein contained shall prevent any employee from exercising his individual right of franchise in any primary or election. Nothing in this section shall affect the right of any employee of said commission who is at present a member of the general assembly from continuing as such member for the duration of such present term.

(d) The said board of commissioners shall have control of all payments to be made from such fund. It shall hear and decide all applications for compensation and for retirement benefits created and allowed under this article, and shall have power to make all necessary rules and regulations for its administration and government, and for the employees in the proper discharge of their duties; it shall have the power to make decisions on applications for compensation or retirement benefits and its decision thereon shall be final and conclusive and not subject to review or reversal, except by the board itself; it shall cause to be kept a record of all its meetings and proceedings. Any person who shall willfully swear falsely in any oath or affirmation for the purpose of obtaining any benefits under this article, or the payment thereof, shall be guilty of perjury and shall be punished therefor as provided by law.

(e) There shall be kept in the office of the said board of commissioners by the secretary, records which shall give a complete history and record of all actions of the board of commissioners in granting benefits, including retirement benefits, to peace officers as herein defined; such records shall give the name, date of the beginning of his service as a peace officer, and of his incapacity and the reason therefor. All records, papers, and other data shall be carefully preserved and turned over to the succeeding officers or board members.

(f) On or before the first day of January of each year the said board of commissioners shall make to the governor of the state of North Carolina a verified report containing a statement of all receipts and disbursements, together with the name of each beneficiary, and the amount paid to each beneficiary, for or on account of such fund. There shall be annually made by the state auditor's department a complete audit and examination of the receipts and the disbursements of the board of commissioners herein created.

(g) The board of commissioners of the said fund may take by gift, grant, devise, or bequest, any money, real or personal property, or other things of value and hold or invest the same for the uses of said fund in accordance with the purposes of this article. And the board shall have the authority to invest any funds not immediately needed in any securities which the state sinking fund commission may be authorized to invest in, or in certificates of deposit in any bank or trust company authorized to do business in North Carolina in which the deposits are guaranteed by the federal deposit insurance corporation not to exceed the sum of five thousand ($5,000.00) dollars in any one bank or trust company, or in the shares of federal savings and loan associations and state chartered building and loan associations not to exceed five thousand ($5,000.00) dollars in any one of such associations; provided that no such funds may be so invested in a state chartered building and loan association unless and until authorized by the insurance commissioner.

(h) In case the amount derived from the different sources mentioned and included in this article shall not be sufficient at any time to enable the said board of commissioners to pay each person entitled to the benefits therefor, in full, the compensation granted, or the retirement benefit allowed, then an equitably graded percentage of such monthly payment or payments shall be made to each beneficiary until said fund shall be replenished sufficiently to warrant the presumption thereafter of such compensation or retirement benefit to each of said beneficiaries.

(i) The board of commissioners herein created shall have power and authority to promulgate rules and regulations and to set up standards under and by which it may determine the eligibility of officers for benefits under this article, payable to peace officers who may be killed or become seriously incapacitated while in the discharge of their duty; such rules, regulations and standards shall include the amount of the benefits to be paid to the recipient in case of incapacity to perform their duty, as well as the amount to be paid such officers' dependents in case such officer is killed while in the discharge of his duty. The said board is also authorized to promulgate rules and regulations and set up standards under and by which officers may be eligible for retirement and to determine the amounts to be paid such officers as retirement benefits after it has been determined by the board that such officers are so eligible.

In order for an officer to be eligible for retirement benefits under this article, he shall voluntarily pay into the fund herein created a percentage of his monthly salary, which percentage shall be determined by the said board: Provided, that any officer so voluntarily contributing to the fund herein created, who has become incapacitated in the line of duty, shall not be required to contribute to the fund during the period of his disability. All peace officers as herein defined who are compensated on a fee basis, before they shall be eligible to participate in the retirement fund herein provided for, shall voluntarily pay into the fund a monthly amount to be determined by the said board, based upon such officer's average monthly income.

(j) All officers who have contributed to the retirement fund herein provided for, and who have had twenty years continuous service as such peace officer in this state, shall be eligible for retirement benefits and the board of commissioners is authorized, in their discretion under rules and regulations promulgated by it, to determine when an officer has completed twenty years of continuous service.

(k) The board of commissioners is authorized and empowered in its discretion, upon a finding that any officer who has contributed to the retirement fund herein provided for has been discharged from the service through no fault of his own, to reimburse from the fund herein created an amount not to exceed that which such officer has contributed to the fund under the provisions of subsection (i) of this section.

(l) No officers as herein defined shall be eligible to the retirement benefits herein provided for until the expiration of five years from the date of the ratification of this article.

(m) Law enforcement officers in the meaning of this article shall include sheriffs, deputy sheriffs, constables, police officers, prison wardens and deputy wardens, prison camp superintendents, prison stewards, prison foremen and guards, highway patrolmen, and any citizen duly deputized as a deputy by a sheriff or other law enforcement officer in an emergency, and all other officers of this state, or of any political subdivision thereof, who are clothed with the power of arrest and whose duties are primarily in enforcing the criminal laws of the state.

(n) Each justice of the peace required to assess and collect the additional cost provided for in this law shall, on or before the first day of each month, transmit such cost so collected, giving the name of the case in which such cost was taxed, to the clerk of the superior court of the county in which such case was tried, who will forthwith remit such funds to the treasurer of the state of North Carolina as in all other cases. Failure of any justice of the peace to comply with the terms of this subsection shall make such justice of the peace liable for removal from office by the resident judge of the judicial district in which such action was tried.

(o) No state employees participating in the retirement benefits of this article shall be eligible to participate in the retirement benefits provided by Public Laws, 1941, chapter 25, known as "The Teachers and State Employees Retirement System Act."

(p) No state employee participating in the retirement benefits of this article shall be eligible to participate in the retirement benefits provided by "The Teachers and State Employees Retirement System Act," § 135-1 et seq. (1937, c. 349, s. 9; 1939, c. 6, ss. 2, 3, c. 233; 1941, cc. 56, 157.)

Art. 13. Publications.

Said permit must set forth in required detail the size, cost and nature of such structure, and any person, firm or corporation erecting any such structure, without a proper permit or not in accordance with the specifications of said permit shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be fined not more than $50 or imprisoned not exceeding thirty days. § 146-48. Registration of grants.—Every person obtaining a grant shall, within two years after such grant is perfected, cause the same to be registered in the county where the land lies; and any person may cause to be there registered any certified copy of a grant from the office of the secretary of state, which shall have the same effect as if the original had been registered. (Rev., s. 1729; Code, s. 2779; R. C., c. 42, s. 22; R. S., c. 42, s. 24; 1783, c. 185, s. 14; 1796, c. 455; 1799, c. 525, s. 2; C. S. 7579.)

§ 146-49. Grant issued in case of claimant's death.—In case of the death of any person having made an entry of lands, pending the same or before making out the grant, the secretary shall issue the grant in the name of the decedent; and those interested, as heirs at law, devisees, tenants in dower, by the curtesy, or otherwise, shall have the same estate as if the land had been granted during the life of the decedent. (Rev., s. 1730; Code, s. 2780; R. C., c. 42, s. 23; 1715, c. 44, s. 6; 1798, c. 439, s. 6; C. S. 7580.)

§ 146-50. When secretary of state may withhold grant.—When application is made for a grant, if the secretary of state has reason to believe that the land covered by any entry and the surveys made in pursuance of the same is the property of the state board of education, he may, in his discretion, withhold the issuance of a grant for same until the engineer of the state board of education or surveyor appointed by the board shall have examined into the matter and made his report. And if the engineer or surveyor shall report that the lands in question are the property of the state board of education and not subject to entry, the secretary of state shall not issue a grant on such entry and surveys. If the secretary of state has reason to believe that the land for which a grant is sought has already been granted and does not belong to the state, he shall not issue grant for the same until it appears to his satisfaction that the land does belong to the state and is subject to entry.

The secretary of state shall withhold a grant to any and all vacant and unappropriated lands lying within or immediately adjacent to the boundaries of any and all national forest purchase areas; also to lands within or near state forests and parks, and such other areas as the department of conservation and development may request to be withheld for dedication to public use as state forests, state parks, game refuges or other recreational areas. The secretary of state is further authorized to furnish to the department of conservation and development all available information on such tracts or parcels of vacant land. The department of conservation and development, after proper investigation, may then request the permanent dedication of these lands to the State as state forests and parks, game and wild life refuges or other type of economic or recreational areas. If the department of conservation and development should decide that the lands in question are too small or in other ways unsuitable for administration as such state forests and parks but are more suitable for the consolidation of publicly owned forests, parks, game refuges or other recreational areas, it may upon approval by the governor request the secretary of state and the said secretary is hereby directed, payment of the usual official and service fees therefor to be made in such manner as the said secretary may direct, to issue a grant for said land to such agency as may have the direction and supervision over such publicly owned forests, parks, game refuges or other recreational areas, or it may enter into agreement with federal or other public and private agencies for exchange of lands in order to bring about the consolidation of publicly owned forests, parks, game refuges or other recreational areas; and on approval of such agreements for exchange by the governor, the secretary of state, on request of the department of conservation and development, shall issue grants in accordance with such agreements. (Rev., s. 1727; 1903, c. 272, s. 3; 1935, c. 173; C. S. 7581.)

§ 146-51. Cutting timber on land before obtaining a grant.—If any person shall make an entry of any lands, and before perfecting title to same shall enter upon such lands and cut therefrom any wood, trees, or timber, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. Any person found guilty under the provisions of this section shall further pay to the state double the value of the wood, trees, or timber taken from the land, and it shall be the duty of the solicitor of the district in which the land lies to sue for the same. (Rev., s. 3741; 1903, c. 272, s. 4; C. S. 7582.)

§ 146-52. Lands conveyed to United States for inland waterway.—For the purpose of aiding in the construction of a proposed inland waterway by the United States from the city of Norfolk, in the state of Virginia, to Beaufort inlet, in the state of North Carolina, the secretary of state is hereby authorized to issue to the United States of America a grant to the land located within a distance of one thousand feet on either side of the center of the said inland waterway, in so far as such land is subject to grant by the state of North Carolina, the said grant to issue upon a certificate furnished to the secretary of state by the secretary of war, or by any authorized officer of the corps of engineers of the United States army, or by any other authorized official, exercising control of the construction of the said waterway.

Wherever, in the construction of the said inland waterway, lands theretofore submerged shall be raised above the water by deposit of excavated material, the lands so formed shall become the property of the United States for a distance of one thousand feet on either side of the center of such canal or channel, and the secretary of state is hereby authorized to issue to the United States a grant to the land so formed within the distance above mentioned, the grant to issue upon a certificate furnished to the secretary of state by some authorized official of the United States as above provided. (1913, c. 197; 1937, c. 445; C. S. 7583.)

Grant Book ..... Page .....
Entry No. ..... Entered .....

Such grant books as are old and falling to pieces shall be recopied, and whenever any part of the record of a grant is partly gone or destroyed the secretary of state shall restore same, if he can do so with accuracy from the description in the plot and survey upon which the grant was issued and original record made. (1909, c. 505, ss. 1, 2, 3; C. S. 7584.)

Grant of Moore's Creek battlefield authorized.—In conjunction with an act of Congress relating to the establishment of the Moore's Creek National Military Park (June 2, 1926, c. 448, s. 2, 44 Stat. 684, U. S. Code, Title 16, ss. 422-422(d), the Governor of the State of North Carolina is hereby authorized to execute to the United States Government a deed vesting the title to Moore's Creek Battlefield, Pender County, in said United States Government on behalf of the State of North Carolina, to preserve the same as an historical battlefield: Provided, that the consent of the State of North Carolina to such acquisition by the United States is upon the express condition that the State of North Carolina shall so far retain a concurrent jurisdiction with the United States over such battlefield as that all civil and criminal processes issued from the courts of the State of North Carolina may be executed thereon in like manner as if this authority had not been given: Provided further, that the title to said battlefield so conveyed to the United States shall revert to the State of North Carolina unless said land is used for the purpose for which it is ceded. (1925, c. 40; 1927, c. 56.)

Art. 6. Correction of Grants.

§ 146-55. Change of county line before grant issued or registered.—All grants issued on entries for lands which were entered in one county, and before the issuing of the grants therefor, or the registration of the grants, by the change of former county lines, or the establishment of new lines, the lands so entered were placed in a county, or in counties different from that in which they were situated, and the grants were registered in the county where the entries were made, shall be good and valid, and the registration of the grants shall have the same force and effect as if they had been registered in the county where the lands were situated; and all persons claiming under and by such grants may have them, or a certified copy of the same, from the office of the secretary of state, or from the office of the register of deeds when they had been erroneously registered, recorded in the office of the register of deeds of the county or counties where the lands lie, and such registration shall have the same force and effect as if the grants had been duly registered in such county or counties. (Rev., s. 1736; 1897, c. 37; C. S. 7585.)

§ 146-56. Entries in wrong county.—Whereas many citizens of the state, on making entries of lands near the lines of the county wherein they reside, either for want of proper knowledge of the land laws of the state or not knowing the county lines, have frequently made entries and extended their surveys on such entries into other counties than those wherein they were made, and obtained grants on the same; and whereas doubts have existed with respect to the validity of the titles to lands situated as aforesaid, so far as they extend into other counties than those where the entries were made; for remedy whereof it is hereby declared that all grants issued on entries made for lands situated as aforesaid shall be good and valid against any entries thereafter made or grants issued thereon. (Rev., s. 1737; Code, s. 2784; R. C., c. 42, s. 27; 1805, c. 675; 1834, c. 17; C. S. 7586.)

§ 146-57. Errors in surveys of plots corrected.—Whenever there may be an error by the surveyor in plotting or making out the certificate for the secretary's office, or the secretary shall make a mistake in making out the courses agreeable to such returns, or misname the claimant, or make other mistake, so as such claimant shall be injured thereby, the claimant may prefer a petition to the superior court of the county in which the land lies, setting forth the injury which he might sustain in consequence of such error or mistake, with all the matters and things relative thereto; and the court may hear testimony respecting the truth of the allegations set forth in the petition; and if it shall appear by the testimony, from the return of the surveyor or the error of the secretary, that the patentee is liable to be injured thereby, the court shall direct the clerk to certify the facts to the secretary of state, who shall file the same in his office, and correct the error in the patent, and likewise in the records of his office. The costs of such suit shall be paid by the petitioner, except when any person may have made himself a party to prevent the prayer of the petitioner being granted, in which case the costs shall be paid as the court may decree. The benefits granted by this section to the patentees of land shall be extended in all cases to persons claiming by, from, or under their grants, by descent, devise, or purchase. When any error is ordered to be rectified, and the same has been carried through from the grant into mesne conveyances, the court shall direct a copy of the order to be recorded in the register's book of the county: Provided, no such petition shall be brought but within three years after the date of the patent; and if brought after that time, the court shall dismiss the same, and all proceedings had thereon shall be null and of no effect: Provided further, nothing herein shall affect the rights or interest of any person claiming under a patent issued between the period of the date of the grant alleged to be erroneous and the time of filing the petition, unless such person shall have had due notice of the filing of the petition, by service of a copy thereof, and an opportunity of defending his rights before the court according to the course of the common law. (Rev., s. 1738; Code, s. 2785; R. C., c. 42, s. 28; 1790, c. 326; 1798, c. 504; 1804, c. 655; 1814, c. 876; C. S. 7587.)

the secretary of state shall, upon the application of any party interested and the payment to him of his lawful fees, correct the original grant by inserting in the proper place the words, figures, or names omitted or not correctly given or suggested by the context; or if the description in the grant does not correspond with the surveyor's plot or certificate, he shall make the former correspond with the latter as the true facts may require. In case the party interested prefer it, the secretary of state shall issue a duplicate of the original grant, including therein the corrections made; and in those cases in which grants have not been correctly recorded he shall make the proper corrections upon his records, or by rerecording, as he may prefer; and any grant corrected as aforesaid may be recorded in any county of the state as other grants are recorded, and have relation to the time of the entry and date of the grant as in other cases. In the assessment of valuation, the benefit that will accrue to the proprietor by reason of the improvement may be likewise reckoned and set off against the damages. The proceedings for such condemnation shall be the same as are provided for condemnation of lands by railroad corporations. In all controversies and suits involving the title to real property claimed and held under and by virtue of a deed made substantially as above the person claiming title adverse to the title conveyed by such deed shall be required to prove, in order to defeat such title, either that the real property was not subject to taxation for the year or years named in the deed, that the taxes had been paid before the sale, that the property had been redeemed from the sale according to the provisions of law, and that such redemption was had or made for the use or benefit of persons having the right of redemption under the laws of this state, or that there had been an entire omission to list or assess the property or to levy the taxes or to sell the property; but no person shall be permitted to question the title acquired under such sale and deed without first showing that he or the person under whom he claims title had title to the property at the time of the sale, and that all taxes due upon the property have been paid by such person or the person under whom he claims title. (Rev., s. 4047; Code, s. 2527; R. C., c. 66, s. 24; 1842-3, c. 36, s. 3; 1889, c. 243; C. S. 7617.)

Actions by board; counsel; compromise. — The state board of education may employ counsel learned in the law to aid and assist it in the investigation and prosecution of its title to any of the swamp lands; and may compromise upon such terms as to it shall seem reasonable and just, for the title, so as to secure the corporation an indefeasible right in such lands. (Rev., s. 4051; Code, s. 2516; R. C., c. 66, s. 13; C. S. 7619.)

§ 146-93. § 146-97. Withdrawal of swamp lands from sale under certain conditions; lease or sale to department of conservation and development. — When it shall be reported to the state board of education, after investigation by the department of conservation and development, that any part of the lands now known as "swamp lands" should be retained and reserved from sale in the public interest because of the suitability of the waters thereupon for oyster culture, or for game refuge, or other purposes consistent with public use, the board of education shall, if upon examination it is found that the reservation of the said lands for such purpose is proper and to the public interest, reserve the same and make such disposition as will best conserve the public interest by lease or sale to the department of conservation and development as may be thought proper. (Rev., s. 5405; Code, s. 3446; 1873-4, c. 158, s. 18; 1883, c. 349; 1915, c. 125, ss. 1, 2; 1917, c. 286, s. 15; 1925, c. 163; 1925, c. 275, s. 6; 1933, c. 172, s. 18; C. S. 7735.)

§ 148-25. Commission to investigate death of convicts.—The state highway and public works commission, upon information of the death of a convict other than by natural causes, shall investigate the cause thereof and report the result of such investigation to the Governor, and for this purpose the commission may administer oaths and send for persons and papers. (Rev., s. 5409; 1885, c. 379, s. 2; 1925, c. 163; 1933, c. 172, s. 18; C. S. 7746.)

Art. 3. Labor of Prisoners.

§ 148-26. Intent of State to maintain public roads with prison labor.—It is hereby declared to be the public policy of this state to build and maintain a state system of dependable highways and to maintain and improve the public roads in the several counties at the state's expense; and to that end to make the most economical use of the prison labor of the state in the construction, improvement and maintenance of said highways and roads.

It is further declared to be the intent and purpose of this chapter to provide for the gainful employment of all able-bodied prisoners of the state; and to this end the highway and public works commission is directed to provide for the employment in the maintenance and construction of the public roads of the state of as many of the male prisoners as, under the terms of their sentences, may be thus employed and are physically fit for such work, and as the commission can arrange economically to use for such purpose, and the remainder of the inmates of such prison division shall be employed as far as practicable, with due regard to their physical condition, in agriculture, prison industries, and forestry work, giving preference to the production of food supplies and necessary articles of use in the state highway department and other state supported institutions or activities, and the development and improvement of state owned properties. (1933, c. 172, ss. 1, 14.)

§ 148-27. Women prisoners; limitations on labor of prisoners.—The state highway and public works commission may provide suitable quarters for women prisoners and arrange for work suitable to their capacity; and the several courts of the state may assign women convicted of offenses, whether felonies or misdemeanors, to these quarters. No woman prisoner shall be assigned to work under the supervision of the state highway and public works commission whose term of imprisonment is less than six months, or who is under eighteen years of age. No male person shall be so assigned whose term of imprisonment is less than thirty days. Provided, that in criminal actions in which a justice of the peace has final jurisdiction, no county shall be liable for or taxed with any costs. (1931, c. 145, s. 32; 1933, c. 39; 1933, c. 172, s. 18; 1935, c. 257, s. 3.)

§ 148-28. Sentencing of prisoners to central prison.—The several judges of the superior courts of this state are hereby given express authority in passing sentence upon persons convicted of a felony, when, in their opinion, the nature of the offence or the character or condition of the defendant makes it advisable to do so, to sentence such person to the central prison at Raleigh, and thereupon a sheriff or other appropriate officer of the county shall cause such prisoner to be delivered with the proper commitment papers to the warden of the central prison. (1933, c. 172, s. 7.)

§ 148-29. Transportation of convicts to prison; sheriff's expense affidavit; state not liable for maintenance expenses until convict received.—The sheriff having in charge any prisoner sentenced to the central prison at Raleigh shall send him to the central prison within five days after the adjournment of the court at which he was sentenced, if no appeal has been taken. The sheriff shall file with the board of commissioners of his county a copy of his affidavit as to necessary guard, together with a copy of his itemized account of expenses, both certified to by the auditor as true copies of those on file in his office. The state is not liable for the expenses of maintaining convicts until they have been received by the state highway and public works commission authorities, nor shall any moneys be paid out of the treasury for support of convicts prior to such reception. (Rev., ss. 5398, 5399, 5400; Code, ss. 3432, 3437, 3438; 1869-70, c. 180, s. 3; 1870-1, c. 124, s. 3; 1874-5, c. 107, s. 3; 1925, c. 163; 1933, c. 172, s. 18; C. S. 7718.)

§ 148-30. Sentencing to public roads.—In all cases not provided for in §§ 148-28 and 148-32, the courts sentencing defendants to imprisonment with hard labor shall sentence such prisoners to jail, to be assigned to work under the state highway and public works commission, and the clerks of the several courts in which such sentences are pronounced shall notify the superintendent of the nearest highway prison camp, or such other agent of the commission as he may be advised by them is the proper person to receive such notice. Whereupon, the commission shall cause some duly authorized agent thereof to take such prisoners into custody, with the proper commitments therefor, and deliver them to such camp or station as the proper authorities of the commission shall designate: Provided, however, the commission shall not be required to accept any prisoner from any court inferior to the superior court when an appeal has been taken to the superior court, or when the judge of such inferior court shall retain control over the sentence for the purpose of modifying or changing the same. (1933, c. 172, s. 8.)

§ 148-31. Maintenance of central prison; warden; powers and duties. — The central prison shall be maintained in such a manner as to conform to all the requirements of Article 11 of the State Constitution, relating to a state's prison. A suitable person shall be appointed warden of the central prison, and he shall succeed to and be vested with all the rights, duties, and powers heretofore vested by law in the superintendent of the state's prison or the warden thereof with respect to capital punishment, or any matter of discipline of the inmates of the prison not otherwise provided for in this article. (1933, c. 172, s. 14.)

§ 148-32. Prisoners may be sentenced to work on city and county properties; commission may provide prisoners for county.—Any county, city or town that operates farms, parks, or other public grounds by convict labor may retain a sufficient number of prisoners for the operation of such properties, and the judges in the courts of such counties, cities, or towns, in lieu of sentencing prisoners to jail to be assigned to work under the state highway and public works commission, shall sentence a sufficient number to the county jail to be assigned to work on such county, city or town properties for the necessary operation thereof; and courts may also sentence prisoners to the county jail to be assigned to work at the county home or other county-supported institution.

The commission may in its discretion provide prison labor upon terms and conditions agreed upon from time to time for doing specific tasks of work for the several county homes, county farms, or other county owned properties, but prisoners assigned to such work shall be at all times under the control and custody of a duly authorized agent of the division of prisons. (1931, c. 145, s. 30; 1933, c. 172, s. 31; 1939, c. 243.)

§ 148-33. Prison labor furnished other state agencies.—The state highway and public works commission may furnish to any of the other state departments, state institutions, or agencies, upon such conditions as may be agreed upon from time to time between the commission and the governing authorities of such department, institution or agency, prison labor for carrying on any work where it is practical and desirable to use prison labor in the furtherance of the purposes of any state department, institution or agency, and such other employment as is now provided by law for inmates of the state's prison under the provisions of § 148-6: Provided that such prisoners shall at all times be under the custody of and controlled by the duly authorized agent of such commission. (1933, c. 172, s. 30.)

§ 148-34. Establishment of prison districts and camps. — There shall be established in this State by the state highway and public works commission, with the approval of the Governor, such number of prison districts, not less than five, as they shall determine advisable. The state highway and public works commission shall, as soon thereafter as practicable, with the approval of the Governor, locate the prison camp or camps in each of said districts. Until such time as it shall be feasible for the commission to build and construct prison camps in accordance with the provisions of this article, it shall be the duty of the commission to take over and acquire by contract, under terms to be approved by the Governor, such county or road district prison camps as in their opinion shall be necessary for the use of the county prisoners on the public roads of the several county road systems as hereafter provided. The state highway and public works commission, with the approval of the Governor, in lieu of locating and constructing prison camps in any of the districts, may acquire by contract and take over prison camps in any county or road district and may make such alterations and additions thereto as shall be necessary to render the same suitable for a district prison camp. (1931, c. 145, s. 26; 1933, c. 172, s. 17.)

§ 148-35. Plans and specifications for original prison camps. — All district prison camps authorized by § 148-34, and all additions made to county camps taken over by the state highway and public works commission as authorized by § 148-34, shall be constructed, altered or changed, under plans and specifications prepared by the commission with the approval of the Governor, the State Board of Health, and the State Board of Charities and Public Welfare. The construction, alterations or changes shall be done by the highway and public works commission and, as far as shall be practicable, prisoners shall be used to do the work. (1931, c. 145, s. 27; 1933, c. 172, s. 17.)

§ 148-36. Highway and public works commission to control camps.—The district prison camps and all county prison camps acquired by the state highway and public works commission in lieu of district prison camps shall be under the control and direction of the commission, and operated under rules and regulations to be made by the commission, and approved by the Governor and the State Board of Charities and Public Welfare, and subject to such rules and regulations so adopted and approved, the commission shall establish grades for prisoners according to conduct, and so far as possible introduce the honor system, and may transfer honor prisoners to honor camps. Prisoners may be transferred from one district camp to another, and the state highway and public works commission may where it is deemed practical to do so establish separate camps for white prisoners and colored prisoners. In each district camp quarters shall be provided for the care and maintenance of such prisoners as may be sick, and a physician may be employed for such portion of his time as may be necessary and assigned to each of the several camps, and such of the prisoners as may be chosen may be used as attendants or nurses notwithstanding that such prisoners may not have qualified for such work as may be required by law; and any such prisoners as may have special qualifications to perform labor other than labor upon the public roads may be assigned to such special duties as the commission may determine. All necessary directors, physicians, guards or supervisors, or any other necessary employees for the proper care, keep and handling of such prisoners, shall be employed by the commission by and with the consent and approval of the Governor and the Division of Personnel of the Budget Bureau, and serve at the pleasure of the Commission. (1931, c. 145, s. 28; 1931, c. 277, s. 8; 1933, c. 46, ss. 3, 4; 1933, c. 172, ss. 4, 17.)

§ 148-37. Additional prison camps authorized.— The commission may establish such additional camps as are necessary for use by the division of prisons, such camps to be either of a permanent type of construction, or of temporary or movable type as the commission may find most advantageous to the particular needs, to the end that work to be done by the prisoners under its supervision may be so distributed throughout the state as to render their employment most economical and profitable, the commission to be the sole judges of the type and character of such buildings without the control of any other department. For this purpose, the commission may purchase or lease camp sites and suitable lands adjacent thereto and erect necessary buildings thereon, all within the limits of allotments as approved from time to time by the budget bureau for this purpose. (1933, c. 172, s. 19.)

§ 148-38. Employment of prisoners assigned to camps. — All able-bodied prisoners committed or assigned to the district prison camps shall be employed in the maintenance and construction of roads in the public road system of the several counties, or upon the state highway system, or assigned to such special duty in connection with the prison camps, or the preparation and repair of all road equipment and supplies as the state highway and public works commission may determine. (1931, c. 145, s. 29; 1933, c. 172, s. 17.)

§ 148-39. Cost of keeping prisoners borne by state highway and public works commission. — The cost and expense of construction of the various prison camps, the care, transportation and maintenance of prisoners and their guarding and supervision shall be paid by the state highway and public works commission from the county road maintenance funds provided in the Budget Appropriations Act: Provided, however, when prisoners are used upon the state highway systems in construction or maintenance, the cost and expense of transportation and maintenance of such prisoners, their guarding and supervision, shall be paid from the funds appropriated for the maintenance of state highways. (1931, c. 145, s. 33; 1933, c. 172, s. 17.)

§ 148-40. Recapture of escaped prisoners. — State highway and public works commission may, in the rules and regulations to be adopted by it, provide for the recapture of convicts that may escape, or any convicts that may have escaped from the state's prison or highway prison camps, or county road camps of this state, and may pay such reward or expense of recapture as the commission may by regulation provide to any person making the same. Any citizen of North Carolina shall have authority to apprehend any convict who may escape before the expiration of his term of imprisonment whether he be guilty of a felony or misdemeanor, and retain him in custody and deliver him to the division of prisons. (1933, c. 172, s. 21.)

§ 148-41. Recapture of escaping prisoners; reward; punishment for escape.—The state highway and public works commission shall use every means possible to recapture, regardless of expense, any prisoners escaping from or leaving without permission any of the state prisons, camps, or farms. When any person who has been confined or placed to work escapes from the state prison system, the commission shall immediately notify the Governor, and accompany the notice with a full description of the escaped prisoner, together with such information as will aid in the recapture. The Governor may offer such rewards as he may deem advisable and necessary for the recapture and return to the state prison system of any person who may escape or who heretofore has escaped therefrom. Such reward earned shall be paid by the treasurer of the state on the warrant of the Governor and charged to the state highway and public works commission, and by the commission shall be repaid to the state treasurer, and accounted for as a part of the expense of maintaining the state's prisoners.

If a prisoner of Class A or Class B attempts to escape or leaves the state prison or any state farm or state camp without permission, he shall, upon being recaptured, be reduced to Class C and shall permanently lose all his accumulated time and money. (Rev., s. 5407; Code, s. 3442; 1873-4, c. 158, s. 13; 1917, c. 236; 1917, c. 286, s. 13; 1925, c. 163; 1933, c. 172, s. 18; 1935, c. 414, s. 16; C. S. 7742.)

§ 148-42. Indeterminate sentences. — The several judges of the superior court are authorized in their discretion in sentencing prisoners for a term in excess of twelve months to provide for a minimum and maximum sentence, and the commission is authorized to consider at least once in every six (6) months the cases of such prisoners that have thus been committed with indeterminate sentences, and to take into consideration the prisoners' conduct, and to authorize his discharge at any time after the service of the minimum term subject to his earned allowance for good behavior which his conduct may justify. (1933, c. 172, s. 24.)

§ 148-43. Prisoners of different races kept separate.—White and colored prisoners shall not be confined or shackled together in the same room of any building or tent, either in the State Prison or at any State or county convict camp, during the eating or sleeping hours, and at all other times the separation of the two races shall be as complete as practicable. Any officer or employee of either the State or any county in the State having charge of convicts or prisoners who shall violate or permit the violation of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be fined not more than fifty dollars or imprisoned not more than thirty days. (1909, c. 832, ss. 1, 2; 1917, c. 286, s. 24; 1925, c. 163; C. S. 7740.)

§ 148-44. Segregation as to race, sex and age.—The commission shall provide separate sleeping quarters and separate eating space for the different races and the different sexes; and, in so far as it is practical to do so, shall provide for youthful convicts to segregate to themselves. (1933, c. 172, s. 25.)

§ 148-45. Penalty for escaping or assisting in.—Any prisoner who escapes or attempts to escape, or in any manner connives, aids or assists in helping other prisoners to escape or attempt to escape shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be imprisoned at the discretion of the court, such term of imprisonment to commence at the termination of the sentence being served at the time of the offense, and such offending prisoner shall likewise forfeit all gained time that he has earned by previous good conduct. (1933, c. 172, s. 26.)

§ 148-46. Degree of protection against violence allowed.—When any prisoner, or several combined shall offer violence to any officer, overseer, or guard, or to any fellow prisoner, or attempt to do any injury to the prison building, or to any workshop, or other equipment, or shall attempt to escape, or shall resist, or disobey any lawful command, the officer, overseer, or guard shall use any means necessary to defend himself, or to enforce the observance of discipline, or to secure the person of the offender, and to prevent an escape. (1933, c. 172, s. 27.)

§ 148-47. Disposition of child born of female prisoner.—Any child born of a female convict while she is in custody shall upon the arrival of a suitable age be surrendered to the clerk of the superior court of Wake county for disposition as the law provides in the case of children whose parents are dead or unable to provide for them. (1933, c. 172, s. 28.)

§ 148-48. Parole powers of governor unaffected.—Nothing in this chapter shall be construed to limit or restrict the power of the governor to parole prisoners under such conditions as he may himself impose or prevent the reimprisonment of such prisoners upon the violation of the conditions of such parole, as now provided by law. (1933, c. 172, s. 29.)

§ 148-49. Prison indebtedness not assumed by commission. — The state highway and public works commission shall not assume or pay off any part of the deficit of the state prison existing on March 22, 1933. (1933, c. 172, s. 33.)

Art. 4. Paroles.

Advisory board of paroles created; term of office; vacancy appointments. — The governor of North Carolina is hereby authorized and empowered to name an advisory board of paroles of six members, consisting of the attorney general, the chairman of the state highway and public works commission, the superintendent of public welfare, and three others, who are not state office holders and who are not connected officially with the state highway and public works commission, to be selected by the governor and to serve for the term of his appointment, and to perform such duties in the state prison program as may be assigned to them by the governor. The members of the board, other than ex-officio members, shall be appointed as follows: One for a term of one year, one for a term of two years and one for a term of three years. Appoint-

The parole commissioner shall be provided with reasonable clerical assistance, whose compensation shall be fixed in accordance with the provisions of § 148-55. The salary of the parole commissioner shall be fixed by the governor. (1935, c. 414, s. 2; 1939, c. 335.)

The governor may cause an investigation to be made by the said investigators of any prison, prison camp, prison farm, and/or any penal and correctional institution in the State when, in his judgment, the situation warrants an investigation. Each and every investigator provided for herein shall perform his duties under the sole direction of the governor. (1935, c. 414, s. 3.)

§ 148-54. Parole supervisors provided for; duties. — The governor is hereby authorized to appoint a sufficient number of competent parole supervisors, who shall be particularly qualified for and adapted to the work required of them, and who shall, under the direction of the governor and under regulations prescribed by him exercise supervision and authority over paroled prisoners, assist paroled prisoners, and those who are to be paroled in finding and retaining self-supporting employment, and to promote rehabilitation work with paroled prisoners, to the end that they may become law abiding citizens. The supervisors shall also, under the direction of the governor, maintain frequent contacts with paroled prisoners and find out whether or not they are observing the conditions of their paroles, and assist them in every possible way toward compliance with the conditions of their paroles, and they shall perform such other duties in connection with paroled prisoners as the governor may require. The number of supervisors may be increased by the governor as and when the number of paroled prisoners to be supervised requires or justifies such increase. (1935, c. 414, s. 4.)

§ 148-55. Pay and expenses of assistants, investigators and supervisors.—The salaries and expense allowances of all personnel appointed under §§ 148-52 to 148-54 shall be fixed by the governor with the approval of the advisory budget commission, and all such salaries and expenses, other than that of the parole commissioner, shall be paid by the state highway and public works commission upon vouchers approved by the commissioner of paroles. Nothing in this section shall be construed as making mandatory the release of any prisoner, but shall be construed only as guaranteeing to every prisoner a hearing of his case upon its merits. (1935, c. 414, s. 8.)

§ 148-59. Duties of clerks of all courts as to commitments; statements filed with commissioner of paroles.—The several clerks of the superior courts and the clerks of all inferior courts shall attach to the commitment of each prisoner sentenced in such courts a statement furnishing such information as the governor shall by regulations prescribe, which information shall contain, among other things, the following: (1) The court in which the prisoner was tried; (2) the name of the prisoner and of all co-defendants; (3) the date or term when the prisoner was tried; (4) the offense with which the prisoner was charged and the offense for which convicted; (5) the judgment of the court and the date of the beginning of the sentence; (6) the name and address of the presiding judge; (7) the name and address of the prosecuting solicitor; (8) the name and address of private prosecuting attorney, if any; (9) the name and address of the arresting officer; and (10) all available information of the previous criminal record of the prisoner.

The prison authorities receiving the prisoner for the beginning of the service of sentence shall detach from the commitment the statement furnishing such information and forward it to the commissioner of paroles, together with any additional information in the possession of such prison authorities relating to the previous criminal record of such prisoner, and the information thus furnished shall constitute the foundation and file of the prisoner's case. (1935, c. 414, s. 9.)

Coöperation of prison officials; information to be furnished. — The warden of each prison and the superintendent of each camp and farm and all officers and employees thereof and all other public officials shall at all times coöperate with the governer and parole commissioner and shall furnish to them all information that may be requested from time to time that will assist them in performing their functions, and all such wardens and other employees shall at all times give to the governor and parole commissioner and his staff free access to all prisoners. (1935, c. 414, s. 14.)

§ 148-65. (Rev., s. 5410; Code, s. 3449; 1881, c. 127, s. 1; 1925, c. 163; 1931, c. 145, s. 35; 1933, c. 172, s. 18; C. S. 7758.)

Chapter 149. State Song.

Sec.
149-1. "The Old North State."

§ 149-1. "The Old North State."—The song known as "The Old North State," as hereinafter written, is adopted and declared to be the official song of the State of North Carolina, said song being in words as follows:

"Carolina! Carolina! Heaven's blessings attend her!
While we live we will cherish, protect and defend her;
Though the scorner may sneer at and witlings defame her,
Our hearts swell with gladness whenever we name her.
Hurrah! Hurrah! The Old North State forever!
Hurrah! Hurrah! the good Old North State!
Though she envies not others their merited glory,
Say, whose name stands the foremost in Liberty's story!
Though too true to herself e'er to crouch to oppression,
Who can yield to just rule more loyal submission?
Plain and artless her sons, but whose doors open faster
At the knock of a stranger, or the tale of disaster?
How like to the rudeness of their dear native mountains,
With rich ore in their bosoms and life in their fountains.
And her daughters, the Queen of the Forest resembling—
So graceful, so constant, yet to gentlest breath trembling;
And true lightwood at heart, let the match be applied them,
How they kindle and flame! Oh! none know but who've tried them.
Then let all who love us, love the land that we live in
(As happy a region as on this side of Heaven),
Where Plenty and Freedom, Love and Peace smile before us, Raise aloud, raise together, the heart-thrilling chorus!"

§ 152-7. The duties of coroners with respect to inquests and preliminary hearings. — The duties of the several coroners with respect to inquests and preliminary hearings shall be as follows:

1. Whenever it appears that the deceased probably came to his death by the criminal act or default of some person, he shall go to the place where the body of such deceased person is and make a careful investigation and inquiry as to when and by what means such deceased person came to his death and the name of the deceased, if to be found out, together with all the material circumstances attending his death, and shall make a complete record of such personal investigation: Provided, however, that the coroner shall not proceed to summon a jury as is hereinafter provided if he shall be satisfied from his personal investigation that the death of the said deceased was from natural causes, or that no person is blamable in any respect in connection with such death, and shall so find and make such finding in writing as a part of his report, giving the reason for such finding; unless an affidavit be filed with the coroner indicating blame in connection with the death of the deceased.

2. To summon forthwith a jury of six good and lawful men, freeholders, who are otherwise qualified to act as jurors, who shall not be related to the deceased by blood or marriage, or to any person suspected of guilt in connection with such death, and the coroner, upon the oath of the jury at the said place, which oath may be taken by him or any other person authorized to administer oaths, shall make further inquiry as to when, how and by what means such deceased person came to his death, and shall cause to come before himself and the said jury all such persons as may be necessary in order to complete said inquiry.

3. If it appears that the deceased was slain, or came to his death in such manner as to indicate any person or persons guilty of the crime in connection with the said death, then the said inquiry shall ascertain who was guilty, either as principal or accessory, or otherwise, if known; and the cause and manner of his death.

4. Whenever in such investigations, whether preliminary or before his jury, it shall appear to the coroner or to the jury that any person or persons are culpable in the matter of such death, he shall forthwith issue his warrant for such person and cause the same to be brought before him and the inquiry shall proceed as in the case of preliminary hearings before justices of the peace, and in case it appears to the said coroner and the jury that such persons are probably guilty of any crime in connection with the death of the deceased, then the said coroner shall commit such person to jail, if it appears that such person is probably guilty of a capital crime, and in case it appears that such persons are not probably guilty of a capital crime, but are probably guilty of a lesser crime, then such coroner is to have the power and authority to fix bail for such person or persons. All such persons as are found probably guilty in such hearing shall be delivered to the keeper of the common jail for such county by the sheriff or such other officer as may perform his duties at such hearings and committed to jail unless such persons have been allowed and given the bail fixed by such coroner.

5. As many persons as are found to be material witnesses in the matters involved in such inquiry and hearings, and are not culpable themselves shall be bound in recognizance with sufficient surety to appear at the next Superior Court to give evidence, and such as may default in giving such recognizance may be by such coroner committed to jail as is provided for State witnesses in other cases.

6. To summon a physician or surgeon and to cause him to make such examination as may be necessary whenever it appears to such coroner as proper to have such examination made, or, upon request of his jury, or upon the request of the solicitor of his district or counsel for any accused or any member of the family of the deceased: Provided, however, that when the coroner shall himself be a physician or surgeon, he may make such examination himself.

7. Immediately upon information of the death of a person within his county under such circumstances as, in the opinion of the coroner, may make it necessary for him to investigate the same, to notify the solicitor of his district, and to make such additional investigation as he may be directed to do by such solicitor.

8. To permit counsel for the family of the deceased, the solicitor of his district, or any one designated by him, and counsel for any accused person to be present and participate in such hearing and examine and cross-examine witnesses and, whenever a warrant shall have been issued for any accused person, such accused person shall be entitled to counsel and to a full and complete hearing.

9. To begin his inquiry with his jury where the body of the deceased shall be, but said hearing may be adjourned to other times and places, and the body of the deceased need not be present at such further hearing.

10. § 153-19. Or the board may impose and confer such powers and duties upon any other officer or agent of the county who may be sufficiently qualified to perform such duties, and the compensation paid to such officer or agent may be revised or adjusted in order that it may be adequate compensation for all the duties of his office. Such counties may also by agreement establish a jail already built, as a district jail, and provide for the improvement, enlargement, maintenance cost and use thereof.

When and if such district jail has been established, all the counties in such district may then sell or dispose of their separate jails upon such terms as the board of county commissioners may decide. (1933, c. 201.)

§ 153-55. Unlawful for counties not to reduce ad valorem taxes; exceptions; other levies void.—As it was intended by the State Highway Commission Act and the Six Months School Term Act and other acts tending to this result to effect a reduction of ad valorem taxes in the several counties of the State, it is hereby declared to be unlawful for any board of county commissioners, for the fiscal year one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one—one thousand nine hundred and thirty-two and other fiscal years succeeding to make any tax levy, which in the gross does not reflect within three per cent (3%) a reduction in the ad valorem taxes accomplished by these acts. The tax rate for one thousand nine hundred and thirty—one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one shall be the standard from which the reduction shall be made. To this prohibition there shall be the following exceptions:

A. If there should be a new assessment of the value of property for taxation and that assessment should show a reduction in the value of such taxable property, then said board of county commissioners, or any one of them, if the reduction is local, shall levy, in addition to the rate fixed hereinbefore, a rate increased sufficiently to take care of this decrease in the valuation of property in the particular county involved.

B. To prevent a current deficit and, if an emergency should arise, requiring the levy of an additional rate of taxation in a particular county greater than that herein provided and there should be existing authority for such levy, then the board of commissioners of any county or counties in which such emergency should arise shall be permitted to increase the rate of taxation sufficiently to meet such emergency, when it is declared and the facts upon which the declaration is made are entered at large upon the minutes of the board and the whole matter is referred to the Local Government Commission of the State of North Carolina, which shall have authority to pass upon the application and if, in the opinion of that Commission, a levy of the additional rate is reasonably necessary, then upon certifying this fact to any board of county commissioners, the board shall have authority to increase the levy to the extent necessary to meet the contingency. Standard form of application shall be prescribed by the Local Government Commission.

C. Levies for debt service on outstanding valid indebtedness heretofore incurred, or hereafter permitted by the Local Government Commission.

Except as herein permitted, any levy made by any board of county commissioners, in excess of the limit herein fixed, shall be absolutely void, for whatever purposes such excess shall be levied. (1931, c. 134.)

§ 153-56. Taxes collected by sheriff or tax collector.—The county taxes shall be collected by the sheriff of the county or the tax collector if one is provided by law. (Rev., s. 1376; Code, s. 723; R. C., c. 28, s. 2; 1798, c. 509, s. 2; 1811, c. 823; C. S. 1322.)

Such report shall give an itemized and detailed account of the public funds received and disbursed, the amount, date and source from which it was received, and the amount, date and person to whom paid. It shall be addressed to the chairman of the board of commissioners for the county, and shall be subscribed and verified by the oath of the party making the same, before any person authorized to administer oaths. Board to enforce duty to report.—If any person required to make any of the reports herein provided for fails to do so, or if, after a report has been made, the board of commissioners disapprove the same, such board may take such legal steps to compel a proper report to be made, either by suit on the bond of such officer failing to comply or otherwise, as said board may deem best. (Rev., s. 1381; Code, s. 730; 1874-5, c. 151, s. 3; 1876-7, c. 276, s. 3; C. S. 1327.)

§ 153-62. Reports to be recorded in register's office.—If the board of commissioners approves of any of the said reports, it shall cause the same to be registered in the office of the register of deeds in a book to be furnished to the register of deeds by the county, which book shall be marked and styled Record of Official Reports, with a proper index of all reports recorded therein, and each official report shall, if approved, be indorsed by the chairman of the board with the word "approved," with the date of approval, and when recorded by the register of deeds he shall indorse thereon the date of registration, the page of the Record of Official Reports upon which the same is registered, sign the same and file it in his office. § 153-64. Demand before suit against municipality; complaint.—No person shall sue any city, county, town or other municipal corporation for any debt or demand arising out of contract when the damages are liquidated unless the claimant has made a demand upon the proper municipal authorities. And every such action shall be dismissed unless the complaint is verified and contains the following allegations: (1) That the claimant presented his claim to the lawful municipal authorities to be audited and allowed, and that they had neglected to act upon it, or had disallowed it; or (2) that he had presented to the treasurer of said municipal corporation the claim sued on, which had been so allowed and audited, and that such treasurer had notwithstanding neglected to pay it. (Rev., s. 1384; Code, s. 757; C. S. 1330.)

§ 153-65. Accounts to be itemized, verified, and audited.—No account shall be audited by the board for any services or disbursements unless it is first made out in items and has attached to and filed with it the affidavit of the claimant that the services therein charged have been in fact made and rendered, and that no part thereof has been paid or satisfied. Each account shall state the nature of the services, and where no specific compensation is provided by law, it shall also state the time necessarily devoted to the performance thereof. The board may disallow or require further evidence of the account, notwithstanding the verifica-

Art. 9. County Finance Act.

§ 153-69. Short title. — This article shall be known and may be cited as "The County Finance Act." (1927, c. 81, s. 1.)

§ 153-70. Meaning of terms.—In this article, unless the context otherwise requires, the words—

"Governing body" means the board of county commissioners, or the board or body in which the general legislative powers of the entire county are vested.

"Clerk" means the officer acting as clerk of the governing body.

"Necessary expenses" means the necessary expenses referred to in section seven of article seven of the Constitution of North Carolina.

"Published" means printed in a newspaper published in the county, if there be such a newspaper, but otherwise means posted at the court-house door and in at least three other public places in the county.

"Chief financial officer" means the county accountant, auditor, or other officer designated or appointed by the governing body to supervise the fiscal affairs of the county, unless such officer shall be designated by law. (1927, c. 81, s. 2.)

§ 153-71. Application and construction of article.—This article shall apply to all counties in the State, except as otherwise provided herein. Every provision of this article shall be construed as being qualified by constitutional provisions whenever such construction shall be necessary in order to sustain the constitutionalty of any portion of this article. (1927, c. 81, s. 3.)

§ 153-72. Revenue anticipation loans for ordinary expenses.—Counties may borrow money for the purpose of paying appropriations made for the current fiscal year in anticipation of the collection of the taxes and other revenues of such fiscal year, payable at such time or times, not later than thirty days after the expiration of the current fiscal year, as the governing board may fix. No such loan shall be made if the amount thereof, together with the amount of similar previous loans remaining unpaid, shall exceed 50 per cent of the amount of uncollected taxes for the fiscal year in which the loan is made, as determined by the chief financial officer and certified in writing by him to the governing body. (1927, c. 81, s. 4.)

§ 153-73. Revenue anticipation loans for debt service.—For the purpose of paying the principal or interest of bonds or notes due or to become due within four months, and not otherwise adequately provided for, any county may borrow money in anticipation of the receipt of either the revenues of the fiscal year in which the loan is made, or the revenues of the next succeeding fiscal year, and such loan shall be payable not later than the end of such next succeeding fiscal year.

In addition to the foregoing powers, a county may borrow money for the purpose of refunding or funding the principal or interest of bonds due or to become due within four months and not otherwise adequately provided for, and such loans shall be paid not later than the end of the next succeeding fiscal year following the fiscal year within which they are made: Provided, however, if such loans, or any renewals thereof, shall not be paid within the fiscal year in which the same are made, the governing body shall in the next succeeding fiscal year levy and collect a tax ad valorem upon the taxable property in the county sufficient to pay the principal and interest thereof. (1927, c. 81, s. 5; 1931, c. 60, s. 63; 1931, c. 294; 1933, c. 259, s. 2; 1939, c. 231, s. 2.)

§ 153-74. Notes evidencing revenue anticipation loans.—Negotiable notes shall be issued for all moneys borrowed under the two preceding sections, which notes may be renewed from time to time and money may be borrowed upon new notes from time to time for the payment of any indebtedness evidenced thereby; but all such notes and loans shall mature within the time limited by said two sections for the payment of the original loan. No money shall be borrowed under said sections at a rate of interest exceeding the maximum rate permitted by law. All notes herein provided for shall be authorized by a resolution of the governing body, which shall fix the actual or maximum face amount of the notes and the actual or maximum rate of interest to be paid upon the amount borrowed. The governing body may delegate to any officer the power to fix such face amount and rate of interest within the limitations prescribed by such resolution, and the power to dispose of such notes, which shall be executed under the seal of the county by the chairman and clerk of the board, or by any two officers designated by the board for that purpose, and any interest coupons thereto attached shall be signed with the manual or facsimile signature of said clerk or of any other officer designated by the board for that purpose. The resolution authorizing issuance of notes for money borrowed under § 153-73 for the purpose of refunding or funding principal or interest of bonds shall contain a description of the bonds the principal or interest of which is to be so paid, including the respective amounts of such principal or interest and the date or dates on which the same is due and payable. (1927, c. 81, s. 6; 1931, c. 60, s. 59; 1939, c. 231, s. 2(b).)

§ 153-75. Certification of revenue anticipation notes.—No revenue anticipation notes shall be valid unless there shall be written or printed on the face or the reverse thereof a statement signed by the chief financial officer of the county in the words: "This note and all other revenue anticipation notes of the county amount to less than 50 per cent of the amount of uncollected taxes for the current year": Provided, however, that if such notes are issued under the authority given by § 153-73, said statement may be either in said words or in the words, "This note is issued under § 153-73 of the county finance act for the payment of principal or interest of bonds or notes." (1927, c. 81, s. 7.)

§ 153-76. Certain notes of counties validated; proceeds lost in insolvent banks.—All notes heretofore issued by counties pursuant to the provisions of the County Finance Act applicable to notes issued for money borrowed under § 153-73 are hereby validated, notwithstanding that said notes were issued for the purpose of paying the principal or interest of notes evidencing indebtedness incurred under § 153-72: Provided, that this section shall not be construed to validate securities issued to refund or renew notes, the proceeds from which originally were deposited in banks that have failed, causing the loss of such deposits or making them unavailable to the unit of government. (1931, c. 332.)

§ 153-77. Purposes for which bonds may be issued and taxes levied.—The special approval of the general assembly is hereby given to the issuance by counties of bonds and notes for the special purposes named in this section, and to the levy of property taxes for the payment of such bonds and notes and interest thereon. Accordingly, authority is hereby given to all counties in the state, under the terms and conditions herein described, to issue bonds and notes, and to levy property taxes for the payment of the same, with interest thereon, for the following purposes, including therein purchase of the necessary land and, in the case of buildings, the necessary equipment:

(a) Erection and purchase of schoolhouses.

(b) Erection and purchase of court-house and jails, including a public auditorium within and as a part of a court-house.

(c) Erection and purchase of county homes for the indigent and infirm.

(d) Erection and purchase of hospitals.

(e) Erection and purchase of public auditoriums.

(f) Elimination of grade crossings over railroads and interurban railways, including approaches and damages, when not less than one-half of the cost shall be payable to the county at one time, or from time to time under contract made with a railroad or interurban railway company, the bonds herein authorized to be for the entire cost or any portion thereof.

(g) Acquisition and improvement of lands for public parks and playgrounds.

(h) Funding or refunding of valid indebtedness if such indebtedness be payable at the time of the passage of the order authorizing the bonds or be payable within one year thereafter, or, although payable more than one year thereafter, is to be cancelled prior to its maturity and simultaneously with the issuance of the funding or refunding bonds, and all debt not evidenced by bonds which was created for necessary expenses of any county and which remains outstanding on March 7, 1927, is hereby validated. The term 'indebtedness' as used in this clause (h) includes all valid or enforceable indebtedness of a county, whether incurred for current expenses or for any other purpose, except indebtedness incurred in the name of a county on behalf of a school district or township and not payable by means of taxes authorized to be levied on all taxable property in the county. It also includes indebtedness incurred in the name of a county board of education for the maintenance of schools for the six months' term required by the State Constitution. It includes indebtedness evidenced by bonds, bond anticipation notes, revenue anticipation notes, judgments and unpaid interest on said indebtedness accrued to the date of the bonds issued. It also includes indebtedness assumed by a county as well as indebtedness created by a county. Bond anticipation notes evidencing indebtedness may, at the option of the governing body, be retired either by means of funding bonds issued under this subsection or by means of bonds in anticipation of the sale of which the notes were issued. Furthermore, the said word "debt" as used in this section includes the principal of and accrued interest on funding bonds, refunding bonds, and other evidences of indebtedness heretofore or hereafter issued. The above enumeration of particular kinds of debt shall not be construed as limiting the word "debt" as used in this section, the intention being that said word shall include debts of every kind and character. Bonds hereafter issued to fund or refund interest may, at the option of the governing body, be named or designated as certificates of indebtedness. No interest accruing after the year one thousand nine hundred forty shall be funded or refunded.

(i) A portion to be determined by the governing body of the cost of construction of bridges at county boundaries, when an adjoining county or municipality, within or without the state, shall have agreed to pay the remaining cost of construction.

(j) A portion to be determined by the governing body of the cost of public buildings constructed or acquired in order that a part of such buildings may be used for a purpose hereinabove expressed when a municipality within the county shall agree to pay the remaining cost.

(k) Acquiring, constructing and improving airports or landing fields for the use of airplanes or other aircraft. (1927, c. 81, s. 8; 1929, c. 171, s. 1; 1931, c. 60, s. 54; 1933, c. 259, s. 2; 1935, c. 302, s. 2; 1939, c. 231, s. 2(c).)

Local Modification.—Guilford: 1933, c. 566.

§ 153-78. Order of governing body required.—Bonds of a county shall be authorized by an order of the governing body, the term "order" being here used to indicate the order, resolution, or measure which declares that bonds shall be issued, in order to differentiate the same from such subsequent resolution as may be passed in respect of details which such order is not required to contain. Such order shall state:

(a) In brief and general terms, the purpose for which the bonds are to be issued, but not more than one purpose of issue shall be stated, the purposes set forth in any one subsection of § 153-77 to be deemed as one purpose, but, in the case of funding or refunding bonds, a brief description of the indebtedness to be funded or refunded sufficient to identify such indebtedness;

(b) The maximum aggregate principal amount of the bonds;

(c) That a tax sufficient to pay the principal and interest of the bonds when due shall be annually levied and collected: Provided, in lieu of the foregoing and in the case of funding or refunding bonds, such statement with respect to an annual tax may, in the discretion of the governing body, be altered or omitted;

(d) That a statement of the county debt has been filed with the clerk, and is open to public inspection;

(e) A clause stating the conditions upon which the order will become effective, and the same shall become effective in accordance with such clause, which clause shall be as follows:

1. If the bonds are funding or refunding bonds, that the order shall take effect upon its passage, and shall not be submitted to the voters; or

2. If the bonds are for a purpose other than the payment of necessary expenses, or if the governing body, although not required to obtain the assent of the voters before issuing the bonds, deems it advisable to obtain such assent, that the order shall take effect when approved by the voters of the county at an election as provided in this article; or

3. In any other case, that the order shall take effect thirty days after the first publication thereof after final passage, unless in the meantime a petition for its submission to the voters is filed under this article, and that in such event it shall take effect when approved by the voters of the county at an election as provided in this article.

4. No restriction, limitation, or provision contained in any other law, except a law of statewide application relating to the issuance of bonds, notes or other obligations of a county, shall apply to bonds or notes issued under this article for the purpose of refunding, funding or renewing indebtedness, and no vote of the people shall be required for the issuance of bonds or notes for said purposes, unless required by the constitution of this state. The other laws here referred to include all laws enacted prior to the expiration of the regular session of the general assembly in the year one thousand nine hundred thirty-five. Nothing herein shall be construed, however, as prohibiting a county from issuing bonds or notes under any special or public-local law applicable to such county, it being intended that this article shall be cumulative and additional authority for the issuance of bonds and notes. (1927, c. 81, s. 9; 1931, c. 60, s. 55; 1933, c. 259, s. 2; 1935, c. 302, s. 2.)

Local Modification.—Guilford: 1933, c. 566.

§ 153-79. Order need not specify details of purpose.—In stating the purpose of a bond issue, an order need not specify the location of any improvement or property, or the material of construction. (1927, c. 81, s. 10.)

§ 153-80. Maturities of bonds.—All bonds shall mature as hereinafter provided, and no funding or refunding bonds shall mature after the expiration of the period herein fixed for such bonds, respectively; and no other bonds shall mature after the expiration of the period estimated by the governing body as the life of the improvement for which the bonds are issued, each such period to be computed from a day not later than one year after the passage of the order. Such periods shall not exceed the following for the respective classes of bonds:

(a), (b) Funding or refunding bonds, fifty years.

(c) Elimination of grade crossings, thirty years.

(d) Lands for public parks and playgrounds, including improvements, buildings, and equipment, forty years.

(e) Public buildings, if they are—

1. Of fireproof construction, that is, a building the walls of which are constructed of brick, stone, iron, or other hard, incombustible materials, and in which there are no wood beams or lintels, and in which the floors, roofs, stair halls, and public halls are built entirely of brick, stone, iron, or other hard, incombustible materials, and in which no woodwork or other inflammable materials are used in any of the partitions, flooring, or ceiling (but the building shall be deemed to be of fireproof construction notwithstanding that elsewhere than in the stair halls and entrance halls there is wooden flooring supported by wooden sleepers on top of the fireproof floor, and that it contains wooden handrails and treads, made of hardwood, not less than two inches thick), forty years;

2. Of non-fireproof construction, that is, a building the outer walls of which are constructed of brick, stone, iron, or other hard, incombustible materials, but which in any other respect differs from a fireproof building as defined in this section, thirty years;

3. Of other construction, twenty years.

(f) Land for airports or landing fields, including grading and drainage, forty years.

(g) Buildings, equipment and other improvements for airports or landing fields, other than grading and drainage, ten years. (1927, c. 81, s. 11, 1929, c. 171, s. 2; 1931, c. 60, s. 56; 1933, c. 259, s 2.)

§ 153-81. Accelerating maturity of bonds and notes of counties and municipalities. — Any municipality or county may provide that its bonds or notes shall become due and payable before maturity at the election of the holders or a majority in amount of the holders or a representative of the holders, upon the happening of such events and upon such conditions and subject to such limitation (which may include a provision for rescission of action taken in the exercise of said election) as may be set forth in a resolution or ordinance passed before the issuance of the bonds or notes: Provided, however, that such a provision, in order to become effective, must either be set forth in the bonds or notes or incorporated therein by reference to such resolution or ordinance. The negotiability of such bonds or notes shall not be affected by the adoption of such provision or by the recital thereof in the bonds or notes. (1931, c. 418; 1933, c. 258, s. 3.)

§ 153-82. Consolidated bond issues. — It shall be lawful to consolidate into one issue bonds authorized by two or more orders for different purposes, in which event the bonds of such consolidated issue shall mature within the average of the periods estimated as the life of the several improvements, taking into consideration the amount of bonds to be issued on account of each item for which a period shall be estimated. (1927, c. 81, s. 12.)

§ 153-83. Sworn statement of debt, before authorization of bonds for school purposes.— After the introduction, and at least ten days before the final passage of an order for the issuance of bonds for school purposes, an officer designated by the governing body for that purpose shall file with the clerk a statement of debt incurred and to be incurred for school purposes under orders either introduced or passed, whether evidenced by bonds, notes, or otherwise, and whether incurred by original creation of the debt or by assumption of debt, including debt incurred by the county board of education, and including debt to the State or any department thereof, but not including obligations incurred to meet appropriations in anticipation of revenues to an amount not exceeding the amount of the last preceding tax levy for school purpose, nor including debt incurred in anticipation of the sale of any kind of bonds except funding and refunding bonds, which statement shall show the following:

(a) The assessed valuation of property as last fixed for county taxation.

(b) Outstanding school debt.

(c) Bonded school debt to be incurred under orders either passed or introduced.

(d) The sum of items "b" and "c".

(e) School sinking funds, being money or investments thereof pledged and held for the payment of principal of outstanding school debt.

(f) School credits, being principal sums owing to the county from school districts which are pledged to and when collected will be used in the retirement of outstanding school debt.

(g) Amount of unissued funding and refunding school bonds included in gross debt.

(h) The sum of items "e" and "f" and "g".

(i) Net school debt, being the sum by which item "d" exceeds item "h".

(j) The percentage that the net school debt bears to said assessed valuation. (1927, c. 81, s. 13.)

§ 153-84. Sworn statement of debt before authorization of bonds for other than school purposes.— After the introduction and at least ten days before the final passage of an order for the issuance of bonds for other than school purposes, an officer designated by the governing body for that purpose shall file with the clerk a statement of debt incurred and to be incurred for other than school purposes under orders either introduced or passed, whether evidenced by bonds, notes, or otherwise, and whether incurred by original creation of the debt, or by assumption of the debt, including debt to the State or any department thereof, but not including obligations incurred to meet appropriations in anticipation of revenues to an amount not exceeding the amount of the last preceding tax levy for other than school purposes, or including debt incurred in anticipation of the sale of any kind of bonds except funding and refunding bonds, which statement shall show the following:

(a) The assessed valuation of property as last fixed for county taxation.

(b) Outstanding debt for other than school purposes.

(c) Bonded debt to be incurred for other than school purposes under orders either passed or introduced.

(d) The sum of items "b" and "c".

(e) Sinking funds (except school sinking funds), being money or investments thereof pledged and held for the payment of principal of debt outstanding for other than school purposes.

(f) Moneys payable to the county by a railroad or interurban railway company, under contract, as all or part of the cost of grade crossing elimination, if such moneys are pledged to and when collected will be used in the retirement of outstanding debt for other than school purposes.

(g) Amount of unissued funding and refunding bonds not for school purposes included in gross debt.

(h) The sum of items "e", "f" and "g".

(i) Net debt for other than school purposes, being the sum by which item "d", exceeds item "h".

(j) The percentage that the net debt for other than school purposes bears to said assessed valuation. (1927, c. 81, s. 14.)

§ 153-85. Financial statement filed for inspection.—The sworn statement of debt shall remain on file with the clerk and be open to public inspection. In any action or proceeding in any court involving the validity of bonds, said statement shall be deemed to be true and to comply with the provisions of this article, unless it appears, in an action or proceeding commenced within the time limited by this article for actions to set aside bond orders, first, that the representations contained therein could not by any reasonable method of computation be true; or, second, that a true statement would show that the order authorizing the bonds could not be passed. (1927, c. 81, s. 15.)

§ 153-86. Publication of bond order.—As soon as possible after the introduction of the order and the filing of the financial statement hereinabove required, the clerk shall publish the order as introduced. Before publishing the same he shall fix an hour and day for a public hearing upon the order unless the governing body shall itself have fixed such hour and day. The hour and day, if fixed by the clerk, shall be ten o'clock A. M. of the first Monday of the following month, if ten days shall elapse between such publication and the day so fixed, but otherwise shall be ten o'clock A. M. of the first Monday of the next succeeding month. In connection with the publication of the order, and immediately below the same, the clerk shall publish a statement signed by him with blanks properly filled in substantially the following form:

"The foregoing order has been introduced and a sworn statement has been filed under the county finance act showing the assessed valuation of the county to be $.....and the net debt for school purposes (substitute net debt for other than school purposes if the proposed bonds are for other than school purposes) including the proposed bonds, to be $..... A tax will be levied for the payment of the proposed bonds and interest, if the same shall be issued. Any citizen or taxpayer may protest against the issuance of such bonds at a meeting of the board of county commissioners to be held at..... o'clock .....M. ....., 19.... or an adjournment thereof.

"Clerk of Board of Commissioners."

(1927, c. 81, s. 16.)

§ 153-87. Hearing; passage of order; debt limitations.—On the day so fixed for the public hearing, but not earlier than ten days after the first publication of the order, the governing body shall hear any and all citizens and taxpayers who may desire to protest against the issuance of the bonds, but such hearing may be adjourned from time to time. After such hearing, the governing body may pass the order in the form of its introduction, or in an amended form but the amount of bonds to be issued shall not be increased by such amendment, nor the purpose of issuance substantially changed, without due notice and hearing as above required. Provided, however, that no order for the issuance of school bonds shall be passed unless it appears from said sworn statements that the net school indebtedness does not exceed five per cent of said assessed valuation, unless the bonds to be issued are funding or refunding bonds; and no order shall be passed for the issuance of bonds other than school bonds unless it appears from said sworn statement that the net indebtedness for other than school purposes does not exceed five per cent as said assessed valuation, unless the bonds to be issued are funding or refunding bonds: Provided, however, that if the net school debt of any county shall, on March 7, 1927, be in excess of four-fifths of the limitation above fixed therefor, such order for the issuance of school bonds may be passed, if the net debt shall not be increased thereby more than two per cent of such assessed valuation; and that if the net debt of any county for other than school purposes shall, on March 7, 1927, be in excess of four-fifths of the limitations above fixed therefor, such order may be passed if the net debt for other than school purposes shall not be increased thereby more than two per cent of such assessed valuation: Provided, further, that if any county shall assume all outstanding indebtedness for school purposes of every city, town school district, school taxing district, township or other political subdivision therein, the limit of the net debt of such county for school purposes, including the debt so assumed, shall be eight per cent (8%) and the privilege of creating or assuming an additional gross debt of two per cent (2%) under certain circumstances shall not be allowed such county. (1927, c. 81, s. 17.)

§ 153-88. Material of construction and other details.—The statements as to kind and material of construction, so far as the same constitute conditions upon which maturities of bonds are to be determined under this article, as well as all details of bonds not required to be set forth in the order, may be set forth in resolution or resolutions to be passed on or after the passage of the order, and before the issuance of the bonds. (1927, c. 81, s. 18.)

§ 153-89. Publication of bond order.—A bond order after final passage thereof shall be published once in each of two successive weeks after its final passage. A notice substantially in the following form (the blanks being first properly filled in) with the printed or written signature of the clerk appended thereto, shall be published with the order:

"The foregoing order was finally passed on the ..... day of ....., 19..... and was first published on the ..... day of ..... 19 ..... Any action or proceeding questioning the validity of said order must be commenced within thirty days after its first publication.

Clerk."

§ 153-90. Limitation of action to set aside order.—Any action or proceeding in any court to set aside a bond order, or to obtain any other relief, upon the ground that the order is invalid, must be commenced within thirty days after the first publication of the notice aforesaid and the order or supposed order referred to in the notice. After the expiration of such period of limitations, no right of action or defense upon the validity of the order shall be asserted, nor shall the validity of the order be open to question in any court upon any ground whatever, except in an action or proceeding commenced within such period. (1927, c. 81, s. 20.)

§ 153-91. Petition for referendum of bond order.—A petition demanding that a bond order be submitted to the voters may be filed with the clerk within thirty days after the first publication of the order. The petition shall be in writing and signed by voters of the county equal in number to at least fifteen per centum of the total number of votes cast at the last preceding election for the office of Governor. The residence address of each signer shall be written after his signature. The petition need not contain the text of the order to which it refers. The petition need not be all on one sheet and if on more than one sheet, it shall be verified as to each sheet. The clerk shall investigate the sufficiency of the petition and present it to the governing body, with a certificate stating the result of his investigation. The governing body, after hearing any taxpayer who may request to be heard, shall thereupon determine the sufficiency of the petition, and the determination of the governing body shall be conclusive. (1927, c. 81, s. 21.)

§ 153-92. What majority required.—If a bond order provides for the issuance of bonds for a purpose other than the payment of necessary expenses of the county, the approval of the qualified voters of the county, as required by the Constitution of North Carolina, shall be necessary in order to make the order operative. If, however, the bonds are to be issued for necessary expenses, the affirmative vote of the majority of the voters voting on the bond order shall be sufficient to make it operative, in all cases where the order is required by this article to be submitted to the voters. (1927, c. 81, s. 22.)

§ 153-93. When election held.—Whenever the taking effect of an order authorizing the issuance of bonds is dependent upon the approval of the order by the voters of a county, the governing body may submit the order to the voters at an election to be held not more than one year after the passage of the order. The governing body may call a special election for that purpose, or may submit the order to the voters at the regular election for county officers next succeeding the passage of the order, but no such special election shall be held within one month before or after a regular election for county officers. Several orders or other matters may be voted upon at the same election. (1927, c. 81, s. 23.)

§ 153-94. New registration. — The governing body of the county in which such election is held may in their discretion, order a new registration of the voters for such election. The books for such new registration shall remain open in each precinct from 9 A. M. to 6 P. M. on each day, except Sundays and holidays, for three weeks, beginning on a Saturday morning and ending on the second Saturday evening before the election. A registrar and two judges of election shall be appointed by the governing body for each precinct: Provided, that the books shall be open at the polling places on each Saturday during the registration period. Sufficient notice shall be deemed to have been given of such new registration and of the appointment of the election officers if a notice thereof be published at least thirty (30) days before the closing of the registration books stating the hours and days for registration. It shall not be necessary to specify in said notice the places for registration. In case any registrar shall fail or refuse for any cause to perform his duties, it shall be lawful for the clerk to appoint another person to perform such duties, and no notice of such appointment shall be necessary. (1927, c. 81, s. 24.)

§ 153-95. Notice of election.—A notice of the election shall be deemed sufficiently published if published once not later than thirty (30) days before the election, and thereafter twice before the election, at intervals of at least one week between publications. Such notice shall state the date of the election, the maximum amount of the proposed bonds, and the purpose thereof, and the fact that a tax will be levied for the payment thereof. The notice shall state the places at which the election will be held, but without enumeration thereof may state that the election will be held at the same places at which the last preceding election was held for members of the General Assembly, with such changes as may have been ordered by the governing body. (1927, c. 81, s. 25.)

§ 153-96. Ballots.—The form of the question as stated on the ballot shall be in substantially the words: "For the order authorizing $..... bonds (briefly stating the purpose) and a tax therefor" and "Against the order authorizing $..... bonds (briefly stating the purpose) and a tax therefor." Such affirmative and negative forms shall be printed upon one ballot, containing squares opposite the affirmative and the negative forms, in one of which squares the voter may make a mark (x). (1927, c. 81, s. 26.)

§ 153-97. Returns canvassed. — The officers appointed to hold the election, in making return of the result thereof, shall incorporate therein not only the number of votes cast for and against each order submitted but also the number of voters registered and qualified to vote in the election. The governing body shall canvass the returns, and shall include in their canvass the votes cast and the number of voters registered and qualified to vote in the election, and shall determine and declare the result of the election. (1927, c. 81, s. 27.)

§ 153-99. Statement of result.—The governing body shall prepare a statement showing the number of votes cast for and against each order submitted, and the number of voters qualified to vote in the election, and declaring the result of the election, which statement shall be signed by a majority of the members of the governing body and delivered to the clerk, who shall record it in the minutes of the governing body, and file the original in his office and publish it once. (1927, c. 81, s. 29.)

§ 153-100. Limitation as to actions upon elections.—No right of action or defense founded upon the invalidity of the election shall be asserted, nor shall the validity of the election be open to question in any court upon any ground whatever, except in an action or proceeding commenced within thirty days after the publication of such statement of result as provided in § 153-99. (1927, c. 81, s. 30.)

§ 153-101. Preparation for issuing bonds.—At any time after the final passage of a bond order, all steps preliminary to the actual issuance of bonds under the order may be taken, but the bonds shall not be actually issued unless and until the order takes effect. (1927, c. 81, s. 31.)

§ 153-102. Within what time bonds issued.—After a bond order takes effect, bonds may be issued in conformity with its provisions at any time within three years after the order takes effect, unless the order shall have been repealed, which repeal is permitted (without the privilege of referendum upon the question of repeal), unless notes issued in anticipation of the proceeds of the bonds shall be outstanding: Provided, however, that funding or refunding bonds heretofore or hereafter authorized may be issued at any time within five years after the order takes effect. (1927, c. 81, s. 32; 1939, c. 231, s. 2(d).)

§ 153-103. Bonded debt payable in installments.—Each bond issue made under this article shall mature in annual installments or series the first of which, if funding bonds, shall be made payable not more than two years, and if not funding bonds, not more than three years, after the date of the first issued bonds of such issue and the last within the period prescribed by § 153-80 for bonds of the class issued. No such installment or series shall be more than two and one-half times as great in amount as the smallest prior installment or series of the same bond issue. If all the bonds of an issue are not issued at the same time, the bonds at any one time outstanding shall mature as aforesaid. This section shall not apply to funding or refunding bonds. (1927, c. 81, s. 33; 1931, c. 60, s. 57; 1933, c. 259, s. 2.)

§ 153-104. Medium and place of payment.—The bonds may be made payable in such kind of money and at such place or places within or without the State of North Carolina as the governing body may by resolution provide. (1927, c. 81, s. 34.)

§ 153-105. Formal execution of bonds. — The bonds shall be issued in such forms as the officers who execute them shall adopt, except as otherwise provided by the governing body. They shall be signed by two or more officers designated by the governing body, or if the governing body makes no such designation, then by the chairman of the governing body and by the clerk, and the corporate seal of county or of the governing body shall be affixed to the bonds. The bonds may have coupons attached for the interest to be paid thereon, which coupons shall bear a facsimile signature of the clerk in office at the date of the bonds or at the date of delivery thereof. The delivery of bonds so executed shall be valid, not withstanding any change in officers or in the seal of the county occurring after the signing and sealing of the bonds. (1927, c. 81, s. 35.)

§ 153-106. Registration and transfer of bonds.—(a) Bonds payable to bearer. Bonds issued under this article shall be payable to the bearer, unless they are registered as provided in this section; and each coupon appertaining to a bond shall be payable to the bearer of the coupon.

(b) Registration and effect. A county may keep in the office of a county officer to be designated by the governing body, or in the office of a bank or trust company appointed by the governing body as bond registrar a register or registers for the registration and transfer of its bonds, in which it may register any bond at the time of its issue, or, at the request of the holder, thereafter. After such registration the principal and interest of the bond shall be payable to the person in whose name it is registered except in the case of a coupon bond registered as to principal only, in which case the principal shall be payable to such person, unless the bond shall be discharged from registry by being registered as payable to bearer. After registration a bond may be transferred on such register by the registered owner in person or by attorney, upon presentation to the bond registrar, accompanied by delivery of a written instrument of transfer in a form approved by the bond registrar, executed by the registered owner.

(c) Registration and transfer noted on bond. Upon the registration or transfer of a bond as aforesaid, the bond registrar shall note such registration or transfer on the back of the bond. Upon the registration of a coupon bond, as to both principal and interest, he shall also cut off and cancel the coupons, and endorse upon the back of the bond a statement that such coupons have been cancelled.

(d) Agreement for registration. A county may, by recital in its bonds, agree to register the bonds as to principal only, or agree to register them either as to principal only, or as to both principal and interest, at the option of the bondholder. (1927, c. 81, s. 36.)

§ 153-107. Application of funds.—The proceeds of the sale of bonds and bond anticipation notes under this article shall be used only for the purposes specified in the order authorizing said bonds, and for the payment of the principal and interest of such notes issued in anticipation of the sale of bonds: Provided, however, that if for any reason any part of such proceeds are not applied to or are not necessary for such purposes, such unexpended part of the proceeds shall be applied to the payment of the principal or interest of said bonds. The cost of preparing, issuing, and marketing bonds shall be deemed to be one of the purposes for which the bonds are issued. If any notes issued in anticipation of the sale of bonds shall be outstanding and unpaid when the proceeds of the sale of bonds are received, such proceeds, or an amount thereof sufficient to retire such notes, shall be immediately, upon the receipt thereof, placed in a separate fund, which shall be held and used solely for the payment of such notes. If any member of the governing body or any county officer shall vote to apply or shall apply, or shall participate in applying any proceeds of bonds or bond anticipation notes in violation of this section, such member or such officer shall be guilty of a felony, and shall be prosecuted by the solicitor of the district in which the county lies, and shall be fined not more than ten thousand dollars ($10,000) or imprisoned in the State's prison not more than twenty years, or both, at the discretion of the court, and shall forfeit and pay to any taxpayer or any holder of such bonds or notes who sues for the same the sum of two hundred dollars for each such act, and also all damages caused thereby. (1927, c. 81, s. 38.)

§ 153-108. Bond anticipation loans. — At any time after a bond order has taken effect, as provided in § 153-78, a county may borrow money for the purposes for which the bonds are to be issued, in anticipation of the receipts of the proceeds of the sale of bonds, and within the maximum authorized amount of the bond issue. Such loans shall be paid not later than three years after the time of taking effect of the order authorizing the bonds upon which they are predicated. The governing body may, in its discretion, retire any such loans by means of current revenues or other funds, in lieu of retiring them by means of bonds: Provided, however, that the governing body, at or before the actual retirement of any such loans by any means other than the issuance of bonds under the bond order upon which such loans are predicated, shall amend or repeal such order so as to reduce the authorized amount of the bond issue by the amount of the loan to be so retired. Such an amendatory or repealing order shall take effect upon its passage, and need not be published. Negotiable notes shall be issued for all moneys so borrowed. Such notes may be renewed from time to time, and money may be borrowed upon notes from time to time for the payment of any indebtedness evidenced thereby, but all such notes shall mature within the time limited by this section for the payment of the original loan. No money shall be borrowed under this section at a rate of interest exceeding the maximum rate permitted by law. The said notes, if maturing not more than six months from their date, may be disposed of by public or private negotiations, after five days notice published in some newspaper having a general circulation in the county, but if maturing more than six months from date, they shall be sold after advertisement as provided in this article for advertisement and sale of bonds. The issuance of such notes shall be authorized by resolution of the governing body, which shall fix the actual or maximum face amount of the notes and the actual or maximum rate of interest to be paid upon the amount borrowed. The governing body may delegate to any officer the power to fix said face amount and rate of interest with the limitations prescribed by said resolution, and the power to dispose of said notes. All such notes shall be executed in the manner provided in § 153-105 for the execution of bonds. They shall be submitted to and approved by the attorney for the county before they are issued, and his written approval endorsed on the notes. (1927, c. 81, s. 39.)

§ 153-109. Bonds and notes shall recite the authority for issuance.—All bonds and notes authorized by this article shall recite that they are issued under and pursuant to this article. (1927, c. 81, s. 40.)

§ 153-110. Taxes levied for payment of bonds. —The full faith and credit of the county shall be deemed to be pledged for the punctual payment of the principal of and interest on every bond and note issued under this article, including bonds for which special funds are provided. The governing body shall annually levy and collect a tax ad valorem upon all the taxable property in the county sufficient to pay the principal and interest of all bonds issued under this article as such principal and interest become due: Provided, however, that such tax may be reduced by the amount of other moneys appropriated and actually available for such purpose. The powers stated in this section in respect of the levy of taxes for the payment of the principal and interest of bonds and notes shall not be subject to any limitation prescribed by law upon the amount or rate of taxes which a county may levy; the General Assembly does here give its special approval to the levy of taxes in the manner and to the extent provided by this article for the payment of obligations incurred pursuant to this article for the special purposes for which such obligations are in this article authorized. Taxes levied under this section shall be levied and collected in the same manner as other taxes are levied and collected upon property in the county. If any member of the governing body or any county officer shall vote to apply or shall apply or participate in applying any taxes in violation of this section, such member or officer shall be guilty of a felony, and shall be prosecuted by the solicitor of the district in which the county lies, and shall be fined not more than ten thousand dollars ($10,000) or imprisoned in the state prison not more than twenty years, or both, at the discretion of the court, and shall forfeit and pay to any taxpayer or any holder of such bonds or notes who sues for the same the sum of two hundred dollars for each such act, and also all damages caused thereby.

Nothing in this section shall be construed as authorizing an unlimited tax for the payment of bonds not issued for a special purpose within the meaning of section six of article five of the constitution of North Carolina. It is the intention of this article, however, to authorize the issuance of funding and refunding bonds and notes as herein provided in cases where taxation for their payment is limited by the constitution, as well as in other cases. The general assembly hereby declares that an emergency exists by reason of the present extraordinary financial condition of the counties of this state, and hereby gives it special approval to the levying of taxes to the fullest extent permitted by the constitution for the purpose of paying bonds and notes issued hereunder to fund or refund or renew indebtedness outstanding on March 3, 1931, or incurred before July first, nineteen hundred and thirty-three, and hereby declares that the payment of such bonds and notes constitutes a special purpose: Provided, in case of funding or refunding bonds which do not mature in installments as provided in § 153-103, a tax for the payment of the principal of the said bonds need not be levied prior to the fiscal year or years said bonds mature, unless it is so provided for in an order or resolution passed before the issuance of said bonds, in which case such tax shall be levied in accordance with the provisions of such order or resolution. (1927, c. 81, s. 41; 1931, c. 60, s. 60; 1933, c. 259, s. 2.)

§ 153-111. Destruction of surrendered bonds. —All surrendered county bonds may, in the discretion of the board of county commissioners, be destroyed. Before such bonds are destroyed, the county treasurer shall make a correct descriptive list of all bonds of the county surrendered, in a substantially bound book to be kept by him for that purpose, which list shall include the number, date and amount of each bond and the purpose for which it was issued, when this can be ascertained; and after such list shall be made, the surrendered bonds shall be destroyed by burning in the presence of the chairman of the board of county commissioners, the county accountant or treasurer or auditor, the county attorney, the secretary of the board of county commissioners and the county superintendent of public instruction, who shall each certify under his hand in such book that he saw such described bonds so burned and destroyed. (1941, c. 293.)

§ 153-112. Enforcement of article. — If any boards or officer of a county shall be ordered by a court of competent jurisdiction to levy or collect a tax to pay a judgment or other debt, or to perform any duty required by this article to be performed by such board or officer, and shall fail to carry out such order, the court, in addition to all other remedies, may appoint its own officers and other persons to carry out such order and remove such board or officer who has thus refused to carry out such order. (1927, c. 81, s. 42.)

§ 153-113. Repeals.—All acts and parts of acts, whether general, special, private or local, authorizing or limiting or prohibiting the issuance of bonds or other obligations of a county or counties, are hereby repealed: Provided, further, that the repeal shall not affect the validity of any bonds or obligations issued or incurred prior to March 7, 1927, nor shall such repeal affect the powers, duties or obligations for providing for the payment of such bonds or obligations or interest thereon. Provided, further, that this article shall not affect any local or private act enacted at the 1927 session of the General Assembly, but the powers hereby conferred and the methods of procedure hereby provided shall be deemed to be conferred and provided in addition to and not in substitution for those conferred or provided by any such local or private act enacted at the 1927 session of the General Assembly; and any county may at its option proceed under any such local or private act applicable to it enacted at the 1927 session of the General Assembly, without regard to the restrictions imposed by this article, or may proceed under this article without regard to the restrictions imposed by such local or private act: Provided, further, that any county which prior to March 7, 1927, has entered into a valid contract for permanent improvements for which, prior to March 7, 1927, such county was empowered by law to issue bonds in sufficient amount, is hereby authorized to issue such an amount of bonds as may be necessary to comply with said contract, either in the manner provided by this article or in the manner provided by law at the time such contract for permanent improvements was made: Provided, further, that nothing herein contained shall be applicable to or shall govern the method by which any county board of education may borrow money from the special building fund created by Chapter 201, Public Laws of 1925, or from any special building fund of the State created by any law enacted at the regular session of the General Assembly of 1927, or from the State Literary Fund as provided in §§ 115-220 to 115-224, as amended, but the limitations of this article upon the amount of net school debt shall apply to such borrowing.

Provided, further, that except as provided in § 153-78 nothing herein contained shall have the effect of repealing any act in force on March 7, 1927, or enacted by the session of the General Assembly of one thousand nine hundred twenty-seven, requiring the question of issuing bonds by any county to be submitted to a vote of the people. (1927, c. 81, s. 43; 1929, c. 110; 1931, c. 60, s. 61; 1941, c. 266.)

If such duties and powers are imposed or conferred upon any officer of the county, the board may revise and adjust the salary or compensation of such officer in order that adequate compensation may be paid to him for the duties of his office. (d) He shall examine once a month, and at such other times as the board may direct, all books, accounts, receipts, vouchers, and other records of all county officers and employees and departments of the county administration receiving or expending public money, including the road commission, if there is such commission in the county, the county board of education and other subdivisions.

(e) He shall require all officers and employees in the county whose duty it is to collect fines, penalties, and other money to be applied to public purposes, to file with him each month, or oftener if the board so directs, a report showing amounts collected by such officers, including a report of all fees collected for the performance of their duties, whether they are entitled to such fees as the whole or a part of their compensation or are not entitled to the same.

(f) He shall once a year, or as often as he may be directed by the board of county commissioners, file with the board a complete statement of the financial condition of the county and subdivisions, showing the receipts and expenditures of the different departments of the county and its subdivisions, including the department of public schools.

(g) He shall advise with the different officers and departments of the county and with State officers as to the best and most convenient method of keeping accounts, and he shall inform himself as to the best and simplest methods of keeping accounts, so as to bring about as far as possible a simple, accurate, and uniform system of keeping accounts of the county and subdivisions. He shall not allow any bill or claim unless the same be itemized and verified as now required by law.

(h) He shall perform such other duties having relation to the purposes of this article as may be imposed upon him by the board of county commissioners. (1927, c. 146, s. 4.)

§ 153-117. Heads of departments and officers to file statement before 1st June.—It shall be the duty of all heads of departments and officers in charge of the functions for which county money or money of subdivision is to be expended, to file with the county accountant, before the first day of June of each year (a) a complete statement of the amounts expended and estimated to be expended for each object in his department in the current fiscal year, and (b) beginning in the year one thousand nine hundred and twenty-eight, a statement of the amounts expended for each object in his department in the fiscal year preceding the then current fiscal year, and (c) an estimate of the requirements of his department for each object in the ensuing fiscal year. Such statements and estimates shall list each object of disbursement under the appropriate class of functions as defined in § 153-114. (1927, c. 146, s. 5.)

Local Modification.—Mecklenburg: 1941, c. 38.

§ 153-118. Estimates necessary for ensuing fiscal year itemized.—Upon receipt of such statements and estimates, the county accountant shall prepare (a) his estimate of the amounts necessary to be appropriated for the next ensuing fiscal year for the different objects of the county and subdivisions, listing each object of disbursement under the appropriate class of functions as defined in § 153-114, which estimate shall include the full amount of any deficit in any fund, and may include an emergency estimate for each fund not greater than five per cent in excess of other estimates for such fund, and (b) an itemized estimate of the revenue to be available during the ensuing fiscal year, separating revenue from taxation from revenue from other sources, classifying the same under proper funds as defined in § 153-114, and (c) an estimate of the amount of unencumbered and surplus revenues of the current fiscal year in each fund. Such estimates and statements of the county accountant shall be termed the "Budget Estimate," and shall be submitted to the board not later than the first Monday of July of each year. (1927, c. 146, s. 6.)

Local Modification.—Mecklenburg: 1941, c. 38.

§ 153-119. Time for filing budget estimate.—Immediately upon the submission of the budget estimate, and at least twenty days before the adoption of the appropriation resolution, the board shall: (a) file the budget estimate in the office of the clerk of the board, where it shall remain for public inspection, and (b) furnish a copy of the budget estimate to each newspaper published in the county, and (c) cause to be published in at least one newspaper published in the county a summary of the budget estimate showing at least the total appropriation recommended for each separate fund or function as defined in § 153-114: Provided, however, that if no newspaper be published in the county, such summary shall be posted at the court-house door and at least three other public places in the county at least twenty days before the passage of the appropriation resolution. (1927, c. 146, s. 7.)

Local Modification.—Mecklenburg: 1941, c. 38.

§ 153-120. Time for adoption of appropriation resolution.—It shall be the duty of the board of county commissioners, not later than the fourth Monday in July in each year, to adopt and record on its minutes an appropriation resolution, the form of which shall be prescribed by the county accountant, which resolution shall make appropriations for the several purposes of the county and subdivisions thereof, upon the basis of the estimates and statements submitted by the county accountant, such sums as the board may deem sufficient and proper, whether greater or less than the recommendations of the budget estimates: Provided, however, that (a) no appropriation recommended by the county accountant for debt service shall be reduced, and (b) the powers given by the general law to the county board of education and county commissioners jointly, in respect to the funds to be expended for school purposes shall be observed by the county accountant and by the board of county commissioners, and (c) the board shall appropriate the full amount of all lawful deficits reported in the budget estimate not funded as provided by law, and (d) no appropriation shall be made in excess of the amount which may be raised under any constitutional or statutory limits of taxation. (1927, c. 146, s. 8.)

§ 153-121. Copies of resolution filed with county treasurer and county accountant.—A copy of the appropriation resolution shall be filed with the county treasurer or other officer or agent performing the functions ordinarily assigned to the county treasurer, and another copy thereof shall be filed with the county accountant, both copies as so filed to be kept on file for their direction in the disbursement of county funds. (1927, c. 146, s. 9.)

§ 153-122. Supplemental budget showing.—As soon as practicable after the first Monday in July, and before any levy of taxes is made, the county accountant shall submit to the board a supplemental budget showing: (a) the amount of any increase or decrease in each item of (1) deficits and (2) unencumbered balances and (3) surplus revenues as reported by him in the budget estimate, and (b) the amount of miscellaneous revenues collected in the preceding year from sources other than taxation, this amount to be separately classified as to funds and functions, and (c) an estimate of the amount of taxes for the current fiscal year which will not be collected in the same year. Upon the submission of the figures showing increase or decrease in deficits, the appropriation resolution shall be deemed automatically amended by adding such increase to or subtracting such decrease from the amount appropriated for the fund or function to which such deficit pertains, and it shall be the duty of the clerk to record the amount of increase or decrease on the margin of the recorded appropriation resolution. The figures of the supplemental budget showing increases or decreases in unencumbered balances and surplus revenues, and showing the amount of miscellaneous revenues collected in the preceding fiscal year from sources other than taxes, and showing the estimate of taxes uncollectible in the current fiscal year, shall not affect the appropriation resolutions, but shall be taken into consideration in the levy of taxes as hereinafter provided. (1927, c. 146, s. 10; 1933, c. 191.)

Local Modification.—Mecklenburg: 1941, c. 38.

§ 153-123. Publication of statement of financial condition of county.—Simultaneously with the submission of the supplemental budget, the county accountant shall prepare and cause to be published in a newspaper published in the county, or if no newspaper be published in the county, then by posting at the court-house door and at least three other public places in the county, a statement of the financial condition of the county, containing such figures and information as the county accountant may consider it advisable to publish, which statement as so published or posted shall contain the figures showing at least the following items:

(a) The assessed valuation for the current year, unless the same shall not have been finally ascertained, in which case the assessed valuation of the preceding year shall be given.

(b) An itemized statement of the debt of the county and its subdivisions.

(c) The amount and rate of the taxation levied for the preceding fiscal year, whether collected or not.

(d) Amount of taxes, including land sales, for each of the three preceding fiscal years which remained uncollected at the end of such years, respectively, and the average thereof, and the amount of such uncollected taxes which were collected by the close of the preceding fiscal year.

(e) Miscellaneous revenue other than taxation for the preceding fiscal year.

(f) Deficits, if any, in all county funds in the aggregate for the preceding fiscal year.

(g) Such deficits for each subdivision of the county.

(h) Surplus revenues of the county, and separately stated, of each of the subdivisions of the county for the preceding year.

(i) Unencumbered balances of the county and, separately stated, of each of the subdivisions of the county for the preceding year.

(j) The rate of taxation for county purposes and the rate for each subdivision which he estimates it will be necessary to levy in the current fiscal year, these rates to be computed as is provided in § 153-124 for computation of rates by the board of county commissioners. (1927, c. 146, s. 11.)

§ 153-124. Levy of taxes.—As soon as may be practicable after the passage of the appropriation resolution and the automatic amendment thereof, which is hereinabove provided, and after the ascertainment of the assessed valuation of property for taxation, but not later than Wednesday after the third Monday in August of each year, the board of county commissioners, by resolution to be recorded in its minutes, shall levy upon all the taxable property of the county, in the case of county appropriations, and upon all the taxable property of each subdivision in the case of appropriations for subdivisions, such rate of tax as may be necessary to produce (a) the sum appropriated, and (b) the amount of the supplemental budget estimate of taxes which will not be collectible in the current fiscal year, after taking into consideration the figures contained in the budget estimate and supplemental budget showing surplus revenues and unencumbered balances carried over from the preceding fiscal year and the estimated miscellaneous revenues from other sources than taxation; but for the purpose of this computation the board shall not estimate miscellaneous revenues at a figure greater than ten per cent (10%) more than the actual receipts from miscellaneous revenues in the preceding fiscal year, as reported by the county accountant in the supplemental budget. (1927, c. 146, s. 12.)

Local Modification.—Mecklenburg: 1941, c. 38.

§ 153-125. Failure to raise revenue a misdemeanor; emergencies. — Any county commissioner of any county who shall fail to vote to raise sufficient revenue for the operating expenses of the county as provided for in § 153-124, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, punishable by fine or imprisonment, or both, in the discretion of the court. Provided: that in case of emergency upon application to the Local Government Commission such Local Government Commission may permit the Board of Commissioners for any county to anticipate the taxes of the next fiscal year by not more than five per cent of the tax levy for the current year; provided, further, that where a contingent fund has been provided for in the county budget the Local Government Commission shall not authorize such anticipation in excess of the difference between five per centum and the amount theretofore levied as a contingent fund. (1929, c. 321, s. 1.)

§ 153-126. Execution of notes in anticipation of taxes.—In the event of the approval of such anticipation of the taxes of the next fiscal year by the Local Government Commission, the County Commissioners of any such county are authorized to execute a note or notes in an amount not in excess of the amount authorized by such Local Government Commission, and such note or notes shall be payable not later than June thirtieth of the next fiscal year and shall be paid by a tax levied for such purpose. (1929, c. 321, s. 2.)

§ 153-127. Appropriations not transferable. — No appropriation made by the appropriation resolution, except an appropriation for general county expenses, shall be transferred from one fund to another fund, and no appropriation for general county expenses shall be transferred to any fund of any subdivision of the county, or vice versa. No appropriation for general county expenses shall be transferred, except upon the passage and recording of a resolution of the board of county commissioners ordering such transfer, and copies of such resolution shall be furnished to the county accountant and to the head of each department to which or from which such transfer shall be made. (1927, c. 146, s. 13.)

§ 153-128. Appropriations bridging interval.— In the interval between the beginning of the fiscal year and the adoption of the annual appropriation resolution, the board may make appropriations for the purpose of paying fixed salaries, the principal and interest of indebtedness, the stated compensation of officers and employees, and for the usual ordinary expenses of the county and its subdivisions, which appropriations so made shall be chargeable to the several appropriations, respectively, thereafter made in the annual appropriation resolution for that year. (1927, c. 146, s. 14.)

§ 153-129. County may create special revolving fund to supplant borrowing on anticipations; withdrawals.—In order to avoid the necessity of borrowing money in anticipation of the receipts of taxes and revenues or the proceeds of the sale of bonds, a county may by resolution create a special revolving fund and with the consent of the Commission, provide for raising the same to be used in anticipation of the receipt of such moneys and to be replenished by means of such moneys when received. Withdrawals of money from said fund shall be made only for the purposes and within the amounts and for the periods and upon the conditions stated in §§ 153-72 and 153-73 in respect to the borrowing of money. Such withdrawals shall not be made unless approved by the Local Government Commission in the same manner as loans made under said sections. No resolutions creating such a fund shall be repealed or amended so as to divert or reduce the amount of the fund without the approval of said Commission as to necessity or expediency. (1931, c. 60, s. 62.)

§ 153-130. Provisions for payment. — No contract or agreement requiring the payment of money, or requisition for supplies or materials, shall be made, and no warrant or order for the payment of money shall be drawn upon the treasury of the county, or a subdivision, unless provision for the payment thereof has been made by (a) an appropriation resolution as provided by this article, or (b) through the means of bonds or notes duly authorized by the General Assembly and by the board of county commissioners, and further authorized, in all cases required by law or by the Constitution, by a vote of qualified voters or taxpayers, or otherwise; nor shall such contract, agreement, or requisition be made unless the unencumbered balance of such appropriation or provision remains sufficient for such payment. No contract or agreement or requisition requiring the payment of money shall be valid unless the same be in writing, and unless the same shall have printed, written, or typewritten thereon a statement signed by the county accountant, as follows: "Provision for the payment of the moneys to fall due under this agreement has been made by appropriation duly made or by bonds or notes duly authorized, as required by the 'County Fiscal Control Act.'" Such certificate shall not, however, make valid any agreement or contract made in violation of this section. Before making such certificate, the county accountant shall ascertain that a sufficient unencumbered balance of the specific appropriation remains for the payment of the obligation, or that bonds or notes have been so authorized the proceeds of which are applicable to such payment, and the appropriation or provision so made shall thereafter be deemed unencumbered by the amount to be paid on such contract or agreement until the county is discharged therefrom. (1927, c. 146, s. 15.)

§ 153-131. False certificate. — If any county auditor or county accountant of any county of the State shall make any certificate as required by § 153-130, when there is not a sufficient unencumbered balance remaining for the payment of the obligation, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and punishable by fine or imprisonment, or both, in the discretion of the court except as herein provided. (1929, c. 321, s. 3.)

§ 153-132. Warrants for payment. — No claim against the county or any subdivision shall be paid except by means of a warrant or order on the county treasurer or county depository, signed by the head of the department for which the expense was incurred, nor unless the bill or claim for which the warrant or order is given shall have been presented to and approved by the county accountant, or in case of his disapproval of such claim or bill, by the board of county commissioners. The board shall not approve any claim or bill which has been disallowed by the county accountant without entering upon the minutes of the board its reason for approving the same in such detail as may show the board's reason for reversing the county accountant's disallowance. No warrant or order, except a warrant or order for payment of maturing bonds, notes, or interest coupons thereto appertaining, and except a warrant or order for the payment of any bill or claim approved by the board of county commissioners over the disallowance of the county accountant, as above provided, shall be valid unless the same shall bear the signature of the county accountant below a statement which he shall cause to be written, printed or typewritten thereon containing the words: "Provision for the payment of this warrant (or order) has been made by an appropriation duly made or a bond or note duly authorized, as required by the 'County Fiscal Control Act.'" (1927, c. 146, s. 16; 1935, c. 382.)

§ 153-133. Accounts to be kept by county accountant.—Accounts shall be kept by the county accountant for each object of appropriation, which objects shall be classified under the various funds as defined in § 153-114, and every warrant or order upon the county treasury shall state specifically against which of such funds the warrant or order is drawn; such account shall show in detail the amount appropriated thereto, the amount drawn thereupon, the unpaid obligations charged against it, and the unencumbered balance to the credit thereof. (1927, c. 146, s. 17.)

§ 153-134. Bond of county accountant. — The county accountant shall furnish bond in some surety company authorized to do business in North Carolina, the amount to be fixed by the board of commissioners in a sum not less than five thousand dollars ($5,000), which bond shall be approved by the board of county commissioners, and shall be conditioned for the faithful performance of his duties under this article. (1927, c. 146, s. 18.)

§ 153-135. Daily deposits by collecting or receiving officers.—Every public officer and employee whose duty it is to collect or receive any funds or money belonging to any county or subdivision thereof shall daily deposit the same with the county treasurer or in some bank, banks, or trust company, designated by the board of commissioners, in the name of the county and of the fund to which it is applied, and shall report the same daily to the county accountant by means of duplicate deposit ticket signed by the depository. If there is no treasurer or designated depository in the county, then the board of commissioners may allow such deposits to be made every three days in some depository outside of the county. If such officer or employee collects or receives such public moneys for a taxing district of which he is not an officer or employee, he shall, during Saturday of each week, pay to the proper officer of such district the amount so collected or received during the current week, and take receipt therefor.

The board of commissioners is hereby authorized and empowered to select and designate annually, by recorded resolution, some bank or banks or trust company in this State as an official depository or depositories of the funds of the county, which funds shall be secured in accordance with § 159-28.

It shall be the duty of the board of commissioners to provide by recorded resolution for interest to be paid on public deposits at a rate to be determined by the board of commissioners. It shall be unlawful for any public moneys to be deposited by any officer, employee, or department, in any place, bank, or trust company other than those selected and designated as official depositories. Any person or corporation violating the provisions of this section or aiding or abetting in such violation shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and punished by fine or imprisonment, or both, in the discretion of the court. (1927, c. 146, s. 19; 1929, c. 37; 1939, c. 134.)

§ 153-136. Conduct by county accountant constituting misdemeanor.—If a county accountant shall knowingly certify any contract, agreement, or warrant in violation of the requirements of this article, or approve any fraudulent, erroneous, or otherwise invalid claim or bill, or make any statement required by this article, knowing the same to be false, or shall wilfully fail to perform any duties imposed upon him by this article, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and punishable for each offense by a fine of not less than fifty dollars ($50) or imprisonment for not less than twenty (20) days, or both fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court, and shall be liable on his bond for all damages caused by such violation or failure. (1927, c. 146, s. 20.)

§ 153-137. Liability for damages for violation by officer or person.—If any county officer or head of a department or other official or person of whom duties are required by this article shall wilfully violate any part of this article, or shall wilfully fail to perform any of such duties, he shall be liable for all damages caused thereby. (1927, c. 146, s. 21.)

§ 153-138. Recovery of damages.—The recovery of all damages allowed by the article may be made in the court having jurisdiction of the suit of the county, any subdivision thereof, or any taxpayer or other person aggrieved. (1927, c. 146, s. 22.)

§ 153-139. Chairman of county commissioners to report to solicitor.—It shall be the duty of the chairman of the board of county commissioners to report to the solicitor of the district within which the county lies all facts and circumstances showing the commission of any offense as defined herein, and it shall be the duty of the solicitor to prosecute. At the request of the solicitor, the board of county commissioners is authorized, within its discretion, to provide legal assistance to the solicitor in prosecuting such cases and any other case involving official misconduct or violation of a public trust within said county, and pay the cost of same out of the general fund of the county. (1927, c. 146, s. 23; 1939, c. 112, s. 1.)

§ 153-140. Purpose of article.—It is the purpose of this article to provide a uniform system for all counties of the State by which the fiscal affairs of counties and subdivisions thereof may be regulated, to the end that accumulated deficits may be made up, and future deficits prevented, either under the provisions of this article or under the provisions of other laws authorizing the funding of debts and deficits, and to the end that every county in the State may balance its budget and carry out its functions without incurring deficits. (1927, c. 146, s. 24.)

§ 153-141. Construction and application of article.—All laws and parts of laws, whether general, local or special, which are in conflict with this article, are hereby repealed. Nothing herein contained, however, shall require any county now operating under a budget system provided by any local or special act in force on March 7, 1927, or which may be passed at the regular session of the General Assembly of 1927, to abandon any such operation or to comply with this article, but any such county may, in the discretion of its board of commissioners, elect to conduct its procedure under any one or more sections of this article as the board may deem best. All such counties shall nevertheless be subject to the requirements of certain provisions of this article, which are (a) the annual publication of financial information substantially as required by § 153-123, (b) the adoption of an appropriation resolution which shall appropriate the full amount of all deficits not funded and the full amount required for debt service as required by § 153-120, (c) the annual levy of taxes sufficient to meet all appropriations and the probable amount of uncollectible taxes computed as required by § 153-124, (d) endorsement by some one county officer, who shall either be the county accountant or an officer designated for that purpose by the board, of all contracts, agreements, requisitions, warrants and orders, substantially as provided by §§ 153-130 and 153-132, (e) compliance with all the provisions of § 153-135, and (f) all the provisions of §§ 153-136 to 153-139, as to penalties, liability for damages and requirements for reporting offenses to the district solicitor shall apply in all such counties so far as such counties are herein required to comply with this article. (1927, c. 146, s. 25.)

§ 153-142. Local units authorized to accept their bonds in payment of certain judgments and claims.—The governing bodies of the various counties, cities, towns, and other units in the state are hereby authorized in their discretion to accept their own bonds, at par, in settlement of any and all claims which they may have against any person, firm, or corporation, on account of any money of said unit held in any failed bank or on account of any judgment secured against any person, firm, or corporation on account of the funds in said bank.

Upon an order issued by the governing authorities of the county, city, town, or other unit, the treasurer of the county, city, town, or other unit is hereby authorized and empowered to accept the bonds of said unit in settlement of said claim, as set out in the preceding paragraph, and to mark said claim satisfied in full, whether the same has been reduced to judgment or not. Said contracts when so executed shall be recorded on the minutes of the board of county commissioners, board of education or such governing body of a city, town, special charter district or other sub-division and the original filed in their records. The terms and provisions of said contracts shall not in any way be varied or changed by either party unless and until such changes shall be reduced to writing and approved by the director of local government in the same manner as the original contract and no verbal agreements made between the officials of the county and the auditors aforesaid shall affect in any way to vary the terms and conditions thereof. (1929, c. 201, s. 2; 1931, c. 99, s. 2.)

Municipalities shall not be required to purchase such bonds for a greater sum than the face thereof with accrued interest at the time of purchase. (1931, c. 413, s. 1.)

Upon failure or delay to act upon any petition for a period of thirty days after it has been received by any board of county commissioners or governing body of any city or town, direct application may be made to the Local Government Commission, which shall, on such failure or refusal to act, have original jurisdiction in the premises and shall proceed to act, after five days' notice to such board of commissioners or governing body of a town or city to whom the petition was addressed.

(1931, c. 129, s. 13.)

§ 153-175. Annual report on affairs of institution.—As soon after the first day of January of each year as may be practicable the board of trustees shall cause a report to be made of the hospital-home, which report shall show the number of inmates, the county admitting them, date of admission, age, condition of health, sex, color, educational acquirements, diagnosis of disease if diseased, total number of inmates received during the year, average number cared for per month, names and disposition of those dismissed, pro rata cost of maintenance, the total amount of money expended, the total amount of money received from each county, and such information as the State Board of Charities and Public Welfare and the board of trustees of the district hospital-home may request. If any person who obtains the rules of any prison, as aforesaid, escapes out of the same before he has paid the debt or damages and costs according to the condition of his bond, the court where the bond is filed, upon motion of the assignee thereof, shall award execution against such person and his sureties for the debt or damages and costs, with interest from the time of escape till payment; and no person committed to jail on such execution shall be allowed the rules of prison: Provided, the obligors have ten days previous notice of such motion, in writing; but they shall not be admitted to deny the making of the bond in their answer, unless by affidavit they prove the truth of the plea. (1933, c. 105, s. 1.)

§ 153-185. Guard when escape apprehended; compensation.—When the sheriff of the county, or keeper of the jail, apprehends that there is danger of a prisoner escaping, through the insufficiency of the jail or other cause, it is his duty, without delay, to make information thereof to a judge of the superior court, the attorney-general, or a solicitor, if any of those officers is in the county, and if not, then to three justices of the peace, and they are authorized, if they deem it advisable, to furnish the sheriff or keeper of the jail with an order in writing, addressed to the commanding officer of the militia of the county, setting forth the danger, and requiring him forthwith to furnish such guard as to him may appear to be suitable for the occasion. For which service the persons ordered on guard shall receive such compensation as militiamen in actual service for defense of the state; and on application for pay, the letter to the commanding officer, on which the guard was ordered, and the certificate of such officer, countersigned by the sheriff or jailer, together with the deposition of the officer of the guard, stating the time of service, and that it was faithfully performed, shall be sufficient to authorize the payment of the same. (Rev., s. 1348; Code, s. 3470; R. C., c. 87, s. 15; 1777, c. 118, s. 12; C. S. 1352.)

And any sheriff or jailer having a prisoner in his custody, by virtue of any mode of commitment provided in this article, shall be liable, civilly and criminally, for his escape, in the same manner as if such prisoner had been confined in the prison of his proper county. The amount realized from hiring out such persons shall be credited to them for the fine and bill of costs in all cases of conviction. It is unlawful to farm out any such convicted person who may be imprisoned for the nonpayment of a fine, or as punishment imposed for the offense of which he may have been convicted, unless the court before whom the trial is had shall in its judgment so authorize. The rate of compensation to be allowed each insolvent for work on the public works shall be fixed by the county commissioners at a just and fair compensation, regard being had to the amount of work of which each insolvent is capable. The authorities having him in charge shall be the sole judges as to the faithful performance of the duties assigned to him. Should he escape or attempt to escape he shall forfeit and lose any deduction he may have been entitled to prior to that time. This section shall apply also to women sentenced to a county farm or county home. (1913, c. 167, s. 1; C. S. 1360.)

Directors to be appointed; duties. — The board of commissioners shall annually appoint not less than five nor more than nine directors for each such institution hereunder established, whose duty it is to superintend and direct the manager hereinafter named in the discharge of his duties; to visit said houses at least once in every three months; to see that the laws, rules and regulations relating thereto are duly executed and enforced, and that the persons committed to his charge are properly cared for, and not abused or oppressed. The directors shall keep a journal of their proceedings, and publish annually an account of the receipts and expenditures. They shall further make a quarterly report to their respective county commissioners of the general condition of their charge, and of the receipts and expenditures of the institution. They shall also make such by-laws and regulations for the government thereof as shall be necessary, which shall be reported to, and approved by, the said commissioners. The directors shall be paid for the services rendered, by the county treasurer, each director first making it appear to the satisfaction of the board of county commissioners, by his oath, the character and extent of the services rendered for which he claims compensation; and such payment shall be made by the county treasurer out of any funds in his hands not otherwise appropriated. Manager to be appointed; bond; duties.—The board of commissioners shall appoint a manager for each house or establishment, who shall give a bond, with two or more solvent sureties, in such sum as may be required, payable to the state of North Carolina, conditioned for the faithful discharge of his duties. He shall hold his office during the pleasure of the board, and be at all times under the supervision of the directors; and in case of his misconduct, of which they shall be the sole judges, he may be forthwith removed by them and a successor appointed, who shall discharge the duties of the office until another manager is appointed by the board of commissioners. It is the duty of the manager to receive all persons sent to the house of correction, to keep them during the time of their sentence, and to employ and control them according to the rules and regulations established therefor. He shall have the direction and control over the subordinate officers, assistants and servants, who may be appointed by the directors. He shall make monthly reports to the directors of his management of the institution and his receipts and expenditures. (Rev., s. 1366; Code, s. 788; 1866, c. 35, s. 3; C. S. 1372.)

§ 153-217. Manager to assign employment to inmates.—The manager shall assign to each person sent to such institution the kind of work in which such person is to be employed. (Rev., s. 1367; Code, s. 794; 1866, c. 35, s. 9; C. S. 1373.)

The sheriff shall convey the offender to the institution, and deliver him to the manager with the certified copy aforesaid, and take the manager's receipt for the body; which receipt the sheriff shall return to the clerk of the board of commissioners, with his indorsement of the time when the offender was committed to him and delivered to the manager, and the clerk shall record the same in a book kept for that purpose, and file the original with the papers in the case. (Rev., s. 1369; Code, s. 793; 1866, c. 35, s. 8; C. S. 1375.)

§ 153-220. Absconding offenders punished. — If any offender absconds, escapes, or departs from any such institution without license, the manager has power to pursue, retake and bring him back, and to require all necessary aid for that purpose; and when brought back, the manager may confine him to his work in such manner as he may judge necessary, or may put him in close confinement in the county jail or elsewhere, until he submits to the regulations of such institution; and for every escape each offender shall be held to labor in such institution for the term of one month in addition to the time for which he was first committed. (Rev., s. 1370; Code, s. 791; 1866, c. 35, s. 6; 1919, c. 273, s. 2; C. S. 1376.)

§ 153-222. Suits in name of county. — All suits brought on behalf of the institution shall, unless it be otherwise prescribed, be brought in the name of the county, to the use of the directors of the institution, without designating such directors by name. (Rev., s. 1372; Code, s. 798; 1866, c. 35, s. 13; C. S. 1378.)

§ 153-223. Counties may establish joint house of correction.—Any two or more counties, acting through their respective boards of commissioners, may jointly establish one or more convenient houses of correction, as is provided in the preceding sections, for the joint use of the counties so agreeing together; and the same may be established at such place or places, and be in all respects managed under such by-laws, rules and regulations as a majority of the general board of directors, to be appointed as hereinafter directed, shall determine. (Rev., s. 1373; Code, s. 799; 1866-7, c. 130, s. 1; C. S. 1379.)

§ 153-224. Directors of joint house of correction.—The board of commissioners of each of the respective counties agreeing as aforesaid to the establishment of one or more houses of correction for use jointly with any other county or counties shall annually appoint not less than three nor more than five directors in behalf of their several counties, and the directors so appointed by each of such counties shall together constitute the general board of directors of any such joint establishment. (Rev., s. 1374; Code, s. 800; 1866-7, c. 130, s. 2; 1919, c. 273, s. 3; C. S. 1380.)

§ 153-225. Directors to appoint manager; bond; term; duties.—Said general board of directors shall appoint a manager or superintendent for every such joint establishment, and such assistants and servants as they may deem necessary. The manager shall give bond with two or more able sureties, to be approved by said board, in such sum as may be required, payable to the state of North Carolina, and conditioned for the faithful performance of his duties. He shall hold his office during the pleasure of the general board of directors, and be, at all times, under their supervision; and of his misconduct they shall be the sole judges, and they may at any time remove him. He shall perform all such duties as may be prescribed by such general board of directors, and all such as may be incident to the office of manager by virtue of this chapter. (Rev., s. 1375; Code, s. 801; 1866-7, c. 130, s. 3; C. S. 1381.)

§ 153-226. Compensation of manager and other officers.—The compensation of the manager and such subordinate officers, assistants and servants as may be appointed by the general board shall be fixed by said general board. (Rev., s. 1375; Code, s. 801; 1866-7, c. 130, s. 3; C. S. 1382.)

Art. 18. Consolidation, Annexation and Joint Administration of Counties.

§ 153-227. Contiguous counties may consolidate into one.—Any two or more counties which are contiguous, or which lie in a continuous boundary may, in the manner herein prescribed, consolidate so as to form a single county. Where any group of counties so situated desires to effect such consolidation, a uniform resolution to this effect, setting forth the name of the proposed new county, shall be adopted by the governing bodies thereof, which resolution shall call a special election to be held on a specified date which shall be the same in all of said counties but not less than sixty nor more than ninety days from the last date of the adoption of such resolution in any of said counties. Said resolution shall also specify what group of counties it is proposed to consolidate, the name of the new county thus to be formed, and the count seat thereof. The governing body of each of said counties shall cause said resolution to be printed in some newspaper published therein, once a week for a period of six weeks prior to the date of said election. (1933, c. 193, s. 1.)

§ 153-228. Election laws applicable. — The election thus called shall be held in each of said counties and shall be conducted pursuant to the general election laws governing elections for members of the general assembly. The registration books shall be kept open in each of said counties for a period of twenty consecutive days prior to said election, and notice of such registration shall be advertised and registrars appointed in the manner now prescribed by law governing elections for members of the general assembly. Citizens of said counties who are registered and are otherwise qualified to vote shall be entitled to vote in said election in their respective counties for the purpose of determining whether it is the will of such voters that the proposed consolidation be effected. For use in said election the county board of elections in each of said counties shall cause to be printed and provided at each polling place a sufficient number of ballots on which shall be printed the following:

☐ For Consolidation
☐ Against Consolidation

Place a cross (x) mark in the square preceding the proposition for which you desire to vote.

All such ballots shall have printed on the back thereof the facsimile of the signatures of the members of the county board of elections of the county in which they are being used, and none other than such official ballots shall be valid for use in said election. As soon as practicable the county board of elections in each of said counties shall certify the result of said election to the governing bodies of all of the counties in said group, and each governing body shall cause the complete results of said election to be spread of record upon their respective minutes. If it appear that a majority of those voting in each of said counties voted in favor of the proposed consolidation, then said consolidation shall be declared to be in effect, and thereupon, the several counties shall stand abolished except as hereinafter provided, and the new county thus created shall for all purposes be constituted one of the counties of this state with all the rights, powers, and functions incident thereto under the general laws. If it appear that a majority in any one of said counties voted against the proposed consolidation, then said consolidation shall be declared to have failed for all purposes. (1933, c. 193, s. 2.)

§ 153-229. New county board of elections. — In case such consolidation be effected, the county boards of elections of the counties thus consolidated, acting together as one board, shall for the time being serve as a temporary county board of elections for the new county thus created, until the expiration of the terms for which they were appointed by the state board of elections. Thereafter the state board of elections shall appoint for such new county a county board of elections consisting of three members, in the manner and for the term now prescribed by law. (1933, c. 193, s. 3.)

§ 153-230. Special election for new county officers.—In case such consolidation be effected, then said temporary county board of elections shall immediately call and shall hold a special election in such new county, on a date not less than forty-five nor more than sixty days after the date on which said consolidation was voted into effect, for the purpose of electing for said new county all constitutional and other county and township officers, except justices of the peace, as now provided by law for counties throughout the state, including a board of county commissioners consisting of five members. No elections shall be held to fill any office theretofore existing in one or more of the group of counties thus consolidated if such office did not exist in each of said counties, but all of such offices peculiar to only a part of the counties brought into said consolidation shall be deemed abolished in respect to the new county. All constitutional county and township offices, all offices created for counties and townships by general laws, and all other offices in the group of counties thus consolidated, provided they existed in each of said counties, are hereby created for the new county effected by such consolidation, with the same rights, powers, duties and functions pertaining to such offices under the existing law. In order that elections by townships may be conducted, the various township lines and names as they existed before consolidation shall continue in effect, and townships of the several counties shall be deemed townships of the new county until thereafter altered in the manner prescribed by law. (1933, c. 193, s. 4.)

§ 153-231. Term of new officers; salaries. — All officers elected for the new county at said special election shall hold office until the next general election at which time their successors shall be elected for the regular term prescribed by law. The salaries of all officers elected for the new county at said special election shall be the same as those now fixed by law for such offices. In case the salaries of any officers in the counties thus consolidated were not uniform, then any officer elected for the new county at such special election shall be entitled to a salary equal to the highest salary paid for that particular office in any of said counties before such consolidation was effected. (1933, c. 193, s. 5.)

§ 153-232. Retention of old officers till qualification of new.—Notwithstanding such consolidation is voted upon favorably, all the existing officers in each of said counties shall continue to function as theretofore and shall have full authority to carry on the regular business of their respective counties, receiving their regular compensation therefor, until the officers for said new county shall have been elected and are qualified, as provided in § 153-230; and pending said election and the organization of the government of the new county, the several counties thus consolidated shall, for the purpose of carrying on their regular business, continue to exist and to function as separate county governments as fully as if said consolidation had never been voted upon. As soon as the officers for said new county are elected and qualified, then all public offices in the separate counties thus consolidated shall stand abolished and said separate counties shall stand dissolved and shall cease to exist for any and all purposes. (1933, c. 193, s. 6.)

§ 153-233. Powers and duties of new officers.— All officers elected for the new county shall become vested with all the rights, powers, duties, and functions which pertained to their respective offices in any one of the counties thus consolidated. It shall be the duty of all public officers theretofore serving in each of said counties forthwith to surrender and turn over to the corresponding officers of the new county all books, records, funds, and other property held by them in their respective offices. Said new county shall become vested with title to all property of every kind and character, real, personal and mixed, theretofore belonging to each of said counties and shall have full power to collect and disburse any and all taxes, penalties, and other charges which had been assessed by or had become due to said counties prior to such consolidation. (1933, c. 193, s. 7.)

§ 153-234. Transfer of books, records, etc.—All records, papers, files, funds, and the like held by the clerks of courts in any of said counties shall forthwith be turned over to corresponding officials in the new county, who shall docket all suits and proceedings in order that the same may be carried on under the regular legal procedure. Wherever counties thus consolidated lie in different judicial districts, the new county thus established shall become a part of that judicial district in which the larger portion of its territory lies. (1933, c. 193, s. 8.)

§ 153-235. Liability for bonded indebtedness. — Any such new county thus established shall be liable for all of the bonded and other indebtedness of the separate counties so consolidated, and any and all rights which might have been enforced against any of said counties may be enforced against said new county as fully as though the proceeding were against the county originally liable. (1933, c. 193, s. 9.)

§ 153-236. Justices of the peace and constables. —All justices of the peace and constables holding office at the time of such consolidation shall continue to serve as such in and for the new county thus established until the expiration of the terms for which they were elected or appointed, at which time, justices of the peace and constables may be elected and appointed for said new county in the manner now provided by law. Such consolidation shall in no wise effect the validity of any proceeding pending in the court of any justice of the peace in said counties. (1933, c. 193, s. 10.)

§ 153-237. Representation in general assembly. —In the event such consolidation be thus effected, the consolidated county thereafter shall be entitled to the same representation in the house of representatives theretofore had by the several counties so consolidated until the next re-apportionment of the membership of the house of representatives by the general assembly. Nor shall such consolidation affect the existing lines of state senatorial or congressional districts or the representation therein. (1933, c. 193, s. 10½.)

§ 153-238. Merging of one contiguous county with another authorized.—Wherever two counties are contiguous, and it is their mutual desire that one of said counties shall be annexed to and merged in the other, such annexation may be effected in the manner herein prescribed. The governing body of each of said counties shall adopt a uniform resolution setting forth the willingness of one of said counties to become annexed to and merged in the other pursuant to the authority of §§ 153-238 to 153-246. Said resolution shall also call for a special election to be held on a specified date which shall be the same in both counties but not less than sixty nor more than ninety days from the last date on which said resolution was adopted in either of said counties. The governing body of each of said counties shall cause said resolution to be printed in some newspaper published therein once a week for a period of six weeks prior to the date of said election. (1933, c. 194, s. 1.)

§ 153-239. Election laws applicable. — The election thus called shall be held in each of said counties and shall be conducted pursuant to the general election laws governing elections for members of the general assembly. The registration books shall be kept open in each of said counties for a period of twenty consecutive days prior to said election, and notice of such registration shall be advertised and registrars appointed, in the manner now prescribed by law governing elections for members of the general assembly. Citizens of said counties who are registered and are otherwise qualified to vote shall be entitled to vote in said election in their respective counties for the purpose of determining whether it is the will of such voters that the proposed annexation be effected. For use in said election the county board of elections in each of said counties shall cause to be printed and provided at each polling place a sufficient number of ballots on which shall be printed the following:

☐ For Annexation
☐ Against Annexation

Place a cross (x) mark in the square preceding the proposition for which you desire to vote.

All such ballots shall have printed on the back thereof the facsimile of the signatures of the members of the county board of elections of the county in which they are being used, and none other than such official ballots shall be valid for use in said election. As soon as practicable the county board of elections in each of said counties shall certify the results of said election to the governing body of both counties, and thereupon, the governing body of each county shall cause the results of the said election in both counties to be spread of record upon their respective minutes. If it appear that a majority of those voting in each of said counties voted in favor of the proposed annexation, then said annexation shall be declared to be in effect. If it appear that a majority of those voting in either of said counties voted against the proposed annexation, then said annexation shall be declared to have failed for all purposes. (1933, c. 194, s. 2.)

§ 153-240. Dissolution of county merged. — In the event such annexation shall be voted upon favorably in each of said counties, then the county which was voted to be annexed to the other shall thereupon stand dissolved and abolished, and its territory thereby shall be transferred to and for all purposes shall become a part of the annexing county, and townships of the annexed county shall be deemed townships of the annexing county until thereafter altered in the manner prescribed by law. (1933, c. 194, s. 3.)

§ 153-241. Abolition of offices in merged county; transfer of books, records, etc. — In the event such annexation be thus effected, all public offices except those of justice of the peace and constable, in the county so annexed, shall stand abolished, and it shall be the duty of those who held such offices before annexation to turn over to the corresponding officers of the annexing county all books, records, funds, and other property theretofore held by them in their official capacity, and said corresponding officers of the annexing county shall be vested with all the rights of said offices thus abolished, and shall be entitled to the custody and control of all books, records, funds, and other property formerly held by the incumbents of such abolished offices. (1933, c. 194, s. 4.)

§ 153-242. Court records transferred; justices of the peace and constables hold over.—In the event such annexation be thus effected, all records, papers, files, funds, and the like held by clerks of courts in the annexed county shall forthwith be turned over to corresponding clerks in the annexing county, who shall docket all suits and proceedings in order that the same may be carried on under the regular legal procedure. All justices of the peace and constables holding office in the annexed county at the time of such annexation shall continue to serve as justices of the peace and constables of the annexing county in and for the new township, until the expiration of the terms for which they were elected or appointed, in as full a measure as if such annexation had not occurred, and the validity of proceedings pending before such justices of the peace at the time of annexation shall in no wise be affected thereby. Upon the expiration of their terms, justices of the peace and constables shall be elected or appointed in such annexed territory in the manner prescribed by law. Any other officers provided by the general law for a township shall be elected in the new territory at the next general election following such annexation. (1933, c. 194, s. 5.)

§ 153-243. Rights of annexing county. — In the event such annexation be thus effected, the annexing county shall forthwith:

(a) Become vested with title to all property of every kind and character, real, personal and mixed, theretofore belonging to the annexed county, and shall have full power to collect and disburse any and all taxes, penalties and other charges which had been assessed by or had become due to the annexed county prior to such annexation. Said annexing county shall also be liable for all bonded and other indebtedness of the annexed county, and any and all rights which might have been enforced against said annexed county may be enforced against the annexing county as fully as though the proceeding had been against the county thus annexed;

(b) Said annexing county shall treat said annexed county as a township or division of said annexing county, and said annexing county shall forthwith be vested with title to all property of every kind and character, real, personal and mixed, belonging to said annexed county, and have full power to collect any and all taxes, penalties and other charges which have been assessed by or become due to the annexed county prior to the annexation, and shall disburse the same for the payment of obligations of said annexed county; and the bonded indebtedness of said annexed county shall be a charge only on the property of the township or division of said annexing county which was comprised in the annexed county, and taxes for the payment of same shall be levied only on property within said township or division. And the property in said township or division constituting the property in the annexed county shall not be liable for any of the bonded or other indebtedness of the county annexing it, existing prior to said annexation, and no taxes shall be levied on the property of said township for the payment of same. (1933, c. 194, s. 6.)

§ 153-244. Plan of government.—At the time of entering the resolutions as set out in § 153-238, the counties in said resolution shall specifically provide whether plan A or plan B, as set out in § 153-243, shall govern the two counties as to the bonded indebtedness. (1933, c. 194, s. 7.)

§ 153-245. Membership in general assembly. — In the event such annexation be thus effected, the annexing county thereafter shall be entitled to the same representation in the house of representatives theretofore had by the annexed and annexing counties until the next reapportionment of the membership of the house of representatives by the general assembly. Nor shall such annexation affect the existing lines of state senatorial or congressional districts or the representation therein. (1933, c. 194, s. 7½.)

§ 153-246. Joint administrative functions of contiguous counties.—Any two or more counties which are contiguous or which lie in a continuous boundary are authorized, whenever it is deemed for their best interests, to enter into written agreements for the joint performance of any and all similar administrative functions and activities of their local governments through consolidated agencies, or by means of institutions or buildings jointly constructed, owned and operated.

Such written agreement shall set forth what functions or activities of local government shall thus be jointly carried on, and shall specify definitely the manner in which the expenses thereof shall be apportioned and how any fees or revenue derived therefrom shall be apportioned. Upon such agreement being ratified by the governing bodies of the counties subscribing thereto, it shall be spread upon their respective minutes.

Whenever any such agreement has been entered into, then the consolidated agency or institution set up to function jointly for the counties which are parties thereto, shall be vested with all the powers, rights, duties and functions theretofore existing by law in the separate agencies so consolidated.

No such agreement shall be entered into for a period of more than two years from the date thereof, but such agreements may be renewed for a period not exceeding two years at any one time.

In the same manner and subject to the same provisions as herein set out, any municipality may enter into such an agreement with the county in which it is situated, or may join with other municipalities in the same county in making such an agreement with said county, to the end that the functions of local government may, as far as practicable, be consolidated.

It is the purpose of this section to bring about efficiency and economy in local government through a consolidation of administrative agencies thereof, and to effectuate this purpose this section shall be liberally construed. (1933, c. 195.)

1. To keep county moneys. To receive all moneys belonging to the county, and all other moneys by law directed to be paid to him; to keep them separate and apart from his own affairs, and to apply them and render account of them as required by law.

2. To keep true accounts. To keep a true account of the receipts and expenditures of all such moneys, taking proper vouchers in every case in books provided for that purpose at the expense of the county; which said books shall at all times show the date, amount, and from whom he has received such moneys; the date, amount, and to whom he has paid out any of the said moneys; the total amount received and the total amount paid out during the current fiscal year for school purposes, for general county purposes, for jury fund, and for each special purpose, all separately kept, so that at all times his said books shall correctly and accurately show the condition of the said several accounts. His account of expenditures for general county purposes shall also show separately the amounts expended each year on account of the county home, indigent persons, jails, workhouses, courthouse, bridges, insolvent fees, courts, and such other special accounts as the board of commissioners of the county require, the total of said accounts being the aggregate amount expended during the fiscal year for general county purposes. He shall post at the courthouse door on the first Monday in each month a correct statement of such receipts and expenditures, showing the amount received, and from what source, and the amounts paid out, and to whom, and for what purpose, and the balance in his hands belonging to the county.

3. To call on county officers for funds in their hands. To call on the sheriff, or the clerk of the superior court, or other officer having county moneys in his hands, at least once in each month, or oftener if necessary, to pay over to him, and to account for all such moneys.

To exhibit his books and accounts and moneys once every three months, or oftener, if the board of commissioners of his county deem it necessary, to a committee to be composed of the chairman of the board of commissioners and one other person to be selected by the board of commissioners, who shall be an expert accountant. It is the duty of this committee to examine the books and accounts of his office, and to see that the accounts are correctly and properly kept, and to count the money in the hands of the treasurer and to see that it corresponds with the amount shown by the books to be in his hands. At every such examination of the books and accounts of his office the county treasurer shall exhibit a full perfect and itemized statement to said committee of the use he has made of every dollar of public funds in his hands since the last exhibition of his books to said committee; and if any part of said funds has been loaned out, this statement shall state to whom loaned and on what security and the amount of interest paid on said loan, and such interest shall be covered into the county treasury by the treasurer. This statement shall be sworn to and published in a county newspaper or at the courthouse door. Nothing herein contained shall be construed to authorize the county treasurer to lend any public funds.

If at any time there is a deficit in the amount of money in the hands of the treasurer, the committee shall so report to the board of commissioners, whose duty it is to institute proceedings in the superior court against said treasurer for violation of his official duties. (Rev., s. 1398; Code, ss. 96, 773; 1889, c. 242; C. S. 1393.)

As treasurer of the county school fund he shall receive such sum as the board of education may allow him not exceeding two per cent on disbursements; and the said commissions shall be paid only upon the order of the county board of education, signed by the chairman and secretary, and the county board of education is hereby forbidden to sign any such order until the treasurer shall have made all reports and kept all such accounts required by law in the form and manner prescribed: Provided, that said treasurer shall be allowed no commission or compensation for receipts and disbursements of any loan or loans made to the county by the state board of education out of the state literary fund, the special building fund, nor from funds derived from county or district bond issues for the building of school-houses: Provided, that in counties where the treasurer's total compensation cannot exceed two hundred and fifty dollars per annum the treasurer may be allowed, in the discretion of the board of county commissioners and of the board of education, as to the school fund, a sum not exceeding two and one-half per cent on his receipts and not exceeding two and one-half per cent on his disbursements of all funds handled by him; but the compensation allowed by virtue of the provisions of this last proviso shall not be operative to give a total compensation in excess of two hundred and fifty dollars per annum to such treasurers. (Rev., s. 3985a; Code, s. 1302; R. C., c. 40, s. 6; C. S. 5264.)

§ 156-6. Right of owner to fence; entry for repairs.—Any proprietor, through or on whose land such canal or ditch may be cut or embankment raised, may put a fence or make paths across the same, provided the usefulness thereof be not impaired; and the owner of the canal, ditch, or dam, his heirs and assigns, shall at all times have free access to the same for the purpose of making and repairing them; doing thereby no unnecessary damage to the lands of the proprietors. (Rev., s. 3986; Code, s. 1300; R. C., c. 40, s. 4; 1795, c. 436, s. 2; 1835, c. 7; 1852, c. 57, ss. 1, 2; C. S. 5265.)

§ 156-7. Earth for construction of dam; removal of dam.—The earth necessary for the erection of a dam may be taken from either side of it, or wherever else the commissioners may designate and allow. And such dam may be removed by the proprietor of the land, his heirs or assigns, to any other part of his lands, and he may adjoin any dam of his own thereto, if allowed by the court on a petition and such proceedings therein as are provided in this chapter, as far as the same may apply to his case: Provided always, that the usefulness of the dam will not be thereby impaired or endangered. And the privilege of cutting into such canal or ditch may be granted under the same rules and upon the same conditions and restrictions as are provided in respect to cutting the first canal or ditch: Provided, that no canal or ditch shall be allowed to be cut into another if thereby the safety or utility of the latter shall be impaired or endangered: Provided, further, that if such impairing and danger can be avoided by imposing on the petitioner duties or labor in the enlarging or deepening of such canal or ditch, or otherwise, the same may be done; but no absolute decree for cutting such second canal or ditch shall pass till the duties or work so imposed shall be performed and the effect thereof is seen, so as to enable the commissioners to determine the matter whether such second canal or ditch ought to be allowed or not: Provided, that any party to the proceeding may appeal from the judgment of the court rendered under this section to the superior court of the county at term-time, where a trial and determination of all issues raised in the pleadings shall be had as in other cases before a judge and jury. (Rev., s. 3990; Code, s. 1305; 1887, c. 222; R. C., c. 40, s. 9; C. S. 5269.)

§ 156-15. Amount of contribution for repair ascertained.—Whenever there shall be a dam, canal, or ditch, in the repairing and keeping up of which two or more persons shall be interested and receive actual benefit therefrom, and the duties and proportion of labor which each one ought to do and perform therefor shall not be fixed by agreement or by the mode already in this subchapter provided for assessing and apportioning such labor, any of the parties may have the same assessed and apportioned by applying to a justice of the peace, who shall give all parties at least three days notice, and shall summons two disinterested free-holders who, together with the justice, shall meet on the premises and assess the damages sustained by the applicant, whereupon the justice shall enter judgment in favor of the applicant for damages or for work done on such ditch or lands. The costs of this proceeding shall be in the discretion of the justice. (Rev., s. 3995; Code, s. 1310; 1889, c. 101; R. C., c. 40, s. 14; C. S. 5274.)

§ 156-16. Petition by servient owners against dominant owners.—Any person owning lands lying upon any creek, swamp, or other stream not navigable, which are subject to inundation and which cannot be conveniently drained or embanked on account of the volume of water flowing over the same from lands lying above, and by draining the same the lands above will be benefited and better drained, such person may by petition apply to the superior court of the county in which the lands sought to be drained or embanked, or some part of such lands, lie, setting forth the particular circumstances of the case, the valuation of the lands to be drained or embanked, and what other lands above would be benefited, and who are the proprietors of such lands; whereupon a summons shall be served upon each of the proprietors, who are not petitioners, requiring them to appear before the court at a time to be named in the summons, which shall not be less than ten days from the service thereof, and upon such day the petition shall be heard and the court shall appoint three persons as commissioners, who shall, before entering upon the discharge of their duties, be sworn to do justice between the parties. (Rev., s. 4018; 1889, c. 253, s. 3; C. S. 5277.)

Right of dominant owner to repair.— In the absence of any agreement for maintaining the efficiency of such ditch or canal, or should the servient owner neglect or refuse to clean out or aid in cleaning out the same through his lands, it shall be lawful for the dominant or higher owner, after giving three days' notice to the servient owner, to enter along such canal and not more than twelve feet therefrom and clean out or remove obstructions or accumulated debris therefrom at his own personal expense or without cost to the servient owner. (Rev., s. 4025; 1899, c. 255, s. 2; C. S. 5279.)

§ 156-21. Canal for seven years necessity presumed; drainage assessments declared liens. — After a canal has been dug along any natural depression or waterway and maintained for seven years, it shall be prima facie evidence of its necessity, and upon application to the clerk of the superior court of any landowner who is interested in maintaining the same, it shall be the duty of the clerk of the superior court to appoint and cause to be summoned three disinterested and discreet freeholders, who, after being duly sworn, shall go upon the lands drained or intended to be drained by such canal, and after carefully examining the same and hearing such testimony as may be introduced touching the question of cost of canal, the amount paid, and the advantages and disadvantages to be shared by each of the parties to the action, shall make their report in writing to the clerk of the superior court stating the facts and apportioning the cost of maintaining such canal among the parties to the action, and the cost of the action shall be divided in the same ratio; and their report when approved shall be properly registered by the clerk and the said report or reports shall, when filed in the office of the clerk of the superior court, be a lien upon each tract of land embraced in said report or reports to the extent of the proportionate part of the costs stipulated in said report or reports as a charge against same, and shall have the effect and force of a judgment thereon, and that such judgments shall be subject to execution and collection as in cases of other judgments. (Rev., s. 4026; 1899. c. 255, s. 3; 1917, c. 248, s. 1; 1931, c. 227, s. 1; C. S. 5280.)

Easement of drainage surrendered. — If any persons, or those claiming through or under them, who have cut any ditch or canal into which any other person has been permitted to drain land under any proceeding authorized in this subchapter, shall desire to surrender their easement or right in such ditch or canal and be discharged from any judgment rendered and existing under such proceedings, such persons may on motion have such proceeding reinstated for hearing and file a petition therein setting forth such fact or any other grounds for relief thereunder, and upon proof satisfactory to the court that such petitioners have cut another ditch or canal which drains their lands formerly drained by the first ditch or canal, and have abandoned the use of it for any purpose of drainage, the court shall adjudge the easement or right of the petitioners surrendered and determined, and from that time the petitioners and their land shall forever be discharged and released from the judgment heretofore rendered in such former proceedings: Provided, however, that all parties then having an easement or right in such ditch or canal shall be served with notice of such petition twenty days

Part 2. Petition under Agreement for Construction.

§ 156-26. Procedure upon agreement.—1. Agreement; Names Filed.—Whenever a majority of the landowners or the persons owning three-fifths of all the lands in any well-defined swamp or lowlands shall, by a written agreement, agree to give a part of the land situated in such swamp or lowlands as compensation to any person, firm, or corporation who may propose to cut or dig any main drainway through such swamp or lowlands, then the person, firm, or corporation so proposing to cut or dig such main drainway shall file with the clerk of the superior court of the county, or, if there be two or more counties, with the clerk of the superior court of either county in or through which the proposed canal or drainway is to pass, the names of the landowners, with the approximate number of acres owned by each to be affected by the proposed drainway who have entered into the written agreement with the person, firm, or corporation, together with a brief outline of the proposed improvement, and in addition thereto shall file with the clerk the names and addresses, as far as can be ascertained, of the land owners, with the number of acres owned by each of them to be affected by the proposed drainway, who have not made any agreement with the person, firm, or corporation proposing to do the improvement.

2. Notice.—Upon the filing of such names, it shall be the duty of the clerk to forthwith issue a notice which shall be served by the sheriff to all landowners who have not made any agreement to appear before him at a certain date, which date shall be not less than ten and not more than twenty days from the service of such notice, or, in lieu of the personal service hereinabove required, it shall be sufficient for the clerk to publish in a newspaper published in the county once a week for four weeks a notice to all landowners who have not made any agreement to appear before him at a certain date, which date shall be not less than thirty days and not more than forty days from the first publication of notice, at which time and place the landowners shall state their objections to the proposed improvement, and in addition thereto make an estimate of the amount of damage that might be done to the land owned by each of them on account of the proposed drainway.

3. Hearing; Views.—Upon the hearing it shall be the duty of the clerk of the superior court to forthwith appoint three disinterested persons, none of whom shall own land to be affected by such drainway, if requested by the person, firm, or corporation proposing to do the improvement, whose duty it shall be to familiarize themselves with the proposed improvement, view the premises of the landowners, estimating damages, and make an estimate themselves of the amount of damages that might accrue to the lands of each landowner filing objections on account of the proposed improvement, and report the same to the clerk of the superior court within fifteen days from the date of their appointment.

4. Report; Bond.—Immediately upon the filing of the reports the clerk of the superior court shall forthwith notify the person, firm, or corporation proposing to dig the drainway or canal of the estimated damages contained in the reports, and the person, firm, or corporation shall execute and deliver a bond in a surety company authorized to do business in the State of North Carolina in twice the sum total of the estimated amount of damages, which bond shall be payable to the clerk of the superior court and conditioned upon the payment to the landowners of the amount of damages that may be assessed in the manner hereinafter provided.

5. Construction Authorized.—Upon the execution and delivery to the clerk of the said bond, the person, firm, or corporation so proposing to cut or dig such main drainway shall be and they are hereby authorized to proceed with the cutting or digging of the drainway through any lands in its proposed course, whether the owners of the land may have consented thereto or not, and the person, firm, or corporation so proposing to cut or dig the drainway shall have the proper and necessary right of way for that purpose and for all things incident thereto through any lands or timbers situated in such swamp or lowlands. (1917, c. 273, s. 1; C. S. 5284.)

tion cutting or digging the same shall be entitled to recover of the landowners owning that part of the land with reference to which no contract for compensating those cutting or digging the drainway may have been made, an amount equal to the benefits to accrue to such lands by reason of the drainway, and shall be required by the clerk of the superior court to pay to any landowner the amount of damages in excess of benefits which may be done to the land to be determined in the manner hereinafter provided: Provided, that the recovery from any owner of the land shall be limited to the benefits to accrue to that land owned by such person, and situated in such swamp or lowlands or adjacent thereto; and provided further, that the amount to be so recovered as herein provided for until fully paid shall be and constitute a lien upon such land, the lien to be in force regardless of who may own the land at the time the amount to be recovered as compensation for digging or cuttng the drainway shall be determined. (1917, c. 273, s. 2; C. S. 5285.)

§ 156-28. Notice to landowners; assessments made by viewers.—After the completion of the main drainway, upon the application of the person, firm, or corporation, or their heirs or assigns, digging or cutting the same, the clerk of the superior court of the county in which any land through which the drainway may pass is situated shall issue a notice to be served by the sheriff upon any person who may have failed to agree with the person, firm, or corporation digging or cutting such drainway, upon a compensation to be paid by the landowner for the digging or cutting of such drainway, notifying the landowner that on a certain day, which shall be named in the notice and not less than twenty days from the date of the issuing of the notice, the clerk of the superior court will appoint three competent and disinterested persons, one of whom may be a surveyor, and none of whom shall own land to be affected by the drainway, to view the land so drained and for which no compensation for the drainage may have been agreed upon as aforesaid, and report to the clerk of the superior court what amount shall be paid therefor by the various landowners who may have failed to arrange for and agree upon the compensation for the drainage as aforesaid, and the amount of damages in cases where the damages have exceeded the benefits, which shall be paid to the landowners by the person, firm, or corporation cutting or digging such canal or drainway. In making the appointment of the viewers the clerk of the superior court shall hear any objections which may be advanced by those interested to any of the persons the clerk may consider to be appointed as viewers, but the clerk shall name those whom he considers best qualified. (1917, c. 273, s. 3; C. S. 5286.)

§ 156-29. Report filed; appeal and jury trial.—A report signed by two of the persons appointed as viewers shall be entered by the clerk as the report of the viewers, and from the report any landowner affected thereby and the person, firm, or corporation digging or cutting such drainway shall have the right of appeal and the right to have any issue arising upon the report tried by a jury, provided exceptions shall be filed to the report within twenty days after the filing of the report with the clerk, in which exceptions so filed may be a demand for a jury trial. If a jury trial be demanded, the clerk shall transfer the proceedings to the civil-issue docket and it shall be heard as other civil actions. If no jury trial be demanded, the clerk shall hear the parties upon the exceptions filed, and appeal may be had as in special proceedings, but no jury trial shall be had unless demanded as herein provided for. (1917, c. 273, s. 4; C. S. 5287.)

§ 156-30. Confirmation of report. — Unless an appeal shall be taken by any person affected by the report, or by the person, firm, or corporation cutting or digging the drainway, and a jury trial demanded within twenty days after the report shall be filed with the clerk, in all of which appeals exceptions shall be filed, the clerk of the superior court shall confirm the report of the jury; if exceptions shall be filed and no demand for a jury trial shall be made, the clerk shall hear the exceptions as in other cases of special proceedings, and judgment entered accordingly. If the report of the viewers be confirmed by the clerk because no exceptions or demand for a jury trial were filed within twenty days, the judgment of confirmation shall be the judgment of the court, and any judgment herein entered against the person, firm, or corporation cutting or digging the drainway shall be a judgment against the person, firm, or corporation and the surety on its bond given as hereinabove provided. (1917, c. 273, s. 5; C. S. 5288.)

§ 156-31. Payment in installments. — The amount to be recovered from any person as compensation for digging or cutting the drainway after the amount shall be definitely determined as herein provided for, shall be payable in five equal annual installments, the first payable one year from the filing of the report of the viewers with the clerk of the superior court, and one payment on the same day of each year thereafter until the full amount be paid. The amount to be recovered from the person, firm, or corporation cutting or digging the drainway, on account of any damages in excess of benefits to the lands of any landowner, shall be payable in one installment which shall be due and payable one year from the filing of the report of the viewers with the clerk of the superior court. (1917, c. 273, s. 6; C. S. 5289.)

§ 156-36. Compensation of board. — The compensation of the board shall be as follows: The county surveyor shall receive three dollars per day and the other members shall receive one dollar and fifty cents per day while engaged in the duties imposed in this chapter. (Rev., s. 4015; 1887, c. 267, s. 5; C. S. 5294.)

SUBCHAPTER II. DRAINAGE BY CORPORATION.

Art. 3. Manner of Organization.

§ 156-37. Petition filed in superior court.—Any proprietor in fee of swamp lands, which cannot be drained except by cutting a canal through the lands of another or other proprietor in fee, situated at a lower level and which would also be materially benefited by the cutting of such canal, who desires that such canal be cut on the terms on which it is hereinafter allowed, may apply by petition, setting forth the facts, to the superior court of the county in which any of the lands through which the canal will pass may lie. (Rev., s. 3996; Code, s. 1311; 1868-9, c. 164, s. 2; C. S. 5295.)

§ 156-38. Commissioners appointed; report required.—On the establishment by the petitioner of his allegations, the court shall appoint three persons as commissioners who, having been duly sworn, shall examine the premises and inquire and report—

1. Whether the lands of the petitioner can be conveniently drained otherwise than through those of some other person.

2. Through the lands of what other persons a canal to drain the lands of the petitioner should properly pass, considering the interests of all concerned.

3. A description of the several pieces of lands through which the canal would pass, and the present values of such portions of the pieces of lands as would be benefited by it, and the reasons for arriving at the conclusion as to the benefit.

4. The route and plan of the canal, including its breadth, depth, and slope, as nearly as they can be calculated, with all other particulars necessary for calculating its cost.

5. The probable cost of the canal and of a road on its bank, and of such other work, if any, as may be necessary for its profitable use.

6. The proportion of the benefit (after a deduction of all damages) which each proprietor would receive by the proposed canal and a road on its bank if deemed necessary, and in which each ought, in equity and justice, to pay toward their construction and permanent support.

§ 156-39. Surveyor employed. — The commissioners may employ a surveyor to prepare the map required to accompany their report. (Rev., s. 3998; Code, s. 1313; 1868-9, c. 164, s. 4; C. S. 5297.)

§ 156-40. Confirmation of report.—If it appear that the lands on the lower level will be increased in value twenty-five per cent or upwards by the proposed improvement, within one year after the completion thereof, and that the cost of making such improvement will not exceed three-fourths of the present estimated value of the land to be benefited, and that the proprietors of at least one-half in value of the land to be affected consent to the improvement, the court may confirm such report, either in full or with such modifications therein as shall be just and equitable. (Rev., s. 3999; Code, s. 1314; 1868-9, c. 164, s. 5; C. S. 5298.)

§ 156-41. Proprietors become a corporation. — Upon a final adjudication, confirming the report, the proprietors of the several pieces of land adjudged to be benefited by the improvement shall be declared a corporation, of which the capital stock shall be double the estimated cost of the improvements, and in which the several owners of the land adjudged to be benefited shall be corporators, holding shares of stock in the proportions in which they are adjudged liable for the expense of making and keeping up the improvement. (Rev., s. 4000; Code, s. 1315; 1868-9, c. 164, s. 6; C. S. 5299.)

§ 156-42. Organization; corporate name, officers and powers.—The clerk of the court of the county in which the proceeding is pending or any corporator, who is a petitioner, may call a meeting of the corporators, at which meeting the corporators shall choose a name for the corporation, unless the commissioners selected the name, elect a president, vice president, secretary and treasurer, but said officers shall be chosen or elected from the corporators who are petitioners in the proceeding; and they shall also choose or elect a board of directors and they shall be chosen or elected from the corporators who are petitioners in the proceeding. The corporators shall also make all by-laws and regulations, not contrary to law, which may be necessary and proper for effecting the purpose of the corporation, but said duty may be delegated to the board of directors. They shall fix the number of shares of stock, and assign to each proprietor or corporator his proper number, but this duty and right may be delegated to and done by the board of directors. The board of directors shall have such powers as are generally given to directors under the Corporation Law of the state; and they shall assess the sums or amount which shall be paid by each proprietor or corporator in conformity with and in compliance with the report of the commissioners on which the corporation is based. When said assessments against said proprietors or corporators and their lands affected are duly certified to the clerk of the superior court of the county in which such proceeding was instituted, the same shall be passed upon by the clerk of court and when approved by the clerk, said assessments shall become judgments against the several proprietors, corporators and owners so assessed, and the same shall be liens on the lands of the owners or corporators against whom said assessments were made and judgments entered, subject only to taxes, but said judgments shall be judgments in rem only. The board of directors will also have power, if they deem it proper, to fix and prescribe the time, mode and manner of payment; and do such other things as are necessary for the construction, enlargement and keeping up or maintaining said canal and improvement. In every meeting of the corporators or stockholders, each proprietor or corporator shall have one vote for each share of stock owned by him. (Rev., s. 4001; Code, s. 1316; 1868-9, c. 164, s. 7; 1939, c. 180, s. 1; C. S. 5300.)

§ 156-43. Incorporation of canal already constructed; commissioners; reports.—Whenever the proprietors of any canal already cut shall desire to become incorporated, any number of the proprietors, not less than one-third in number, may file their petition before the clerk of the superior court of the county in which the canal is located, or in either county, where the canal may be located in more than one county, setting forth the names of the proprietors, the length and size of the canal, the name of the owners of land draining in such canal, and the quantity of land tributary thereto. And upon filing the petition, summons shall issue to all parties having an easement in the canal, returnable as in other special proceedings; upon the return thereof, or upon a day fixed by the clerk for hearing same, all owners of the canal may become corporators therein, and upon failure of any to avail themselves of that right, they shall not be entitled to become corporators, except under such by-laws and regulations as such corporation, shall make and declare. But those who fail to avail themselves of the benefit of this subchapter shall not be deprived of their easement in the canal, but shall enjoy the same upon payment to the corporation of the assessment made upon them pro rata with the corporators; such assessment shall be made on the land tributary to the canal and apportioned pro rata to each owner thereof; it shall be made by the corporation on ten days notice to each owner of the land, under such rules and regulations as the by-laws may prescribe; but any person dissatisfied therewith shall have the right to appeal to a jury at the regular term of the superior court of the county, and the amount of damages assessed shall be a first lien on the land of the owner against whom judgment shall be rendered.

Upon the return date of the summons or on the hearing by the clerk as provided in this section, the clerk of the court may appoint three persons as commissioners, who having been duly sworn shall examine the premises and inquire and report:

1. The route and plan of the canal, including the breadth, depth and slope as nearly as they can be calculated, with all other particulars necessary for calculating the cost of enlarging and improving said canal.

2. The probable cost of the improvement and enlargement of said canal.

3. The proportion which each proprietor or corporator ought in equity and justice to pay toward the enlargement, improvement and permanent support and upkeep of said canal.

4. With their report they shall return a map explaining as accurately as may be, the various matters required and necessary in aid or explanation of their report.

5. The said report shall be heard and determined as other reports in special proceedings, and if approved by the clerk, such proprietors shall become a body corporate or a corporation.

6. A meeting of the corporators may be called by the clerk of court or by any corporator or proprietor who is a petitioner in the proceeding, and at such meeting a president, vice president, secretary and treasurer shall be elected from the proprietors or corporators who are petitioners; and also a board of directors shall be elected from the proprietors or corporators who are petitioners in the proceeding.

7. The board of directors shall assess the sum or amount which shall be paid by each proprietor or corporator in conformity and compliance with the report of the commissioners on which the corporation was based. When said assessments against said proprietors or corporators and their lands affected are duly certified to the clerk of the superior court of the county in which said proceeding was pending and instituted, the same shall be passed upon by the clerk of court, and when approved by the clerk, said assessments shall become judgments against the several proprietors or corporators so assessed, and the same shall be liens on the lands of the owners or corporators against whom said assessments were made and judgments entered, subject only to taxes, but said judgments shall be judgments in rem only. The board of directors will also, if they deem it proper, fix and prescribe the time, manner and mode of payment. (Rev., s. 4008; 1889, c. 380; 1901, c. 670; 1939, c. 180, s. 2; C. S. 5301.)

Art. 4. Rights and Liabilities in the Corporation.

§ 156-44. Shares of stock annexed to land.—The ownership of the shares of stock is indissolubly annexed to the ownership of the pieces of land adjudged to be benefited by the improvement; and such shares, or a part thereof proportionate to the area of such land that may descend or be conveyed for any longer time than three years, shall, upon such descent or conveyance, descend and pass with the land, even although such shares be not mentioned in the deed of conveyance, and although their transfer be forbidden by such deed so that every owner of such land in possession, except a tenant for a term of years, not exceeding three, and every owner in reversion or remainder after a term not exceeding three years, shall, during his ownership, be entitled to all the rights and privileges and be subject to all the obligations and burdens of a corporator. Every attempted sale of shares otherwise than as annexed to the land shall be void. (Rev., s. 4002; Code, s. 1317; 1868-9, c. 164, s. 8; C. S. 5302.)

§ 156-45. Shareholders to pay assessments. — Every corporator shall be bound to obey the lawful by-laws of the company, and pay all dues lawfully assessed on him: Provided, he shall in no case pay more than his proportion of the expenses as fixed by this subchapter; and such dues may be collected in the corporate name in any court having jurisdiction; and every assessment duly docketed in the county where the land to be affected lies shall be a lien on the lands of the debtor which are connected with the corporation from the date of such docketing. (Rev., s. 4003; Code, s. 1318; 1868-9, c. 164, s. 9; C. S. 5303.)

§ 156-46. Payment of dues entitles to use of canal.—Every corporator paying his dues legally assessed without regard to the number of his shares, shall be entitled to the full and free use of the canal for drainage and navigation, and of the road for passage and transportation. By-laws may be made to regulate these rights, but not so as to produce an inequality. (Rev., s. 4004; Code, s. 1319; 1868-9, c. 164, s. 10; C. S. 5304.)

§ 156-47. Rights of infant owners protected. — If any proprietor whose lands are adjudged to be benefited by a canal shall be an infant, no process shall be issued against him during his minority, or within twelve months thereafter, to enforce payment of any assessment, and he may, at any time within such twelve months, apply to have any order, judgment, or decree made against him set aside as to him. If the infant or his guardian shall, during his minority, and the twelve months next thereafter, pay the dues assessed on him, he shall have all the rights and privileges of a corporator, to be exercised through his guardian. If the infant shall fail to pay, he shall not have any such rights, but if no action to set aside the judgment of the court creating the corporation shall have been brought by him as aforesaid, or upon the decision of such action against him, he shall be entitled to receive his proper share of stock and to possess all the rights and be bound by all the liabilities of a corporator, including a liability for assessments made during his minority, but not for interest on such, nor for any penalty for their prior nonpayment. (Rev., s. 4005; Code, s. 1320, 1868-9, c. 164, s. 11; C. S. 5305.)

§ 156-48. Compensation for damage to lands.— If any proprietor of lands shall be damaged by any improvement proposed, the commissioners shall so report, and he shall be entitled to be compensated as may be just by the proprietor whose lands are benefited in proportion to the benefit to them respectively; but in estimating such damages the benefit shall be deducted, and such proprietor shall be entitled to all the rights and privileges of a corporator as respects the use of the improvement, but shall not be entitled to a vote, or be bound for the assessment. (Rev., s. 4006; Code, s. 1321; 1868-9, c. 164, s. 12; C. S. 5306.)

§ 156-49. Dissolution of corporation. — If, from any cause, the canal or other improvement shall become or shall prove to be valueless, any corporator may apply as is provided in other cases of special proceedings, and the court may dissolve the corporation created in connection with it. (Rev., s. 4007; Code, s. 1322; 1868-9, c. 164, s. 13; C. S. 5307.)

§ 156-50. Laborer's lien for work on canal.— Whenever work or repair shall be done on such canal and any of the parties owning lands liable to be assessed for such work or repairs shall fail or refuse to pay the amount assessed upon their lands, then and in that event the laborers performing such work shall have a lien upon such land to the extent of the amount assessed against the same by the corporation, and such lien may be enforced in the same manner as provided by the laws of this state for the enforcement of laborers' liens. (Rev., s. 4009; 1899, c. 600, s. 2; C. S. 5308.)

§ 156-51. Penalty for nonpayment of assessments.—Whenever any person whose lands have been adjudged liable to contribute to the maintenance or repair of such canal shall fail or refuse to pay the amount assessed against his land for such maintenance or repair for thirty days after such payment has been demanded by the company, then the company may give such person notice in writing of its intention to cut off his right of drainage into the canal, and if such person shall still neglect and refuse to pay such assessment for thirty days after such notice, then the company may proceed to so obstruct and dam up the ditches of such delinquent as will effectually prevent his draining into the canal. (Rev., s. 4010; 1899, c. 600, s. 3; C. S. 5309.)

§ 156-52. Corporation authorized to issue bonds.—The corporations organized under this subchapter are authorized to issue bonds to such an amount and in such denomination as they may elect, payable at such times as may be provided, and to sell the same at not less than par, the proceeds of the sale of such bonds to be used for the payment of the costs of survey and construction and maintenance of the canal. The bonds shall constitute a lien upon the lands drained or improved by the canal as described in the reports of the commissioners. (1908, c. 75, s. 1; C. S. 5310.)

§ 156-53. Payment of bonds enforced.—Upon default of the payment of the interest or principal of such bonds, the holders of the bonds of the corporations oganized under this subchapter shall have a right to enforce the lien created by § 156-52 by civil actions in the superior courts of the state. (1908, c. 75, s. 2; C. S. 5311.)

SUBCHAPTER III. DRAINAGE DISTRICTS.

Art. 5. Establishment of Districts.

§ 156-54. Jurisdiction to establish districts. — The clerk of the superior court of any county in the State of North Carolina shall have jurisdiction, power and authority to establish levee or drainage districts either wholly or partly located in his county, and which shall constitute a political subdivision of the state, and to locate and establish levees, drains or canals, and cause to be constructed, straightened, widened or deepened, any ditch, drain or watercourse, and to build levees or embankments and erect tidal gates and pumping plants for the purpose of draining and reclaiming wet, swamp or overflowed land; and it is hereby declared that the drainage of swamp lands and the drainage of surface water from agricultural lands and the reclamation of tidal marshes shall be considered a public use and benefit and conducive to the public health, convenience and welfare, and that the districts heretofore and hereafter created under the law shall be and constitute political subdivisions of the state, with authority to provide by law to levy taxes and assessments for the construction and maintenance of said public works. (1909, c. 442, s. 1; 1921, c. 7; C. S. 5312.)

§ 156-55. Venue; special proceeding. — When the lands proposed to be drained and created into a drainage district are located in two or more counties, the clerk of the superior court of either county shall have and exercise the jurisdiction herein conferred, and the venue shall be in that county in which the petition is first filed. The law and the rules regulating special proceedings shall be applicable in this proceeding, so far as may be practicable; and the proceedings hereunder may be ex parte or adversary. (1909, c. 442, ss. 2, 38; C. S. 5313.)

§ 156-56. Petition filed.—A petition signed by a majority of the resident landowners in a proposed drainage district or by the owners of three-fifths of all the land which will be affected or assessed for the expense of the proposed improvements may be filed in the office of the clerk of the superior court of any county in which a part of the lands is located, setting forth that any specific body or district of land in the county and adjoining counties, described in such a way as to convey an intelligent idea as to the location of such land, is subject to overflow or too wet for cultivation, and the public benefit or utility or the public health, convenience or welfare will be promoted by draining, ditching, or leveeing the same or by changing or improving the natural watercourses, and setting forth therein, as far as practicable, the starting point, route, and terminus and lateral branches, if necessary, of the proposed improvement.

The petition will also show whether or not the proposed drainage is for the reclamation of lands not then fit for cultivation or for the improvement of land already under cultivation. It shall also state that, if a reclamation district is proposed to be established, such lands so reclaimed will be of such value as to justify the reclamation. (1909, c. 442, s. 2; 1921, c. 76; Pub. Loc. 1923, c. 88, s. 2; 1925, c. 85; 1927, c. 98; C. S. 5314.)

Local Modification.—Edgecombe: 1937, c. 278; 1939, c. 7; Halifax: 1939, c. 227; Hertford: 1939, c. 371; Iredell: 1925, c. 144; Nash: 1939, c. 376; Northampton: 1939, c. 227; Pitt: 1925, c. 205; Robeson: 1925, c. 144; Rowan: 1925, c. 144.

§ 156-57. Bond filed and summons issued.—Upon filing with the petition a bond for the amount of fifty dollars per mile for each mile of the ditch or proposed improvement, signed by two or more sureties or by some lawful and authorized surety company, to be approved by the clerk of superior court, conditioned for the payment of all costs and expenses incurred in the proceeding in case the court does not grant the prayer of the petition, the clerk shall issue a summons to be served on all the defendant landowners who have not joined in the petition and whose lands are included in the proposed drainage district. The summons may be served by publication as to any defendants who cannot be personally served as provided by law. (1909, c. 442, s. 2; C. S. 5315.)

See Local Modification under § 156-56.

§ 156-58. Publication in case of unknown owners.—If at the time of the filing of the petition, or at any time subsequent thereto, it shall be made to appear to the court by affidavit or otherwise that the owners of the whole or any share of any tracts of land, whose names are unknown, and cannot after due diligence be ascertained by the petitioners, the court shall order a notice in the nature of a summons to be given to all such persons by a publication of the petition, or of the substance thereof, and describing generally the tracts of land as to which the owners are unknown, with the order of the court thereon, in some newspaper published in the county wherein the land is located, or in some other county if no newspaper shall be published in the first-named county, which newspaper shall be designated in the order of the court, and a copy of such publication shall be also posted in at least three conspicuous places within the boundaries of the proposed district, and at the courthouse door of the county. Such publication in a newspaper and by posting shall be made for a period of four weeks. After the time of publication shall have expired, if no person claiming and asserting title to the tracts of land and entitled to notice shall appear, the court in its discretion may appoint some disinterested person to represent the unknown owners of such lands, and thereupon the court shall assume jurisdiction of the tracts of land and shall adjudicate as to such lands to the same extent as if the true owners were present and represented, and shall proceed against the land itself. If at any time during the pendency of the drainage proceeding the true owners of the lands shall appear in person, they may be made parties defendant of their own motion and without the necessity of personal service, and shall thereafter be considered as parties to the proceeding; but they shall have no right to except to or appeal from any order or judgment theretofore rendered, as to which the time for filing exceptions on notice shall have expired. (1911, c. 67, s. 1; C. S. 5316.)

§ 156-59. Board of viewers appointed by clerk.—Upon the return day the clerk shall appoint a disinterested and competent civil and drainage engineer and two resident freeholders of the county or counties in which the lands are located as a board of viewers to examine the lands described in the petition and make a preliminary report thereon. The drainage engineer shall be appointed upon the recommendation of the board of conservation and development; and no member of the board of viewers so appointed shall own any land within the boundaries of the proposed district. In the selection of the two members of the board of viewers, other than the engineer, the clerk before making the appointment shall make careful inquiry into the character and qualifications of the proposed members, to the end that the members so appointed shall possess the necessary character, capacity, fitness, and impartiality for the discharge of their important duties. (1909, c. 442, s. 2; 1917, c. 152, s. 1; C. S. 5317.)

See Local Modification under § 156-56.

§ 156-60. Attorney for petitioners.—The petitioners shall select some learned attorney or attorneys to represent them, who shall prosecute the drainage proceeding and advise with the petitioners and board of viewers, and shall agree upon the compensation for his professional services up to the time when the district shall be established and the board of drainage commissioners elected, or as nearly so as the same may be approximated. If the petitioners are unable to agree upon the selection of an attorney or attorneys, the selection may be made by the clerk of the court. The foregoing provision shall not interfere with the right of any individual petitioner in the selection of an attorney to represent his individual interests if he shall deem the same desirable or necessary. (1917, c. 152, s. 1; C. S. 5318.)

§ 156-61. Estimate of expense and manner of payment.—The clerk shall make an estimate of the aggregate sum of money which shall appear to be necessary to pay all the expenses incident to the performance of the duties by the board of viewers, including the compensation of the drainage engineer and his necessary assistants, and also including the sum for the compensation of the attorney for the district, and such court costs as may probably accrue, which estimates shall embrace the period of services up to and including the establishment of the drainage district and the selection and appointment of the board of drainage commissioners. The clerk shall then estimate the number of acres of land owned or represented by the petitioners, as nearly so as may be practicable without actual survey, and shall assess each acre so represented a level rate per acre, to the end that such assessment will realize the sum of money which he has estimated as necessary to pay all necessary costs of the drainage proceeding up to the time of the appointment of the drainage commissioners, as above provided. The assessment above provided for which has been or may hereafter be levied shall constitute a first and paramount lien, second only to State and county taxes, upon the lands so assessed, and shall be collected in the same manner and by the same officers as county taxes are collected. The board of viewers, including the drainage engineer, shall not be required to enter upon the further discharge of their duties until the amount so estimated and assessed shall be paid in cash to the clerk of the court, which shall be retained by him as a court fund, and for which he shall be liable in his official capacity, and he shall be authorized to disburse the same in the prosecution of the drainage proceeding. Unless all the assessments shall be paid within a time to be fixed by the court, which may be extended from time to time, no further proceedings shall be had, and the proceeding shall be dismissed at the cost of the petitioners. If the entire sum so estimated and assessed shall not be paid to the clerk within the time limited, the amounts so paid shall be refunded to the petitioners pro rata after paying the necessary costs accrued. Nothing herein contained shall prevent one or more of the petitioners from subscribing and paying any sum in addition to their assessment in order to make up any deficiency arising from the delinquency of one or more of the petitioners. When the sum of money so estimated shall be paid, the board of viewers shall proceed with the discharge of their duties, and in all other respects the proceeding shall be prosecuted according to the law. After the district shall have been established and the board of drainage commissioners appointed, it shall be the duty of the board of drainage commissioners to refund to each of the petitioners the amount so paid by them as above provided, out of the first moneys which shall come into the hands of the board from the sale of bonds or otherwise, and the same shall be included in ascertaining the total cost of improvement. (1917, c. 152, s. 1; 1941, c. 342; C. S. 5319.)

§ 156-62. Examination of lands, and preliminary report.—The board of viewers shall proceed to examine the land described in the petition, and other land if necessary to locate properly such improvement or improvements as are petitioned for, along the route described in the petition, or any other route answering the same purpose if found more practicable or feasible, and may make surveys such as may be necessary to determine the boundaries and elevation of the several parts of the district, and shall make and return to the clerk of the superior court within thirty days, unless the time shall be extended by the court, a written report, which shall set forth:

1. Whether the proposed drainage is practicable or not.

2. Whether it will benefit the public health or any public highway or be conducive to the general welfare of the community.

3. Whether the improvement proposed will benefit the lands sought to be benefited.

4. Whether or not all the lands that are benefited are included in the proposed drainage district.

5. Whether or not the district proposed to be formed is to be a reclamation district or an improvement district. A reclamation district is defined to be a district organized principally for reclaiming lands not already under cultivation. An improvement district is defined to be a district organized principally for the improvement of lands then under cultivation. The board of viewers shall further report, if the district is a reclamation district within the above definition, whether or not the proposed drainage would be justified by the additional value for agricultural purposes given to land so drained.

They shall also file with this report a map of the proposed drainage district, showing the location of the ditch or ditches or other improvement to be constructed and the lands that will be affected thereby, and such other information as they may have collected that will tend to show the correctness of their findings. (1909, c. 442, s. 3; 1927, c. 98, s. 2; C. S. 5320.)

§ 156-63. First hearing of preliminary report.—The clerk of the superior court shall consider this report. If the viewers report that the drainage is not practicable or that it will not benefit the public health or any public highway or be conducive to the general welfare of the community, and the court shall approve such findings, the petition shall be dismissed at the cost of the petitioners, and such petition shall likewise be dismissed at the cost of the petitioners if it is sought to set up a reclamation district and the viewers report that the cost of reclaiming the land would be so great as not to justify the expense of draining it. Such petition or proceeding may again be instituted by the same or additional landowners at any time after six months, upon proper allegations that conditions have changed or that material facts were omitted or overlooked. If the viewers report that the drainage is practicable and that it will benefit the public health or any public highway or be conducive to the general welfare of the community, and the court shall so find, then the court shall fix a day when the report will be further heard and considered. (1909, c. 442, s. 4; 1927, c. 98, s. 3; C. S. 5321.)

§ 156-64. Notice of further hearing.—If the petition is entertained by the court, notice shall be given by publication for two consecutive weeks in some newspaper of general circulation within the county or counties, if one shall be published in such counties, and also by posting a written or printed notice at the door of the courthouse and at five conspicuous places within the drainage district, that on the date set, naming the day, the court will consider and pass upon the report of the viewers. At least fifteen days shall intervene between the date of the publication and the posting of the notices and the date set for the hearing. (1909, c. 442, s. 5; C. S. 5322.)

§ 156-65. Further hearing, and district established.—At the date appointed for the hearing the court shall hear and determine any objections that may be offered to the report of the viewers. If it appear that there is any land within the proposed levee or drainage district that will not be affected by the leveeing or drainage thereof, such lands shall be excluded and the names of the owners withdrawn from such proceeding; and if it shall be shown that there is any land not within the proposed district that will be affected by the construction of the proposed levee or drain, the boundary of the district shall be so changed as to include such land, and such additional land owners shall be made parties plaintiff or defendant, respectively, and summons shall issue accordingly, as hereinbefore provided. After such change in the boundary is made, the sufficiency of the petition shall be verified, to determine whether or not it conforms to the requirements hereinbefore provided. The efficiency of the drainage or levees may also be determined, and if it appears that the location of any levee or drain can be changed so as to make it more effective, or that other branches or spurs should be constructed, or that any branch or spur projected may be eliminated or other changes made that will tend to increase the benefits of the proposed work, such modification and changes shall be made by the board. The engineer and the other two viewers may attend this meeting and give any information or evidence that may be sought to verify and substantiate their report. If necessary, the petition, as amended, shall be referred by the court to the engineer and two viewers for further report. The above facts having been determined to the satisfaction of the court, and the boundaries of the proposed district so determined, it shall declare the establishment of the drainage or levee district, which shall be designated by a name or number, for the object and purpose as herein set forth.

If any lands shall be excluded from the district because of the court having found that such lands will not be affected or benefited, and the names of the owners of such lands have been withdrawn from such proceeding, but such lands are so situated as necessarily to be located within the outer boundaries of the district, such fact shall not prevent the establishment of the district, and such lands shall not be assessed for any drainage tax; but this shall not prevent the district from acquiring a right of way across such lands for constructing a canal or ditch or for any other necessary purpose authorized by law.

The court shall further determine, if it is sought to establish a reclamation district, whether or not the increased value of the particular land should be so great as to justify the cost and expenses of its reclaiming. (1909, c. 442, s. 6; 1911, c. 67, s. 2; 1927, c. 98, s. 4; C. S. 5323.)

§ 156-66. Right of appeal.—Any person owning lands within the drainage or levee district which he thinks will not be benefited by the improvement and should not be included in the district may appeal from the decision of the court to the superior court of such county, in term-time, by filing an appeal, accompanied by a bond conditioned for the payment of the costs if the appeal should be decided against him, for such sum as the court may require, not exceeding two hundred dollars, signed by two or more solvent sureties or in some approved surety company to be approved by the court. (1909, c. 442, s. 8; C. S. 5324.)

§ 156-67. Condemnation of land.—If it shall be necessary to acquire a right of way or an outlet over and through lands not affected by the drainage, and the same cannot be acquired by purchase, then and in such event the power of eminent domain is hereby conferred, and the same may be condemned. The owners of the land proposed to be condemned may be made parties defendant in the manner of an ancillary proceeding, and the procedure shall be substantially as provided by law for the condemnation of rights of way for railroads so far as the same may be applicable, and such damages as may be awarded as compensation shall be paid by the board of drainage commissioners out of the first funds which shall be available from the proceeds of sale of bonds or otherwise. (1909, c. 442, s. 7; C. S. 5325.)

§ 156-68. Complete survey ordered. — After the district is established the court shall refer the report of the engineer and viewers back to them to make a complete survey, plans, and specifications for the drains or levees or other improvements, and fix a time when the engineer and viewers shall complete and file their report, not exceeding sixty days. (1909, c. 442, s. 9; C. S. 5326.)

§ 156-69. Nature of the survey. — The engineer and viewers shall have power to employ such assistants as may be necessary to make a complete survey of the drainage district, and shall enter upon the ground and make a survey of the main drain or drains and all its laterals. The line of each ditch, drain, or levee shall be plainly and substantially marked on the ground. The course and distance of each ditch shall be carefully noted and sufficient notes made, so that it may be accurately plotted and mapped. A line of levels shall be run for the entire work and sufficient data secured from which accurate profiles and plans may be made. Frequent bench marks shall be established along the line, on permanent objects, and their elevation recorded in the field books. If it is deemed expedient by the engineer and viewers, other levels may be run to determine the fall from one part of the district to another. If an old watercourse, ditch, or channel is being widened, deepened, or straightened, it shall be accurately cross-sectioned, so as to compute the number of cubic yards saved by the use of such old channel. A drainage map of the district shall then be completed, showing the location of the ditch or ditches and other improvements and the boundary, as closely as may be determined by the records, of the lands owned by each individual landowner within the district. The location of any railroads or public highways and the boundary of any incorporated towns or villages within the district shall be shown on the map. There shall also be prepared to accompany this map a profile of each levee, drain, or watercourse, showing the surface of the ground, the bottom or grade of the proposed improvement, and the number of cubic yards of excavation or fill in each mile or fraction thereof, and the total yards in the proposed improvement and the estimated cost thereof, and plans and specifications, and the cost of any other work required to be done. (1909, c. 442, s. 10; C. S. 5327.)

§ 156-70. Assessment of damages. — It shall be the further duty of the engineer and viewers to assess the damages claimed by any one that are justly right and due to him for land taken or for inconvenience imposed because of the construction of the improvement, or for any other legal damages sustained. Such damages shall be considered separate and apart from any benefit the land would receive because of the proposed work, and shall be paid by the board of drainage commissioners when funds shall come into their hands. (1909, c. 442, s. 11; 1915, c. 238; 1917, c. 152, s. 16; C. S. 5328.)

§ 156-71. Classification of lands.—It shall be the further duty of the engineer and viewers to personally examine the land in the district and classify it with reference to the benefit it will receive from the construction of the levee, ditch, drain, or water-course or other improvement. In the case of drainage, the degree of wetness on the land, its proximity to the ditch or a natural outlet, and the fertility of the soil shall be considered in determining the amount of benefit it will receive by the construction of the ditch. The land benefited shall be separated in five classes. The land receiving the highest benefit shall be marked "Class A"; that receiving the next highest benefit, "Class B"; that receiving the next highest benefit, "Class C"; that receiving the next highest benefit, "Class D," and that receiving the smallest benefit, "Class E." The holdings of any one land owner need not be all in one class, but the number of acres in each class shall be ascertained, though its boundary need not be marked on the ground or shown on the map. The total number of acres owned by one person in each class and the total number of acres benefited shall be determined. The total number of acres of each class in the entire district shall be obtained and presented in tabulated form. The scale of assessment upon the several classes of land returned by the engineer and viewers shall be in the ratio of five, four, three, two, and one; that is to say, as often as five mills per acre is assessed against the land in "Class A," four mills per acre shall be assessed against the land in "Class B," three mills per acre in "Class C," two mills per acre in "Class D," and one mill per acre in "Class E." This shall form the basis of the assessment of benefits to the lands for drainage purposes. In any district lands may be included which are not benefited for the agriculture or crop production, or slightly so, but which will receive benefit by improvement in health conditions, and as to such lands the engineer and viewers may assess each tract of land without regard to the ratio and at such a sum per acre as will fairly represent the benefit of such lands. Villages or towns or parts thereof and small parcels of land located outside thereof and used primarily for residence or other specific purposes, and which require drainage, may also be included in any drainage district which by reason of their improved conditions and the limited area in each parcel under individual ownership, it is impracticable to fairly assess the benefits to each separate parcel of land by the ratio herein provided, and as to such parcels of land the engineer and viewers may assess each parcel of land without regard to the ratio and at a higher rate per acre respectively by reason of the greater benefits. If the streets or other property owned by any incorporated town or village are likewise benefited by such drainage works, the corporation may be assessed in proportion to such benefits, which assessment shall constitute a liability against the corporation and may be enforced as provided by law. (1909, c. 442, s. 12; 1923, c. 217, s. 1; C. S. 5329.)

§ 156-72. Extension of time for report.—In case the work is delayed by high water, sickness, or any other good cause, and the report is not completed at the time fixed by the court, the engineer and viewers shall appear before the court and state in writing the cause of such failure and ask for sufficient time in which to complete the work, and the court shall set another date by which the report shall be completed and filed. (1909, c. 442, s. 14; C. S. 5330.)

§ 156-73. Final report filed; notice of hearing.—When the final report is completed and filed it shall be examined by the court, and if it is found to be in due form and in accordance with the law it shall be accepted, and if not in due form it may be referred back to the engineer and viewers, with instructions to secure further information, to be reported at a subsequent date to be fixed by the court. When the report is fully completed and accepted by the court a date not less than twenty days thereafter shall be fixed by the court for the final hearing upon the report, and notice thereof shall be given by publication in a newspaper of general circulation in the county and by posting a written or printed notice on the door of the courthouse and at five conspicuous places throughout the district, such publication to be made for at least two weeks before the final hearing. During this time a copy of the report shall be on file in the office of the clerk of the superior court, and shall be open to the inspection of any landowner or other person interested within the district. (1909, c. 442, s. 15; C. S. 5331.)

§ 156-74. Adjudication upon final report. — At the date set for hearing any landowner may appear in person or by counsel and file his objection in writing to the report of the viewers; and it shall be the duty of the court to carefully review the report of the viewers and the objections filed thereto, and make such changes as are necessary to render substantial and equal justice to all the landowners in the district. If, in the opinion of the court, the cost of construction, together with the amount of damages assessed, is not greater than the benefits that will accrue to the land affected, the court shall confirm the report of the viewers. If, however, the court finds that the cost of construction, together with the damages assessed, is greater than the resulting benefit that will accrue to the lands affected, the court shall dismiss the proceedings at the cost of the petitioners, and the sureties upon the bond so filed by them shall be liable for such costs: Provided, that the board of conservation and development may remit and release to the petitioners the costs expended by the board on account of the engineer and his assistants. The court may from time to time collect from the petitioners such amounts as may be necessary to pay costs accruing, other than costs of the engineer and his assistants, such amounts to be repaid from the special tax hereby authorized. (1909, c. 442, s. 16; 1915, c. 238, s. 2; 1917, c. 152, s. 16; 1925, c. 122, s. 4; C. S. 5332.)

§ 156-75. Appeal from final hearing.—Any party aggrieved may, within ten days after the confirmation of the assessor's report, appeal to the superior court in term-time. Such appeal shall be taken and prosecuted as now provided in special proceedings. Such appeal shall be based and heard only upon the exceptions theretofore filed by the complaining party, either as to issues of law or fact, and no additional exceptions shall be considered by the court upon the hearing of the appeal. In any appeal to the superior court in term time or in chambers taken under this section or any other section or provision of the drainage laws of the state, general or local, the same shall have precedence in consideration and trial by the court. If other issues also have precedence in the superior court under existing law, the order in which the same shall be heard shall be determined by the court in the exercise of a sound discretion. (1909, c. 442, s. 17; 1911, c. 67, s. 3; 1923, c. 217, s. 2; C. S. 5333.)

§ 156-76. Compensation of board of viewers. —The compensation of the engineer, including his necessary assistants, rodmen, and laborers, and also the compensation of the viewers, shall be fixed by the clerk. In fixing such compensation particularly of the drainage engineer, the clerk shall confer fully with the board of conservation and development and with the petitioners. The compensation to be paid the two members of the board of viewers, other than the engineer, shall not exceed four dollars per day for the time actually employed in the discharge of their duties, and in addition any actual and necessary expenses of travel and subsistence while in the actual discharge of their duties, an itemized report of which shall be submitted and verified. (1909, c. 442, s. 36; 1917, c. 152, ss. 1, 2; 1925, c. 122, s. 4; C. S. 5334.)

§ 156-77. Account of expenses filed.—The engineer and viewers shall keep an accurate account and report to the court the name and number of days each person was employed on the survey and the kind of work he was doing, and any expenses that may have been incurred in going to and from the work, and the cost of any supplies or material that may have been used in making the survey. (1909, c. 442, s. 13; C. S. 5335.)

§ 156-78. Drainage record.—The clerk of the superior court shall provide a suitable book, to be known as the "drainage record," in which he shall transcribe every petition, motion, order, report, judgment, or finding of the board in every drainage transaction that may come before it, in such a manner as to make a complete and continuous record of the case. Copies of all the maps and profiles are to be furnished by the engineer and marked by the clerk "official copies," which shall be kept on file by him in his office, and one other copy shall be pasted or otherwise attached to his record book. (1909, c. 442, s. 18; C. S. 5336.)

Art. 6. Drainage Commissioners.

§ 156-79. Election and organization under original act.—After the drainage district has been declared established, as aforesaid, and the survey and plan therefor approved, the court shall appoint three persons, who shall be designated as the board of drainage commissioners. Such drainage commissioners shall first be elected by the owners of land within the drainage or levee district, or by a majority of same, in such manner as the court shall prescribe. The court shall appoint those receiving a majority of the votes. If any one or more of such proposed commissioners shall not receive the vote of a majority of such landowners the court shall appoint all or the remainder from among those voted for in the election. Any vacancy thereafter occurring shall be filled in like manner. Such three drainage commissioners, when so appointed, shall be immediately created a body corporate under the name and style of "The Board of Drainage Commissioners of ..... District," with the right to hold property and convey the same, to sue and be sued, and shall possess such other powers as usually pertain to corporations. They shall organize by electing from among their number a chairman and a vice-chairman. They shall also elect a secretary, either within or without their body. The treasurer of the county in which the proceeding was instituted shall be ex officio treasurer of such drainage commissioners. Such board of drainage commissioners shall adopt a seal, which they may alter at pleasure. The board of drainage commissioners shall have and possess such powers as are herein granted. (1909, c. 442, s. 19; 1917, c. 152, s. 17; C. S. 5337.)

See also, Local Modification under § 156-56.

§ 156-80. Name of districts.—The name of such drainage district shall constitute a part of its corporate name; for illustration, the board of drainage commissioners of Mecklenburg Drainage District, No. 1. In the naming of a drainage district the clerk of the court, notwithstanding the name given in the petition, shall so change the name as to make it conform to the county within which the district, or the main portion of the district, is located, and such district shall also be designated by number, the number to indicate the number of districts petitioned for in the county. For illustration, the first district organized in Mecklenburg County would be Mecklenburg County Drainage District, No. 1; the name of the second would be Mecklenburg County Drainage District, No. 2; the fifth one organized would be Mecklenburg County Drainage District, No. 5: Provided, that so much of this section as provides for numbering the districts in each county shall not apply to districts in which bonds have been issued and sold prior to the fifth day of March, one thousand nine hundred and seventeen. (1909, c. 442, s. 19; 1917, c. 152, s. 17; C. S. 5338.)

§ 156-81. Election and organization under amended act.—

1. Method of Election.—In the election of drainage commissioners by the owners of land, each landowner shall be entitled to cast the number of votes equaling the number of acres of land owned by him and benefited, as appears by the final report of the viewers. Each landowner may vote for the names of three persons for commissioners. If any person or persons in any district shall own land in any district containing an area greater than one-half of the total area in the district, such owner shall only be permitted to elect two of the drainage commissioners, and a separate election shall be held under the direction of the clerk by the minority landowners, who shall elect one member of the drainage commissioners.

2. Organization.—Immediately after the election of the board of drainage commissioners, and after the members of the board shall be appointed by the clerk, the clerk of the court shall notify each of them in writing to appear at a certain time and place within the county and organize. The clerk of the superior court shall appoint one of the three members as chairman of the board of drainage commissioners, and in doing so he shall consider carefully and impartially the respective qualifications of each of the members for the position.

3. Term of Office.—The term of service of the members of the board of drainage commissioners so elected and appointed shall begin immediately after their organization. One commissioner shall serve for one year, one for two years, and the other for three years, the term to be computed from the first day of October following their organization. The members so serving for one, two, and three years, respectively, shall be designated by the clerk of the court or designated by lot among the members, in the discretion of the clerk. Thereafter each member shall be elected for three years. In the year when the term of any member or members shall expire the clerk of the court shall provide for an election of their successors to be held on the second Monday in August preceding the expiration of their term on the thirtieth day of September. The clerk of the court shall record in the drainage record the date of election, the members elected, and the beginning and expiration of their term of office.

4. Vacancies Filled.—If a vacancy shall occur in the office of any commissioner by death, resignation, or otherwise, the remaining two members are to discharge the necessary duties of the board until the vacancy shall be filled; and if the vacancy shall be in the office of chairman or secretary, the two remaining members may elect a secretary, and the clerk shall appoint one of the two remaining members to act as chairman to hold until the vacancy in the board shall be filled. The clerk shall keep a similar record of any election to fill vacancies, and the member or members shall be elected in like manner as the original members, and shall serve until the expiration of the term of his predecessor. The secretary of the board of drainage commissioners shall promptly notify the clerk of the superior court of any vacancy in the board.

5. Failure to Elect.—If for any reason the clerk of the court shall fail to provide for an election of drainage commissioners on the second Monday in August to succeed those whose terms will expire on the thirtieth day of September, the clerk shall have authority at the most convenient date thereafter to provide for such election, and in the meantime the incumbents shall continue to hold their office as commissioners until their successors are elected and qualified. The term of office of boards of drainage commissioners heretofore elected and appointed shall expire on the thirtieth day of September, nineteen hundred and seventeen, and their successors shall be elected on the second Monday in August, nineteen hundred and seventeen, in the manner provided by law.

6. Meetings.—The board shall meet once each month at a stated time and place during the progress of drainage construction, and more often if necessary. After the drainage work is completed, or at any time, the chairman shall have the power to call special meetings of the board at a certain time and place. The chairman shall also call a meeting at any time upon the written request of the owner of a majority in area of the land in the district.

7. Compensation.—The chairman of the board of drainage commissioners shall receive compensation based on an annual payment of fifty dollars per annum in districts containing less than five thousand acres in the aggregate, but the clerk of the superior court shall be authorized to increase this annual compensation to one hundred dollars if the duties required of the chairman shall appear to justify such increase. In addition, the chairman shall receive his actual and necessary expenses of travel and subsistence, for which he shall file an itemized statement of the amounts actually paid. The remaining two members of the board shall receive a compensation of not exceeding five dollars per day while necessarily engaged in attendance upon meetings of the board, or in the discharge of other necessary duties imposed by the board, and, in addition, shall receive their actual and necessary expenses in attending meetings of the board. The secretary of the board, if other than a member of the board, shall receive such compensation for work actually performed as may be determined by the board. In drainage districts of unusually large area and requiring greater time and attention, the chairman of the board may be paid a greater compensation than one hundred dollars per annum, to be allowed by the clerk of the superior court, based on a petition filed by the board with the clerk, setting forth all the facts necessary for a determination of the matter. All such payments allowed to the chairman and members of the board shall be paid by vouchers upon the treasurer of the district issued in proper form.

8. Application of Section.—The provisions of subsection one of this section with respect to the right to vote for and the manner of election of commissioners shall not apply to districts organized prior to the fifth day of March, one thousand nine hundred and seventeen, but in those districts the landowners shall be entitled to vote as provided by the law prior to that date. The term of office of boards of drainage commissioners in districts organized prior to the date last mentioned, and in which no election of drainage commissioners has been held under this section, shall expire on the thirtieth day of September, nineteen hundred and nineteen, and their successors shall be elected on the second Monday in August, nineteen hundred and nineteen, in the manner provided by this section. If for any reason the clerk of the court shall fail to provide for such election he shall have authority at the most convenient date thereafter to provide for such election, and in the meantime the incumbents shall continue to hold office as commissioners until their successors are elected and qualified. The length of the term of service of commissioners elected hereunder shall be as provided in subsection three of this section. (1917, c. 152, s. 5; 1919, cc. 109, 217; C. S. 5339.)

Local Modification.—Hyde, Mattamuskeet Drainage District: C. S. 5339; Pitt: 1935, c. 469, s. (4a); 1939, c. 350.

§ 156-82. Validation of election of members of drainage commission. — All irregularities caused by failure of any officer whose duty it was to provide for the election of a member or members of board of drainage commissioners of any drainage district, or the failure of any candidate to make a deposit as may be required by law, shall not invalidate such election where the following facts appear affirmatively:

(a) That said election was held at the time and place prescribed by law.

(b) That a ballot box was provided for the ballots cast for drainage commissioner.

(c) That the ballots were canvassed and the results declared by the judge of the general election.

(d) That the candidate receiving the greatest number of votes was declared elected.

(e) That no candidate for election as a member of board of drainage commissioners made any deposit as prescribed by law.

(f) That the candidate receiving the majority votes at said election has already qualified and is acting as such drainage commissioner.

This section shall not apply to any election contested before March 9, 1921. (1921, c. 210; C. S. 5339(a).)

Art. 7. Construction of Improvement.

§ 156-83. Superintendent of construction. — The board of drainage commissioners shall appoint a competent drainage engineer of good repute as superintendent of construction, by and with the approval and recommendation of the board of conservation and development. Such superintendent of construction shall furnish a copy of his monthly and final estimates to the board of conservation and development, in addition to other copies herein provided which shall be filed and preserved. In the event of the death, resignation, or removal of the superintendent of construction, his successor shall be appointed in the same manner. (1909, c. 442, s. 20; 1923, c. 217, s. 3; 1925, c. 122, s. 4; C. S. 5340.)

§ 156-84. Letting contracts. — The board of drainage commissioners shall cause notice to be given for two consecutive weeks in some newspaper published in the county wherein such improvement is located, if such there be, and such additional publication elsewhere as they may deem expedient, of the time and place of letting the work of construction of such improvement, and in such notice they shall specify the approximate amount of work to be done and the time fixed for the completion thereof; and on the date appointed for the letting they, together with the superintendent of construction, shall convene and let to the lowest responsible bidder, either as a whole or in sections, as they may deem most advantageous for the district, the proposed work. No bid shall be entertained that exceeds the estimated cost, except for good and satisfactory reasons it shall be shown that the original estimate was erroneous. They shall have the right to reject all bids and advertise again the work, if in their judgment the interest of the district will be subserved by doing so. The successful bidder shall be required to enter into a contract with the board of drainage commissioners and to execute a bond for the faithful performance of such contract, with sufficient sureties, in favor of the board of drainage commissioners for the use and benefit of the levee or drainage district, in an amount equal to twenty-five per centum of the estimated cost of the work awarded to him. In canvassing bids and letting the contract, the superintendent of construction shall act only in an advisory capacity to the board of drainage commissioners. The contract shall be based on the plans and specifications submitted by the viewers in their final report as confirmed by the court, the original of which shall remain on file in the office of the clerk of the superior court and shall be open to the inspection of all prospective bidders. All bids shall be sealed and shall not be opened except under the authority of the board of drainage commissioners and on the day theretofore appointed for opening the bids. The drainage commissioners shall have power to correct errors and modify the details of the report of the engineer and viewers if, in their judgment, they can increase the efficiency of the drainage plan and afford better drainage to the lands in the district without increasing the estimated cost submitted by the engineer and viewers and confirmed by the court. (1909, c. 442, s. 21; 1911, c. 67, s. 4; C. S. 5341.)

§ 156-85. Monthly estimates for work, and payments thereon; final payment.—The superintendent in charge of construction shall make monthly estimates of the amount of work done, and furnish one copy to the contractor and file the other with the secretary of the board of drainage commissioners; and the commissioners shall, within five days after the filing of such estimate, meet and direct the secretary to draw a warrant in favor of such contractor for ninety per centum of the work done, according to the specifications and contracts; and upon the presentation of such warrant, properly signed by the chairman and secretary, to the treasurer of the drainage fund, he shall pay the amount due thereon. When the work is fully completed and accepted by the superintendent he shall make an estimate for the whole amount due, including the amounts withheld on the previous monthly estimates, which shall be paid from the drainage fund as before provided. (1909, c. 442, s. 22; C. S. 5342.)

§ 156-86. Failure of contractors; reletting. — If any contractor to whom such work has been let shall fail to perform the same according to the terms specified in his contract, action may be had in behalf of the board of drainage commissioners against such contractor and his bond in the superior court for damages sustained by the levee or drainage district, and recovery made against such contractor and his sureties. In such an event the work shall be advertised and relet in the same manner as the original letting. (1909, c. 442, s. 23; 1911, c. 67, s. 5; C. S. 5343.)

§ 156-87. Right to enter upon lands; removal of timber.—In the construction of the work the contractor shall have the right to enter upon the lands necessary for this purpose and the right to remove private or public bridges or fences and to cross private lands in going to or from the work. In case the right of way of the improvement is through timber the owner thereof shall have the right to remove it, if he so desires, before the work of construction begins, and in case it is not removed by the landowner it shall become the property of the contractor and may be removed by him. (1909, c. 442, s. 24; C. S. 5344.)

§ 156-88. Drainage across public or private ways.—Where any public ditch, drain, or watercourse established under the provisions of this subchapter crosses a public highway, the actual cost of constructing the same across the highway or removing old bridges or building new ones shall be paid for from the fund of the drainage district. Wherever any highway within the levee or drainage district shall be beneficially affected by the construction of any improvement or improvements in such district it shall be the duty of the viewers appointed to classify the land to give in their report the amount of benefit to such highway, and notice shall be given by the clerk of the superior court to the State Highway and Public Works Commission as to roads under its supervision, and, as to other roads, to the commissioners of the county where the road is located, of the amount of such assessment, and the commission or county commissioners shall have the right to appear before the court and file objections, the same as any landowner. When it shall become necessary for the drainage commissioners to repair any bridge or construct a new bridge across a highway by reason of enlarging any water-course, or of excavating any canal intersecting such highway, such bridge shall thereafter be maintained by and at the expense of the State Highway and Public Works Commission, or by such other official board or authority as by law shall be required to maintain such highway so intersected.

Where any public canal established under the provisions of the general drainage law shall intersect any private road or cartway the actual cost of constructing a bridge across such canal at such intersection shall be paid for from the funds of the drainage district and constructed under the supervision of the board of drainage commissioners, but the bridge shall thereafter be maintained by and at the expense of the owners of the land exercising the use and control of the private road: Provided, if the private road shall be converted into a public highway the maintenance of the bridge shall devolve upon the State Highway and Public Works Commission or such other authority as by law shall be required to maintain public highways and bridges. (1909, c. 442, s. 25; 1911, c. 67, s. 6; 1917, c. 152, s. 6; C. S. 5345.)

§ 156-89. Drainage across railroads; procedure. —Whenever the engineer and the viewers in charge shall make a survey for the purpose of locating a public levee or drainage district or changing a natural water-course, and the same would cross the right of way of any railroad company, it shall be the duty of the owner in charge of the work to notify the railroad company, by serving written notice upon the agent of such company or its lessee or receiver, that they will meet the company at the place where the proposed ditch, drain, or water-course crosses the right of way of such company, the notice fixing the time of such meeting, which shall not be less than ten days after the service of the same, for the purpose of conferring with the railroad company with relation to the place where and the manner in which such improvement shall cross such right of way. When the time fixed for such conference shall arrive, unless for good cause more time is agreed upon, it shall be the duty of the viewers in charge and the railroad company to agree, if possible, upon the place where and the manner and method in which such improvement shall cross such right of way. If the viewers in charge and the railroad company cannot agree, or if the railroad company shall fail, neglect, or refuse to confer with the viewers, they shall determine the place and manner of crossing the right of way of the railroad company, and shall specify the number and size of openings required, and the damages, if any, to the railroad company, and so specify in their report. The fact that the railroad company is required by the construction of the improvement to build a new bridge or culvert or to enlarge or strengthen an old one shall not be considered as damages to the railroad company. The engineer and viewers shall also assess the benefits that will accrue to the right of way, roadbed, and other property of the company by affording better drainage or a better outlet for drainage, but no benefits shall be assessed because of the increase in business that may come to the road because of the construction of the improvement. The benefits shall be assessed as a fixed sum, determined solely by the physical benefit that its property will receive by the construction of the improvement, and it shall be reported by the viewers as a special assessment, due personally from the railroad company as a special assessment; it may be collected in the manner of an ordinary debt in any court having jurisdiction. (1909, c. 442, s. 26; C. S. 5346.)

§ 156-90. Notice to railroad. — The clerk of the superior court shall have notice served upon the railroad company of the time and place of the meeting to hear and determine the final report of the engineer and viewers, and the railroad company shall have the right to file objections to the report and to appeal from the findings of the board of commissioners in the same manner as any landowner. But such an appeal shall not delay or defeat the construction of the improvement. (1909, c. 442, s. 27; C. S. 5347.)

§ 156-91. Manner of construction across railroad.—

1. Duty of Railroad.—After the contract is let and the actual construction is commenced, if the work is being done with a floating dredge, the superintendent in charge of construction shall notify the railroad company of the probable time at which the contractor will be ready to enter upon the right of way of such railroad and construct the work thereon. It shall be the duty of the railroad to send a representative to view the ground with the superintendent of construction and arrange the exact time at which such work can be most conveniently done. At the time agreed upon the railroad company shall remove its rails, ties, stringers, and such other obstructions as may be necessary to permit the dredge to excavate the channel across its right of way. The work shall be so planned and conducted as to interfere in the least possible manner with the business of the railroad.

2. Utilities Commission to Settle.—If the superintendent of construction and the railroad company shall not be able to agree as to the exact time at which such work can be done, including the time of beginning and the time to be consumed in such work, either party may give written notice thereof to the chairman of the utilities commission of the state, and thereupon the utilities commission shall cause an investigation to be made, and, after hearing both parties, shall fix the time of beginning such work and the time to be consumed in the work of construction, and the final determination of the utilities commission thereon shall be binding upon the superintendent of construction representing the district and the railroad company, and the work shall be done in such time as may be fixed by the utilities commission.

3. Penalty for Delay.—In case the railroad company refuses and fails to remove its track and allow the dredge to construct the work on its right of way, it shall be held as delaying the construction of the improvement, and such company shall be liable to a penalty of twenty-five dollars per day for each day of delay, to be collected by the board of drainage commissioners for the benefit of the drainage district as in the case of other penalties. Such a penalty may be collected in any court having jurisdiction, and shall inure to the benefit of the drainage district.

4. Payment of Expense.—Within thirty days after the work is completed an itemized bill for actual expenses incurred by the railroad company for opening its tracks shall be made and presented to the superintendent of construction of the drainage improvement. Such bill, however, shall not include the cost of putting in a new bridge or strengthening or enlarging an old one. The superintendent of construction shall audit this bill and, if found correct, approve the same and file it with the secretary of the board of drainage commissioners. The commissioners shall deduct from this bill the cost of the excavation done by the dredge on the right of way of the railroad company at the contract price, and pay the difference, if any, to the railroad company. (1909, c. 442, s. 28; 1911, c. 67, s. 7; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; 1941, c. 97, s. 1; C. S. 5348.)

§ 156-92. Control and repairs by drainage commissioners. — Whenever any improvement constructed under this subchapter is completed it shall be under the control and supervision of the board of drainage commissioners. It shall be the duty of the board to keep the levee, ditch, drain, or water-course in good repair, and for this purpose they may levy an assessment on the lands benefited by the construction of such improvement in the same manner and in the same proportion as the original assessments were made, and the fund that is collected shall be used for repairing and maintaining the ditch, drain, or water-course in perfect order: Provided, however, that if any repairs are made necessary by the act or negligence of the owner of any land through which such improvement is constructed or by the act or negligence of his agent or employee, or if the same is caused by the cattle, hogs, or other stock of such owner, employee, or agent, then the cost thereof shall be assessed and levied against the lands of the owner alone, to be collected by proper suit instituted by the drainage commissioners. It shall be unlawful for any person to injure or damage or obstruct or build any bridge, fence, or floodgate in such a way as to injure or damage any levee, ditch, drain, or water-course constructed or improved under the provisions of this sub-chapter, and any person causing such injury shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof may be fined in any sum not exceeding twice the damage or injury done or caused. (1909, c. 442, s. 29; C. S. 5349.)

§ 156-93. Construction of lateral drains.—The owner of any land that has been assessed for the cost of the construction of any ditch, drain, or water-course, as herein provided, shall have the right to use the ditch, drain, or water-course as an outlet for lateral drains from such land; and if the land be of such elevation that the owner cannot secure proper drainage through and over his own land, or if the land is separated from the ditch, drain, or water-course by the land of another or others, and the owner thereof shall be unable to agree with such others as to the terms and conditions on which he may enter their lands and construct the drain or ditch, he may file his ancillary petition in such pending proceeding to the court, and the procedure shall be as now provided by law. (1909, c. 442, s. 30; 1915, c. 43, s. 1; 1917, c. 152, s. 3; C. S. 5350.)

Art. 8. Assessments and Bond Issue.

§ 156-94. Total cost for three years ascertained. —After the classification of lands and the ratio of assessments of the different classes to be made thereon has been confirmed by the court, the board of drainage commissioners shall ascertain the total cost of the improvement, including damages awarded to be paid to owners of land, all costs and incidental expenses, and also including an amount sufficient to pay the necessary expenses of maintaining the improvement for a period of three years after the completion of the work of construction, not exceeding ten per centum of the estimated actual cost of constructing the drainage works or the contract price thereof if such contract has not been awarded, and after deducting therefrom any special assessments made against any railroad or highway, and, thereupon, the board of drainage commissioners, under the hand of the chairman and secretary of the board, shall certify to the clerk of the superior court the total cost, ascertained as aforesaid; and the certificate shall be forthwith recorded in the drainage record and open to inspection of any landowner in the district. (1909, c. 442, s. 31; 1911, c. 67, s. 8; 1923, c. 217, s. 4; C. S. 5351.)

§ 156-95. Assessment and payment; notice of bond issue.—If the total cost of the improvement is less than an average of twenty-five cents per acre on all the land in the district, the board of drainage commissioners shall forthwith assess the lands in the district therefor, in accordance with their classification, and said assessment shall be collected in one installment, by the same officer and in the same manner as state and county taxes are collected, and payable at the same time. In case the total cost exceeds an average of twenty-five cents per acre on all lands in the district, the board of drainage commissioners shall give notice for three weeks by publication in some newspaper published in a county in which the district, or some part thereof, is situated, if there be any such newspaper, and also by posting a written or printed notice at the door of the courthouse and at five conspicuous places in the district, reciting that they propose to issue bonds for the payment of the total cost of the improvement, giving the amount of bonds to be issued, the rate of interest that they are to bear, and the time when payable. Any landowner in the district not wanting to pay interest on the bonds may, within fifteen days after the publication of such notice, pay to the county treasurer the full amount for which his land is liable, to be ascertained from the classification sheet and the certificate of the board showing the total cost of the improvement, and have his lands released from liability to be assessed for the improvement; but such land shall continue liable for any future assessment for maintenance or for any increased assessment authorized under the law. (1909, c. 442, s. 32; 1911, c. 67, s. 9; C. S. 5352.)

§ 156-96. Failure to pay deemed consent to bond issue.—Every person owning land in the district who shall fail to pay to the county treasurer the full amount for which his land is liable, as aforesaid, within the time above specified, shall be deemed as consenting to the issuance of drainage bonds, and in consideration of the right to pay his proportion in installments, he hereby waives his right of defense to the payment of any assessments which may be levied for the payment of bonds, because of any irregularity, illegality, or defect in the proceedings prior to this time, except in case of an appeal, as hereinbefore provided, which is not affected by this waiver. The term "person" as used in this subchapter includes any firm, company, or corporation. (1909, c. 442, s. 33; 1911, c. 67, s. 10; C. S. 5353.)

§ 156-97. Bonds issued.—At the expiration of fifteen days after publication of notice of bond issue the board of drainage commissioners may issue bonds of the drainage district for an amount equal to the total cost of the improvement, less such amounts as shall have been paid in in cash to the county treasurer. It shall be optional with the board of drainage commissioners in the issuing of bonds to issue serial bonds in denominations of not less than one hundred dollars nor more than one thousand dollars, bearing not more than six per cent interest from date of issue, payable semiannually. The first annual installment of principal shall fall due not less than three years nor more than six years after date thereof, and each annual installment of principal shall not be less than five per cent nor more than ten per cent of the total bonds authorized and issued. (1909, c. 442, s. 34; 1911, c. 67, s. 11; 1917, c. 152, s. 12; 1923, c. 217, s. 5; C. S. 5354.)

§ 156-98. Form of bonds; excess assessment.—All bonds authorized and issued shall be signed by the chairman and secretary of the board of drainage commissioners and the corporate seal of the district affixed thereto, and the interest coupons shall be authenticated by the facsimile signature of the secretary, and both the principal and interest coupons shall be payable at some bank or trust company to be designated by the board of drainage commissioners and incorporated in the body of the bond. The form of the bond shall be authorized by the board of drainage commissioners or by the board and the purchaser of the bonds jointly, at the option of the board.

All bonds of reclamation districts shall have that fact noted upon the face of the bond, either by stamping or printing the same thereon. All bonds of improvement districts shall also have that fact noted upon their face.

For the purpose of meeting any possible deficit in the collection of annual drainage assessments or any deficit arising out of unforeseen contingencies there shall be levied, assessed and collected during each year when either the interest or principal or both interest and principal on the outstanding bonds shall be due, an assessment as will yield ten per cent more than the total of interest and principal due in such years; that is to say, for every one hundred dollars of principal and interest, or either, due in any one year, there shall be levied, assessed and collected a sufficient drainage assessment to yield one hundred and ten dollars for such year. When this excess of drainage tax so levied, assessed and collected shall accumulate so that the aggregate surplus in the hands of the treasurer of the district shall amount to more than fifteen per cent of the total principal of the bonds of the district outstanding and unpaid, then such surplus above fifteen per cent thereof may be available for expenditure by the board of drainage commissioners in the maintenance and upkeep of the drainage work in such district in the manner provided by law: After all the drainage assessments have been collected except the last assessment, if the surplus which has accumulated amounts to more than five per cent of the total issue of bonds of the district, then and in such event the board of drainage commissioners may in their discretion apply such excess above five per cent toward the reduction of the total amount embraced in the last assessment, reducing the same pro rata as to each tract of land embraced in the district, and having regard to the classification, to the end that such reduction shall be fairly and justly made. As to such surplus as shall accumulate in the hands of the treasurer of the district over and above all obligations of the district which may be due, the treasurer is hereby directed to deposit same in some solvent bank or banks at the highest rate of interest obtainable therefor, and the said treasurer shall be authorized, if he deems it necessary, to demand satisfactory security for such deposits; but the said treasurer shall reserve the right to demand a repayment at any time upon giving not exceeding thirty days notice thereof. Whereas the proceeds of the first drainage assessment may not be collected and in the hands of the treasurer of the district prior to the maturity of the first and second semi-annual installments of interest upon the issue of bonds, the treasurer of the district is hereby directed to pay the interest coupons first maturing and also the interest coupons next maturing, if necessary, out of funds in his hands for the purpose of maintaining the improvement for the period of three years after the completion of the work or construction. As a surplus fund with the treasurer arising out of the annual additional assessment of ten per centum shall accumulate in any one year in excess of fifteen per centum of the total principal of the bonds of the district outstanding and unpaid, as herein provided, the treasurer shall transfer in each of such years such surplus fund to the fund for maintaining the improvement after completion, as a reimbursement of the fund formerly withdrawn therefrom for the payment of the first and second installments of interest coupons until such reimbursement shall be fully made. The treasurer shall thereafter keep separate accounts of the proceeds of such additional ten per cent assessment remaining each year after the payment of all maturing obligations, and also a separate account of the funds provided for maintaining the improvement for the period of three years after completion of improvement and all payments therefrom and reimbursements thereto. (1917, c. 152, s. 13; 1923, c. 217, s. 6; 1927, c. 98, s. 5; C. S. 5355.)

§ 156-99. Application of funds; holder's remedy.—The commissioners may sell these bonds at not less than par and devote the proceeds to the payment for the work as it progresses and to the payment of the other expenses of the district provided for in this subchapter. The proceeds from such bonds shall be for the exclusive use of the levee or drainage district specified on their face, and shall be numbered by the board of drainage commissioners and recorded in the drainage record, which record shall set out specifically the lands embraced in the district on which the tax has not been paid in full, which land is to be assessed as hereinafter provided. If any installment of principal or interest represented by the bonds shall not be paid at the time and in the manner when the same shall become due and payable, and such default shall continue for a period of six months, the holders of such bonds upon which default has been made may have a right of action against the drainage district or the board of drainage commissioners of the district, wherein the court may issue a writ of mandamus against the drainage district, its officers, including the tax collector and treasurer, directing the levying of a tax or special assessment as herein provided, and the collection of same, in such sum as may be necessary to meet any unpaid installments of principal and interest and cost of action; and such other remedies are hereby vested in the holders of such bonds in default as may be authorized by law; and the right of action is hereby vested in the holders of such bonds upon which default has been made authorizing them to institute suit against any officer on his official bond for failure to perform any duty imposed by the provisions of this subchapter. The official bonds of the tax collector and county treasurer shall be liable for the faithful performance of the duties herein assigned them. Such bonds may be increased by the board of county commissioners. (1909, c. 442, s. 34; 1911, c. 67, s. 11; 1911, c. 205; 1923, c. 217, s. 7; C. S. 5356.)

Local Modification.—Brunswick, Columbus: 1929, c. 299.

§ 156-100. Sale of bonds. — In making the sale of drainage bonds the board of drainage commissioners shall prepare a notice of such sale containing the usual and appropriate information regarding the terms and provisions of the bonds, and shall publish the same for at least a period of two weeks in at least one paper of general circulation published within the state and in at least one other newspaper of large circulation among the buyers of bonds, in which they shall invite sealed bids from prospective purchasers to be opened on a certain day, and may require a cash deposit to accompany all bids, and shall reserve the right to reject any and all bids. In such notice the commissioners may hold in reserve information as to the date when the first installment of principal shall fall due, the annual installments of principal to be paid, the number of years within which the serial bonds are to be paid, the form of the bonds, and the name of the bank or trust company at which the interest coupons and the installments of principal are to be made payable, and shall state that the information and data so withheld may subsequently be agreed upon between the drainage commissioners and the purchaser of the bonds; or the board of drainage commissioners in their advertisement asking bids may make optional propositions in the respects above recited, inviting bids as to each kind of bond so proposed. The board of drainage commissioners shall accept the highest bona fide bid for such bonds and issue and sell the same accordingly, provided the highest bid shall equal or exceed the par value of the bonds with any accrued interest thereon. If no satisfactory bid shall be received, the board of drainage commissioners may readvertise the bonds for sale in the manner above provided, or they may accept any private bid for the bonds at not less than their par value, with any accrued interest thereon. The board of drainage commissioners shall in good faith make diligent effort to sell the bonds at a price not less than their par value, with accrued interest. Bonds of any drainage district heretofore sold or contracted to be sold by the local government commission in the manner provided by the local Government Act, either alone or in conjunction with the board of drainage commissioners, shall be deemed to have been lawfully sold or contracted to be sold. (1909, c. 442, s. 34; 1911, c. 67, s. 11; 1917, c. 152, s. 15; 1941, c. 142; C. S. 5357.)

§ 156-101. Refunding bonds issued.—In any case where the board of drainage commissioners of any drainage district have issued or may issue bonds for the purpose of constructing or completing the drainage works in such district, the payment of which at maturity would in the judgment of the board of drainage commissioners be an unreasonable burden on the owners of the lands in such district assessed for the payment of such bonds and interest, or if it shall appear for other good and substantial reasons that the welfare of the district and the owners of lands therein would be promoted thereby, the board of drainage commissioners shall have the power to refund such bonds, or any part thereof, and issue new bonds equal to the amount of bonds outstanding and unpaid, or any part thereof. The new or refunding bonds shall bear a rate of interest not exceeding six per cent, payable semiannually, and shall be divided into such annual installments not exceeding ten per cent and not less than five per cent of the outstanding bonds so refunded. The new assessments shall be levied and collected with which to pay the principal and interest on the bonds in the manner provided by law. The first installment of principal on the bonds so refunded may be made payable at a certain date in the future not exceeding six years from the date of the refunding bonds, and in the meantime annual assessments shall be levied and collected for the payment of the interest. (1917, c. 152, s. 14; C. S. 5358.)

§ 156-102. Drainage bonds received as deposits. —The state treasurer is authorized to receive drainage bonds issued by drainage districts in North Carolina as deposits from banks, insurance companies, and other corporations required by law to make deposits with the state treasurer: Provided, that the attorney general shall have approved the form of such bonds. (1917, c. 152, s. 7; C. S. 5359.)

Local Modification.—Edgecombe, Pitt: 1937, c. 334.

§ 156-103. Assessment rolls prepared. — The board of drainage commissioners shall immediately prepare the assessment rolls or drainage tax lists, giving thereon the names of the owners of land in the district and a brief description of the several tracts of land assessed and the amount of assessment against each tract of land. The first of these assessment rolls shall be due and payable on the first Monday in September following the date of such bonds, and shall provide funds sufficient for the payment of interest on such bonds for one year. The second assessment roll shall make like provision for the payment of the interest for one year. Annual assessment rolls shall thereafter provide funds sufficient to meet the interest for one year on the issue of bonds outstanding. During the year previous to maturity of any annual installment due upon the principal of said bonds there shall be an assessment roll sufficient to provide funds for the payment of both the interest for one year and for the payment of the annual installment due upon the principal of the bonds. Such annual assessments shall be made from year to year to provide funds to meet the interest for one year and the annual installment of the principal due upon the bonds outstanding, until the whole principal due upon the outstanding bonds and the interest thereon shall be fully paid. In making up such assessment rolls there shall be included ten per cent additional as provided in § 156-98. Each of the assessment rolls shall specify the time when collectible and be numbered in their order, and the amounts assessed against the several tracts of land shall be in accordance with the benefits received, as shown by the classification and ratio of assessments made by the viewers. These assessment rolls shall be signed by the chairman of the board of drainage commissioners and by the secretary of the board. There shall be four copies of each of the assessment rolls, one of which shall be filed with the drainage record, one shall be filed with the chairman of the board of drainage commissioners, who shall carefully preserve the same, one shall be preserved by the clerk of the court, without change or mutilation, for the purposes of reference or comparison, and one shall be delivered to the sheriff, or other county tax collector, after the clerk of the superior court has appended thereto an order directing the collection of such assessments, and the assessments, shall thereupon have the force and effect of a judgment as in the case of state and county taxes. If the drainage commission which has assessed the lands of a drainage district prior to March 11th, 1919, shall file the aforesaid four copies of assessment rolls within six months from April 1st, 1919, the filing of such assessment rolls shall have the same legal effect as if filed strictly in accordance with this section immediately after the preparation of such assessment rolls. The state having authorized the creation of drainage districts and having delegated thereto the power to levy a valid tax in furtherance of the public purposes thereof, it is hereby declared that drainage districts heretofore or hereafter organized under existing law or any subsequent amendments thereto are created for a public use and are political subdivisions of the state. (1911, c. 67, s. 12; 1917, c. 152, s. 9; 1919, c. 282, s. 1; 1921, c. 7; 1923, c. 217, s. 8; C. S. 5360.)

§ 156-104. Application of amendatory provisions of certain sections; amendment or reformation of proceedings.—All the provisions of chapter 217 of the Public Laws of 1923 amendatory of §§ 156-71, 156-75, 156-83, 156-94, 156-97, 156-98, 156-99 and 156-103 shall apply to all drainage districts which shall hereafter be organized, and also to all districts where proceedings for the organization thereof have been instituted and are now pending and where the bonds have not been actually issued, sold, and delivered to the purchaser thereof. If it shall be necessary to amend or reform any of the pleadings or orders made by the court or any action taken by the board of drainage commissioners in any drainage proceedings instituted and pending before March 6, 1923, full authority is granted to make any such amendments, to the end that the said drainage proceedings shall conform with the provisions hereof. (1923, c. 217, s. 9; C. S. 5360(a).)

Local Modification.—Hyde: C. S. 5360(a); 1923, c. 217, s. 10.

§ 156-105. Assessment lien; collection; sale of land.—The assessments shall constitute a first and paramount lien, second only to state and county taxes, upon the lands assessed for the payment of the bonds and interest thereon as they become due, and shall be collected in the same manner and by the same officers as the state and county taxes are collected. The assessments shall be due and payable on the first Monday in September each year, and if the same shall not be paid in full by the thirty-first day of December following, it shall be the duty of the sheriff or tax collector to sell the lands so delinquent. The sale of lands for failure to pay such assessments shall be made at the courthouse door of the county in which the lands are situated, between the hours of ten o'clock in the forenoon and four o'clock in the afternoon of any date except Sunday or another legal holiday, which may be designated by the Board of Drainage Commissioners. After any such sale date has been designated by the Board of Drainage Commissioners, if for any necessary cause the sale cannot be made on that date, the sale may be continued from day to day for not exceeding four days, or the lands may be re-advertised and sold on any day which the Board of Drainage Commissioners may or shall designate during the same hours and without any order being obtained therefor during the same calendar year. Nothing in this section shall be construed to require any order from any court for any sale or resale held hereunder. The existing general tax law in force when sales are made for delinquent assessments shall have application in redeeming lands so sold; and in all other respects, except as herein or otherwise modified or amended, the existing law as to the collection of state and county taxes shall apply to the collection of such drainage assessments. No bid at any sale shall be received unless sufficient in amount to discharge all the drainage assessments and other charges due by the delinquent lands or owner thereof, together with all costs and expenses of sale. If no sufficient bid be received, the board of drainage commissioners of the district shall be deemed the purchaser in its corporate capacity at a sum sufficient to pay all assessments which are due and costs as above stated, and shall be entitled to receive a certificate of purchase and deed in the manner provided by law for purchasers at tax sales. The board of drainage commissioners shall only be required to pay to the sheriff the costs and expenses of sale before receiving a certificate of purchase. The board of drainage commissioners of the district in their corporate capacity shall be in like position and have the same rights and be subject to the same duties as the purchaser of lands at any tax sale under the general law. If the board of drainage commissioners shall have been the purchaser of lands so sold, the amount paid in redemption by the owner, or any person having an estate therein or lien thereon, shall include the sum bid therefor plus the penalty. The board of drainage commissioners shall pay to the sheriff or tax collector the amount representing their bid at the sale of said lands before they shall be entitled to receive a deed therefor, which the sheriff shall pay to the treasurer of the drainage district in the same manner as other funds received by him. The board of drainage commissioners, after acquiring a deed for said lands, may hold the same as an asset of the district, and shall be liable for the payment of all drainage assessments and State and county taxes accruing after the sale at which the district was a bidder, and in all respects be deemed the owner of said lands and subject to the same privileges and liabilities as any other landowner, including the right to convey the said lands for a consideration and pay the proceeds of said sale to the treasurer of the district, which may be distributed by the drainage commissioners for the benefit of the district in the same manner as other district funds.

If any sheriff or tax collector failed for any reason to collect drainage assessments upon lands in any drainage districts due in one thousand nine hundred and seventeen, or any subsequent years, and further failed to make valid sales of the lands so delinquent in the payment of such assessments, then and in such event the existing sheriff or tax collector is hereby authorized and directed to proceed to collect such unpaid drainage assessments, with interest thereon from the dates when such assessments respectively became due, and in default of payment being made he is further authorized to make sales of such lands as may be in default at any time hereafter, at the times and in the manner authorized by law as amended herein; and the purchaser at said sales shall acquire title to such lands in the manner provided by law. If the sheriff or tax collector in office at the time such assessments were in default has since died or gone out of office, the powers herein given shall be exercised by the existing sheriff or tax collector.

The one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one amendment to this section shall have the same force and effect from and after April thirteenth, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one, as if it had been ratified and enacted prior to the first day of January, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine, and no sale of drainage lands held under the provisions of section five thousand three hundred sixty-one shall be deemed or declared void by reason of the fact that they may not have been held on the day specified in section five thousand three hundred sixty-one of the Consolidated Statutes prior to this amendment. (1911, c. 67, s. 12; 1917, c. 152, s. 9; Pub. Loc. 1923, c. 88, ss. 3, 4, 5; 1931, c. 273; C. S. 5361.)

Local Modification.—Franklin, Hyde, Nash, Wilson: Pub. Loc. 1923, c. 88.

§ 156-106. Assessment not collectible out of other property of delinquent. — Only the land assessed in the drainage proceeding shall be liable for the drainage tax or assessment, and no other property of the landowner shall or may be sold for said drainage tax or assessment: Provided, that this section shall not apply to any drainage bond sold and delivered prior to March 7, 1927, or to any litigation pending at that time. (1919, c. 282, s. 2; 1927, c. 139; C. S. 5362.)

Local Modification.—Cumberland, Robeson: 1927, c. 139, s. 1½.

§ 156-107. Sheriff in good faith selling property for assessment not liable for irregularity.—The sheriff who executes upon property for the collection of drainage assessments under the provisions of this article shall not be liable either civilly or criminally if he shall sell such property in good faith, even though such sale is irregular or for any cause illegal. (1919, c. 282, s. 4; C. S. 5363.)

§ 156-108. Receipt books prepared. — The clerk of the superior court in each county where one or more drainage districts have been established shall be required to have prepared annually during the month of August a form of receipt, with appropriate stubs attached and properly bound, for the drainage assessments due on each tract of land as recited in the assessment rolls. This bound book of tax receipts or bills shall be indorsed "Drainage assessments of the (here give the name of the district) for the county of....., delivered to the sheriff or tax collector as of the first Monday in September, 19.., for collection as required by law," and the same indorsement shall be printed at the top of each tax bill or blank receipt. Each tax bill or blank receipt shall contain a blank space for the name of the owner of the property, the amount of the annual drainage tax, the amount of maintenance tax, if any, and a receipt at the bottom of the same, followed by a blank line for the signature of the tax collector. This bound book of tax bills or receipts, with the blanks duly filled in, shall be delivered to the sheriff or tax collector on the first Monday of September of each year. The necessary cost of printing and binding such book of tax bills or receipts and the filling in of the same shall be a proper charge against such drainage district and shall be paid by the board of drainage commissioners (1917, c. 152, s. 9; 1919, c. 208, s. 2; C. S. 5364.)

§ 156-109. Receipt books where lands in two or more counties.—Where any drainage district which has been established contains lands located in a county or counties other than the county in which the district was established, the clerk of the superior court of the county in which the district was established shall have prepared annually during the month of August a form of tax bills or receipts, with appropriate stubs attached, covering all the lands in the drainage district located in such other county or counties, and in the form herein provided for the county in which the district has been established, and have the same substantially bound in book form. He shall also fill in the blanks of such tax receipts ready for the signature of the collector. On a page in such bound book after the tax bills or receipts there shall be appended an order directed to the sheriff or tax collector in the county in which such lands are located, which shall be in substantially the following form: State of North Carolina—County of ..... The Sheriff or Tax Collector of ..... County: This is to certify that the foregoing tax bills or blank receipts embrace the drainage assessments made on certain lands in the county of ....., which are located in and are a part of (here insert the name of the drainage district), which district was established in the county of .... These assessments are due on the first Monday of September, 19.., and must be paid and collected within the time required by law. You will make monthly settlements of your collections with the treasurer of ..... county, being the county in which the district was established, and in all other respects you will discharge your duties as sheriff or tax collector as required by law. In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and official seal, this .... day of ....., 19.....

Clerk Superior Court .....County.

Thereupon such drainage assessments in such county shall have the force and effect of a judgment upon the lands so assessed, as in the case of state and county taxes, and shall in all other respects be as valid assessments as those levied upon lands in the county in which the district was established. The auditor for drainage districts herein authorized shall also examine the records and accounts of the sheriff of such county. In the establishment and administration of the drainage districts the clerk of the superior court, the county treasurer, and the chairman of the board of drainage commissioners shall have jurisdiction over the lands and the collection of drainage assessments in the county or counties other than the county in which the district was established to the same extent as in the county where such district was established: Provided, that in those counties which do not have a county treasurer, then the auditor provided for in this subchapter shall perform the duties required by this section for the county treasurer. (1917, c. 152, s. 11; C. S. 5365.)

§ 156-110. Authority to collect arrears.—If any sheriff or tax collector was authorized to collect drainage assessments in any year prior to 1917, and failed to collect any part of such drainage assessments, and is now out of office, or is still holding the office of sheriff or tax collector, then and in such event such sheriff or tax collector, regardless of the expiration of his term of office, is hereby authorized and directed to proceed to the collection of such unpaid drainage assessments, and in default of payment being made, he is further authorized to make sales of such lands as may be in default at the times and in the manner authorized by law during the year one thousand nine hundred and seventeen, one thousand nine hundred and eighteen, or one thousand nine hundred and nineteen. (1917, c. 152, s. 9; C. S. 5366.)

§ 156-111. Sheriff to make monthly settlements; penalty.—The sheriff or tax collector shall be required to make settlements with the county treasurer on the first day of each month of all collections of drainage assessments for the preceding month, and to pay over to the treasurer the money so collected, for which the treasurer shall execute an appropriate receipt, to the end that the treasurer may have funds in hand to meet the payments of interest and principal due upon the outstanding bonds as they mature. If any sheriff or tax collector shall fail to comply with the law for the collection of drainage assessments, or in making payments thereof to the treasurer as provided by law, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and, upon conviction, shall be subject to fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court, and he shall likewise be liable in a civil action for all damages which may accrue either to the board of drainage commissioners or to the holder of the bonds, to either or both of whom a right of action is given. (1911, c. 67, s. 12; 1917, c. 152, s. 9; C. S. 5367.)

§ 156-112. Duty of treasurer to make payment; penalty.—It shall be the duty of the county treasurer, and without any previous order from the board of drainage commissioners, to provide and pay the installments of interest at the time and place as evidenced by the coupons attached to the bonds, and also to pay the annual installments of the principal due on the bonds at the time and place as evidenced by the bonds. The county treasurer shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and subject, upon conviction, to fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court, if he shall wilfully fail to make prompt payments of the interest and principal of the bonds, and he shall likewise be liable in a civil action for all damages which may accrue either to the board of drainage commissioners or to the holder of such bonds, to either or both of whom a right of action is hereby given. (1911, c. 67, s. 12; C. S. 5368.)

§ 156-113. Fees for collection.—The fee allowed the sheriff or tax collector for collecting the drainage tax as hereinbefore prescribed shall be two per cent of the amount collected, and the fee allowed the treasurer for disbursing the revenue obtained from the sale of drainage bonds shall be one per cent of the amount disbursed: Provided, that no fee shall be allowed the sheriff or tax collector or county treasurer for collecting or receiving the revenue obtained from the sale of the bonds hereinbefore provided for, nor for disbursing the revenue raised for paying off such bonds. (1911, c. 67, s. 13; 1925, c. 271, s. 1; C. S. 5369.)

Local Modification.—Pitt: 1925, c. 271, s. 2.

§ 156-114. Conveyance of land; change in assessment roll; procedure.—1. Status of Land Fixed.—The boundaries of lands as surveyed and mapped, the ownership thereof, and the classification and assessment thereof as appears in the final report and map and upon the assessment roll, shall be and remain as of the time when the district was established and the final report of the board of viewers was approved by the court. No conveyance or devise of land or devolution by inheritance after the petition has been filed or the owner thereof has been served with the original summons, either by personal service or by publication, shall affect the status or liability of such land as a part of such drainage district, except as herein provided.

2. Conveyance before Final Report.—If the owner of any lands included in such district shall, after the filing of the petition, and after being served with the original summons and before the approval of the final report, convey the whole or any part of such lands, or the title thereto shall be otherwise changed, then and in such event the grantor and grantee or new owner, or either, may file a petition in an ancillary proceeding before the clerk of the superior court setting forth the facts, with a description of the lands conveyed either in part or the entire body of land, together with a description of the land excepted and not conveyed. If the grantor or grantee or new owner, in whole or in part, file such petition, the other not so joining shall be served with notice of same. The clerk may require the petitioner to attach to the petition a map showing the boundaries of the entire body of land as it appears in the record of the proceedings, and also showing the part conveyed. If the ownership of such land has been changed by devise or inheritance, or any joint ownership has been changed by partition, such new owner may file a petition as herein provided. Such petition shall conclude with a prayer that the grantee or new owner be made a party to the proceeding. The court after a hearing may make the grantee or new owner a party to the drainage proceeding and shall certify to the engineer and viewers a description of the land so conveyed or held by the new owner, with directions to verify the boundaries and to classify the land to the same extent as if the grantee was the original party. Any part of such lands not so conveyed shall be and remain a part of the district.

3. Conveyance after district established.—After the district shall be established, the lands classified, the final report approved, and the assessment roll filed, no conveyance of any land in the district shall effect or change the existing status or liability of such land as to assessment charges or otherwise, except in the manner herein defined. When the title and ownership of any tract of land embraced in the district have been changed or vested in others by grant, devise, or inheritance, or by partition between joint owners, subsequent to the establishment of the district, the assessment roll may be amended in the following manner: The grantor and grantee, or the new owners, may file a petition with the chairman of the board of drainage commissioners alleging that the ownership of the land has changed, and the manner thereof, in whole or in part. If the whole body of land as appears in the final report or on the assessment roll has changed ownership, a general description consistent with such final report and map shall be sufficient. If the ownership of the body of land has changed only as to part thereof, the petition shall contain a description of the part thereof claimed by the new owners, and the number of acres and the classifications, or the several classes if it be in more than one class, and also a description of that part of the land the title to which remains in the original owner, with the number of acres and with the classification and the several classes if it contains more than one class of land. The petition shall so describe the land and the number of acres in each class as to that part of which the ownership has changed as to maintain the number of acres originally assessed, and the class or classes in which the same has been assessed, and the chairman of the board of drainage commissioners may require the petitioners to have the lands surveyed, and submit a map if the same shall be necessary.

4. Duty of chairman of drainage commissioners and clerk.—The chairman of the board of drainage commissioners shall present this petition to the clerk of the superior court at any time thereafter, not later than the first Monday in July following. It shall be the duty of the clerk to examine and verify the facts set forth in the petition, and particularly to determine if the number of acres assessed and the classes thereof against the new owners added to the number of acres and the classes assessed against that part of the land, the title to which has not changed, shall equal the total number of acres and the classes so assessed as appear against such entire body of land in the final report and assessment roll. If the clerk shall be so satisfied, he shall enter an order or decree changing the original assessment roll, or the assessment roll as theretofore amended, by adding the name of the new owner with the number of acres assessed in each class, and by amending the number of acres assessed and the classes thereof against the original owner as appears on the original assessment roll or assessment roll as theretofore amended. It shall be the duty of the clerk after such order to make such changes in the assessment roll. It shall be the duty of the clerk of the superior court in making changes in the original assessment roll from time to time to observe and maintain the total number of acres in each class, to the end that the revenue produced from the annual assessment shall not be thereby diminished. The chairman of the board of drainage commissioners, instead of presenting to the clerk of the court each petition of landowners separately, may combine a number of petitions and present the same to the court at one and the same time. The first Monday in July in each year is hereby set apart as a special day on which petitions for changing the assessment roll may be submitted, at which time the clerk shall hear all petitions not theretofore submitted.

5. Failure of chairman of board to act.—If the chairman of the board of drainage commissioners shall fail to act when any petition shall be submitted to him as herein provided, or the chairman or any member of the board shall fail to discharge any duty imposed by this section or any other provision of the general drainage law, it is hereby made the duty of the clerk of the superior court, either independently or upon the request of any landowner in the district, to cite such chairman or member to appear before him upon a certain day and show cause why he should not be removed from office, and unless good cause be shown, it shall be the duty of the clerk to remove the chairman or any member of the board of drainage commissioners and to certify his action, to the end that another member may be elected according to law. If the failure of the chairman or any member of the board of drainage commissioners to discharge such duty shall be wilful, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be punished by fine or imprisonment, or both, in the discretion of the court.

6. When owner may file petition with clerk.—If the grantor and grantee, or all those claiming to have acquired title to any body of land on the assessment roll and whose assessment will be affected, cannot agree upon joinder in a petition to the chairman of the board of drainage commissioners, or if the said chairman fails within a reasonable time to discharge his duty by presenting the petition to the court, then either party interested in the tract of land as it appears on the assessment roll may file a petition with the clerk of the superior court setting forth the facts as to the change in ownership and title of such land, with the description of the entire tract of land and the number of acres in each class, together with a description of that part of the land as to which the ownership has changed, with the number of acres in each class, and pray the court to order that the assessment roll be amended in accordance with the title and interest of the several owners. At the time of filing the petition a summons shall issue to the other parties interested in the tract of land to show cause, on a day certain, why the prayer of the petition should not be granted. Upon the return day the clerk of the court shall hear all the evidence, find the facts, and enter up a judgment directing the appropriate amendment to the assessment roll. It shall be the duty of the clerk to amend the assessment roll in accordance with his judgment.

7. Effect of change in assessment roll.—No judgment or amendment of the assessment roll shall be valid unless the number of acres and the classes assessed against the original and new owners shall equal the area and classification as contained in the tract of land as it appears on the original assessment roll. This petition may be presented to the court at any time, but the first Monday in July in each year is hereby designated as the day upon which all petitions for amendments to the assessment roll may be submitted. Any amendments to the assessment roll ordered after the last day of August in each year shall not become effective until the first day of September the following year, and the assessment roll as it appears on the first day of September of each year shall constitute the assessment roll to be delivered to the sheriff on the first Monday in September, and he shall collect the drainage assessments as they appear thereon without regard to any changes in title or ownership or any changes in the assessment roll made by the court after the thirty-first day of August. All amendments sought to be made to the assessment roll shall have reference to the assessment roll as it appears at the time the amendment is sought, which shall be either the original assessment roll or as amended; but it shall be the duty of the clerk of the superior court to examine frequently the assessment roll as amended, and before the same shall be further amended, and make certain that the aggregate number of acres in each class as appeared on the original assessment roll shall not be reduced, nor the aggregate annual assessments reduced. Any amendments ordered shall be made on the assessment roll and become due in the following September, and on all subsequent assessment rolls which have not become due or collectible.

8. Clerk to prepare new assessment rolls.—It shall be the duty of the chairman and the secretary of the board of drainage commissioners of the district to render to the clerk of the court any clerical assistance involved in changes in the assessment rolls, but the primary duty and responsibility in making such amendments shall remain with the clerk of the superior court, and he shall be held liable for any error or omission which may work a loss to the district or the bondholders. If such amendments to the assessment rolls shall make necessary the preparation of new assessment rolls, the clerk of the superior court shall be required to prepare such new assessment rolls with the clerical assistance of the chairman and secretary of the board of drainage commissioners, and such new assessment rolls shall be signed by the chairman and secretary of the board of drainage commissioners and by the clerk of the superior court before delivery to the sheriff or tax collector as required upon the original assessment rolls. The original assessment rolls shall be preserved by the clerk of the court among his records for future reference.

9. Number of copies.—In the event it shall be necessary to prepare new assessment rolls, the clerk shall prepare four copies, one copy for the drainage record, another for the sheriff or tax collector, another for the chairman of the board of drainage commissioners, and the other for filing and preserving among the records, and which fourth copy shall never be mutilated or interlined, but shall be preserved in its original form for reference. As to all drainage districts heretofore established, the clerk of the court shall prepare an additional copy of all the original assessment rolls for the several years the lands in such districts are assessed and securely preserve the same, at least until all outstanding bonds of the district shall be paid, to the end that they may always be accessible for reference and comparison. It shall not be necessary hereafter to deliver to the sheriff or tax collector a copy of the assessment roll for the current year in which assessments are due and payable, but the copy provided for him may remain among the records of the clerk of the court for safe keeping and reference by him.

10. Costs determined.—As compensation to the clerk of the court for the performance of duties imposed herein, he shall be paid such sum by the board of drainage commissioners of such drainage district as they may deem fair and adequate, and the same is hereby declared a proper charge against said district, but no additional compensation shall be paid to the clerk in those counties where he receives a salary in lieu of fees. Any costs which may accrue in amendments to the assessment rolls shall be adjudged against the parties in interest, in the discretion of the clerk, and such costs shall be paid before the amendment shall become effective. As to all petitions which shall be filed and submitted to the court on the first Monday in July, no costs shall be paid or adjudged against any party in those counties where the clerk and sheriff receive a salary in lieu of fees.

11. Chairman represents board.—As to all petitions filed with the chairman of the board of drainage commissioners, or as to the discharge of any duty by the chairman required of him under the general drainage law, he shall be presumed to act for the board, and the chairman shall do all things necessary to protect and maintain the interests of the drainage district. If the chairman shall be or become a landowner in the drainage district and may desire an amendment to the assessment rolls, he may file his petition before any other member of the board, or file the same directly with the clerk of the superior court.

12. Application of section.—The provisions of this section shall apply to landowners in districts heretofore established and to drainage proceedings heretofore instituted to the same extent as to drainage proceedings hereafter instituted and established. (1917, c. 152, s. 4; 1919, c. 208, s. 1; C. S. 5370.)

§ 156-115. Warranty in deed runs to purchaser who pays assessment.—Where the land assessed by drainage commissioners under the provisions of this article has been purchased since the making of the assessment by a purchaser for value without notice under a deed of general warranty, and said purchaser pays to the sheriff the amount of said drainage assessment, which is a lien on the land purchased, then such purchaser who pays the said drainage assessment shall have a right of action against the warrantor of his title under the covenant of general warranty contained in his deed for the recovery of the amount paid. (1919, c. 282, s. 3; C. S. 5371.)

§ 156-116. Modification of assessments.

1. Relevy.—Where the court has confirmed an assessment for the construction of any public levee, ditch, or drain, and such assessment has been modified by the court of superior jurisdiction, but for some unforseen cause it cannot be collected, the board of drainage commissioners shall have power to change or modify the assessment as originally confirmed to conform to the judgment of the superior court and to cover any deficit that may have been caused by the order of court or unforeseen occurrence. The relevy shall be made for the additional sum required, in the same ratio on the lands benefited as the original assessment was made.

2. Upon sale of land for assessments.—If any person, or any number of persons, claiming to have title to any tract or tracts of land subject to assessment or drainage tax shall fail to pay any annual assessment levied against such lands, and the sheriff or tax collector shall be compelled to sell such lands under the law for the purpose of making such collection, the net proceeds of such sale shall be paid to the county treasurer, to be held by him and disbursed for the purpose of paying the current assessment and future annual assessments so far as the proceeds may be sufficient. When the fund in the custody of the treasurer shall be exhausted in the payment of annual assessments against such lands, or there shall not be a sufficient sum to pay the next annual assessment, the county treasurer shall immediately give written notice to that effect to the chairman of the board of drainage commissioners of the district, and also to the clerk of the superior court, whereupon the board of drainage commissioners shall institutue an investigation of such tract or tracts of land to determine the market value, and if they shall find that the market value is not equal to all the future annual assessments to cover its share of installments of principal and interest on the outstanding bonds, they shall proceed, with the approval of the clerk of the superior court, to make new reassessment rolls on all the remaining lands in the district and increase the sum in sufficient sums to equal the deficit thereby created, and such new assessment rolls shall constitute the future assessment rolls until changed according to law, and shall be certified to the tax collector as herein provided in lieu of the former assessment rolls. However, the tract or tracts of land which have been so sold by the tax collector shall continue on the assessment roll in the name of the new owner, but reassessed upon the new basis, and the drainage tax collected at the same time and in the same manner as other lands as long as such lands may have sufficient market value out of which to collect the annual drainage tax, and when such lands shall cease to have such value, or shall be abandoned by the person claiming title thereto, the drainage commissioners may omit the same from the assessment roll with the approval of the clerk of the superior court, but such lands may in the same manner at any time in the future be restored to the assessment rolls.

3. Surplus funds.—If the funds in the hands of the county treasurer at any time, arising under this section or in any other manner, shall be greater than is necessary to pay the annual installments of principal and interest, or the annual cost of maintenance of the drainage works, or both, such surplus shall be held by the county treasurer for future disbursement for other purposes as herein provided or subject to the order of the board of drainage commissioners.

4. Insufficient funds.—If there shall be any impairment or destruction of the drainage works by any unforeseen cause or occurrence not anticipated, during the period of construction by the contractor, the contractor shall nevertheless repair and complete the works according to the contract and specifications and shall be liable therefor and also his sureties on his bond; but if the contractor shall make default and if there shall be a failure to collect all resulting damages from such contractor and the sureties upon his bond, and it shall thereby be necessary to raise a greater sum of money to complete the drainage works in accordance with the plans, or if for any other unavoidable cause it shall be necessary to raise a greater sum to complete such drainage works, the board of drainage commissioners, having first obtained the approval of the clerk of the superior court, shall prepare new assessment rolls upon all the lands in the district upon the original basis of classification of benefits and increase the same in sufficient sums to equal the deficit thereby created, and the same shall constitute the new assessment rolls until changed accordingly to law, and shall be certified to the tax collector as herein provided.

5. Additional bonds issued.—If for any of the causes hereinbefore recited in this section, or for any other cause, a sum of money greater than the proceeds of sale of the drainage bonds shall become necessary to complete the drainage system, and the board of drainage commissioners shall determine that the amount to be raised is greater than can be realized from the collection of one annual assessment upon the lands in the district without imposing an undue burden upon the lands, or if it is advisable or necessary to raise the money more expeditiously, then and under such conditions additional bonds may be issued in such aggregate sum as may be necessary.

6. Manner of issue.—The proceedings for the issue of such additional bonds shall be substantially as follows: The board of drainage commissioners shall file their petition with the clerk of the superior court, setting forth all the facts which require the expenditure of more money and the issue of additional bonds to complete the drainage system, which shall be accompanied by the recommendation of the drainage engineer who was one of the original viewers, or some other expert drainage engineer selected by the drainage commissioners; whereupon the court shall issue a notice to all the owners of land within the district reciting the substance of the petition and directing each to appear before the court on a day certain, not less than twenty days after the service upon all the parties, and to show cause, if any they have, why the additional bonds should not be authorized, which notice shall be served personally on each such landowner by reading the same, and by leaving a copy, and if the same cannot be personally served, then it shall be served in the manner authorized by law. Any landowner may file an answer denying any material allegation in the petition or setting forth any valid objection to same before the return day thereof.

Upon the day when the notice is returnable, or on such day as to which the same may have been continued, the court shall proceed to hear the petition and answers. If the court shall find that the allegations of the petition are true, and that the issue of additional bonds is advisable or necessary, the court shall make an appropriate order authorizing and directing the issue of such additional bonds, fixing the amount of such issue, the date of same, the time when the interest and principal shall be payable, and all other matters necessary and appropriate in the premises. Any landowner may appeal from the order of the clerk of the superior court, and on such appeal only the issues raised in the answer shall be considered, and such appeal and the further procedure thereon shall be as prescribed in special proceedings, except as modified by this subchapter.

After the court shall have ordered the additional issue of bonds, the further procedure as to the assessment rolls, the levying and collecting of the drainage taxes, the disbursement of the revenue therefrom for the payment of such bonds and interest thereon, and all further procedure shall be the same as required for the establishment of drainage districts. The additional bonds issued shall not exceed twenty-five per cent of the total amount originally issued. The additional issue of bonds shall bear six per cent interest per annum and may be made payable in ten annual installments, or in lesser number of annual installments as nearly equal as may be, as recommended by the board of drainage commissioners and approved by the court. (1909, c. 442, s. 35; 1911, c. 67, s. 15; C. S. 5372.)

§ 156-117. Subdistricts formed. — Subdistricts may be formed by owners of land in main districts theretofore established in the manner provided for the organization of main districts. Such subdistricts shall have the right to use the ditches or canals of the main districts for outlets. The formation of subdistricts shall not operate to release the lands in any subdistrict from the payment of any assessment or levy made prior to the formation of such subdistricts, nor from any assessment which may thereafter be made for the completion and maintenance of the canals in main districts, or for the payment of the principal and interest on any indebtedness incurred by the main district, nor shall it give the subdistrict any claim on the funds of such main district for its local use. It shall be the duty of the drainage commissioners of the main district to control all matters pertaining to the main district drainage. Drainage commissioners for the subdistricts shall have authority and control over all matters pertaining to drainage within their respective subdistricts, except such work as belongs exclusively to the main district. (1917, c. 152, s. 8; C. S. 5373.)

§ 156-118. Bonds for improvement and maintenance; petition.—The board of drainage commissioners for any drainage district heretofore or that may hereafter be formed shall have the right to issue and sell bonds for the maintenance or improvement of their district, if, in the opinion of said board of drainage commissioners, it would be an unreasonable burden on any of the landowners of said district to levy an assessment as provided in § 156-92 and amendments thereto, sufficient to do the necessary maintenance or improvement: Provided, that the board of drainage commissioners shall first petition to the clerk of superior court of the county in which their drainage district was formed, setting forth the facts that the canals in their districts are not sufficient to afford proper drainage, and that, in the opinion of the board, the said canals need to be recleaned, widened, deepened, or lengthened, or that additional canals should be cut in certain places, and that the said work will cost more than an average of one dollar ($1.00) per acre for all of the lands in the district, and to raise such an amount by levying one assessment would be an unreasonable burden on a part of the landowners of their district, and they ask the court to allow them to issue and sell bonds for a sufficient amount to do the work which is needed to be done. (1923, c. 231, s. 1; C. S. 5373(a).)

§ 156-119. Viewers; appointment and report.—Immediately after the presentment of such a petition, the clerk shall appoint a board of viewers (of the same qualifications as is required when a drainage district is first formed) to view the said district over, and report to him (not later than twenty days from date appointed) whether or not any or all of the work asked for in the petition should be done, and whether or not the cost of the work which should be done would be an unreasonable burden on any of the landowners if collected by one assessment, or would it be better to allow a bond issue to cover the work. (1923, c. 231, s. 2; C. S. 5373(b).)

§ 156-120. Disallowance of petition; order; reclassification of lands; map and profile.—If the board of viewers do not favor the bond issue it will be the duty of the clerk to not allow same, but the petition may be presented again any time after six months. If the board of viewers report that a bond issue is preferable, the clerk shall order the board of viewers to make a profile, the same as is required when a district is first formed, and if it is the opinion of the board of drainage commissioners that, on account of subdivisions, a new map of the district should accompany the profile, then the clerk shall order the board of viewers to make a new map of the district, showing the present landowners, and to reclassify all land which has been subdivided since the original map was made, which has not heretofore been reclassified. Said map and profile shall show the total acres in each class for each tract, whether it has been subdivided or not, to be the same as was shown on the original map before the lands were subdivided. It shall also be the duty of the board of viewers to change any line between two or more land-owners which can be proven to their satisfaction was not correctly shown on the original map, but the total acres of each class for the two or more tracts combined must be the same as when shown by the original classification. Said map and profile shall be filed with the clerk, together with an estimated cost of the work to be done; they shall be filed with the clerk in the same time and same manner as is required when a district is first formed. (1923, c. 231, s. 3; C. S. 5373(c).)

§ 156-121. Redress to dissatisfied landowners.—Any one owning land which has been reclassified by the board of viewers who is dissatisfied with their classification shall have the same redress as has heretofore been provided where divisions of classification have been made by a petition to the clerk or otherwise. (1923, c. 231, s. 4; C. S. 5373(d).)

§ 156-122. Increase to extinguish debt.—If in the opinion of the board of drainage commissioners it would help the sale of the maintenance or improvement bonds, or they would deem it necessary under the provision of § 156-101, they may, with the approval of the clerk of the superior court, add to the amount estimated by the board of viewers a sufficient amount to pay off all outstanding obligations of the district, leaving this their only bond issue. (1923, c. 231, s. 5; C. S. 5373(e).)

§ 156-123. Proceedings as for original bond issue.—The compensation of the board of viewers and their assistants, together with all other expenses in connection with this bond issue, shall be paid in the same manner, the duties and power of the clerk, and the duties and power of the board of drainage commissioners, the bonds shall be advertised and sold, divided into such annual installments, bear such a rate of interest, the landowners shall be given the same notices and the same rights to pay cash, the contract shall be let and supervised, and contractor paid the same, as if this was the original bond issue. (1923, c. 231, s. 6; C. S. 5373(f).)

§ 156-124. No drainage assessments for original object may be levied on property when once paid in full.—Whenever any assessment has been made or may be made by any drainage district formed under the laws of the state of North Carolina upon any lands in said district, either for construction or maintenance of its system of drainage or for any other purpose, and the particular assessment made against any particular piece of property has been paid or shall be hereafter paid in full, then and in that event no other or further assessment may be made upon said land for the purpose of providing money for the purpose for which the original assessment was made. (1933, c. 504; 1935, c. 469, s. 5.)

Local Modification.—Mecklenburg: 1933, c. 504; 1935, c. 469, s. 5.

Art. 9. Adjustment of Delinquent Assessments.

§ 156-125. Adjustment by board of commissioners authorized.—The board of commissioners of any drainage district may, in connection with the issuance of bonds for the purpose of refunding outstanding bonds of the district, and in addition to preparing a new assessment roll, for the payment of principal and interest of such refunding bonds, and when the bonds so refunded constitute all of the bonds of the district for which an assessment has been made against property therein, adjust the uncollected delinquent installments of the assessment made upon property in the district, for the payment of principal and interest of the bonds so refunded and for other purposes authorized by law before said bonds were refunded. The adjustment of such delinquent assessments may include reduction of the principal amount of the delinquent installments, not exceeding fifty per centum thereof, to which reduced installments shall be added interest computed thereon, at a rate not less than the rate of interest of the refunding bonds, from the date of delinquency of said installments to the date of the refunding bonds, and shall include any costs legally incurred for the collection of the same; the date of delinquency shall be deemed to be the first day of December following the date upon which each of said installments became due: Provided, however, all delinquent installments of such assessment shall be adjusted on the same basis and by the same method. (1935, c. 469, s. 1.)

§ 156-126. Extension of adjusted installments.—Upon adjustment of delinquent installments of any assessment as provided herein, the payment of all delinquent installments so adjusted may be extended over a period not exceeding the life of the issue of refunding bonds, but in no event over a period exceeding twenty years. Such extension shall be made by the preparation of assessment rolls, which shall provide for the payment of installments so adjusted in equal annual installments which shall become due annually on September first, in accordance with the original assessment, and shall bear interest at the rate of four per centum per annum from December first following their due date until paid. Such assessment rolls shall be prepared and filed with the sheriff and the clerk of superior court and receipts shall be prepared and the same shall be collected in the same manner as other assessments of the district. (1935, c. 469, s. 2.)

§ 156-127. Special fund set up; distribution of collections. — The collection of assessments adjusted under this article and of interest accrued under § 156-126 shall be set aside in a fund and shall be applied as follows: one-third of such collections may be used solely for operating and administrative expenses of the district, but the remaining two-thirds thereof shall be reserved as additional security for the payment of the refunding bonds, or for the purchase and retirement of such refunding bonds, at prices not exceeding par and accrued interest. (1935, c. 469, s. 3.)

§ 156-128. Approval of adjustments by local government commission.—Any adjustments of delinquent assessments under the provisions of this article shall be effective only upon approval of the local government commission. (1935, c. 469, s. 4.)

§ 156-129. Amount of assessments limited; reassessments regulated. — The assessments made under this article shall in no instance, and against no piece of property, be greater in amount than that per cent which the per cent assessment authorized by this article bears to the unpaid original assessment upon each piece or tract of property within the district. In no instance, either under this article or any other law, shall any reassessment be made upon any piece of property for the purpose of providing money for the same purpose for which the original assessment was made, when the original assessment upon said property has been paid, or shall be paid prior to such general reassessment, nor to the extent that the original assessment has been paid. (1935, c. 469, s. 4(b).)

Art. 10. Report of Officers.

§ 156-130. Drainage commissioners to make statements.—It shall be the duty of the commissioners of all drainage districts in the state of North Carolina organized under the provisions of the laws thereof to file with the clerk of the superior court in the county where such district is organized a monthly statement or account during the course of construction of canals for the district, showing the receipts and expenditures of all funds coming into their hands belonging to such drainage district for the period of one month prior to the day on which the same is filed, and also to post a copy of such statement or account at the courthouse door in the county. After the construction of the canals has been concluded and the drainage commissioners have only to maintain the canals, said drainage commissioners shall only be required to file and post the annual statement required in § 156-131. Such statement or account shall be certified by the chairman of the board of commissioners of each drainage district and shall be attested by the secretary thereof, and a copy thereof shall be filed and kept as a part of the minutes of the district. (1917, c. 72, s. 1; 1927, c. 98, s. 6; C. S. 5374.)

§ 156-131. Annual report.—At the end of each fiscal year the board of commissioners of all drainage districts in the state of North Carolina shall file with the clerk of the superior court in the county where the district is organized a verified itemized statement of receipts and expenditures of all funds belonging to the district during the fiscal year just closed, and shall post a copy of same at the courthouse door in the county where the district is organized, and, if there be a newspaper published in the county, shall publish such account therein. (1917, c. 72, s. 2; C. S. 5375.)

§ 156-132. Penalty for failure.—Any board of commissioners of any drainage district in the state, and each of the members thereof, which shall fail or refuse to file the statements or accounts, and shall fail to post or publish the same as provided in §§ 156-130 and 156-131, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be punished in the discretion of the court. (1917, c. 72, s. 3; C. S. 5376.)

§ 156-133. Auditor appointed. — The board of county commissioners of each county in which one or more drainage districts have been established shall, annually, on the first Monday in May, appoint one of the members of the finance committee of the county, if the county has such finance committee, who shall be designated "Auditor for Drainage District;" but if the county has no finance committee, then the board of county commissioners shall appoint an intelligent and competent person of sufficient experience who shall be designated as the "Auditor for Drainage District." Such auditor shall receive such compensation as shall be agreed upon by the board of county commissioners, to be paid out of the general fund of said district, but not to exceed fifty dollars annually. (1917, c. 152, s. 10; 1919, c. 208, s. 3; C. S. 5377.)

§ 156-134. Duties of the auditor. — The auditor for the drainage district will be required to examine the assessment roll and the records and accounts of the sheriff or tax collector as to the assessment roll which went into his hands on the previous first Monday in September and for all previous years as to which the records and accounts of the sheriff or tax collector have not been audited.

The auditor shall for each of such years make a report as to each drainage district, showing the total amount of drainage assessments due for each year, the amount collected by the sheriff up to the fifteenth day of May of the following year, the names of the owners of land, and a brief description of the lands on which the drainage assessments have not been paid, and the total amount of unpaid drainage assessments, with any further data or information which the auditor may regard as pertinent.

If lands in the district lie in other counties, the auditor for the county in which the district was established shall also examine the records of the sheriff or tax collector for such other counties.

The auditor shall also examine the books of the treasurer of the county for similar years, and he shall report the amount of drainage assessments paid to the treasurer by the sheriff or tax collector for each year, and the amounts paid out by the treasurer during such years, and for what purposes paid. It shall be the duty of the sheriff and treasurer to permit the auditor to examine their official books and records and to furnish all necessary information, and to assist the auditor in the discharge of his duties.

The auditor shall make a report to the board of county commissioners on or before the first Monday in July following his appointment, and he shall deliver a duplicate of such report to the chairman of the board of drainage commissioners of each drainage district established in the county.

If the sheriff has not collected all of the drainage assessments, or has not paid over all collections to the county treasurer, or if the treasurer has not made disbursements of the drainage funds as required by law, or has not in his hands the funds not so disbursed by him, it shall be the duty of the auditor to so report, and to prepare two certified copies of his report, one of which shall be delivered to the judge holding a term of superior court in the county following the first Monday in July, and a copy to the solicitor of the judicial district in which the county is located, and it shall be the duty of such solicitor to examine carefully such report and to institute such action, civil or criminal, against the sheriff or tax collector or the treasurer, as the facts contained in the report may justify, or as may be required by law. (1917, c. 152, s. 10; C. S. 5378.)

Art. 11. General Provisions.

§ 156-135. Construction of drainage law.—The provisions of this subchapter shall be liberally construed to promote the leveeing, ditching, draining, and reclamation of wet and overflowed lands. The collection of the assessment shall not be defeated, where the proper notices have been given, by reason of any defect in the proceedings occurring prior to the order of the court confirming the final report of the viewers; but such order or orders shall be conclusive and final that all prior proceedings were regular and according to law, unless they were appealed from. If on appeal the court shall deem it just and proper to release any person or to modify his assessment or liability, it shall in no manner affect the rights and legality of any person other than the appellant, and the failure to appeal from the order of the court within the time specified shall be a waiver of any illegality in the proceedings, and the remedies provided for in this subchapter shall exclude all other remedies. (1909, c. 442, s. 37; C. S. 5379.)

§ 156-136. Removal of officers. — Any engineer, viewer, superintendent of construction or other person appointed under this chapter may be removed by the court, upon petition, for corruption, negligence of duties, or other good and satisfactory cause shown. (1909, c. 442, s. 38; C. S. 5380.)

§ 156-137. Local drainage laws not affected.—This subchapter shall not repeal or change any local drainage laws already enacted. (1909, c. 442, s. 38½; C. S. 5381.)

§ 156-138. Punishment for violating law as to drainage districts.—If any person shall violate any of the provisions of law in reference to drainage districts as provided in this chapter, or shall leave any log, brush, trash, or other thing where it is liable to wash into an adjacent stream and obstruct the flow of water or cut any tree so as to fall in a stream, or place any other obstruction in a stream in a drainage district, he shall be fined not more than fifty dollars or imprisoned not more than thirty days. (Rev., s. 3378; 1905, c. 541, ss. 7, 9; C. S. 5382.)

Art. 1. Housing Authorities Law.

§ 157-1. Title of article.—This article may be referred to as the housing authorities law. (1935, c. 456, s. 1.)

§ 157-2. Finding and declaration of necessity.—It is hereby declared that unsanitary or unsafe dwelling accommodations exist in urban and rural areas throughout the state and that such unsafe or unsanitary conditions arise from overcrowding and concentration of population, the obsolete and poor condition of the buildings, improper planning, excessive land coverage, lack of proper light, air and space, unsanitary design and arrangement, lack of proper sanitary facilities, and the existence of conditions which endanger life or property by fire and other causes; that in such urban and rural areas many persons of low income are forced to reside in unsanitary or unsafe dwelling accommodations; that in such urban and rural areas there is a lack of safe or sanitary dwelling accommodations available to all the inhabitants thereof and that consequently many persons of low income are forced to occupy overcrowded and congested dwelling accommodations; that these conditions cause an increase in and spread of disease and crime and constitute a menace to the health, safety, morals and welfare of the citizens of the state and impair economic values; that these conditions cannot be remedied by the ordinary operation of private enterprise; that the clearance, replanning and reconstruction of such areas and the providing of safe and sanitary dwelling accommodations for persons of low income are public uses and purposes for which public money may be spent and private property acquired; that it is in the public interest that work on such projects be instituted as soon as possible; and that the necessity for the provisions hereinafter enacted is hereby declared as a matter of legislative determination to be in the public interest. (1935, c. 456, s. 2; 1938, Ex. Sess., c. 2, s. 14; 1941, c. 78, s. 2.)

(1935, c. 456, s. 3; 1938, Ex. Sess., c. 2, s. 14; 1941, c. 78, s. 2.)

§ 157-4. Notice, hearing and creation of authority.—Any twenty-five residents of a city and of the area within ten miles from the territorial boundaries thereof may file a petition with the city clerk setting forth that there is a need for an authority to function in the city and said surrounding area. Upon the filing of such a petition the city clerk shall give notice of the time, place and purposes of a public hearing at which the council will determine the need for an authority in the city and said surrounding area. Such notice shall be given at the city's expense by publishing a notice, at least ten days preceding the day on which the hearing is to be held, in a newspaper having a general circulation in the city and said surrounding area, or, if there be no such newspaper, by posting such notice in at least three public places within the city, at least ten days preceding the day on which the hearing is to be held.

Upon the date fixed for said hearing held upon notice as provided herein, an opportunity to be heard shall be granted to all residents and taxpayers of the city and said surrounding area and to all other interested persons. After such a hearing, the council shall determine:

(1) whether insanitary or unsafe inhabited dwelling accommodations exist in the city and said surrounding area, and/or

(2) whether there is a lack of safe or sanitary dwelling accommodations in the city and said surrounding area available for all the inhabitants thereof.

In determining whether dwelling accommodations are unsafe or insanitary, the council shall take into consideration the following: the physical condition and age of the buildings; the degree of over-crowding, the percentage of land coverage; the light and air available to the inhabitants of such dwelling accommodations; the size and arrangement of the rooms; the sanitary facilities; and the extent to which conditions exist in such buildings which endanger life or property by fire or other causes.

If it shall determine that either or both of the above enumerated conditions exist, the council shall adopt a resolution so finding (which need not go into any detail other than the mere finding) and shall cause notice of such determination to be given to the Mayor who shall thereupon appoint, as hereinafter provided, five commissioners to act as an authority. Said commission shall be a public body and a body corporate and politic upon the completion of the taking of the following proceedings:

The commissioners shall present to the secretary of state an application signed by them, which shall set forth (without any detail other than the mere recital) (1) that a notice has been given and public hearing has been held as aforesaid, that the council made the aforesaid determination after such hearing, and that the mayor has appointed them as commissioners; (2) the name and official residence of each of the commissioners, together with a certified copy of the appointment evidencing their right to office, the date and place of induction into and taking oath of office, and that they desire the housing authority to become a public body and a body corporate and politic under this article; (3) the term of office of each of the commissioners; (4) the name which is proposed for the corporation; and (5) the location of the principal office of the proposed corporation. The application shall be subscribed and sworn to by each of said commissioners before an officer authorized by the laws of the State to take and certify oaths, who shall certify upon the application that he personally knows the commissioners and knows them to be the officers as asserted in the application, and that each subscribed and swore thereto in the officer's presence. The secretary of state shall examine the application and if he finds that the name proposed for the corporation is not identical with that of a person or of any other corporation of this state or so nearly similar as to lead to confusion and uncertainty he shall receive and file it and shall record it in an appropriate book of record in his office.

When the application has been made, filed and recorded, as herein provided, the authority shall constitute a public body and a body corporate and politic under the name proposed in the application; the secretary of state shall make and issue to the said commissioners a certificate of incorporation pursuant to this article, under the seal of the state, and shall record the same with the application.

The boundaries of such authority shall include said city and the area within ten miles from the territorial boundaries of said city but in no event shall it include the whole or a part of any other city nor any area included within the boundaries of another authority. In case an area lies within ten miles of the boundaries of more than one city, such area shall be deemed to be within the boundaries of the authority embracing such area which was first established, all priorities to be determined on the basis of the time of the issuance of the aforesaid certificates by the secretary of state. After the creation of an authority, the subsequent existence within its territorial boundaries of more than one city shall in no way affect the territorial boundaries of such authority.

If the council, after a hearing as aforesaid, shall determine that neither of the above enumerated conditions exist, it shall adopt a resolution denying the petition. After three months shall have expired from the date of the denial of any such petitions, subsequent petitions may be filed as aforesaid and new hearings and determinations made thereon.

In any suit, action or proceeding involving the validity or enforcement of or relating to any contract of the authority, the authority shall be conclusively deemed to have been established in accordance with the provisions of this article upon proof of the issuance of the aforesaid certificate by the secretary of state. A copy of such certificate, duly certified by the secretary of state, shall be admissible in evidence in any such suit, action or proceeding, and shall be conclusive proof of the filing and contents thereof. (1935, c. 456, s. 4.)

§ 157-5. Appointment, qualifications and tenure of commissioners.—An authority shall consist of five commissioners appointed by the mayor and he shall designate the first chairman. No commissioner may be a city official.

The commissioners who are first appointed shall be designated by the mayor to serve for terms of one, two, three, four and five years respectively from the date of their appointment. Thereafter, the term of office shall be five years. A commissioner shall hold office until his successor has been appointed and has qualified. Vacancies shall be filled for the unexpired term. Three commissioners shall constitute a quorum. The mayor shall file with the city clerk a certificate of the appointment or reappointment of any commissioner and such certificate shall be conclusive evidence of the due and proper appointment of such commissioner. A commissioner shall receive no compensation for his services but he shall be entitled to the necessary expenses including traveling expenses incurred in the discharge of his duties.

When the office of the first chairman of the authority becomes vacant, the authority shall select a chairman from among its members. An authority shall select from among its members a vice-chairman, and it may employ a secretary (who shall be executive director), technical experts and such other officers, agents and employees, permanent and temporary, as it may require, and shall determine their qualifications, duties and compensation. An authority may call upon the corporation counsel or chief law officer of the city for such legal services as it may require or it may employ its own counsel and legal staff. An authority may delegate to one or more of its agents or employees such powers or duties as it may deem proper. (1935, c. 456, s. 5.)

§ 157-6. Duty of authority and commissioners.—The authority and its commissioners shall be under a statutory duty to comply or to cause compliance strictly with all provisions of this article and the laws of the State and in addition thereto, with each and every term, provision and covenant in any contract of the authority on its part to be kept or performed. (1935, c. 456, s. 6.)

§ 157-7. Interested commissioners or employees.—No commissioner or employee of an authority shall acquire any interest direct or indirect in any housing project or in any property included or planned to be included in any project, nor shall he have any interest direct or indirect in any contract or proposed contract for materials or services to be furnished or used in connection with any housing project. If any commissioner or employee of an authority owns or controls an interest direct or indirect in any property included or planned to be included in any housing project, he shall immediately disclose the same in writing to the authority and such disclosure shall be entered upon the minutes of the authority. Failure to so disclose such interest shall constitute misconduct in office. (1935, c. 456, s. 7.)

§ 157-8. Removal of commissioners.—The mayor may remove a commissioner for inefficiency or neglect of duty or misconduct in office, but only after the commissioner shall have been given a copy of the charges against him (which may be made by the mayor) at least ten days prior to the hearing thereon and had an opportunity to be heard in person or by counsel.

Any obligee of the authority may file with the mayor written charges that the authority is violating wilfully any law of the State or any term, provision or covenant in any contract to which the authority is a party. The mayor shall give each of the commissioners a copy of such charges at least ten days prior to the hearing thereon and an opportunity to be heard in person or by counsel and shall within fifteen days after receipt of such charges remove any commissioners of the authority who shall have been found to have acquiesced in any such wilful violation.

A commissioner shall be deemed to have acquiesced in a wilful violation by the authority of a law of this State or of any term, provision or covenant contained in a contract to which the authority is a party, if, before a hearing is held on the charges against him, he shall not have filed a written statement with the authority of his objections to, or lack of participation in, such violation.

In the event of the removal of any commissioner, the mayor shall file in the office of the city clerk a record of the proceedings together with the charges made against the commissioners and the findings thereon. (1935, c. 456, s. 8.)

§ 157-9. Powers of authority. — An authority shall constitute a public body and a body corporate and politic, exercising public powers, and having all the powers necessary or convenient to carry out and effectuate the purposes and provisions of this article, including the following powers in addition to others herein granted:

cle; to invest any funds held in reserves or sinking funds, or any funds not required for immediate disbursement, in property or securities in which savings banks may legally invest funds subject to their control; to sue and be sued; to have a seal and to alter the same at pleasure; to have perpetual succession; to make and execute contracts and other instruments necessary or convenient to the exercise of the powers of the authority; to make and from time to time amend and repeal by-laws, rules and regulations not inconsistent with this article, to carry into effect the powers and purposes of the authority; to conduct examinations and investigations and to hear testimony and take proof under oath at public or private hearings on any matter material for its information; to issue subpoenas requiring the attendance of witnesses or the production of books and papers and to issue commissions for the examination of witnesses who are out of the State or unable to attend before the authority, or excused from attendance; and to make available to such agencies, boards or commissions as are charged with the duty of abating or requiring the correction of nuisances or like conditions, or of demolishing unsafe or insanitary structures within its territorial limits, its findings and recommendations with regard to any building or property where conditions exist which are dangerous to the public health, morals, safety or welfare. Any of the investigations or examinations provided for in this article may be conducted by the authority or by a committee appointed by it, consisting of one or more commissioners, or by counsel, or by an officer or employee specially authorized by the authority to conduct it. Any commissioner, counsel for the authority, or any person designated by it to conduct an investigation or examination shall have power to administer oaths, take affidavits and issue subpoenas or commissions. An authority may exercise any or all of the powers herein conferred upon it, either generally or with respect to any specific housing project or projects, through or by an agent or agents which it may designate, including any corporation or corporations which are or shall be formed under the laws of this State, and for such purposes an authority may cause one or more corporations to be formed under the laws of this State or may acquire the capital stock of any corporation or corporations. Any corporate agent, all of the stock of which shall be owned by the authority or its nominee or nominees, may to the extent permitted by law exercise any of the powers conferred upon the authority herein. In addition to all of the other powers herein conferred upon it, an authority may do all things necessary and convenient to carry out the powers expressly given in this article. No provisions with respect to the acquisition, operation or disposition of property by other public bodies shall be applicable to an authority unless the legislature shall specifically so state.

Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in this article or in any other provision of law an authority may include in any contract let in connection with a project, stipulations requiring that the contractor and any subcontractors comply with requirements as to minimum wages and maximum hours of labor, and comply with any conditions which the federal government may have attached to its financial aid of the project. (1935, c. 456, s. 9; 1939, c. 150.)

§ 157-10. Cooperation between authorities.—Any two or more authorities may cooperate with one another in the exercise of any or all of the powers conferred hereby for the purpose of financing, planning, constructing or operating a housing project or projects located partly within the boundaries of each of said authorities. Any housing authority may construct and operate a housing project within the boundaries of any other housing authority provided that (1) such other housing authority consents thereto, and (2) said housing project is located within ten miles of the city which is included in the boundaries of the housing authority desiring to construct and operate such project. (1935, c. 456, s. 10.)

§ 157-11. Eminent domain.—The authority shall have the right to acquire by eminent domain any real property, including fixtures and improvements, which it may deem necessary to carry out the purposes of this article after the adoption by it of a resolution declaring that the acquisition of the property described therein is in the public interest and necessary for public use. The authority may exercise the power of eminent domain pursuant to the provisions of either:

(a) Sections 40-11 to 40-29, both inclusive;

(b) Any other applicable statutory provisions now in force or hereafter enacted for the exercise of the power of eminent domain.

Property already devoted to a public use may be acquired, provided, that no property belonging to any city or municipality or to any government may be acquired without its consent and that no property belonging to a public utility corporation may be acquired without the approval of the commission or other officer or tribunal, if any there be, having regulatory power over such corporation. (1935, c. 456, s. 11.)

§ 157-12. Acquisition of land for government.—The authority may acquire by purchase or by the exercise of its power of eminent domain, as aforesaid, any property real or personal for any housing project being constructed or operated by a government. The authority upon such terms and conditions, with or without consideration, as it shall determine, may convey title or deliver possession of such property so acquired or purchased to such government for use in connection with such housing project. (1935, c. 456, s. 12.)

§ 157-13. Zoning and building laws.—All housing projects of an authority shall be subject to the planning, zoning, sanitary and building laws, ordinances and regulations applicable to the locality in which the housing project is situated. (1935, c. 456, s. 13.)

§ 157-14. Types of bonds authority may issue.—An authority shall have power to issue bonds from time to time in its discretion for any of its corporate purposes. An authority shall also have power to issue or exchange refunding bonds for the purpose of paying, retiring, extending or renewing bonds previously issued by it. An authority may issue such types of bonds as it may determine, including (without limiting the generality of the foregoing) bonds on which the principal and interest are payable from income and revenues of the authority and from grants or contributions from the federal government or other source. Such income and revenues securing the bonds may be: (a) exclusively the income and revenues of the housing project financed in whole or in part with the proceeds of such bonds; (b) exclusively the income and revenues of certain designated housing projects, whether or not they are financed in whole or in part with the proceeds of such bonds; or (c) the income and revenues of the authority generally. Any such bonds may be additionally secured by a pledge of any income or revenues of the authority, or a mortgage of any housing project, projects or other property of the authority.

Neither the commissioners of an authority nor any person executing the bonds shall be liable personally on the bonds by reason of the issuance thereof. The bonds and other obligations of an authority (and such bonds and obligations shall so state in their face) shall not be a debt of any city or municipality and neither the state nor any such city or municipality shall be liable thereon, nor in any event shall such bonds or obligations be payable out of any funds or properties other than those of said authority. The bonds shall not constitute an indebtedness within the meaning of any constitutional or statutory debt limitation of the laws of the state. Bonds may be issued under this article notwithstanding any debt or other limitation prescribed in any statute.

This article without reference to other statutes of the state shall constitute full and complete authority for the authorization, issuance, delivery and sale of bonds hereunder and such authorization, issuance, delivery and sale shall not be subject to any conditions, restrictions or limitations imposed by any other law whether general, special or local. (1935, c. 456, s. 14; 1939, c. 150, s. 2.)

§ 157-15. Form and sale of bonds.—The bonds of the authority shall be authorized by its resolution and shall be issued in one or more series and shall bear such date or dates, mature at such time or times, not exceeding sixty years from their respective dates, bear interest at such rate or rates, not exceeding six per centum (6%) per annum payable semi-annually, be in such denominations (which may be made interchangeable) be in such form, either coupon or registered, carry such registration privileges, be executed in such manner, be payable in such medium of payment, at such place or places, and be subject to such terms of redemption (with or without premium) as such resolution or its trust indenture or mortgage may provide.

The bonds may be sold at public sale held after notice published once at least ten days prior to such sale in a newspaper having a general circulation in the city and in a financial newspaper published in the city of New York, New York or in the city of Chicago, Illinois, provided, however, that such bonds may be sold to the federal government at private sale without any public advertisement. The bonds may be sold at such price or prices as the authority shall determine provided that the interest cost to maturity of the money received for any issue of said bonds shall not exceed six per centum (6%) per annum.

Pending the authorization, preparation, execution or delivery of definitive bonds, the authority may issue interim certificates, or other temporary obligations, to the purchaser of such bonds. Such interim certificates, or other temporary obligations, shall be in such form, contain such terms, conditions and provisions, bear such date or dates, and evidence such agreements relating to their discharge or payment or the delivery of definitive bonds as the authority may by resolution, trust indenture or mortgage determine.

In case any of the officers whose signatures appear on any bonds or coupons shall cease to be such officers before the delivery of such bonds, such signatures shall, nevertheless, be valid and sufficient for all purposes, the same as if they had remained in office until such delivery.

The authority shall have power out of any funds available therefor to purchase any bonds issued by it at a price not more than the principal amount thereof and the accrued interest; provided, however, that bonds payable exclusively from the revenues of a designated project or projects shall be purchased out of any such revenues available therefor. All bonds so purchased shall be cancelled. This paragraph shall not apply to the redemption of bonds.

Any provision of any law to the contrary notwithstanding, any bonds, interim certificates, or other obligations issued pursuant to this article shall be fully negotiable. (1935, c. 456, s. 15.)

§ 157-16. Provisions of bonds, trust indentures, and mortgages.—In connection with the issuance of bonds and/or the incurring of any obligation under a lease and in order to secure the payment of such bonds and/or obligations, the authority shall have power:

(1) To pledge by resolution, trust indenture, mortgage (subject to the limitations hereinafter imposed), or other contract, all or any part of its rents, fees, or revenues.

(2) To covenant against mortgaging all or any part of its property, real or personal, then owned or thereafter acquired, or against permitting or suffering any lien thereon.

(3) To covenant with respect to limitations on its right to sell, lease or otherwise dispose of any housing project or any part thereof, or with respect to limitations on its right to undertake additional housing projects.

(4) To covenant against pledging all or any part of its rents, fees and revenues to which its right then exists or the right to which may thereafter come into existence or against permitting or suffering any lien thereon.

(5) To provide for the release of property, rents, fees and revenues from any pledge or mortgage, and to reserve rights and powers in, or the right to dispose of, property which is subject to a pledge or mortgage.

(6) To covenant as to the bonds to be issued pursuant to any resolution, trust indenture, mortgage or other instrument and as to the issuance of such bonds in escrow or otherwise, and as to the use and disposition of the proceeds thereof.

(7) To covenant as to what other, or additional debt, may be incurred by it.

(8) To provide for the terms, form, registration, exchange, execution and authentication of bonds.

(9) To provide for the replacement of lost, destroyed or mutilated bonds.

(10) To covenant that the authority warrants the title to the premises.

(11) To covenant as to the rents and fees to be charged, the amount (calculated as may be determined) to be raised each year or other period of time by rents, fees, and other revenues and as to the use and disposition to be made thereof.

(12) To covenant as to the use of any or all of its property, real or personal.

(13) To create or to authorize the creation of special funds in which there shall be segregated (a) the proceeds of any loan and/or grant; (b) all of the rents, fees and revenues of any housing project or projects or parts thereof; (c) any monies held for the payment of the costs of operation and maintenance of any such housing projects or as a reserve for the meeting of contingencies in the operation and maintenance thereof; (d) any monies held for the payment of the principal and interest on its bonds or the sums due under its leases and/or as a reserve for such payments; and (e) any monies held for any other reserves or contingencies; and to covenant as to the use and disposal of the monies held in such funds.

(14) To redeem the bonds, and to covenant for their redemption and to provide the terms and conditions thereof.

(15) To covenant against extending the time for the payment of its bonds or interest thereon, directly or indirectly, by any means or in any manner.

(16) To prescribe the procedure, if any, by which the terms of any contract with bond holders may be amended or abrogated, the amount of bonds the holders of which must consent thereto and the manner in which such consent may be given.

(17) To covenant as to the maintenance of its property, the replacement thereof, the insurance to be carried thereon and the use and disposition of insurance moneys.

(18) To vest in an obligee of the authority the right, in the event of the failure of the authority to observe or perform any covenant on its part to be kept or performed, to cure any such default and to advance any moneys necessary for such purpose, and the moneys so advanced may be made an additional obligation of the authority with such interest, security and priority as may be provided in any trust indenture, mortgage, lease or contract of the authority with reference thereto.

(19) To covenant and prescribe as to the events of default and terms and conditions upon which any or all of its bonds shall become or may be declared due before maturity and as to the terms and conditions upon which such declaration and its consequences may be waived.

(20) To covenant as to the rights, liabilities, powers and duties arising upon the breach by it of any covenant, condition, or obligation.

(21) To covenant to surrender possession of all or any part of any housing project or projects upon the happening of an event of default (as defined in the contract) and to vest in an obligee the right without judicial proceedings to take possession and to use, operate, manage and control such housing projects or any part thereof, and to collect and receive all rents, fees and revenues arising therefrom in the same manner as the authority itself might do and to dispose of the monies collected in accordance with the agreement of the authority with such obligee.

(22) To vest in a trustee or trustees the right to enforce any covenant made to secure, to pay, or in relation to the bonds, to provide for the powers and duties of such trustee or trustees, to limit liabilities thereof and to provide the terms and conditions upon which the trustee or trustees or the holders of bonds or any proportion of them may enforce any such covenant.

(23) To make covenants other than in addition to the covenants herein expressly authorized, of like or different character.

(24) To execute all instruments necessary or convenient in the exercise of the powers herein granted or in the performance of its covenants or duties, which may contain such covenants and provisions, in addition to those above specified as the government or any purchaser of the bonds of the authority may reasonably require.

(25) To make such covenants and to do any and all such acts and things as may be necessary or convenient or desirable in order to secure its bonds, or in the absolute discretion of the authority tend to make the bonds more marketable; notwithstanding that such covenants, acts or things may not be enumerated herein; it being the intention hereof to give the authority power to do all things in the issuance of bonds, in the provisions for their security that are not inconsistent with the constitution of the State and no consent or approval of any judge or court shall be required thereof; provided, however, that the authority shall have no power to mortgage all or any part of its property, real or personal, except as provided in § 157-17. (1935, c. 456, s. 16.)

§ 157-17. Power to mortgage when project financed with governmental aid. — In connection with any project financed in whole or in part by a government, the authority shall also have power to mortgage all or any part of its property, real or personal, then owned or thereafter acquired, and thereby:

(a) To vest in a government the right, upon the happening of an event of default (as defined in such mortgage), to foreclose such mortgage through judicial proceedings or through the exercise of a power of sale without judicial proceedings, so long as a government shall be the holder of any of the bonds secured by such mortgage.

(b) To vest in a trustee or trustees the right, upon the happening of an event of default (as defined in such mortgage), to foreclose such mortgage through judicial proceedings or through the exercise of a power of sale without judicial proceedings, but only with the consent of the government which aided in financing the housing project involved.

(c) To vest in other obligees the right to foreclose such mortgage by judicial proceedings, but only with the consent of the government which aided in financing the project involved.

(d) To vest in an obligee, including a government, the right in foreclosing any mortgage as aforesaid, to foreclose such mortgage as to all or such part or parts of the property covered thereby as such obligee (in its absolute discretion) shall elect; the institution, prosecution and conclusion of any such foreclosure proceedings and/or the sale of any such parts of the mortgaged property shall not affect in any manner or to any extent the lien of the mortgage on the parts of the mortgaged property not included in such proceedings or not sold as aforesaid. (1935, c. 456, s. 17.)

§ 157-18. Remedies of an obligee of authority.—An obligee of the authority shall have the right in addition to all other rights which may be conferred on such obligee subject only to any contractual restrictions binding upon such obligee:

(a) By mandamus, suit, action or proceeding in law or equity (all of which may be joined in one action) to compel the authority, and the commissioners, officers, agents or employees thereof to perform each and every term, provision and covenant contained in any contract of the authority, and to require the carrying out of any or all covenants and agreements of the authority and the fulfillment of all duties imposed upon the authority by this article.

(b) By suit, action or proceeding in equity to enjoin any acts or things which may be unlawful, or the violation of any of the rights of such obligee of the authority.

(c) By suit, action or proceeding in any court of competent jurisdiction to cause possession of any housing project or any part thereof to be surrendered to any obligee having the right to such possession pursuant to any contract of the authority. (1935, c. 456, s. 18.)

§ 157-19. Additional remedies conferrable by mortgage or trust indenture.—Any authority shall have power by its trust indenture, mortgage, lease or other contract to confer upon any obligee holding or representing a specified amount in bonds, lease or other obligations the right upon the happening of an "event of default" as defined in such instrument:

(a) By suit, action or proceeding in any court of competent jurisdiction to obtain the appointment of a receiver of any housing project of the authority or any part or parts thereof. If such receiver be appointed, he may enter and take possession of such housing project or any part or parts thereof and operate and maintain same, and collect and receive all fees, rents, revenues, or other charges thereafter arising therefrom in the same manner as the authority itself might do and shall keep such moneys in a separate account or accounts and apply the same in accordance with the obligations of the authority as the court shall direct.

(b) By suit, action or proceeding in any court of competent jurisdiction to require the authority and the commissioners thereof to account as if it and they were the trustees of an express trust. (1935, c. 456, s. 19.)

§ 157-20. Remedies cumulative.—All the rights and remedies hereinabove conferred shall be cumulative and in addition to all other rights and remedies that may be conferred upon such obligee of the authority by law or by any contract with the authority. (1935, c. 456, s. 20.)

§ 157-21. Limitations on remedies of obligee.—No interest of the authority in any property, real or personal, shall be subject to sale by the foreclosure of a mortgage thereon, either through judicial proceedings or the exercise of a power of sale contained in such mortgage, except in the case of the mortgages provided for in § 157-17. All property of the authority shall be exempt from levy and sale by virtue of an execution, and no execution or other judicial process shall issue against the same. No judgment against the authority shall be a charge or lien upon its property, real or personal. The provisions of this section shall not apply to or limit the right of obligees to foreclose any mortgage of the authority provided for in § 157-17, and in case of a foreclosure sale thereunder, to obtain a judgment or decree for any deficiency due on the indebtedness secured thereby and issued on the credit of the authority. Such deficiency judgment or decree shall be a lien and charge upon the property of the authority, which may be levied on and sold by virtue of an execution or other judicial process for the purpose of satisfying such deficiency judgment or decree. (1935, c. 456, s. 21.)

§ 157-22. Title obtained at foreclosure sale subject to agreement with government.—Notwithstanding anything in this article to the contrary, any purchaser or purchasers at a sale of real or personal property of the authority whether pursuant to any forclosure of a mortgage, pursuant to judicial process or otherwise, shall obtain title subject to any contract between the authority and a government relating to the supervision by a government of the operation and maintenance of such property and the construction of improvements thereon. (1935, c. 456, s. 22.)

§ 157-23. Contracts with federal government.—In addition to the powers conferred upon the authority by other provisions of this article, the authority is empowered to borrow money and/or accept grants from the federal government for or in aid of the construction of any housing project which such authority is authorized by this article to undertake, to take over any land acquired by the federal government for the construction of a housing project, to take over or lease or manage any housing project constructed or owned by the federal government, and to these ends, to enter into such contracts, mortgages, trust indentures, leases or other agreements as the federal government may require including agreements that the federal government shall have the right to supervise and approve the construction, maintenance and operation of such housing project. It is the purpose and intent of this article to authorize every authority to do any and all things necessary to secure the financial aid and the co-operation of the federal government in the construction, maintenance and operation of any housing project which the authority is empowered by this article to undertake. (1935, c. 456, s. 23.)

§ 157-24. Security for funds deposited by authorities. — The authority may by resolution provide that (1) all moneys deposited by it shall be secured by obligations of the United States or of the State of a market value equal at all times to the amount of such deposits or (2) by any securities in which savings banks may legally invest funds within their control or (3) by an undertaking with such sureties as shall be approved by the authority faithfully to keep and pay over upon the order of the authority any such deposits and agreed interest thereon, and all banks and trust companies are authorized to give any such security for such deposits. (1935, c. 456, s. 24.)

§ 157-25. Housing bonds, legal investments and security.—The state and all public officers, municipal corporations, political subdivisions, and public bodies, all banks, bankers, trust companies, savings banks and institutions, building and loan associations, savings and loan associations, investment companies and other persons carrying on a banking business, all insurance companies, insurance associations, and other persons carrying on an insurance business, and all executors, administrators, guardians, trustees and other fiduciaries may legally invest any sinking funds, moneys or other funds belonging to them or within their control in any bonds issued by a housing authority established (or hereafter established) pursuant to this article or issued by any public housing authority or agency in the United States, when such bonds are secured by a pledge of annual contributions to be paid by the United States government or any agency thereof, and such bonds shall be authorized security for all public deposits and shall be fully negotiable in this state; it being the purpose of this article to authorize any persons, firms, corporations, associations, political subdivisions, bodies and officers, public or private, to use any funds owned or controlled by them, including (but not limited to) sinking, insurance, investment, retirement, compensation, pension and trust funds, and funds held on deposit, for the purchase of any such bonds and that any such bonds shall be authorized security for all public deposits and shall be fully negotiable in this state: Provided, however, that nothing contained in this article shall be construed as relieving any person, firm or corporation from any duty of exercising reasonable care in selecting securities. (1935, c. 456, s. 25; 1941, c. 78, s. 3.)

§ 157-26. Tax exemptions.—The authority shall be exempt from the payment of any taxes or fees to the State or any subdivision thereof, or to any officer or employee of the State or any subdivision thereof. The property of an authority shall be exempt from all local and municipal taxes and for the purposes of such tax exemption, it is hereby declared as a matter of legislative determination that an authority is and shall be deemed to be a municipal corporation. Bonds, notes, debentures and other evidences of indebtedness of an authority are declared to be issued for a public purpose and to be public instrumentalities and, together with interest thereon, shall be exempt from taxes when same are held by the federal government or by any purchaser from the federal government or anyone acquiring title from or through such purchaser. (1935, c. 456, s. 26.)

§ 157-27. Reports.—The authority shall at least once a year file with the mayor of the city a report of its activities for the preceding year, and shall make any recommendations with reference to any additional legislation or other action that may be necessary in order to carry out the purposes of this article. (1935, c. 456, s. 27.)

§ 157-28. Restriction on right of eminent domain; right of appeal preserved; investigation by utilities commission. — Notwithstanding any finding of public convenience and necessity, either in general or specific, by the terms of this article, the right of eminent domain shall not be exercised unless and until a certificate of public convenience and necessity for such project has been issued by the utilities commission of North Carolina, and the proceedings leading up to the issuing of such certificate of public convenience and necessity, and the right to appeal therefrom shall be as now provided by law and said rights are hereby expressly reserved to all interested parties in said proceedings. In addition to the powers now granted by law to the utilities commission of North Carolina, the said utilities commission is hereby vested with full power and authority to investigate and examine all projects set up or attempted to be set up under the provisions of this article and determine the question of the public convenience and necessity for said project. (1935, c. 456, s. 28.)

§ 157-29. Rentals and tenant selection.—It is hereby declared to be the policy of this state that each housing authority shall manage and operate its housing projects in an efficient manner so as to enable it to fix the rentals for dwelling accommodations at the lowest possible rates consistent with its providing decent, safe and sanitary dwelling accommodations, and that no housing authority shall construct or operate any such project for profit, or as a source of revenue to the city. To this end an authority shall fix the rentals for dwellings in its projects at no higher rates than it shall find to be necessary in order to produce revenues which (together with all other available monies, revenues, income and receipts of the authority from whatever sources derived) will be sufficient (a) to pay, as the same become due, the principal and interest on the bonds of the authority; (b) to meet the cost of, and to provide for, maintaining and operating the projects (including the cost of any insurance) and the administrative expenses of the authority; and (c) to create (during not less than the six years immediately succeeding its issuance of any bonds) a reserve sufficient to meet the largest principal and interest payment which will be due on such bonds in any one year thereafter and to maintain such reserve. In the operation or management of housing projects an authority shall at all times observe the following duties with respect to rentals and tenant selection: (a) it may rent or lease the dwelling accommodations therein only to persons who lack the amount of income which is necessary (as determined by the housing authority undertaking the housing project) to enable them, without financial assistance, to live in decent, safe and sanitary dwellings, without overcrowding;

(b) it may rent or lease the dwelling accommodations only at rentals within the financial reach of such persons; (c) it may rent or lease to a tenant dwelling accommodations consisting of the number of rooms (but no greater number) which it deems necessary to provide safe and sanitary accommodations to the proposed occupants thereof, without overcrowding; and (d) it shall not accept any person as a tenant in any housing project if the person or persons who would occupy the dwelling accommodations have an annual net income in excess of five times the annual rental of the quarters to be furnished such person or persons, except that in the case of families with three or more minor dependents, such ratio shall not exceed six to one; in computing the rental for this purpose of selecting tenants, there shall be included in the rental the average annual cost (as determined by the authority) to occupants of heat, water, electricity, gas, cooking range and other necessary services or facilities, whether or not the charge for such services and facilities is in fact included in the rental.

Nothing contained in this section shall be construed as limiting the power of an authority to vest in an obligee the right, in the event of a default by the authority, to take possession of a housing project or cause the appointment of a receiver thereof, free from all the restrictions imposed by this section. (1939, c. 150.)

§ 157-30. Creation and establishment validated.—The creation and establishment of housing authorities under the provisions of chapter four hundred and fifty-six, Public Laws of one thousand nine hundred and thirty-five, as amended by chapter two, Public Laws of one thousand nine hundred and thirty-eight, Extra Session, and as further amended by chapter one hundred and fifty, Public Laws of one thousand nine hundred and thirty-nine, and any additional amendments thereto, known as the Housing Authorities Law [§ 157-1 et seq.], together with all proceedings, acts and things heretofore undertaken, performed or done with reference thereto, are hereby validated, ratified, confirmed, approved and declared legal in all respects, notwithstanding any want of statutory authority or any defect or irregularity therein. (1939, c. 118, s. 1; 1941, c. 62, s. 1.)

§ 157-31. Contracts, agreements, etc., validated.—All contracts, agreements, obligations and undertakings of such housing authorities heretofore entered into relating to financing or aiding in the development, construction, maintenance or operation of any housing project or projects or to obtaining aid therefor from the United States housing authority, including (without limiting the generality of the foregoing) loan and annual contributions contracts and leases with the United States housing authority, agreements with municipalities or other public bodies (including those which are pledged or authorized to be pledged for the protection of the holders of any notes or bonds issued by such housing authorities or which are otherwise made a part of the contract with such holders of notes or bonds) relating to coöperation and contributions in aid of housing projects, payments (if any) in lieu of taxes, furnishing of municipal services and facilities, and the elimination of unsafe and insanitary dwellings, and contracts for the construction of housing projects, together with all proceedings, acts and things heretofore undertaken, performed or done with reference thereto, are hereby validated, ratified, confirmed, approved and declared legal in all respects, notwithstanding any want of statutory authority or any defect or irregularity therein. (1939, c. 118, s. 2; 1941, c. 62, s. 2.)

§ 157-32. Proceedings for issuance, etc., of bonds and notes validated.—All proceedings, acts and things heretofore undertaken, performed or done in or for the authorization, issuance, execution and delivery of notes and bonds by housing authorities for the purpose of financing or aiding in the development or construction of a housing project or projects, and all notes and bonds heretofore issued by housing authorities are hereby validated, ratified, confirmed, approved and declared legal in all respects, notwithstanding any want of statutory authority or any defect or irregularity therein. (1939, c. 118, s. 3; 1941, c. 62, s. 3.)

§ 157-33. Notice, hearing and creation of authority for a county.—Any twenty-five (25) residents of a county having a population of more than sixty thousand (60,000) may file a petition with the clerk of the board of county commissioners setting forth that there is a need for an authority to function in the county. Upon the filing of such a petition such clerk shall give notice of the time, place and purposes of a public hearing at which the board of county commissioners will determine the need for an authority in the county. Such notice shall be given at the county's expense by publishing a notice, at least ten days preceding the day on which the hearing is to be held, in a newspaper having a general circulation in the county or, if there be no such newspaper, by posting such a notice in at least three public places within the county, at least ten days preceding the day on which the hearing is to be held.

Upon the date fixed for said hearing to be held upon notice as provided herein, an opportunity to be heard shall be granted to all residents and taxpayers of the county and to all other interested persons. After such a hearing, the board of county commissioners shall determine (1) whether unsanitary or unsafe inhabited dwelling accommodations exist in the county and/or (2) whether there is a lack of safe or sanitary dwelling accommodations in the county available for all the inhabitants thereof. In determining whether dwelling accommodations are unsafe or unsanitary, the board of county commissioners shall take into consideration the following: The physical condition and age of the buildings; the degree of overcrowding; the percentage of the land coverage; the light and air available to the inhabitants of such dwelling accommodations; the size and arrangement of the rooms; the sanitary facilities; and the extent to which conditions exist in such buildings which endanger life or property by fire or other causes.

If it shall determine that either or both of the above enumerated conditions exist, the board of county commissioners shall adopt a resolution so finding (which need not go into any detail other than the mere finding) and shall thereupon appoint, as hereinafter provided, five commissioners to act as an authority. Said authority shall be a public body and a body corporate and politic upon the completion of the taking of the following proceedings:

The commissioners shall present to the secretary of state an appplication signed by them, which shall set forth (without any detail other than the mere recital) (1) that a notice has been given and public hearing has been held as aforesaid, that the board of county commissioners made the aforesaid determination after such hearing and appointed them as commissioners; (2) the name, and official residence of each of the commissioners, together with a certified copy of the appointment evidencing their right to office, the date and place of induction into and taking oath of office, and that they desire the housing authority to become a public body and a body corporate and politic under this article; (3) the term of office of each of the commissioners; (4) the name which is proposed for the corporation; and (5) the location of the principal office of the proposed corporation. The application shall be subscribed and sworn to by each of said commissioners before an officer authorized by the laws of the state to take and certify oaths, who shall certify upon the application that he personally knows the commissioners and knows them to be the officers as asserted in the application, and that each subscribed and swore thereto in the officer's presence. The secretary of state shall examine the application and if he finds that the name proposed for the corporation is not identical with that of a person or of any other corporation of this state or so nearly similar as to lead to confusion and uncertainty he shall receive and file it and shall record it in an appropriate book of record in his office.

When the application has been made, filed and recorded, as herein provided, the authority shall constitute a public body and a body corporate and politic under the name proposed in the application; the secretary of state shall make and issue to the said commissioners, a certificate of incorporation pursuant to this article, under the seal of the state, and shall record the same with the application.

The area of operation of such authority shall include said county but in no event shall it include any city as defined in this article.

If the board of county commissioners, after a hearing as aforesaid, shall determine that neither of the above enumerated conditions exist, it shall adopt a resolution denying the petition. After three months shall have expired from the date of the denial of any such petitions, subsequent petitions may be filed as aforesaid and new hearings and determinations made thereon.

In any suit, action or proceeding involving the validity or enforcement of, or relating to any contract of the authority, the authority shall be conclusively deemed to have been established in accordance with the provisions of this article upon proof of the issuance of the aforesaid certificate by the secretary of state. A copy of such certificate, duly certified by the secretary of state, shall be admissible in evidence in any such suit, action or proceeding, and shall be conclusive proof of the filing and contents thereof. (1941, c. 78, s. 4.)

§ 157-34. Commissioners and powers of authority for a county.—The commissioners of a housing authority created for a county may be appointed and removed by the board of county commissioners of the county in the same manner as the commissioners of a housing authority created for a city may be appointed and removed by the mayor, and except as otherwise provided herein, each housing authority created for a county and the commissioners thereof shall have the same functions, rights, powers, duties and limitations provided for housing authorities created for cities and the commissioners of such housing authorities: Provided, that for such purposes the term "mayor" or "council" as used in the housing authorities law and any amendments thereto shall be construed as meaning "board of county commissioners," the term "city clerk" as used therein shall be construed as meaning "clerk of the board of county commissioners" and the term "city" as used therein shall be construed as meaning "county" unless a different meaning clearly appears from the context: Provided, further, that a housing authority created for a county shall not be subject to the limitations provided in clause (d) of § 157-29 of the housing authorities law with respect to housing projects for farmers of low income. (1941, c. 78, s. 4.)

§ 157-35. Creation of regional housing authority.—If the board of county commissioners of each of two or more contiguous counties having an aggregate population of more than sixty thousand (60,000) by resolution declares that there is a need for one housing authority to be created for all of such counties to exercise powers and other functions herein prescribed for a housing authority in such counties, a public body corporate and politic to be known as a regional housing authority for all of such counties shall thereupon exist for and exercise its powers and other functions in such counties, and thereupon any housing authority created for any of such counties shall cease to exist: Provided, that the board of county commissioners of a county shall not adopt a resolution as aforesaid if there is a housing authority created for such county which has any obligations outstanding.

The board of county commissioners of each of two or more said contiguous counties shall by resolution declare that there is a need for one regional housing authority to be created for all of such counties to exercise powers and other functions herein prescribed in such counties, if such board of county commissioners finds (and only if it finds) (a) unsanitary or unsafe dwelling accommodations exist in the area of its respective county and/or there is a lack of safe or sanitary dwelling accommodations in the county available for all the inhabitants thereof and (b) that a regional housing authority for the purposed region would be a more efficient or economical administrative unit than a housing authority for an area having a smaller population to carry out the purposes of the housing authorities law and any amendments thereto, in such county. In determining whether dwelling accommodations are unsafe or unsanitary, the board of county commissioners shall take into consideration the following: The physical condition and age of the buildings; the degree of overcrowding; the percentage of land coverage; the light and air available to the inhabitants of such dwelling accommodations; the size and arrangement of the rooms; the sanitary facilities; and the extent to which conditions exist in such buildings which endanger life or property by fire or other causes.

If it shall determine that both (a) and (b) of the above enumerated conditions exist, the board of county commissioners shall adopt a resolution so finding (which need not go into any detail other than the mere finding). After the appointment, as hereinater provided, of the commissioners to act as the regional housing authority, said authority shall be a public body and a body corporate and politic upon the completion of the taking of the following proceedings:

The commissioners shall present to the secretary of the state an application signed by them, which shall set forth (without any detail other than the mere recital) (1) that the boards of county commissioners made the aforesaid determination and that they have been appointed as commissioners; (2) the name, and official residence of each of the commissioners, together with a certified copy of the appointment evidencing their right to office, the date and place of induction into and taking oath of office, and that they desire the housing authority to become a public body and a body corporate and politic under this act; (3) the term of office of each of the commissioners; (4) the name which is proposed for the corporation; and (5) the location of the principal office of the proposed corporation. The application shall be subscribed and sworn to by each of said commissioners before an officer authorized by the laws of the state to take and certify oaths, who shall certify upon the application that he personally knows the commissioners and knows them to be the officers as asserted in the application, and that each subscribed and swore thereto in the officer's presence. The secretary of state shall examine the application and if he finds that the name proposed for the corporation is not identical with that of a person or of any other corporation of this state or so nearly similar as to lead to confusion and uncertainty he shall receive and file it and shall record it in an appropriate book of record in his office.

When the application has been made, filed and recorded, as herein provided, the authority shall constitute a public body and a body corporate and politic under the name proposed in the application; the secretary of state shall make and issue to the said commissioners, a certificate of incorporation pursuant to this article, under the seal of the state, and shall record the same with the application.

The area of operation of such regional housing authority shall include all of the counties for which such regional housing authority is created and established but in no event shall it include any city which has heretofore established a housing authority pursuant to this article nor a city or town having a population in excess of five thousand (5,000).

In any suit, action or proceeding involving the validity or enforcement of, or relating to any contract of the regional housing authority, the regional housing authority shall be conclusively deemed to have been established in accordance with the provisions of this article upon proof of the issuance of the aforesaid certificate by the secretary of state. A copy of such certificate, duly certified by the secretary of state, shall be admissible in evidence in any such suit, action or proceeding, and shall be conclusive proof of the filing and contents thereof. (1941, c. 78, s. 4.)

§ 157-36. Commissioners of regional housing authority.—When the board of county commissioners of each of two or more contiguous counties has adopted a resolution as provided above, such board of county commissioners shall thereupon appoint one person as a commissioner of the regional housing authority. The board of county commissioners of each such county shall thereafter appoint each person to succeed such commissioner. A certificate of the appointment of any such commissioner signed by the chairman of the board of county commissioners shall be conclusive evidence of the due and proper appointment of such commissioner. If the board of county commissioners of an even number of counties adopt resolutions as aforesaid, the governor of North Carolina shall appoint one additional commissioner to such regional housing authority. The governor shall likewise appoint each person to succeed such additional commissioner. A certificate of the appointment of any such additional commissioner shall be signed by the governor and filed with the secretary of state. A copy of such certificate, duly certified by the secretary of state, shall be conclusive evidence of the due and proper appointment of such additional commissioner. The commissioners of a regional housing authority shall be appointed for terms of five years except that all vacancies shall be filled for the unexpired terms. Each commissioner shall hold office until his successor has been appointed and has qualified.

For inefficiency or neglect of duty or misconduct in office, a commissioner of a regional housing authority may be removed by the board of county commissioners appointing him, or in the case of the commissioner appointed by the governor, by the governor: Provided, that such commissioner shall have been given a copy of the charges against him at least ten days prior to the hearing thereon and: Provided, that such commissioner shall have had an opportunity to be heard in person or by counsel.

The commissioners appointed as aforesaid shall constitute the regional housing authority, and the powers of such authority shall be vested in such commissioners in office from time to time.

The commissioners of a regional housing authority shall elect a chairman from among the commissioners and shall have power to select or employ such other officers and employees as the regional housing authority may require. A majority of the commissioners of a regional housing authority shall constitute a quorum of such authority for the purpose of conducting its business and exercising its powers and for all other purposes. (1941, c. 78, s. 4.)

§ 157-37. Powers of regional housing authority.—Except as otherwise provided herein, a regional housing authority and the commissioners thereof shall, within the area of operation of such regional housing authority, have the same functions, rights, powers, duties and limitations provided for housing authorities created for cities or counties and the commissioners of such housing authorities: Provided, that for such purposes the term "mayor" or "council" as used in the housing authorities law and any amendments thereto shall be construed as meaning "board of county commissioners," the term "city clerk" as used therein shall be construed as meaning "clerk of the board of county commissioners" and the term "city" as used therein shall be construed as meaning "county" unless a different meaning clearly appears from the context: Provided, further, that a regional housing authority shall not be subject to the limitations provided in clause (d) of § 157-29 of the housing authorities law with respect to housing projects for farmers of low income. (1941, c. 78, s. 4.)

§ 157-38. Rural housing projects. — Housing authorities created for counties and regional housing authorities are specifically empowered and authorized to borrow money, accept grants and exercise their other powers to provide housing for farmers of low income. In connection with such projects, such housing authorities may enter into such lease or purchase agreements, accept such conveyances and rent or sell dwellings forming part of such projects to or for farmers of low income, as such housing authority deems necessary in order to assure the achievement of the objectives of this article. Such leases, agreements or conveyances may include such covenants as the housing authority deems appropriate regarding such dwellings and the tracts of land described in any such instrument, which covenants shall be deemed to run with the land where the housing authority deems it necessary and the parties to such instrument so stipulate. Nothing contained in this section shall be construed as limiting any other powers of any housing authority. (1941, c. 78, s. 4.)

§ 157-39. Housing applications by farmers.— The owner of any farm operated, or worked upon, by farmers of low income in need of safe and sanitary housing may file an application with a housing authority of a county or a regional housing authority requesting that it provide for a safe and sanitary dwelling or dwellings for occupancy by such farmers of low income. Such applications shall be received and examined by housing authorities in connection with the formulation of projects or programs to provide housing for farmers of low income. (1941, c. 78, s. 4.)

Art. 2. Municipal Coöperation and Aid.

§ 157-40. Finding and declaration of necessity. — It is hereby declared that insanitary or unsafe dwelling accommodations exist in various areas of the State, and that consequently many persons of low income are forced to reside in such dwelling accommodations; that these conditions cause an increase in and spread of disease and crime and constitute a menace to the health, safety, morals and welfare of the citizens of the State and impair economic values; that the clearance, replanning and reconstruction of the areas in which insanitary or unsafe housing conditions exist and the providing of safe and sanitary dwelling accommodations for persons of low income are public uses and purposes for which private property may be acquired; that it is in the public interest that work on such projects be instituted as soon as possible in order to relieve unemployment which now constitutes an emergency; and the necessity in the public interest for the provisions hereinafter enacted, is hereby declared as a matter of legislative determination. (1935, c. 408, s. 1.)

(1935, c. 408, s. 3; 1939, c. 137.)

§ 157-43. Advances and donations by the city and municipality.—The council or other governing body of the city included within the territorial boundaries of such authority is authorized to make an estimate of the amount of money necessary for the administrative expenses and overhead of the housing authority during the first year following the incorporation of such housing authority, and to appropriate such amount to the authority out of any moneys in the city treasury not appropriated to some other purposes, and to cause the moneys so appropriated to be paid the authority as a donation, and moneys so appropriated and paid to a housing authority by a city shall be deemed to be a necessary expense of such city. (1935, c. 408, s. 5.)

§ 157-45. Restrictions on exercise of right of eminent domain; duties of utilities commission; investigation of projects. — Notwithstanding any finding of public convenience and necessity, either in general or specific, by the terms of this article, the right of eminent domain shall not be exercised unless and until a certificate of public convenience and necessity for such project has been issued by the utilities commission of North Carolina, and the proceedings leading up to the issuing of such certificate of public convenience and necessity, and the right to appeal therefrom shall be as now provided by law and said rights are hereby expressly reserved to all interested parties in said proceedings. That in addition to the powers now granted by law to the utilities commission of North Carolina, the said utilities commission is hereby vested with full power and authority to investigate and examine all projects set up or attempted to be set up under the provisions of this article and determine the question of public convenience and necessity for said project. (1935, c. 408, s. 6.)

§ 157-46. Purpose of article.—It is the purpose and intent of this article that the State, its subdivisions and agencies, and any county, city or municipality of the State shall be authorized, and are hereby authorized, to do any and all things necessary to aid and coöperate in the planning, construction and operation of housing projects by the United States of America and by housing authorities. (1935, c. 408, s. 7.)

Art. 3. Eminent Domain.

§ 157-48. Finding and declaration of necessity.—It is hereby declared that insanitary or unsafe dwelling accommodations exist in various areas of the State and that consequently many persons of low income are forced to reside in such dwelling accommodations; that these conditions cause an increase in and spread of disease and crime and constitute a menace to the health, safety, morals and welfare of the citizens of the State and impair economic values; that the clearance, replanning and reconstruction of the areas in which insanitary or unsafe housing conditions exist and the providing of safe and sanitary dwelling accommodations for persons of low income are public uses and purposes for which private property may be acquired; that it is in the public interest that work on such projects be instituted as soon as possible in order to relieve unemployment which now constitutes an emergency; and the necessity in the public interest for the provision hereinafter enacted, is hereby declared as a matter of legislative determination. (1935, c. 409, s. 1.)

§ 157-49. Housing project.—The term "housing project" whenever used in this article shall mean any undertaking (a) to demolish, clear, remove, alter or repair unsafe or insanitary housing and/or (b) to provide dwelling accommodations for persons of low income, and said term may also include such buildings and equipment for recreational or social assemblies for educational, health or welfare purposes, and such necessary utilities as are designed primarily for the benefit and use of the occupants of such dwelling accommodations. (1935, c. 409, s. 2.)

§ 157-50. Eminent domain for housing projects.—Any corporation, which is an agency of the United States of America, shall have the right to acquire by eminent domain any real property, including improvements and fixtures thereon, which it may deem necessary for a housing project being constructed, operated or aided by it or the United States of America. Any corporation borrowing money or receiving other financial assistance from the United States of America or any agency thereof for the purpose of financing the construction or operation of any housing project or projects, the operation of which will be subject to public supervision or regulation, shall have the right to acquire by eminent domain any real property, including fixtures and improvements thereon, which it may deem necessary for such project. A housing project shall be deemed to be subject to public supervision or regulation within the meaning of this article if the rents to be charged by it are in any way subject to the supervision, regulation or approval of the United States of America, the State or any of their subdivisions or agencies, or by a housing authority, city, municipality or county, whether such right to supervise, regulate or approve be by virtue of any law, statute, contract or otherwise.

Any such corporate agency of the United States of America or any such corporation, upon the adoption of a resolution declaring that the acquisition of the property described therein is in the public interest and necessary for public use, may exercise the power of eminent domain pursuant to the provisions of either: (a) Sections 40-11 to 40-29, both inclusive; (b) Any other applicable statutory provisions, now in force or hereafter enacted for the exercise of the power of eminent domain. (1935, c. 409, s. 3.)

§ 157-51. Certificate of convenience and necessity required; right of appeal; investigation of projects.—Notwithstanding any finding of public convenience and necessity, either in general or specific, by the terms of this article, the right of eminent domain shall not be exercised unless and until a certificate of public convenience and necessity for such project has been issued by the utilities commission of North Carolina, and the proceedings leading up to the issuing of such certificate of public convenience and necessity, and the right to appeal therefrom shall be as now provided by law and said rights are hereby expressly reserved to all interested parties in said proceedings. In addition to the powers now granted by law to the utilities commission of North Carolina, the said utilities commission is hereby vested with full power and authority to investigate and examine all projects set up or attempted to be set up under the provisions of this article and determine the question of the public convenience and necessity for said project. (1935, c. 409, s. 4.)

Art. 4. National Defense Housing Projects.

§ 157-52. Purpose of article.—It is hereby found and declared that the National Defense Program involves large increases in the military forces and personnel in this State, a great increase in the number of workers in already established manufacturing centers and the bringing of a large number of workers and their families to new centers of defense industries in the State; that there is an acute shortage of safe and sanitary dwellings available to such persons and their families in this State which impedes the National Defense Program; that it is imperative that action be taken immediately to assure the availability of safe and sanitary dwellings for such persons to enable the rapid expansion of National Defense activities in this State and to avoid a large labor turnover in defense industries which would seriously hamper their production; that the provisions hereinafter enacted are necessary to assure the availability of safe and sanitary dwellings for persons engaged in National Defense activities which otherwise would not be provided at this time, and that such provisions are for the public use and purpose of facilitating the National Defense Program in this State. It is further declared to be the purpose of this article to authorize housing authorities to do any and all things necessary or desirable to secure the financial aid of the Federal Government, or to cooperate with or act as agent of the Federal Government, in the expeditious development and the administration of projects to assure the availability when needed of safe and sanitary dwellings for persons engaged in National Defense activities. (1941, c. 63, s. 1.)

§ 157-53. Definitions.—(a) "Persons engaged in National Defense activities," as used in this article shall include: Enlisted men in the military and naval services of the United States and employees of the War and Navy Departments assigned to duty at military or naval reservations, posts or bases; and workers engaged or to be engaged in industries connected with and essential to the National Defense Program; and shall include the families of the aforesaid persons who are living with them.

(b) "Persons of low income," as used in this article, shall mean persons or families who lack the amount of income which is necessary (as determined by the housing authority undertaking the housing project) to enable them, without financial assistance, to live in decent, safe and sanitary dwellings, without overcrowding.

(c) "Development" as used in this article, shall mean any and all undertakings necessary for the planning, land acquisition, demolition, financing, construction or equipment in connection with a project (including the negotiation or award of contracts therefor), and shall include the acquisition of any project (in whole or in part) from the Federal Government.

(e) "Federal Government," as used in this article, shall mean the United States of America or any agency or instrumentality, corporate or otherwise, of the United States of America.

(f) The development of a project shall be deemed to be "Initiated," within the meaning of this article, if a housing authority has issued any bonds, notes or other obligations with respect to financing the development of such project of the authority, or has contracted with the Federal Government with respect to the exercise of powers hereunder in the development of such project of the Federal Government for which an allocation of funds has been made prior to December thirty-first, one thousand nine hundred and forty-three.

Rights, powers, etc., of housing authorities relative to National Defense Projects.—Any housing authority may undertake the development and administration of projects to assure the availability of safe and sanitary dwellings for persons engaged in National Defense activities whom the housing authority determines would not otherwise be able to secure safe and sanitary dwellings within the vicinity thereof, but no housing authority shall initiate the development of any such project pursuant to this article after December thirty-first, one thousand nine hundred and forty-three.

In the ownership, development or administration of such projects, a housing authority shall have all the rights, powers, privileges and immunities that such authority has under any provision of law relating to the ownership, development or administration of slum clearance and housing projects for persons of low income, in the same manner as though all the provisions of law applicable to slum clearance and housing projects for persons of low income were applicable to projects developed or administered to assure the availability of safe and sanitary dwellings for persons engaged in National Defense activities as provided in this article, and housing projects developed or administered hereunder shall constitute "housing projects" under article one of this chapter, as that term is used therein: Provided, that during the period (herein called the "National Defense Period") that a housing authority finds (which finding shall be conclusive in any suit, action or proceeding) that within its authorized area of operation, or any part thereof, there is an acute shortage of safe and sanitary dwellings which impedes the National Defense Program in this State and that the necessary safe and sanitary dwellings would not otherwise be provided when needed for persons engaged in National Defense activities, any project developed or administered by such housing authority (or by any housing authority cooperating with it) in such area pursuant to this article, with the financial aid of the Federal Government (or as agent for the Federal Government as hereinafter provided), shall not be subject to the limitations provided in § 157-29; and provided further, that, during the National Defense Period, a housing authority may make payments in such amounts as it finds necessary or desirable for any services, facilities, works, privileges or improvemeets furnished for or in connection with any such projects. After the National Defense Period, any such projects owned and administered by a housing authority shall be administered for the purposes and in accordance with the provisions of article one of this chapter. (1941, c. 63, s. 2.)

§ 157-55. Cooperation with Federal Government; sale to same.—A housing authority may exercise any or all of its powers for the purpose of cooperating with, or acting as agent for, the Federal Government in the development or administration of projects by the Federal Government to assure the availability of safe and sanitary dwellings for persons engaged in National Defense activities and may undertake the development or administration of any such project for the Federal Government. In order to assure the availability of safe and sanitary housing for persons engaged in National Defense activities, a housing authority may sell (in whole or in part) to the Federal Government any housing projects developed for persons of low income but not yet occupied by such persons; such sale shall be at such price and upon such terms as the housing authority shall prescribe and shall include provision for the satisfaction of all debts and liabilities of the authority relating to such project. (1941, c. 63, s. 3.)

§ 157-56. Coöperation of state public bodies in developing projects.—Any state public body shall have the same rights and powers to cooperate with housing authorities, or with the Federal Government, with respect to the development or administration of projects to assure the availability of safe and sanitary dwellings for persons engaged in National Defense activities that such state public body has pursuant to article two of this chapter, for the purpose of assisting the development or administration of slum clearance or housing projects for persons of low income. (1941, c. 63, s. 4.)

§ 157-57. Obligations issued for projects made legal investments; security for public deposits.—Bonds or other obligations issued by a housing authority for a project developed or administered pursuant to this article shall be security for public deposits and legal investments to the same extent and for the same persons, institutions, associations, corporations, bodies and officers as bonds or other obligations issued pursuant to article one of this chapter for the development of a slum clearance or housing project for persons of low income. (1941, c. 63, s. 5.)

§ 157-58. Bonds, notes, etc., issued heretofore, validated.—All bonds, notes, contracts, agreements and obligations of housing authorities heretofore issued or entered into relating to financing or undertaking (including cooperating with or acting as agent of the Federal Government in) the development or administration of any project to assure the availability of safe and sanitary dwellings for persons engaged in National Defense activities, are hereby validated and declared legal in all respects, notwithstanding any defect or irregularity therein or any want of statutory authority. (1941, c. 63, s. 6.)

§ 157-59. Further declaration of powers granted housing authorities.—This article shall constitute an independent authorization for a housing authority to undertake the development or administration of projects to assure the availability of safe and sanitary dwellings for persons engaged in National Defense activities as provided in this article and for a housing authority to cooperate with, or act as agent for, the Federal Government in the development or administration of similar projects by the Federal Government. A housing authority may do any and all things necessary or desirable to cooperate with, or act as agent for, the Federal Government, or to secure financial aid, in the expeditious development or in the administration of projects to assure the availability of safe and sanitary dwellings for persons engaged in National Defense activities and to effectuate the purposes of this article. (1941, c. 63, s. 7.)

§ 157-60. Powers conferred by article supplemental.—The powers conferred by this article shall be in addition and supplemental to the powers conferred by any other law, and nothing contained herein shall be construed as limiting any other powers of a housing authority. (1941, c. 63, s. 9.)

§ 158-2. Ratification or petition of voters required.—No city, incorporated town, or county, shall raise or appropriate money under this chapter unless and until this chapter shall have been approved by a majority of the qualified voters of such city, incorporated town, or county, at an election as provided in this chapter; or by a petition of the registered voters in any town of less than three thousand inhabitants, as provided in this chapter. (1925, c. 33, s. 2.)

§ 158-3. Election to adopt chapter.—The mayor and board of aldermen, or other governing body of any city, or the governing body of any incorporated town, or the county commissioners of any county, may at any time by ordinance call a special election for the purpose of submitting the question of the approval of this chapter to the voters of such city, incorporated town, or county. In said ordinance said board of aldermen, or other governing body of any city, or town, or said county commissioners, shall specify the time of holding the election and determine and set forth whether or not there shall be a new registration of the voters for such election. Notice of the registration of the voters and of the election shall be given, the voters shall be registered, the election shall be held, the returns shall be canvassed, and the results shall be determined, declared and published under and pursuant to the provisions of § 160-387, known as the Municipal Finance Act, and as therein provided for an election upon a bond ordinance providing for the issuance of bonds for a purpose other than the payment of necessary expenses of a municipality. A ballot or ballots shall be furnished to each qualified voter at said election. The ballots for those who vote in favor of this chapter shall contain the words "for the act to aid in the development of any city, incorporated town, or county," and the ballots for those who vote against this chapter shall contain the words "against the act to aid in the development of any city, incorporated town, or county." Except as otherwise provided in said § 160-387, the registration and election shall be conducted in accordance with the laws then governing elections for municipal or county officers in such municipality or county, and governing the registration of the electors for such election of officers. (1925, c. 33, s. 3.)

§ 158-4. Action to invalidate election; limitation.—No right of action or defense founded upon the invalidity of the election shall be asserted, nor shall the validity of the election be open to question in any court upon any ground whatever, except in an action or proceeding commenced within thirty days after the publication of the statement showing the result of the election. (1925, c. 33, s. 4.)

§ 158-5. Petition to adopt chapter in certain towns.—In any incorporated town of less than three thousand inhabitants, in lieu of an election as herein provided, the will of the voters may be determined by a petition in writing giving approval of this chapter, which petition shall be signed by at least three-fourths of all the registered voters of said municipality whose names appeared upon the registration books of the municipality for the election of municipal officers next preceding the time of the filing of said petition: Provided, that such three-fourths of the voters shall be the owners of at least seventy-five per cent of the total taxable property of said town, as shown by the assessed valuation, and the tax lists of such town as last fixed for municipal taxation. The residence address of each signer shall be written after his signature; each signature to the petition shall be verified by a statement (which may relate to a number of signatures) made by some adult resident freeholder of the municipality, under oath before an officer competent to administer oaths to the effect that the signature was made in his presence, and is the genuine signature of the person whose name it purports to be. The petition need not be all on one sheet, and if on more than one sheet, it shall be verified as to each sheet. The board of aldermen or other governing body of said town shall canvass said petition and shall include in their canvass the voters signing the petition, and the number of voters upon the registration books and qualified to sign the petition, and the assessed valuation at last fixed for municipal taxation of the property owned by the voters signing the petition, and the entire assessed valuation of property within the town, and shall judiciously determine and declare the result of the canvass of said petition, and shall prepare and publish a statement of the result, and publish the same as required in the case of an election by ballot under this chapter. The same limitation upon the right of action or defense founded upon the invalidity of the petition shall apply in the case of an election by ballot under this chapter. (1925, c. 33, s. 5.)

§ 158-6. Effect of adoption of chapter.—If and when this chapter shall have been approved by the voters of any city, incorporated town, or county, at an election or by petition as provided by this chapter, then and thereafter the governing body of such city, or incorporated town, or the county commissioners of such county, may raise by taxation and appropriate money within the limits and for the purposes specified in this chapter. (1925, c. 33, s. 6.)

§ 159-1. Official title. — This article shall be known and may be cited as the Local Government Act. (1931, c. 60, s. 1.)

§ 159-2. Definitions. — The word commission will herein be used to refer to the Local Government Commission created by this article; the word Director will refer to the Director of Local Government; the word unit will be used to refer to a county, city, town, incorporated village, township, school district, school taxing district or other district or political sub-division of government of the State; and where bonds or notes are mentioned reference shall be deemed made to any obligations to pay money issued by or in behalf of any unit unless otherwise indicated or specified. (1931, c. 60, s. 2.)

§ 159-3. Creation of local government commission.—There is hereby created a commission to be known as the local government commission, consisting of nine members of whom the state auditor and the state treasurer and the secretary of state and the commissioner of revenue shall be members ex-officio and of whom five members shall be appointed by the governor to hold office during his pleasure. One of such appointees shall have had experience as the chief executive officer or a member of the governing body of a city or town and one thereof shall have had experience as a member of the governing body of a county at the time of their appointment. The members of the commission, both ex-officio members and appointed members, shall be required to give such bond, if any, as the governor may require. The state treasurer shall be ex-officio director of local government and shall also be the treasurer and chairman of the commission. The board shall elect a vice-chairman from its members who shall hold office at the will of the commission. The appointed members of the commission shall be entitled to ten dollars for each day actually spent in the service of the commission, but shall receive no salary or other compensation, and all members shall be entitled to their necessary traveling and other expenses. The director shall appoint some competent person as secretary of the commission and assistant to the director and may appoint such assistants as may be necessary, who shall be responsible to the director, and may fix their compensation subject to the approval of the governor. The commission shall have power to adopt such rules and regulations as may be necessary for carrying out its duties under this article. The commission shall hold quarterly regular meetings in the city of Raleigh at such place and times as may be designated by the commission, and may hold special meetings at any time upon notice to each member personally given or sent by mail or telegraph not later than the fifth day before the meeting, which notice need not state the purpose of the meeting. It shall have the right to call upon the attorney general or any assistant thereof for legal advice in relation to its powers and duties. The functions of the local government commission and of the director of local government shall be maintained and operated as a separate and distinct division of the department of the state treasury. (1931, c. 60, s. 7; 1931, c. 296, s. 8; 1933, c. 31, s. 1.)

§ 159-4. Executive committee; powers; quorum. —The state auditor and state treasurer, the commissioner of revenue and secretary of state shall constitute the executive committee of the commission and shall be vested with all the powers of the commission except when the commission is in session and except as otherwise provided in this article. Action of the commission as a whole and of the executive committee shall be taken by resolution which shall be in effect upon passage by a majority of the members of the commission or the committee present at the meeting at which such resolution is passed. A majority of the commission shall be a quorum. (1931, c. 60, s. 8; 1933, c. 31, s. 2.)

§ 159-5. Executive Committee may act for Commission; bond for expenses for attending special meetings.—All action herein required or permitted to be taken by the Commission may be taken by the Executive Committee and shall be regarded as action by the Commission unless otherwise herein expressly provided, but the Committee shall not overrule or reverse any action of the Commission as a whole. The Commission shall not be required to meet as a whole except at the times fixed for quarterly sessions, and may demand that any application for a special meeting may be accompanied by a bond or other security for the costs and expenses of such special meeting to be given by the unit or person at whose request the special meeting is called. (1931, c. 60, s. 9.)

§ 159-6. Review by Commission of actions of Executive Committee. — Action of the Commission taken by the Executive Committee, except approval of notes maturing not more than six months from their date, shall be subject to review by the Commission as a whole upon the application of any aggrieved party, including any taxpayer or citizen, and including any member of the Executive Committee, if the aggrieved party shall within five days after such action by the Executive Committee file with the Commission a request for such review. (1931, c. 60, s. 10.)

§ 159-7. Application to Commission for issuance of bonds or notes.—Before any bonds or notes are issued by or in behalf of any unit and before the question of such issuance shall be submitted at an election, except bonds or notes whose issuance has heretofore been approved by the State Sinking Fund Commission under the provisions of Public Laws 1929, c. 277, the board authorized by law to issue the same or an officer thereof shall make application to the Commission (either before or after such authorization) for its approval of the proposed bonds or notes and shall state such facts in such application or by exhibits annexed thereto in regard to such bonds or notes and such unit and its financial condition as may be required by the Commission. The Commission shall consider such application and shall determine whether the issuance of such bonds or notes is necessary or expedient. (1931, c. 60, s. 11.)

§ 159-8. Determining advisability of proposed issues.—In determining whether a proposed issue of bonds or notes shall be approved, the Commission may consider the necessity for any improvement to be made from the proceeds of any such bonds or notes, the amount of indebtedness of the unit then outstanding, the fact that sinking funds for existing debts have been adequately maintained or have not been adequately maintained, the percentage of collections of taxes for the preceding fiscal year, the fact of compliance or non-compliance with the law in the matter of budgetary control, the question of whether the unit is in default in the payment of any of its indebtedness or interest thereon, the existing tax rates, the increase of tax rate, if any, necessary to maintain such sinking funds adequately, the assessed value of taxable property, and the reasonable ability of the unit to sustain the additional tax levy, if any, necessary, to pay the interest and principal of the proposed obligations, as the same become payable. If the proposed issue is for a public improvement in the nature of establishing or enlarging a revenue producing enterprise, the Commission shall take into consideration the probable earnings of the improvement and the extent to which such earnings will be sufficient to pay the interest and principal when due of the proposed obligations or that part thereof to be devoted to such improvement. The Commission shall also consider the adequacy or inadequacy of the amount of the proposed issue for the accomplishment of the purpose for which the obligations are to be issued, and whether such amount is excessive. The Commission shall have authority to inquire into and to give consideration to any other matters which it may believe to have a bearing on the question presented. (1931, c. 60, s. 12.)

§ 159-9. Commission to order issue if satisfied of certain points enumerated; public hearing on refusal. — If, upon the information and evidence received the Commission is of the opinion (a) that issuance of the proposed obligations is necessary or expedient and (b) that the amount proposed is adequate and not excessive and, except as to funding and refunding bonds, (c) either that adequate sinking funds have been maintained or that reasonable assurance has been given that thenceforth they will be maintained to the extent required by or under the authority of law, and (d) that the increase in tax rate, if any, that will be necessitated for the proper maintenance of sinking funds as so required will not be unduly burdensome and (e) that the unit is not in default in the payment of the principal or interest of any of its indebtedness and (f) that the requirements of law for budgetary control have been substantially complied with and (g) that at least eighty (80%) per cent of the general taxes of the unit for the preceding fiscal year have been collected, then and in such event the Commission shall make its order approving such issuance. If upon the information presented the Commission is not of such opinion or is in doubt as to any facts or as to any conclusions to be drawn therefrom, it shall so notify the officer or board making the application, and if such officer or board so request, shall give notice that the Commission will hold a public hearing on the application at a time and place to be specified in such notice, at which public hearing the officers and citizens and tax-payers of the unit may be heard. The Commission may designate its Secretary or any other suitable person to conduct any such hearing and to prepare a digest of testimony and submit the same and his recommendations for the consideration of the Commission. (1931, c. 60, s. 13.)

§ 159-10. Order of refusal after hearing; vote of unit to veto action of Commission. — If after any such hearing the Commission should not be of such opinion, it shall enter an order giving its reasons for not holding such opinion and in that event the proposed obligations shall not be issued except in such amount and in such manner, if any, as the Commission may approve, or unless, and until, the proposed indebtedness shall have been submitted to and approved by a vote of the voters of the local unit for which such indebtedness is proposed, such election to be held in the manner, if any, provided by law for the holding of elections on the question of issuing such bonds, and otherwise in such manner as may be required by the Commission (1931, c. 60, s. 14.)

§ 159-11. Review by Commission of approval or refusal of Executive Committee. — An order of the Commission made by the Executive committee approving such issuance shall not be reviewable by the Commission as a whole unless request for such review shall be filed with the Commission within five days, Sundays excepted, after such order shall be given (except an order passed by unanimous vote of members present approving notes running not more than six months, which shall not be reviewable) but orders of the Commission by the Executive Committee declining to approve issuance may be reviewed by the Commission as a whole if application therefor shall be filed with the Commission within thirty days after such order. New evidence and information may be considered upon any such review, and the Commission as a whole shall not be bound by the evidence or information considered by the Executive Committee. (1931, c. 60, s. 15.)

§ 159-12. Legality of bonds and notes not involved.—The approval by the Commission of bonds or notes shall not extend to or be regarded as an approval of the legality of the bonds or notes in any respect. (1931, c. 60, s. 16.)

§ 159-13. Sale of bonds and notes.—All bonds and notes of a unit, unless sold pursuant to a call for bids heretofore legally given, shall be sold by the commission at its office in the city of Raleigh, but the commission shall not be required to make any such sale or to call for bids for any bonds or notes until it shall have approved the issuance thereof as hereinabove provided nor until it shall have received such transcripts, certificates and documents as it may in its discretion require as a condition precedent to the sale or advertisement. Before any such sale is conducted the commission shall cause a notice of the proposed sale to be published at least once at least ten days before the date fixed for the receipt of bids (a) in a newspaper published in the unit having the largest or next largest circulation in the unit or if no newspaper is there published, then in a newspaper published in the county in which the unit is located, if any, and if there be no such newspaper such notice shall be posted at the door of the court house, and (b) such notice, in the discretion of the commission, may be published also in some other newspaper of greater general circulation published in the state. The commission may in its discretion cause such notice to be published in a journal approved by the commission and published in New York City, devoted primarily to the subject of state, county and municipal bonds; provided, however, that notes maturing not more than six months from their date may be disposed of either by private or public negotiation, after five days notice has been given in the manner specified in clause (a) of this section; and provided, further, that upon request of the board or body authorizing any of such bonds or notes for the purpose of refunding, funding, or renewing indebtedness, and with the consent of the holder of any such indebtedness so to be refunded, funded or renewed, the commission through the state treasurer may exchange any such bonds or notes for a like or greater amount of such indebtedness, and make such adjustment of accrued interest as may be requested by said board or body, in which event the publication of notice as hereinabove provided shall not be required. The notice published shall state that the bonds or notes are to be sold upon sealed bids and that there will be no auction, and shall give the amount of the bonds or notes, the place of sale, the time of sale or the time limit for the receipt of proposals and that bidders must present with their bids a certified check upon an incorporated bank or trust company payable unconditionally to the order of the state treasurer for two per cent of the face value of the bonds and one-half of one per cent on notes bid for, drawn on some bank or trust company, the purpose of such check being to secure the unit against any loss resulting from the failure of the bidder to comply with the terms of his bid. The commission shall keep a record of the names and addresses of all who request information as to the time for receipt of bids for such bonds or notes, and shall mail or send a copy of such notice of sale and a descriptive circular in relation thereto to all such names and addresses, but failure so to do shall not affect the legality of the bonds or notes. (1931, c. 60, s. 17; 1931, c. 296, s. 1; 1933, c. 258, s. 1.)

§ 159-14. Proposals opened in public; award; rejection of bids.—All proposals shall be opened in public and the bonds or notes shall be awarded to the highest legal bidder, if a fixed rate of interest is named in the notice, or shall be awarded to the highest bidder for the lowest interest rate upon which a legal offer is made if the notice states that bidders may specify the rate of interest, or, if a notice of sale of bonds states that bidders may name one rate for part of the bonds of an issue and another rate or rates for the balance, to the bidder offering to purchase the bonds at the lowest interest cost to the unit, such cost to be determined by deducting the total amount of the premium bid from the aggregate amount of interest upon all of the bonds until their respective maturities, or, if a notice of sale of notes so provides, to the bidder offering to purchase the notes at the lowest interest cost to the unit, such cost to be determined by deducting the total amount of the premium bid from the aggregate amount of interest upon the notes until their maturity. No legal bids may be rejected unless all bids are rejected. If the bids rejected contain any legal bid which is legally acceptable under the advertisement, the bonds or notes shall not be sold until after further advertisement and under the conditions herein prescribed for the first advertisement. (1931, c. 60, s. 18; 1935, c. 356, s. 1; 1939, c. 231, s. 3.)

§ 159-15. Minimum price; private sale in event of no bids.—No bonds or notes shall be sold at less than par and accrued interest, nor except as herein otherwise provided or permitted shall any bonds or notes be sold except upon sealed proposals, after publication of notice as hereinabove provided, unless no bid is received upon such notice which is a legal bid and legally acceptable under such notice, in which event the bonds or notes may be sold at private sale at any time within thirty days after the date for receiving bids given in such notice. (1931, c. 60, s. 19.)

§ 159-16. Rejection in event of objection by unit. — If after the receipt of bids and before an award of the bonds or notes an authorized representative of the unit shall object to any award which the Commission may be about to make pursuant to the foregoing provisions and shall not withdraw such objection, the Commission shall reject all bids and shall make no award until after further advertisement as herein provided. (1931, c. 60, s. 20.)

§ 159-17. Make-up of bonds or notes. — No such bond or note shall be engraved, lithographed, printed, typewritten or written upon more than one sheet of paper (but a separate sheet or sheets may be used for interest coupons), and the Commission may in its discretion require the use of a protectograph or other means to prevent the raising of the amount thereof or imitation of such bonds or notes. (1931, c. 60, s. 21.)

§ 159-18. Obligations of units must be certified by Commission.—No bonds or notes or other obligations of any unit hereafter issued shall be valid unless on the face or reverse thereof there be a certificate signed by the Secretary of the Commission or an assistant designated by him either (a) that the issuance of the same has been approved, under the provisions of the Local Government Act, or (b) that the bond or note is not required by law to be approved by the Commission. Such certificate shall be conclusive evidence that the requirements of this article as to approval by the Commission, advertisement and sale have been observed, and shall also be conclusive evidence that the requirements of §§ 159-19 and 159-20 have been complied with. (1931, c. 60, s. 22; 1931, c. 296, s. 2.)

§ 159-19. Detailed record of all issues to be kept by Commission.—Prior to the execution of such certificate the Commission shall cause to be entered of record in its office a description of such bonds or notes, giving their amount, date, the times fixed for payment of principal and interest, the rate of interest, the place or places at which the principal and interest will be payable, the denomination or denominations and the purpose of issuance, together with the name of the board in which is vested the authority and power to levy taxes for the payment of the principal and interest of such bonds or notes and a reference to the law under which it is claimed such bonds or notes are issued, and shall require to be filed with the Commission a statement of the recording officer of the unit that all proceedings of the board in authorizing the bonds or notes have theretofore been and remain correctly recorded in a bound book of the minutes and proceedings of the board, giving in such statement the designation of the book and the pages or other identification of the exact portion of the book in which such record was made. (1931, c. 60, s. 23.)

§ 159-20. Contract for services must be approved by Commission.—All contracts and agreements made by any unit with any person, firm or corporation for services to be rendered in the drafting of forms of proceedings for a proposed bond or note issue, except contracts and agreements with attorneys at law licensed to practice before the courts of the State within which they have their residence or regular place of business, which involve no agreement, express or implied, except for legal services, shall be void unless approved by the Commission, whose duty it shall be before causing the certificate of its approval to be endorsed or placed on any such bonds or notes to satisfy itself, by such evidence as it may deem sufficient, that no such contract not so approved by the Commission is in effect in relation to such bonds or notes. (1931, c. 60, s. 24.)

§ 159-21. State Treasurer to deliver bonds or notes to purchaser; application of proceeds. — When the bonds or notes are executed by the proper officers they shall be turned over to the State Treasurer and after the certificate of the Commission hereinabove required shall be placed thereon, he shall deliver them to the purchaser or order, collect the purchase price or proceeds and before the close of the following day remit the same to the lawful custodian of funds of the unit or, in his discretion, to the properly designated depositary or depositaries of the unit, after assurance that the safe-guarding of such proceeds has been provided as required by law and after deducting all necessary expense including the expense of advertising, selling, shipping and delivering the bonds or notes; nevertheless in the case of bonds or notes sold for refunding or funding purposes the Treasurer may provide that such proceeds shall be deposited at the place of payment of the indebtedness to be refunded or funded for use solely in the payment of such indebtedness or under the conditions hereinabove provided he may provide for the exchange of such bonds or notes for the evidences of indebtedness to be refunded or funded thereby, or, if such indebtedness is not evidenced by bonds, notes, coupons or similar instruments, he may provide for the delivery of said new bonds or notes against a receipt or release from the creditor to whom or to which the indebtedness to be funded or refunded is owing. Coupons or notes issued in exchange for outstanding coupons shall be deemed to be notes issued for refunding or funding purposes, within the meaning of this section. (1931, c. 60, s. 25; 1935, c. 356, s. 2.)

§ 159-22. Suit on behalf of unit for fulfillment of contracts of sale. — The Commission shall have power to enforce by action or suit in Superior Court of the county or unit affected or in the Federal Court of the District, for and in behalf of the State or the unit affected, any contract or agreement made by the Commission for the sale of any bonds or notes of a unit. (1931, c. 60, s. 26.)

§ 159-23. Unit must remit interest and principal as they fall due; cancellation of obligations paid. — It shall be the duty of every officer of a unit upon whom is imposed by law the duty of remitting funds for the payment of bonds, notes and interest coupons of the unit to remit to the place at which the same are payable sufficient funds for the payment of such bonds, notes and coupons in sufficient time for the payment thereof as the same fall due, and at the same time to remit to such place of payment the necessary fiscal agency fees of the disbursing bank or trust company at which such bonds, notes or coupons are payable. Upon surrender of the bonds, notes or coupons so paid the same shall be cancelled. It shall be the duties of the officers remitting said funds to report to the Director, simultaneously with making the remittance, upon forms to be provided by the Director. (1931, c. 60, s. 27.)

§ 159-24. Records of unit sinking funds. — It shall be the duty of the Director to ascertain by reports which he is hereby authorized to require made to him by any financial officer of any unit and by such other means as he may determine upon, the amounts of sinking funds collected for the payment of bonds of each unit not maturing in annual series and the investments of such sinking funds and the rate of taxation levied to provide for such sinking funds. It shall be his further duty to determine from such information whether the provisions of law for the raising and maintenance and preservation of such sinking funds have been observed and if he shall find that in any respect such provisions of law have not been observed he shall issue an order to the officers and/or board members of such unit in charge of such matters who have failed to observe such provisions, requiring them to comply therewith and stating the amount or amounts to be raised annually by taxation for such purpose, and in other respects requiring such officers and/or board members fully to comply with such laws. Within five days after the issuance of any such order, unless the Commission in its discretion shall extend such time, any officer or board member receiving the same shall be entitled to apply to the Commission for a modification of such order, and unless modified by the Commission, and if so modified, to the extent of the order as so modified, it shall be the duty of all officers and board members to whom such order is directed to comply with the same. (1931, c. 60, s. 28.)

§ 159-25. Investment of unit sinking funds. — It shall be the duty of all officers having charge of the investment of sinking funds of each unit either to deposit such funds under security therefor as provided by this article, or to invest the same (or deposit in part and invest in part) in bonds or notes of the United States or of the state of North Carolina, or in bonds or notes of such unit, or in shares of any building and loan association organized and licensed under the laws of this State, or in shares of any federal savings and loan association organized under the laws of the United States, with its principal office in this state; provided, that no such funds may be so invested in a building and loan association unless and until authorized by the insurance commissioner, or in shares of a federal savings and loan association unless and until authorized by an officer of the Federal Home Loan Bank at Winston-Salem, or in such bonds or notes of North Carolina municipalities, counties and school districts as are eligible for investment of the sinking funds of the state under any law in force at the time of investment of such local sinking funds, provided, however, that no investment shall be made in any bonds or notes of any city, county or school district except with the approval of the commission, which is hereby directed to scrutinize with great care any applications for any such investment and to refrain from approving the same unless such investment is prudent and is safe in the opinion of the commission and unless the legality thereof has been approved by an attorney believed by the commission to be competent as an authority upon the law of public securities. No such securities shall be purchased at more than the market price thereof, nor sold at less than the market price thereof. The interest and revenues received upon securities held for any sinking fund and any profit made on the resale thereof shall become and be a part of such sinking fund. (1931, c. 60, s. 29; 1933, cc. 143, 436; 1939, c. 146.)

§ 159-26. Notification to unit officers of unfavorable state of sinking funds; sale of unsafe investments. — If it shall appear to the Director at any time that the sinking funds of any unit are not deposited under security or invested in securities as required by this article, it shall be his duty to notify the officer or officers in charge of such sinking funds of such failure to comply with law, and thereupon it shall be the duty of such officer or officers to comply therewith within thirty days, except as to the sale of investments held by any such sinking fund which are not eligible for the investment thereof, and as to such investments it shall be the duty of such officer or officers to sell the same within nine months after such notification of the Director is received, at a price approved by the Director, provided, however, that the Commission in its discretion may extend from time to time the time for sale of any such investments, but no one extension shall be made to cover a period of more than one year from the time the extension is made: Provided further, that the Director in his discretion may extend for a period not exceeding ninety days the time for securing funds deposited in banks prior to March eighteenth, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one, and the Commission may, in its discretion, further extend said time, but no such extension or extensions of the time for securing such funds shall be made for a period ending later than October first, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one, without the approval of the Commissioner of Banks. (1931, c. 60, s. 30, c. 296, s. 6.)

§ 159-27. Reports to Director as to sinking funds.—It shall be the duty of all officers in charge of the sinking funds of units to report on forms to be furnished by the Director to the Director on the first day of July, one thousand nine hundred thirty-one, and on the first day of each January and July thereafter, a statement of the amounts of the sinking funds of such unit, and whether the same are on deposit, and if so, how the same are secured, or whether the same are invested, and if so, a description of the investments with the respective amounts thereof, in order that the Commission and the Director may be kept informed in regard to such sinking funds; but the Commission or the Director may at any other times require such reports to be made and it shall be the duty of the officers in charge of the sinking funds of any unit to make such reports as herein provided. (1931, c. 60, s. 31.)

§ 159-28. Funds of unit on deposit must be secured by corporate surety bonds.—It shall be the duty of each officer having charge or custody of funds of a unit, of whatever kind or nature or for whatever purpose the same has been raised or shall be held, to keep them safely and to deposit the same in the depository or depositories designated in the manner provided by law; but before making such deposit, if the amount then on deposit shall exceed the amount insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, he shall require of said depository or depositories that the excess of such deposit over and above the amount so insured shall be secured by a surety bond or bonds, issued by a surety company or companies authorized to transact business in the state of North Carolina, the form of such surety bonds to be approved by the commission in an amount sufficient to protect such excess deposits; but the commission may, at any time, in its discretion, require an additional bond: Provided, however, that in lieu of a surety bond both as to all or any part of such excess deposits it shall be lawful to secure the same by lodging with the proper custodian hereinafter provided for such securities as are by this article made eligible for investment of sinking funds of local units, such securities to be selected under the terms and conditions of investments of such sinking funds, including approval of certain classes of securities by the commission. Any bank or trust company furnishing United States government bonds, North Carolina state bonds, county or municipal bonds, as security for such excess deposits, shall deposit said bonds with another bank which has been approved by the commission as a depository bank for such purposes, the state treasurer, or the federal reserve bank, and said bonds when so deposited shall be held for the benefit of the unit and subject to the order of the governing body or board of such unit, and subject to the inspection at any time by a representative of the governing body or board of such unit and by a representative of the commission. Each such officer having charge or custody of the funds of a unit and the surety or sureties on his official bond, after a deposit of said funds has been secured by him in the manner hereinabove required, shall not be liable for any losses sustained by the unit by reason of the default or the insolvency of the said depository or depositories. No security shall be required for the protection of funds of a unit remitted to and received by any bank or trust company within or without the state of North Carolina for the sole and exclusive purpose of paying the maturing principal of or interest on bonds or notes of the unit, when such bank or trust company is the agreed place of payment of such principal or interest and when such funds are remitted within sixty days prior to the maturity of such principal or interest. (1931, c. 60, s. 32; 1931, c. 296, s. 7; 1935, c. 375, s. 1; 1939, c. 129, s. 1.)

Local Modification.—Alleghany, Ashe, Rockingham: 1935, c. 375, s. 2.

§ 159-29. Semi-annual reports to Director on status of unit funds.—It shall be the duty of all officers having the charge or custody of any funds of any unit to report to the Director on the first days of January and July of each year (or such other semi-annual dates as may be fixed by the Director) and at other times upon direction of the Commission or the Director the amounts of funds of the unit then in their charge or custody, and the amounts of deposits of such funds in any depositary or depositaries, and a description of the surety bonds or collateral securities deposited to secure the same. It shall be the duty of the Director to require such reports to be made and to see that the provisions of this section are complied with. (1931, c. 60, s. 33.)

§ 159-30. Officers of local units relieved of personal liability when bank deposits are insured.—If it shall be impossible or impracticable to safeguard any funds of the unit in the manner required by this article, if deposited in any depository within the unit, the officer having charge or custody of such funds may deposit the same without personal responsibility in any bank or trust company organized under the laws of the United States of America, or of any state within said country, either within or without the boundaries of said unit in which deposits are insured by the federal deposit insurance corporation, in accordance with the acts of Congress: Provided, that without the approval of the local government commission, the sum on deposit in any such bank, at any time, shall not exceed the amount insured by the said federal deposit insurance corporation. (1931, c. 60, s. 34; 1935, c. 424.)

Local Modification.—Ashe: 1935, c. 424, s. 2.

§ 159-31. Appointment of unit administrator of finance in event of default.—If funds sufficient for the payment of the principal and interest due at any time upon any valid indebtedness of any unit shall not be remitted for the payment thereof in sufficient time to pay the same when due the director may appoint a qualified person of good repute and ability as administrator of finance of such unit, at such compensation as may be determined by the director, but not in excess of three hundred dollars monthly nor for a period of more than one year except with the approval of the governor. It shall be the duty of such administrator of finance to take full charge of the collection of taxes in such unit and the charge and custody of all funds of the unit and the safeguarding thereof and of the disbursement of moneys for all purposes, or to take charge of such part of any or all such duties as the director may determine. The administrator may retain under his supervision and control any city or county officers or employees for the performance of any part of such duties falling within the lines of their customary office or employment or may remove any tax collector or accountant or other officer having connection with the collection and disbursement of funds of the unit in his discretion. The administrator shall comply, on behalf of such units, with all the requirements of law applicable to such unit, officers and employees. Any questions or disputes arising out of the appointment of such administrator or his assumption of duties hereunder or as to his powers, may be presented to the commission on the application of any officer, taxpayer or citizen of the unit or on the application of the director, and the commission shall be empowered to determine the same. The compensation and expenses of the administrator, and the expenses of the director and the commission, arising out of the provisions of this section, shall be a charge against the unit and shall be paid by it and shall be deemed a special purpose for the payment of which this special provision of law is made, and the amount thereof shall be included in the budget of the unit for the following fiscal year.

One year after any unit shall have failed to remit the principal and/or interest due upon any valid indebtedness then outstanding, upon petition of the holders of fifty-one per centum of the indebtedness of the unit, the director shall appoint an administrator of finance, by and with the consent of the resident judge of the district in which the unit is located, who, upon his appointment, shall have the authority hereinbefore in this section conferred upon the administrator of finance.

The petition shall disclose all facts and circumstances available in connection with the issue in default, including the names and addresses of all known holders of such issue, and, insofar as the petitioning holders, shall contain a consent to the filing of the petition.

The order shall be in such form as the director and judge may determine, to include, however, such facts as may appear from the petition to be the facts with respect to the issue in default. It shall show the consent of the resident judge to the appointment of the administrator of finance named in the order.

Immediately upon the filing of the petition and the entry of the order, which shall be done within ten days after the date the petition is filed with the director, the director shall certify, over his hand and the seal of the treasurer, the petition and order to the superior court of the county where the unit is located, if it be a unit other than the county, and to the superior court of the county, if the unit be a county. Upon receipt of the certified petition and order, it shall be the duty of the clerk of the superior court to which certified to issue such notice as may be prescribed by the director, and cause the same to be published in a newspaper of general circulation published in the state and in a journal approved by the commission for "notice of sale" of evidences of indebtedness, once a week for four weeks, and issue a copy of such notice to all holders of the issue in default named in the petition. Such notice shall contain a provision requiring all holders of such issue to appear in person or through attorney, and disclose their name, address and amount of the issue held.

Upon the expiration of the period of publication hereinbefore prescribed, the cause shall be transferred by the clerk of the superior court to the civil issue docket of the court, and the same shall thereafter stand upon such docket to be proceeded with as in other civil actions, but shall be placed upon the trial calendar at each term of the court thereafter for the trial of civil actions until final action is entered by the court at term.

Any action taken in the cause shall be after notice issued and published as hereinbefore provided, but from any order entered, unless the holders of all of the issue in default shall have responded, shall remain open for a period of thirty days after the publication of the order as hereinbefore prescribed for publication of notice. If the holder of any amount of such issue in default shall, during said thirty-day period, file a petition for a modification or revocation of the order, said order shall not become effective until the petitioning holder or holders shall have been heard by the court. If the order shall be, on such petition, modified or revoked, the order modifying or revoking the order shall become the order of the court in the cause.

Upon the notice hereinbefore prescribed and in the manner herein provided, the court shall have authority to enter any order which shall be for the interest of the unit and the holders of the issue in default, but no order entered shall become finally operative until the expiration of the time hereinbefore provided for the filing of petitions for modification or revocation. Any order which is agreed to by the unit and the holders of the issue in default may be entered at any time, but such order shall be likewise published, and unless agreed to by the holders of the entire issue in default, shall become operative only after the expiration of the period hereinbefore provided for the filing of petitions for modification or revocation, and the court shall have authority, upon the filing of such a petition, to modify or revoke the order entered by agreement, which order then entered, shall thereupon become effective and operative.

The costs of all publications and of the issuance of all notices shall be paid by the administrator of finance: Provided, however, that the holders of the issue in default filing the original petition shall advance the necessary cost, but shall be reimbursed by the administrator of finance upon the docketing of the cause upon the civil issue docket of the superior court to which certified.

The court, with the consent of the director, for good cause shown, shall have the right to remove the administrator of finance appointed, and, with the consent of the director, appoint another administrator of finance in his place. The administrator of finance appointed upon the institution of the cause or thereafter by the court shall give such bond as shall be prescribed by the director and the resident judge of the district. The compensation shall be fixed for the administrator of finance by the director and the resident judge of the district and all costs shall be paid as provided in the first paragraph of this section. Until the final determination of the cause and the entry of an order finally discharging an administrator of finance, the administrator of finance shall have such powers and perform such duties as prescribed in the first paragraph of this section. (1931, c. 60, s. 36; 1933, c. 374.)

§ 159-32. Director to inform unit of amount of taxes to be levied.—At least thirty days before the time for the levy of taxes in each unit of the

(1931, c. 60, s. 36; 1933, c. 332.)

§ 159-35. Failure to meet obligations when due if funds are in hand a misdemeanor.—If the officer of any unit whose duty it shall be to pay any of the principal or interest of valid obligations of the unit or to remit the same to the place of payment as provided in this article, shall have funds for such payment at his disposal but shall fail or refuse so to do within the time required hereby and in sufficient amount for such payment, whether or not such payment or remission for payment shall have been ordered or forbidden by any board or officer of the unit, the officer so failing or refusing shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be fined and/or imprisoned in the discretion of the court, and shall be liable in a civil action for all damages on the suit of any one aggrieved thereby. (1931, c. 60, s. 39.)

§ 159-36. Voting for appropriation for other purposes than obligations or application of funds otherwise a misdemeanor. — Every member of any board of a local unit who shall knowingly vote for any appropriation to any purpose other than the payment of the interest or principal or sinking fund of any bonds or notes of the unit any money raised by taxation or otherwise for such purpose, until all of such principal and interest shall have been paid, and any disbursing officer who shall knowingly pay out any of such money for any other purpose than the payment of such interest or principal or sinking fund until all of such principal and interest shall have been paid, whether or not such payment shall have been ordered or forbidden by any board or officer of the unit, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be fined and/or imprisoned in the discretion of the court, and shall be liable in a civil action for all damages on the suit of any one aggrieved thereby. (1931, c. 60, s. 40.)

§ 159-38. Wilful failure to perform duty a misdemeanor.—If any officer or any member of any board of any local unit upon whom duties are imposed by this article or of whom duties are required pursuant to the provisions of this article shall knowingly and wilfully fail or refuse to perform any such duty, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be fined and/or imprisoned in the discretion of the court, and shall be liable in a civil action for all damages on the suit of any aggrieved person. (1931, c. 60, s. 42.)

§ 159-39. Other violations misdemeanor.—Notwithstanding the declarations of this article that certain specific offenses shall constitute misdemeanors and be punishable, the wilful violation by the Director or by any member of the Commission or any officer or member of a board of a unit of any duty whatsoever imposed upon him by or under the provisions of this article, or his wilful failure, neglect or refusal to perform any such duty, shall be, and is hereby declared to be a misdemeanor, and shall be punishable by fine and/or imprisonment in the discretion of the court, and shall render the offender liable for damages at the suit of any aggrieved party. (1931, c. 60, s. 43.)

§ 159-40. Prosecution by Attorney General; investigation of charges. — In case of the violation of any criminal provisions of this article, the Attorney General of the State of North Carolina upon complaint of the Director, whose duty it shall be to make such complaint in case of any such violation, shall investigate the charges preferred and if in his judgment the law has been violated he shall direct the solicitor of the district in which the offense was committed to institute a criminal action against the offending person or persons. Upon request of the Governor, the Attorney General shall take charge of such prosecution and, at the request of the Governor, special counsel may be employed to assist the Attorney General or the Solicitor. (1931, c. 60, s. 44.)

§ 159-41. Removal by Governor of offending persons.—Without abating any of the provisions of this article for criminal and civil actions, and for penalties and damages, it shall be the duty of the Director in the case of any breach of the provisions of this article or any failure or refusal to comply with any requirement made herein or permitted to be imposed hereby, by any member of the Commission or by any officer or member of a board of any unit (but in case of any such non-compliance, failure or refusal by the Director himself, it shall be the duty of the Attorney General through the Solicitor of the proper district) to bring the offense to the attention of the Governor, who shall consider the same and may in his judgment remove from office the offending officer or member and appoint a successor, subject to other provisions of law as to the appointment or election of successors of officers or members so removed. Such order of removal, however, shall not be effective until after a hearing before the Commission, which shall set a time therefor and shall give due notice thereof to the offending officer or member, and the order of the Commission after such hearing, whether such order shall confirm or refuse to confirm the removal, shall be final. In the event the Commission shall refuse to confirm the order of removal such officer or member shall continue his duties as such officer or member, but otherwise shall be removed from office pursuant to the order of removal issued by the Governor. (1931, c. 60, s. 45.)

§ 159-42. Law applicable to all counties, cities and towns.—The provisions of this article shall apply to every unit having the power to levy taxes ad valorem, regardless of any provisions to the contrary in any special or local Act enacted before the adjournment of the Regular Session of the General Assembly in one thousand nine hundred and forty-one. (1931, c. 60, s. 74; 1935, c. 356, s. 3; 1941, c. 191.)

§ 159-43. (1931, c. 60, s. 75, c. 296, s. 4.)

§ 159-44. Notes and bonds of units redeemable before maturity.—Any notes or bonds of a unit may (but need not) be made subject to call for redemption before maturity at the option of the unit issuing them, but no such bond or note shall be redeemed before maturity without the consent of the holder thereof, unless such bond or note states on its face that the unit reserves the right to redeem the same before maturity. There may also be incorporated in or endorsed upon notes, bonds or coupons of a unit provisions reserving to the unit the right to extend the time for payment thereof to a fixed or determinable future time, specified in such provisions. The word "determinable" is here used in the same sense that it is used in the Negotiable Instruments Law of North Carolina (chapter twenty-five). The negotiability of bonds, notes and coupons of a unit shall not be affected by the reservation therein of a right of redemption or extension pursuant to this section. (1931, c. 296, s. 3; 1933, c. 258, s. 2; 1935, c. 356, s. 4.)

Such plan or agreement may provide among other things for the issuance of funding bonds and refunding bonds; for the issuance of new coupons or notes in exchange for outstanding coupons, for the purpose of enabling the unit to reserve the right to extend the time for payment of the whole or a part of the interest represented by such outstanding coupons; for the endorsement or stamping of bonds, notes or coupons, for the purpose of extending the time for payment of the principal thereof or interest thereon or for the purpose of reserving the right to extend said time; and for the doing of any other thing authorized by law with respect to outstanding indebtedness of the unit. All such plans or agreements made or entered into prior to May 9, 1935, and approved by the local government commission are hereby ratified and validated. New coupons or interest notes issued in exchange for outstanding coupons as aforesaid shall be executed in such manner as may be determined by said board or body, and approval thereof by the local government commission need not be noted thereon. A certificate signed by the secretary of the local government commission or by an assistant designated by him, stating that such new coupons or interest notes have been approved by the local government commission or under the provisions of the local government Act, shall be conclusive evidence that the requirements of this article with respect to approval by said commission have been complied with. All provisions of law relating to the means of payment of coupons surrendered in exchange for new coupons or interest notes as aforesaid shall apply to the payment of such new coupons or interest notes. The powers conferred by this section with respect to the issuance of new coupons or interest notes in exchange for outstanding coupons, and with respect to the endorsement or stamping of bonds, notes or coupons, may be exercised by resolution of the board or body authorized by law to issue funding bonds or refunding bonds of a unit, and any such resolution shall be in force and effect from and after its passage, and need not be submitted to the voters of the unit.

The State of North Carolina hereby gives its assent to the act of Congress approved May twenty-fourth, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-four, entitled "An Act to amend an act entitled 'an act to establish a uniform system of bankruptcy throughout the United States,' approved July first, one thousand eight hundred and ninety-eight, and acts amendatory thereof and supplemental thereto," and hereby authorizes all units, after approval has been given thereto by the local government commission, to proceed under the provisions of said act for the readjustment of their debts. (1933, c. 258, s. 4; 1935, c. 356, s. 5.)

§ 159-46. Provisions in bond resolutions set out.—In any ordinance, order or resolution authorizing or providing for the issuance of bonds or notes of a unit for the purposes of refunding, funding or renewing indebtedness, it shall be lawful to incorporate any or all of the following provisions, which shall have the force of contract between the unit and the holders of said bonds or notes, and every board or body authorized to issue such bonds or notes or to levy taxes for their payment shall have power to do all things necessary or convenient for the purpose of carrying out such provisions, viz.:

(a) Provisions for the creation of a special fund or funds to be used for the purchase of said bonds or notes at market prices less than par and accrued interest, or for the payment of the bonds or notes at par and accrued interest at or before maturity. All bonds or notes so purchased or paid shall be cancelled and shall not be reissued.

(b) Provisions for levying a tax annually or otherwise for the payment of the principal of the bonds or notes or for the said retirement fund.

(c) Provisions pledging any taxes, special assessments, or other revenues or moneys of the unit to the payment of said bonds or notes or to said retirement fund.

(d) Provisions whereby, so long as any of said bonds or notes are outstanding, the unit will not pledge any particular revenues or moneys, except special property taxes, without securing such bonds or notes equally and ratably with the other obligations to be secured by such pledge.

(e) Provisions whereby any special fund aforesaid may be a revolving fund, and used temporarily for other purposes, and thereafter replenished, upon such terms and conditions as may be set forth in said ordinance, resolution or order.

(f) Provisions for the custody of any such special fund by a bank or trust company in this or any other state or by the state treasurer.

(g) Provisions for the allocation and payment daily or periodically of moneys payable to any of said special funds.

(h) Provisions for the determination by arbitration of any question arising under any of the foregoing provisions.

(i) Provisions whereby the holders of said bonds or notes, whether such bonds or notes shall have been delivered in exchange for the indebtedness refunded or funded thereby or shall have been sold and the proceeds thereof applied to the retirement of such indebtedness, shall be subrogated to all the rights and powers of the holders of such indebtedness.

(j) Provisions whereby bonds and notes, together with the matured and unmatured interest thereon, may be deposited with the state treasurer as trustee, or some bank or trust company designated as trustee by the governing body of the unit with the approval of the local government commission, and bonds issued from time to time or at specified intervals of time for the funding or refunding of all or any part of the indebtedness so deposited; the indebtedness of any depositor to be cancelled and extinguished at such time or times as the plan or agreement for the settlement, adjustment, funding or refunding of the indebtedness of the unit may specify, and need not be cancelled and extinguished simultaneously with the issuance of bonds for funding or refunding a part of such indebtedness: Provided, that the ordinance, order, or resolution authorizing the issuance of funding or refunding bonds referred to in this clause (j) may be adopted, or passed at such times as the plan or agreement may designate.

No such provisions shall become effective without the approval of the local government commission. (1933, c. 258, s. 4; 1935, c. 356, s. 6; 1939, c. 231, s. 3.)

§ 159-47. Issuance by local units of new bonds to replace mutilated bonds and bonds registered as to both principal and interest.—In case any bond heretofore or hereafter issued by any unit has heretofore or shall hereafter become mutilated or has heretofore or shall hereafter be registered as to both principal and interest, the governing body of the unit may by resolution provide for the issuance of a new bond in exchange and substitution for and upon the cancellation of the mutilated bond and its interest coupons, if any, or the bond registered as to both principal and interest. The provisions of such resolution must be approved by the local government commission before any exchange shall be made thereunder. In all such cases the holder shall pay the reasonable expenses and charges of the unit and of the commission in connection with such exchange. Such new bond shall mature at the same time and bear interest at the same rate as the bond in exchange for which it shall be issued, and shall be executed in such manner as may be provided in the resolution providing for the issuance of the new bond. Each such new bond shall be signed by the officers who are in office at the time of such signing, and shall contain a recital to the effect that it is issued in exchange for a certain bond (describing such bond sufficiently to identify it) and is to be deemed a part of the same issue as the original bond. (1939, c. 259.)

§ 159-48. Cancellation of own bonds, etc., acquired by unit.—Any bonds or other evidences of indebtedness issued by a unit which have heretofore been or may hereafter be acquired by said unit, unless so acquired for investment of sinking funds of said unit, shall be immediately cancelled and extinguished as obligations of said unit. It shall be the duty of any officer or employee of said unit in whose possession or custody said bonds or other evidences of indebtedness are placed to cancel the same as herein provided and to promptly report such cancellation to the local government commission and furnish in said report a full description of the bonds or other evidences of indebtedness so cancelled. (1939, c. 356.)

§ 159-49. State not liable for debts of units nor units for obligation of each other.—Nothing herein contained shall be construed to bind the State of North Carolina to pay any part of any debt due by any county, municipality or other unit of government, nor shall it be construed that any county or other unit shall be liable for the debts of any other county or unit. (1931, c. 60, s. 77.)

Art. 2. Validation of Bonds, Notes and Indebtedness of Unit.

§ 159-50. "Unit" defined. — In this article the word "unit" means a county, city, town, township, school district, school taxing district, or other district or political subdivision of government of the State. (1931, c. 186, s. 1.)

§ 159-51. Validation of bond and note issues by units.—In all cases where a unit has issued its bonds or notes prior to March 26, 1931, and has received for the bonds or notes an amount of money not less than the face amount of the bonds or notes, and has expended said money for public purposes, said bonds or notes are hereby validated, and all bonds or notes subsequently issued to pay or renew said bonds or notes are also hereby validated, notwithstanding any lack of statutory authority or failure to observe any statutory provision concerning the issuance of such bonds or notes. This section shall not be construed as validating any bonds or notes, the proceeds of which have been lost by reason of the failure of any bank. (1931, c. 186, s. 2.)

§ 159-52. Test cases testing validity of funding bonds.—At any time after the adoption of an ordinance, resolution, or order for the issuance of refunding or funding bonds of a unit by the board authorized by law to issue the same, and following the approval of the issuance of such bonds by the local government commission, and prior to the issuance of any such bonds, such board may cause to be instituted in the name of the unit an action in the superior court of any county in which all or any part of the unit lies, to determine the validity of such bonds and the validity of the means of payment provided therefor. Such action shall be in the nature of a proceeding in rem, and shall be against each and all the owners of taxable property within the unit and each and all the citizens residing in the unit, but without any requirement that the name of any such owner or citizen be stated in the complaint or in the summons. Jurisdiction of all parties defendant may be had by publication of a summons once a week for three successive weeks in some newspaper of general circulation published in each county in which any part of the unit lies, and jurisdiction shall be complete within twenty days after the date of the last publication of such summons in the manner herein provided. Any interested person may become a party to such action, and the defendants and all others interested may at any time before the expiration of such twenty days appear and by proper proceedings contest the validity of the indebtedness to be refunded or funded or the validity of such refunding or funding bonds or the validity of the means of payment provided therefor. The complaint shall set forth briefly by allegations, references, or exhibits the proceedings taken by such board in relation to such bonds and the means of payment provided therefor, and, if an election was held to authorize such issuance, a statement of that fact, together with a copy of the election notice and of the official canvass of votes and declaration of the result. There shall similarly be set forth in the complaint a statement of the amount, purpose, and character of the indebtedness to be refunded or funded, and such other allegations as may be relevant. The prayer of the complaint shall be that the court find and determine as against the defendants the validity of such bonds and the validity of the means of payment so provided. (1931, c. 186, s. 4; 1935, c. 290, s. 1; 1937, c. 80.)

§ 159-53. Rules of pleading and practice. — The trial of such action shall be in accordance with the Constitution and laws of the State; and the rules of pleading and practice provided by this Code and court rules for civil actions, including the procedure for appeals, which are not inconsistent with the provisions of this article, are hereby declared applicable to all actions herein provided for: Provided, however, that an appeal from a decree in such action must be taken within thirty days from the date of rendition of such decree. The court shall render a decree either validating such bonds and the means of payment provided therefor, or adjudging that such bonds and the means of payment provided therefor are, in whole or in part, invalid and illegal. (1931, c. 186, s. 5; 1935, c. 290, s. 2.)

§ 159-54. Judgment establishing validity of issue.—If (a) the superior court shall render a decree validating such bonds and the means of payment provided therefor and no appeal shall be taken within the time prescribed herein, or (b) if taken, the decree validating such bonds and the means of payment provided therefor shall be affirmed by the supreme court, or (c) if the superior court shall render a decree adjudging that such bonds and the means of payment provided therefor are, in whole or in part, invalid and illegal, and on appeal the supreme court shall reverse such decree and sustain the validity of such bonds and the means of payment provided therefor (in which case the supreme court shall issue its mandate to the superior court requiring it to render a decree validating such bonds and the means of payment provided therefor), the decree of the superior court validating such bonds and the means of payment provided therefor shall be forever conclusive as to the validity of such bonds and the validity of the means of payment provided therefor as against the unit and as against all taxpayers and citizens thereof, to the extent of matters and things pleaded or which might have been pleaded, and to such extent the validity of said bonds and means of payment thereof shall never be called in question in any court in this State. (1931, c. 186, s. 6; 1935, c. 290, s. 3.)

§ 159-55. Taxing costs.—The costs in any action brought under this article may be allowed and apportioned between the parties or taxed to the losing party, in the discretion of the court. (1931, c. 186, s. 7.)

§ 159-56. Levying special tax for proposed issues.—If the complaint in any action brought under this article, or an exhibit attached to such complaint shows that an ordinance or resolution has been adopted by the unit providing that a tax sufficient to pay the principal and interest of the bonds or notes involved in such action is to be levied and collected, such ordinance or resolution shall be construed as meaning that such tax is to be levied without regard to any constitutional or statutory limitation of the rate or amount of taxes, unless such ordinance or resolution declares that such limitation is to be observed in levying of such tax. (1931, c. 186, s. 8.)

§ 159-57. Notice of proposed issue to be published by unit.—Any unit may by resolution of the official board of such unit, authorized by law to issue bonds or notes, cause to be published a notice of the intention of said board to issue bonds or notes of the unit for the purpose of funding, refunding or renewing outstanding obligations or alleged obligations issued prior to passage of such resolution. Such notice shall describe said obligations or alleged obligations in a manner sufficient to identify them. It shall also state, either in general or specific terms, the purpose or purposes for which said outstanding obligations were incurred or issued, as determined by said official board of said unit prior to the publication of said notice. Said notice shall further state that a tax is to be levied on all taxable property in the unit sufficient to pay the bonds or notes proposed to be issued, or any bonds or notes that may be subsequently issued for the purpose of refunding, funding, renewing or paying said bonds or notes. Said notice shall be published once in each of three successive weeks in a newspaper published in the unit having the largest or next largest circulation in the unit, or if no newspaper is there published, then in a newspaper published in the county in which the unit is located, if any, and if there be no such newspaper such notice shall be posted at the door of the court house or building where said official board usually holds its meetings, and published in some newspaper published in the State of North Carolina and circulating in said unit. Such notice shall contain a statement that it is being published under the provisions of this section. After the issuance of any bonds or notes in accordance with the intention expressed in said notice, the validity of said bonds or notes and/or of any subsequently issued instruments evidencing the same indebtedness, shall not be open to question in any court upon the ground that any of the obligations or alleged obligations for the funding or renewal of which such bonds or notes were issued, were or are invalid, nor shall the power of the unit to levy a sufficient tax on all taxable property in the unit for the payment of the principal and interest of said bonds or notes, or of any subsequently issued instruments evidencing the same indebtedness, be open to question in any court upon the ground that the obligations or alleged obligations for the funding or renewal of which said bonds or notes were issued were invalid, or upon the ground that said original obligations or alleged obligations were not issued for a purpose for which such tax can be levied, except in an action or proceeding commenced within thirty days after the first publication of said notice of intention. The date of such first publication shall be stated in said notice. (1931, c. 186, s. 9; 1935, c. 290, s. 4.)

§ 159-58. Invalidated issues unaffected. — This article shall not apply to any bonds or notes that have been held invalid by any court of competent jurisdiction. (1931, c. 186, s. 11.)

(b) They shall be issued by or on behalf of the unit by the same board or body which issued the obligations to be funded or refunded, or its successor, or, if said board or body is no longer in existence, by the board of county commissioners or other governing body of the county in which the unit, or the major portion of the unit, is situated;

(c) It shall not be necessary to include in the order or resolution authorizing the bonds, or in the notice required to be published prior to final passage of the order or resolution, any statement concerning the filing of a debt statement, or the contents thereof; and, as applied to said bonds, §§ 153-78, 153-83, 153-84, 153-85, 153-86 and 153-87 of the County Finance Act, shall be read and understood as if they contained no requirements in respect to such matters;

§ 159-62. County finance act applicable. — Except where they are inconsistent with the provisions of this article, all of the provisions of the county finance act, as amended, applicable to bonds issued under that act for the funding or refunding of indebtedness, shall be applicable to bonds issued under this article. For the purpose of applying the provisions of said act to bonds issued under this article, the following words and phrases in said act shall be deemed to have the following meanings when applied to said bonds, viz.: "Governing body" means the board or body authorized by this article to issue bonds, except the words "governing body" in § 153-110 of the county finance act, where said words mean the board or body authorized by this article to levy taxes; "county" means the unit by or on behalf of which the bonds are to be issued under this article; "published" means published in a newspaper published in a county in which such unit is situated, if there be such a newspaper, but otherwise means posted at the courthouse door of said county and at least three other public places; "clerk of board of commissioners" means the clerk or secretary of the board or body authorized by this article to issue bonds; "this act" means this article. Art. 4. Assistance for Defaulting Local Government Units in the Preparation of Workable Refinancing Plans.

§ 159-63. Aid of director of local government to defaulting local units.—Whenever it shall appear that any county, city, town, or other local government unit of this State has defaulted for a period of six months in the payment of the principal or interest of any of its outstanding notes or bonds, the director of local government is hereby given the authority to prepare and certify to the governing body of such local government unit a plan for refinancing, readjustment, or compromising said debt in order to remove the default and prevent its recurrence. (1935, c. 124, s. 1.)

§ 159-64. Whenever a plan of refinancing and/or readjustment, whether prepared by the director, by a private refunding agency, or by the officials of the unit, appears to the director of local government as being fair and equitable and reasonably within the ability of such unit to meet, it shall be submitted by him to the local government commission for its approval, and upon such approval, the governing body of such local government unit shall adopt same and pass the necessary orders or ordinances for the purpose of carrying said plan into effect. (1935, c. 124, s. 2.)

§ 159-65. Power of director to accept or reject budget of local units.—In order to conserve the financial resources of any local government unit of this State and to provide a means of constant advisory services, the director of local government is hereby given authority to approve or disapprove the budget of any unit which has accepted the plan and put same into effect, and the governing body of such unit shall first obtain the approval of the said director before passing any order or ordinance adopting said budget. (1935, c. 124, s. 3.)

§ 159-66. Annual statements from units.—The director of local government shall have authority to require of the local units in which he functions under this article annual statements showing the collection of revenues and the disbursements for expenses, both divided as between general operating fund, debt service fund, and special funds, if any, and it shall be his duty to require the proper allocation of all collected revenues to the funds for which said revenues were levied, in accordance with the budget, and to require that disbursements shall be made only from appropriations duly made. (1935, c. 124, s. 4.)

§ 159-67. Extent and time limit of director's authority.—The authority hereby granted to the director of local government shall continue in force in such local government units until, in the discretion of the director of local government, said local government unit has performed the duties required of it or has satisfied the director that it will do so, until the agreements made with the creditors have been discharged in accordance with the plan of refinancing and/or readjustment of its debt. (1935, c. 124, s. 5.)

§ 159-68. Certain local laws reserved.—Nothing in this article shall be construed to repeal any Public-Local or Private Act passed by the General Assembly of one thousand nine hundred and thirty-five, relative to the readjustment or refunding of the bonded indebtedness of any local governmental unit in North Carolina, except and until an agreement has been reached between the bondholders and the governing body of said unit, and when said agreement has been reached and certified to the Director of the Local Government Commission by both contracting parties, then and in that event the provisions of said article shall apply to such defaulting local governmental units. The secretary-treasurer before entering upon his duties shall give bond to the municipality in an amount fixed by the board of trustees, conditioned for the faithful discharge of his official duties. The board shall adopt such by-laws, rules and regulations for its own guidance and for the government of the library as may be expedient and conformable to law. It shall have exclusive control of the expenditure of all moneys collected for or placed to the credit of the library fund, and of the supervision, care, and custody of the rooms or buildings constructed, leased, or set apart for library purposes. But all money received for such library shall be paid into the city treasury or county treasury, be credited to the library fund, be kept separate from other moneys, and be paid out to the secretary-treasurer upon the authenticated requisition of the board of trustees through its proper officers. With the consent of the governing body of the city or town or county, it may lease and occupy, or purchase, or erect upon ground secured through gift or purchase, an appropriate building: Provided, that of the income for any one year not more than one-half may be employed for the purpose of making such lease or purchase or for erecting such building. It may appoint a librarian, assistants, and other employees, and prescribe rules for their conduct, and fix their compensation, and shall also have power to remove such appointees. Provided, that after May 4, 1933, no vacancies existing or occurring in the position of head librarian in such libraries shall be filled by appointment or designation of any person who is not in possession of a library certificate issued under the authority of this article. It may also extend the privileges and use of such library to nonresidents upon such terms and conditions as it may prescribe. (1911, c. 83, s. 3; 1927, c. 31, s. 3; 1933, c. 365, s. 2; C. S. 2696.)

§ 160-68. Library certification board.—The secretary of the North Carolina library commission, the librarian of the University of North Carolina, the president of the North Carolina library association and one librarian appointed by the executive board of the North Carolina library association shall constitute a library certification board who shall serve without pay and who shall issue librarian's certificates under reasonable rules and regulations to be promulgated by the board and a complete record of the transactions of said board shall be kept at all times. (1933, c. 365, s. 3.)

§ 160-69. Librarians now acting—temporary certificates.—The provisions of this article shall not be construed to affect any librarian in his or her position on May 4, 1933. Such librarians as were then acting shall be entitled to receive a certificate in accordance with positions then held.

Upon the submission of satisfactory evidence that no qualified librarian is available for appointment, a temporary certificate, valid for one year, may be issued upon written application of the library board. Such certificate shall not be renewed or extended and shall not be valid beyond the date for which it is issued. (1933, c. 365, s. 3.)

§ 160-70. Annual report of trustees.—The board of trustees shall make an annual report to the governing body of the city, town or county, stating the condition of their trust, the various sums of money received from the library fund and all other sources, and how much money has been expended; the number of books and periodicals on hand, the number added during the year, the number lost or missing, the number of books loaned out, and the general character of such books, the number of registered users of such library, with such other statistics, information and suggestions as it may deem of general interest. (1911, c. 83, s. 7; 1927, c. 31, s. 4; 1933, c. 365, s. 4; C. S. 2697.)

§ 160-71. Power to take property by gift or devise.—With the consent of the governing body of the city or town or county, expressed by ordinance or resolution, and within the limitations of this article as to the rate of taxation, the library board may accept any gift, grant, devise, or bequest made or offered by any person for library purposes, and may carry out the conditions of such donations. And the city or town or county in all such cases is authorized to acquire a site, levy a tax, and pledge itself by ordinance or resolution to a perpetual compliance with all the terms and conditions of the gift, grant, devise, or bequest so accepted. (1911, c. 83, s. 5; 1927, c. 31, s. 5; C. S. 2698.)

§ 160-72. Title to property vested in the city, town or county.—All property given, granted, or conveyed, donated, devised or bequeathed to, or otherwise acquired by any city, town or county for a library shall vest in and be held in the name of such city, town or county and any conveyance, grant, donation, devise, bequest or gift to or in the name of any public library board shall be deemed to have been made directly to such city, town or county. (1911, c. 83, s. 4; 1927, c. 31, s. 6; 1933, c. 365, s. 5; C. S. 2699.)

§ 160-73. Library free.—Every library established under this article shall be forever free to the use of the inhabitants of the city or town, subject to such reasonable regulations as the board of trustees may adopt. (1911, c. 83, s. 6; C. S. 2700.)

§ 160-74. Ordinances for protection of library.—The governing body of such city or town or county shall have power to pass ordinances imposing suitable penalties for the punishment of persons committing injury upon such library or the grounds or other property thereof, or for any injury to or for failure to return any book, plate, picture, engraving, map, magazine, pamphlet, or manuscript belonging to such library. (1911, c. 83, s. 8; 1927, c. 31, s. 7; C. S. 2701.)

§ 160-75. Contract with existing libraries.—The governing body of any city, town or county, when deemed best for the interest of the city, town or county, may in lieu of supporting and maintaining a public library, enter into a contract with and make annual appropriations of money to such library, associations or corporations as shall maintain a library or libraries, whose books shall be available without charge to the residents of such city, town or county, under such rules and regulations of said library, associations or corporations, as shall be approved by the governing body of such city, town or county. All money paid to such society or corporation under such contract shall be expended solely for the maintenance of such library, and for no other purpose. For the governing body of such library when contract has been made between city and county, the trustees shall be appointed proportionately to the funds provided for its support.

Nothing in this section shall be construed to abolish or abridge any power or duty conferred upon any public library established by virtue of any city or town charter or other special act, or to affect any existing local laws allowing or providing municipal aid to libraries. (1911, c. 83, ss. 9, 10; 1917, c. 215; 1927, c. 31, s. 8; 1933, c. 365, s. 6; C. S. 2702.)

§ 160-76. Detention of library property after notice.—Whoever willfully or maliciously fails to return any book, newspaper, magazine, pamphlet or manuscript belonging to any public library to such library for fifteen days after mailing or delivery in person of notice in writing from the librarian of such library, given after the expiration of the time, which by regulation of such library such book, newspaper, magazine, pamphlet or manuscript may be kept, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be punished by a fine of not more than fifty dollars or imprisonment for not more than thirty days: Provided, that the notice required by this section shall bear upon its face a copy of this section. (1921, c. 118; 1925, c. 39, s. 1; C. S. 2702(a).)

§ 160-77. Combined counties.—Where found to be more practicable, two or more adjacent counties may join for the purpose of establishing and maintaining a free public library under the terms and provisions herein above set forth for the establishment and maintenance of a free county library. In such cases the combined counties shall have the same powers and be subject to the same liabilities as a single county under the provisions of this article. The board of county commissioners of the counties which have combined for the establishment and maintenance of a free library shall operate jointly in the same manner as herein provided for the commissioners of a single county. Should any county at any time desire to withdraw from such combination, the said county shall be entitled to such proportion of the property as may have been agreed upon in the terms of combination at the time such joint action was taken. (1933, c. 365, s. 7.)

Art. 9. Local Improvements.

§ 160-78. Explanation of terms.—In this article the term "municipality" means any city or town in the state of North Carolina now or hereafter incorporated.

"Governing body" includes the board of aldermen, board of commissioners, council, or other chief legislative body of a municipality.

"Street improvement" includes the grading, regrading, paving, repaving, macadamizing and remacadamizing of public streets and alleys, and the construction, reconstruction and altering of curbs, gutters and drains in public streets and alleys.

"Sidewalk improvement" includes the grading, construction, reconstruction and altering of sidewalks in public streets or alleys, and may include curbing and gutters.

"Local improvement" means any work undertaken under the provisions of this article, the cost of which is to be specially assessed, in whole or in part, upon property abutting directly on the work.

"Frontage" when used in reference to a lot or parcel of land abutting directly on a local improvement, means that side or limit of the lot or parcel of land which abuts directly on the improvement. (1915, c. 56, s. 1; C. S. 2703.)

§ 160-79. Application and effect.—This article shall apply to all municipalities. It shall not, however, repeal any special or local law or affect any proceedings under any special or local law for the making of street, sidewalk or other improvements hereby authorized, or for the raising of funds therefor, but shall be deemed to be additional and independent legislation for such purposes and to provide an alternative method of procedure for such purposes, and to be a complete act, not subject to any limitation or restriction contained in any other public or private law or laws, except as herein otherwise provided. (1915, c. 56, s. 2; C. S. 2704.)

§ 160-80. Publication of resolution or notice.—Every resolution passed pursuant to this article shall be passed in the manner prescribed by other laws for the passage of resolutions. Whenever a resolution or notice is required by this article to be published, it shall be published at least once in a newspaper published in the municipality concerned, or, if there be no such newspaper, such resolution or notice shall be posted in three public places in the municipality for at least five days. (1915, c. 56, s. 3; C. S. 2705.)

§ 160-81. When petition required.—Every municipality shall have power, by resolution of its governing body, upon petition made as provided in § 160-82, to cause local improvements to be made and to defray the expense of such improvements by local assessment, by general taxation, and by borrowing, as herein provided. No petition shall be necessary, however, for the ordering or making of private water, sewer and gas connections as hereinafter provided. Nor shall a petition be necessary for the making of sidewalk improvements in those municipalities in which by other law or laws sidewalk improvements are authorized to be made without petition. (1915, c. 56, s. 4; C. S. 2706.)

§ 160-82. What petition shall contain.—The petition for a local improvement shall be signed by at least a majority in number of the owners, who must represent at least a majority of all the lineal feet of frontage of the lands (a majority in interest of owners of undivided interests in any piece of property to be deemed and treated as one person for the purpose of the petition) abutting upon the street or streets or part of a street or streets proposed to be improved. The petition shall cite this article and shall designate by a general description the local improvement to be undertaken and the street or streets or part thereof whereon the work is to be effected. The petition shall be lodged with the clerk of the municipality, who shall investigate the sufficiency thereof, submit the petition to the governing body, and certify the result of his investigation. The determination of the governing body upon the sufficiency of the petition shall be final and conclusive. (1915, c. 56, s. 5; C. S. 2707.)

§ 160-83. What resolution shall contain:

1. Designate improvements. The preliminary resolution determining to make a local improvement shall, after its passage, be published. Such resolution shall designate by a general description the improvement to be made, and the street or streets or part or parts thereof whereon the work is to be effected, and the proportion of the cost thereof to be assessed upon abutting property and the terms and manner of the payment.

2. Sidewalk improvements. If such resolution shall provide for a sidewalk improvement, it may, in those municipalities in which the owners of the abutting property are required to make payment of the entire cost thereof, without petition direct that the owners of the property abutting on the improvement shall make such sidewalk improvement, and that unless the same shall be made by such owners on or before a day specified in the resolution, the governing body may cause such sidewalk improvement to be made.

3. Affecting railroads. If the resolution shall provide for a street improvement, it shall direct that any street railway company or other railroad company having tracks on the street or streets or part thereof to be improved shall make such street improvement, with such material and of such a character as may be approved by the governing body, in that part of such street or streets or part thereof which the governing body may prescribe, not to exceed, however, the space between the tracks, the rails of the tracks, and eighteen inches in width outside of the tracks of such company, and that unless such improvement shall be made on or before a day specified in such resolution, the governing body will cause such improvement to be made: Provided, however, that where any such company shall occupy such street or streets under a franchise or contract which otherwise provided, such franchise or contract shall not be affected by this section, except in so far as may be consistent with the provisions of such franchise or contract.

4. Water, gas, and sewer connections. If the resolution shall provide for a street or sidewalk improvement, it may, but need not, direct that the owners of all property abutting on the improvement shall connect their several premises with water mains, gas and sewer pipes located in the street adjacent to their several premises in the manner prescribed in such resolution, and that unless such owners shall cause connection to be made on or before a day specified in such resolution, the governing body will cause the same to be made. (1915, c. 56, s. 6; C. S. 2708.)

§ 160-84. Character of work and material.—The governing body shall have power to determine character and type of construction and of material to be used in making a local improvement, and whether the work, where not done by owners of abutting property or by a street or other railroad company, shall be done by the forces of the municipality or by contract: Provided, that for the purposes of securing uniformity in the work the governing body shall always have the power to have all street paving done by the forces of the municipality or by contract under the provisions of this article. (1915, c. 56, s. 7; C. S. 2709.)

§ 160-85. Assessments levied:

1. One-half on abutting property. One-half of the total cost of a street or sidewalk improvement made by a municipality, exclusive of so much of the cost as is incurred at street intersections and the share of railroads or street railways, shall be specially assessed upon the lots and parcels of land abutting directly on the improvements, according to the extent of their respective frontage thereon, by an equal rate per foot of such frontage, unless the petition for such street or sidewalk improvement shall request that a larger proportion of such cost, specified in the petition, be so assessed, in which case such larger proportion shall be so assessed, and the remainder of such cost shall be borne by the municipality at large; but no assessment for streets and sidewalks shall be made against abutting property on any such street or sidewalk until said street or sidewalk has been definitely laid out and the boundaries of the same definitely fixed.

2. Upon railroads. The cost of that part of a street improvement required to be borne by a railroad or street railway company, and made by the municipality after default by a railroad or street railway company in making the same as hereinbefore provided, shall be assessed against such company, and shall be collected in the same manner as assessments are collected from abutting property owners, and such assessment shall be a lien on all of the franchises and property of such railroad or street railway company.

3. For sidewalks. The entire cost of a sidewalk improvement required to be made by owners of property abutting thereon, and made by the municipality after default by such property owners in making the same, as hereinbefore provided, shall be assessed against the lots and parcels of land abutting on that side of the street upon which the improvement is made and directly on the improvement, according to their respective frontages thereon, by an equal rate per foot of such frontage.

4. Water, gas and sewer connections. The entire cost of each water, gas and sewer connection, required to be made by the owner of the property for or in connection with which such connection was made, but made by the municipality after default by such property owner in making the same, as hereinbefore provided, shall be specially assessed against the particular lot or parcel of land for or in connection with which it was made. No lands in the municipality shall be exempt from local assessment. (1915, c. 56, s. 8; 1919, c. 86; C. S. 2710.)

§ 160-86. Amount of assessment ascertained.—Upon the completion of any local improvement the governing body shall compute and ascertain the total cost thereof. In the total cost shall be included the interest paid or to be paid on notes or certificates of indebtedness issued by the municipality to pay the expense of such improvement pursuant to the provisions of this article and incident to the improvement and assessment therefor. The governing body must thereupon make an assessment of such total cost pursuant to the provisions of the preceding section, and for that purpose must make out an assessment roll in which must be entered the names of the persons assessed as far as they can ascertain the same, and the amount assessed against them, respectively, with a brief description of the lots or parcels of land assessed. (1915, c. 56, s. 9; C. S. 2711.)

§ 160-87. Assessment roll filed; notice of hearing.—Immediately after such assessment roll has been completed, the governing body shall cause it to be deposited in the office of the clerk of the municipality for inspection by parties interested, and shall cause to be published a notice of the completion of the assessment roll, setting forth a description in general terms of the local improvement, and the time fixed for the meeting of the governing body for the hearing of allegations and objections in respect of the special assessment, such meeting not to be earlier than ten days from the first publication or posting of said notice. Any number of assessment rolls may be included in one notice. (1915, c. 56, s. 9; C. S. 2712.)

§ 160-88. Hearing and confirmation; assessment lien.—At the time appointed for that purpose, or at some other time to which it may adjourn, the governing body, or a committee thereof, must hear the allegations and objections of all persons interested, who appear and may make proof in relation thereto. The governing body may thereupon correct such assessment roll, and either confirm the same or may set it aside, and provide for a new assessment. Whenever the governing body shall confirm an assessment for a local improvement, the clerk of the municipality shall enter on the minutes of the governing body the date, hour, and minute of such confirmation, and from the time of such confirmation the assessments embraced in the assessment roll shall be a lien on the real property against which the same are assessed, superior to all other liens and encumbrances. After the roll is confirmed a copy of the same must be delivered to the tax collector or other officer charged with the duty of collecting taxes. (1915, c. 56, s. 9; C. S. 2713.)

§ 160-89. Appeal to the superior court.—If a person assessed is dissatisfied with the amount of the charge, he may give notice within ten days after such confirmation that he takes an appeal to the next term of the superior court of the county in which the municipality is located, and shall within five days thereafter serve a statement of facts upon which he bases his appeal, but the appeal shall not delay or stop the improvements. The appeal shall be tried at the term of court as other actions at law. (1915, c. 56, s. 9; C. S. 2714.

§ 160-90. Power to adjust assessments.—The governing body may correct, cancel or remit any assessment for a local improvement, and may remit, cancel or adjust the interest or penalties on any such assessment. The governing body has the power, when in its judgment there is any irregularity, omission, error or lack of jurisdiction in any of the proceedings relating thereto, to set aside the whole of the local assessment made by it, and thereupon to make a reassessment. In such case there shall be included, as a part of the costs of the public improvement involved, all interest paid or accrued on notes or certificates of indebtedness, or assessment bonds issued by the municipality to pay the expenses of such improvement. The proceeding shall be in all respects as in case of local assessments, and the reassessment shall have the same force as if it had originally been properly made. (1915, c. 56, s. 9; C. S. 2715.

§ 160-91. Payment of assessment in cash or by installments.—The property owner or railroad or street railway company hereinbefore mentioned shall have the option and privilege of paying for the improvements hereinbefore provided for in cash, or if they should so elect and give notice of the fact in writing to the municipality within thirty days after the notice mentioned in next succeeding section, they shall have the option and privilege of paying the assessments in not less than five nor more than ten equal annual installments as may have been determined by the governing body in the original resolution authorizing such improvement. Such installments shall bear interest at the rate of six per centum per annum from the date of the confirmation of the assessment roll, and in case of the failure or neglect of any property owner or railroad or street railway company to pay any installment when the same shall become due and payable, then and in that event all of the installments remaining unpaid shall at once become due and payable and such property and franchises shall be sold by the municipality under the same rules, regulations, rights of redemption and savings as are now prescribed by law for the sale of land for unpaid taxes. The whole assessment may be paid at the time of paying any installment by payment of the principal and all interest accrued to that date. (1915, c. 56, s. 10; C. S. 2716.)

§ 160-92. Payment of assessment enforced.—After the expiration of twenty days from the confirmation of an assessment roll the tax collector or such other officer of the municipality as the governing body may direct so to do shall cause to be published in a newspaper published in the municipality, or if there be no such newspaper, shall cause to be posted in at least three public places therein, a notice that any assessment contained in the assessment roll, naming and describing it, may be paid to him at any time before the expiration of thirty days from the first publication of the notice without any addition. In the event the assessment is not paid within such time, it shall bear interest at the rate of six per cent per annum from the date of the computation and ascertainment by the governing body of the total cost of the local improvement after its completion: Provided, that this shall not apply to improvements made under an ordinance prior to February 26, 1923. The assessment shall be due and payable on the date on which taxes are payable. Provided, that where an assessment is divided into installments one installment shall become due and payable each year on the date on which taxes are due and payable. After default in the payment of any installment, the governing body may, on the payment of all installments in arrears, together with interest due thereon and on reimbursement of any expenses incurred in attempting to obtain payment, reinstate the remaining unpaid installments of such assessment so that they shall become due in the same manner as they would have if there had been no default, and such extension may be granted at any time prior to the institution of an action to foreclose. (1915, c. 56, s. 11; 1923, c. 87; 1929, c. 331, s. 1; C. S. 2717.)

§ 160-93. Sale or foreclosure for unpaid assessments barred in ten years; no penalties.—No statute of limitation, whether fixed by law especially referred to in this chapter or otherwise, shall bar the right of the municipality to enforce any remedy provided by law for the collection of unpaid assessments, whether for paving or other benefits, and whether such assessment is made under this chapter or under other general or specific acts, save from and after ten years from default in the payment thereof, or if payable in installments, ten years from the default in the payment of any installments. No penalties prescribed for failure to pay taxes shall apply to special assessments, but they shall bear interest at the rate of six per cent per annum only. In any action to foreclose a special assessment the costs shall be taxed as in any other civil action, and shall include an allowance for the commissioner appointed to make the sale, which shall not be more than five per cent of the amount for which the land is sold, and one reasonable attorney's fee for the plaintiff. This section shall apply to all special assessments heretofore or hereafter levied, but shall not apply to any special assessment for the collection of which an action or proceeding has been instituted prior to March 19, 1929. (1929, c. 331, s. 1.)

Local Modification.—Durham: 1935, c. 224; Sampson, Town of Clinton: 1939, c. 148.

§ 160-94. Extension of time for payment of special assessments.—At any time or times prior to July the first, one thousand nine hundred and forty-two, the governing body of any city or town may adopt a resolution granting an extension of the time for the payment of any instalment or instalments of any special assessment, including accrued interest thereon and costs accrued in any action to foreclose under the lien thereon, by arranging such instalment or instalments, interest and costs into a new series of ten equal instalments so that one of said instalments shall fall due on the first Monday in October after the expiration of one year after adoption of the aforesaid resolution and one of said instalments on the first Monday in October of each year thereafter. Accrued interest on any instalment or instalments of any special assessment extended under the provisions of this section shall be computed to the first Monday in October following the adoption of the aforesaid resolution: Provided, however, that such extension shall not prevent the payment of any assessment or interest at any time: Provided further, no such extension shall in any way discriminate in favor of or against any property assessed by virtue of said assessment roll: Provided further, that any instalment or instalments, together with accrued interest and costs extended in accordance with the provisions of this section shall bear interest at the rate of six per centum per annum from the first Monday in October following the adoption of the aforesaid resolution. (1931, c. 249; 1933, cc. 252, 410; 1935, c. 126; 1937, c. 172; 1939, c. 198; 1941, c. 160.)

Local Modification.—Orange, Town of Carrboro: 1937, c. 195.

§ 160-95. Assessments in case of tenant for life or years.—Whenever any real estate is in the possession or enjoyment of a tenant for life, or a tenant for a term of years, and an assessment is laid or levied on said property by any city, town, county, township, municipal district, or the state, to cover the cost of permanent improvements ordered put thereon by the law or the ordinances of such city or town, township, or municipal district, such as paving streets and sidewalks, laying sewer and water lines, draining lowlands, and permanent improvements of a like character, which constitute a lien upon such property, the amount so assessed for such purposes shall be paid by the tenant for life or for years, and the remaindermen after the life estate, or the owner in fee after the expiration of tenancy for a term of years, pro rata their respective interests in said real estate. (1911, c. 7, s. 1; C. S. 2718.)

§ 160-96. Interests of parties ascertained.—The respective interests of a tenant for life and the remainderman in fee shall be calculated as provided in § 37-13. (1911, c. 7, s. 2; C. S. 2719.)

§ 160-97. Lien of party making payment.—If the assessment, after same shall be laid or levied, shall all be paid by either the tenant for life or the tenant for a term of years, or by the remainderman, or the owner in fee, the party paying more than his pro rata share of the same shall have the right to maintain an action in the nature of a suit for contribution against the delinquent party to recover from him his pro rata share of such assessment, with interest thereon from the date of such payment, and be subrogated to the right of the city, town, township, municipal district, county, or the state, to a lien on such property for the same. (1911, c. 7, s. 3; C. S. 2720.)

§ 160-98. Lien in favor of co-tenant or joint owner paying special assessments.—Any one of several tenants in common, or joint tenants, or co-partners, shall have the right to pay the whole or any part of the special assessments assessed or due upon the real estate held jointly or in common, and all sums by him so paid in excess of his share of such special assessments, interest, costs and amounts required for redemption, shall constitute a lien upon the shares of his co-tenant or associates, payment whereof, with interest and costs, he may enforce in proceedings for partition, actual or by sale, or in any other appropriate judicial proceeding: Provided, the lien herein provided for shall not be effective against an innocent purchaser for value unless and until notice thereof is filed in the office of the clerk of the superior court in the county in which the land lies and indexed and docketed in the same manner as other liens required by law to be filed in such clerk's office. (1935, c. 174.)

§ 160-99. Money borrowed to be paid out of assessment.—At any time before the cost of any local improvement shall be computed and ascertained as provided in this article, the municipality may from time to time by resolution authorize the treasurer to borrow money to the extent required to pay the cost of any such improvement or to repay any money borrowed under this section with interest thereon in accordance with the provisions of the Local Government Act. The resolution authorizing any such loan or loans may provide for the issue of notes or certificates of indebtedness of the municipality, or both, payable either on demand or at a fixed time, not more than six months from the date thereof, and bearing interest not exceeding six per centum per annum. Any temporary indebtedness incurred under the authority of this section, with the interest thereon, may be paid out of moneys raised by the issue and sale of "local improvement bonds" or "assessment bonds," or both, to be issued and sold as hereinafter provided, or may be included in the annual tax levy. (1915, c. 56, s. 12; C. S. 2721.)

§ 160-100. Assessment books prepared.—After the governing body of the municipality has levied the assessment against the property abutting upon the street or streets, the city clerk or person designated shall prepare from such assessment roll and deliver to the tax collector or person designated a well bound book styled Special Assessment Book, which shall be so ruled as to conveniently show:

1. Name of owner of such property.

2. The number of lot or part of lot and the plan thereof if there be a plan.
3. The frontage of said lot.
4. The amount that has been assessed against such lot.
5. The amount of such installments and the day on which installments shall become due.

Such book shall be indexed according to the names of the owners of the property, and entries of all payments or partial payments shall be immediately entered upon said book when made, and said book shall be open to the inspection of any citizen of the municipality. (1915, c. 56, s. 13; C. S. 2722.)

§ 160-101. Apportionment of assessments.—In any case where one or more special assessments shall have been made against any property for any improvement or improvements authorized by this chapter, and said property has been or is about to be subdivided and it is therefore desirable that said assessment or assessments be apportioned among the subdivisions of such property, the governing body may, with the consent of the owner or owners of said property, apportion said assessment or assessments, or the total thereof, fairly among said subdivisions, as same are benefited by the improvement and release such subdivisions, if any, as in the opinion of the governing body are not benefited by the improvement. Thereafter, each of said subdivisions shall be relieved of any part of such original assessment or assessments except the part thereof apportioned to said subdivision, and the part of said original assessment or assessments apportioned to any such subdivision shall be of the same force and effect as the original assessment or assessments. At the time of making such apportionments, the governing body shall cause to be entered upon its minutes an entry to the effect that such apportionment is made with the consent of the owner or owners of the property affected, and such entry shall be conclusive of the truth thereof in the absence of fraud. Such re-assessments may include past due installments of principal, interest and penalty, if any, as well as assessments not then due, and the remaining installments shall fall due at the same dates as they did under the original assessment. (1929, c. 331, s. 1; 1935, c. 125.)

§ 160-102. Local improvement bonds issued.—Whenever an assessment for any local improvement has been confirmed, the governing body may by resolution direct that the amount and proportion of the expense of such improvement which shall be borne by the municipality at large shall be raised by the issuance of bonds of the municipality to be known as "local improvement bonds." Such bonds shall be issued as provided in the Municipal Finance Act. (1915, c. 56, s. 14; C. S. 2723.)

§ 160-103. Assessment bonds issued.—Whenever an assessment for any local improvement has been confirmed, and twenty days have elapsed since the first publication of notice of such confirmation, the governing body may by resolution direct that the amount and proportion of the expense of such improvement which has been assessed upon the abutting property, or any part of such expense, shall be raised by the municipality by the issuance of its bonds, to be known as "assessment bonds." All moneys derived from the collection of assessments upon which assessment bonds are predicated, collected after the passage of the resolution authorizing such bonds, shall be placed in a special fund, to be used only for the payment of the principal and interest of assessment bonds issued under this section, and if at the time of the annual tax levy for any year in such municipality it shall appear that such fund will be for any cause insufficient to meet the principal and interest of such bonds maturing in such year, the amount of the deficiency shall be included in such tax levy. The amount of the assessments for two or more improvements may be included in a single issue of assessment bonds. (1915, c. 56, s. 15; C. S. 2724.)

§ 160-104. Improvements on streets abutting railroads.—Municipalities desiring to make street and sidewalk improvements on property owned and/or leased by railroad companies, are hereby authorized to make such improvements on any such street used as a public street, subject to the rights of any such railroad company to use and occupy the same for railroad purposes: Provided, however, that the petition or petitions contemplated and required by the provisions of this article, need not be signed by such railroad company or companies, nor shall any part of the railroad right of way be considered as abutting property, but the said petition shall be signed by at least a majority in number of the owners of property other than the railroad right of way, who must represent at least a majority of all the lineal feet frontage of the lands, other than said railroad right of way (a majority in interest of owners of undivided interest in any piece of property to be deemed and treated as one person for the purpose of the petition), abutting upon such street or streets proposed to be improved: Provided, further, that not more than one-half of the total cost of the street or sidewalk improvement made by such municipality, exclusive of so much of the cost as is incurred at street intersections, shall be specially assessed upon the lots or parcels of land abutting directly on the improvement, other than the property included in the railroad right of way, according to the extent of their respective frontage thereon, by an equal rate per foot of such frontage. (1931, c. 222, s. 1.)

§ 160-105. Railroad rights of way and contracts as to streets unaffected.—Nothing contained in § 160-104 shall be construed so as to deprive any railroad company of any right which it may now or hereafter possess by reason of its ownership of any right of way.

Any additional expense which the railroad may incur in removing or altering any pavement or other improvements made under and by virtue of the provisions of § 160-104, which interfere with the railroad's use of its right of way, shall be borne by the municipality affected: Provided, such section shall not affect in any way existing contracts between municipalities and railroads for rights of way through streets, and shall not affect existing contracts between municipalities and railroads for upkeep and improvements of streets. (1931, c. 222, s. 1½.)

Art. 10. Inspection of Meters.

§ 160-106. Inspectors appointed.—In every city or town in the state of North Carolina where is furnished, for pay, electricity, gas or water by meter measure, the governing body of the city or town may appoint some competent person to act as inspector of meters, whose duty it shall be to inspect and test such meters and to carry out the provisions of this article as herein provided. (1909, c. 150, s. 1; C. S. 2729.)

§ 160-107. Time of appointment; oath, bond, and compensation. — Such appointment, if made, shall be made at the first meeting in May of each year of such governing body, subject to the power of such city or town authorities to remove such appointee in the manner provided for the removal of its other appointees and to fill the vacancy caused by such removal. The compensation of such inspector shall be fixed and shall be paid by the city or town so appointing him, and such inspector shall upon his appointment take oath before the mayor of said city or town that he will faithfully perform the duties herein imposed upon him, and the governing body of the city or town may require the inspector to give bond in such sum as they may fix for the faithful discharge of his duties. (1909, c. 150, s. 2; C. S. 2730.)

§ 160-108. Apparatus for testing meters provided.—Every person, firm, corporation or municipality furnishing for pay electricity, gas or water by meter measure in any city or town having appointed an inspector of meters, as aforesaid, shall provide and keep a suitable and proper apparatus for testing and proving the accuracy of the meters to be so furnished for use, by which apparatus all such meters shall be tested at their rated capacity. (1909, c. 150, s. 3; C. S. 2731.)

§ 160-109. Meters tested before installed.—No person, firm, or corporation or municipality furnishing for pay electricity, gas or water by meter measure shall hereafter furnish, install and put in use any such meter in any city or town having appointed an inspector of meters, as aforesaid, until such meter shall first have been inspected and found correct by such inspector, and it shall be the duty of such inspector to test the same upon the written request of such proposed furnisher. No meter now in service shall be required to be taken out for test, except where there is doubt as to its accuracy and upon the written request of the consumer, as herein provided. (1909, c. 150, s. 4; C. S. 2732.)

§ 160-110. Inspection made upon complaint.—When any consumer, by meter, of electricity, gas or water in any city or town having appointed an inspector of meters, as aforesaid, doubts the accuracy of such meter and desires to have the same tested, such consumer may file with the inspector of meters a written complaint of the meter and request that the same be tested, and shall at the same time deposit with the furnisher the sum of one dollar to cover the expense of taking out and replacing such meter, and thereupon it shall be the duty of such inspector as soon as practicable to accurately test said meter in the presence of and jointly with the authorized agent of the furnisher, and also in the presence of the complainant, if he so desires, and shall give to both the complainant and to the furnisher a written report of such test and the result thereof. (1909, c. 150, s. 5; C. S. 2733.)

§ 160-111. Repayment of deposit.—If upon such test the meter is found to be incorrect, in that it registers more than two and one-half per cent too fast—that is, more than two and one-half per cent more electricity, gas or water than it should, then and in that event the furnisher shall return to the complainant the one dollar deposit and shall promptly properly adjust and repair the meter or furnish a correctly adjusted meter; but if upon such test the meter shall not register more than two and one-half per cent too fast—that is, more than two and one-half per cent more than it ought to—the one dollar deposit shall be retained by the furnisher to cover the expense of taking out and replacing the meter. (1909, c. 150, s. 6; C. S. 2734.)

§ 160-112. Adjustment of charges. — If upon such test the meter shall register more than two and one-half per cent too fast, as above defined, the furnisher shall reimburse the complainant at the rate at which the meter registers too fast for a period of one month back; but if upon such test the meter shall be found to be incorrect, in that it registers more than two and one-half per cent too slow—that is, more than two and one-half per cent less electricity, gas or water than it should—then and in that event the complainant shall, in addition to the amount already charged him, pay at once to the furnisher at the rate at which the meter is too slow for a period of one month back, and the furnisher shall have the same rights for collecting such additional sum as is provided for the collecting of the past due and unpaid bills for electricity, gas or water, as the case may be. (1909, c. 150, s. 7; C. S. 2735.)

§ 160-113. Standard of accuracy.—Any such meter having been tested and found to be not more than two and one-half per cent too slow nor more than two and one-half per cent too fast, as above defined, shall be considered correct, and such inspector shall so mark or stamp such meter and report the same to the governing body of the city or town. (1909, c. 150, s. 8; C. S. 2736.)

§ 160-114. Free access to meters.—Nothing in this article shall be so construed as to prevent any furnisher of electricity, gas or water from having free access to the meters. (1909, c. 150, s. 9; C. S. 2737.)

Art. 11. Regulation of Buildings.

§ 160-115. Chief of fire department.—There is hereby created in the incorporated cities and towns of the state, where not already established by their charters, the office of chief of fire department. (Rev., s. 4815; 1901, c. 677, s. 1; C. S. 2738.)

§ 160-116. Election and compensation.—The governing body of every incorporated city and town, when no provision is made in their charters for such office, shall elect a chief of fire department, fix his term of office, prescribe his duties and obligations, and see that he is reasonably remunerated by the city or town for the services required of him by law. They may change his duties and compensation from time to time, not inconsistent with the duties prescribed in this article. Where the governing body fails or neglects to perform such duty, the insurance commissioner shall call it to their attention and if necessary bring the matter before the proper court. Nothing herein may prevent any person elected hereunder from holding some other position in the government of the city or town. (Rev., ss. 2981, 4816; 1901, c. 677, s. 2; 1905, c. 506, s. 4; 1915, c. 192, s. 1; C. S. 2739.)

§ 160-117. Duties of chief of fire department.—The chief of the fire department shall perform the duties required of him by this article; where such duties are not prescribed by the charters or governing body of incorporated cities and towns, it shall be his duty to preserve and care for the fire apparatus, have charge of the fighting and putting out of all fires, make annual reports to the city municipal governments, seek out and have corrected all places and conditions dangerous to the safety of the municipality from fire, look after buildings being erected with a view to their safety from fires, and do and perform the other duties prescribed by the governing boards of the several municipalities. (Rev., ss. 4815, 4817; 1901, c. 677, ss. 1, 3; C. S. 2740.)

§ 160-118. Local inspector of buildings.—The chiefs of fire departments hereinbefore provided for shall also be local inspectors of buildings for the cities or towns for which they are appointed and shall perform the duties required herein and shall make all reports required by the insurance commissioner, and shall make all inspections and perform such duties as may be required by the state law or city or town ordinance or by the said insurance commissioner: Provided, however, that any city or town may appoint and reasonably remunerate a local inspector of buildings, in which case the chief of fire department shall be relieved of the duties herein imposed. (Rev., s. 2982; 1905, c. 506, s. 6; 1915, c. 192, s. 2; C. S. 2741.)

§ 160-119. Town aldermen failing to appoint inspectors. — If the aldermen or commissioners of any city or town shall fail or refuse to appoint a chief of the fire department, or shall fail or refuse to reasonably remunerate him, they shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. This section shall not apply to the aldermen or commissioners of any city or town, where such city or town is by law exempt from the law regulating and controlling the erection and inspection of buildings. (Rev., s. 3607; 1905, c. 506, s. 4; C. S. 2742.)

§ 160-120. Town officers; inspection of buildings.—If any chief of any fire department or local inspector of buildings shall fail to perform the duties required of him by law or shall give a certificate of inspection without first making the inspection required by law, or shall improperly give a certificate of inspection, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. (Rev., s. 3610; 1905, c. 506, s. 5; 1915, c. 192, s. 17; C. S. 2743.)

§ 160-121. Electrical inspectors.—The governing body of any incorporated city or town may in their discretion appoint an electrical inspector in addition to the building inspector, and when said electrical inspector is so appointed he shall do and perform all things herein set out for the building inspector to do and perform in regard to electrical wiring and certificates for same, and in such cases the building inspector shall be relieved of such duties. (Rev., s. 2983; 1905, c. 506, s. 33; C. S. 2744.)

§ 160-122. County electrical inspectors.—The county commissioners of each county may in their discretion designate and appoint one or more electrical inspectors whose duty it shall be to inspect the installation of all wiring and other electrical installations in buildings located in any town of one thousand population or less and/or those buildings located outside of the corporate limits of all cities and towns and not otherwise included in this article, and to issue a certificate of inspection where such installations fully meet the requirements for such installations as set forth in this article, or such additional requirements as the board of county commissioners may prescribe. Nothing contained in this article shall be construed as prohibiting said board of county commissioners designating as county inspector any person who also has or may be designated as electrical inspector in any city or town located within said county, or from prohibiting two or more counties from designating the same inspector to perform the duties herein mentioned for such two or more counties. The county commissioners shall also fix the fees to be charged by such county inspector, which fees shall be paid by the owner of the properties so inspected. (1937, c. 57; 1941, c. 105.)

§ 160-123. Deputy inspectors.—All duties imposed by this article upon the building inspector may be performed by a deputy appointed by such inspector. (Rev., s. 2984; 1905, c. 506, s. 32; C. S. 2745.)

§ 160-125. Punishment for failing to establish fire limits. — If the aldermen or commissioners of any city or town shall fail or refuse to establish and define the fire limits for such town according to law, they shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. This section shall not apply to aldermen or commissioners of those towns which are exempt from the law governing the inspection of buildings. (Rev., s. 3608; 1905, c. 506, s. 7; C. S. 2747.)

§ 160-126. Building permits.—Before a building is begun the owner of the property shall apply to the inspector for a permit to build. This permit shall be given in writing and shall contain a provision that the building shall be constructed according to the requirements of the building law, a copy of which shall accompany the permit. As the building progresses the inspector shall make as many inspections as may be necessary to satisfy him that the building is being constructed according to the provisions of this law. As soon as the building is completed the owner shall notify the inspector, who shall proceed at once to inspect the said building and determine whether or not the flues and the building are properly constructed in accordance with the building law. If the building meets the requirements of the building law the inspector shall then issue to the owner of the building a certificate which shall state that he has complied with the requirements of the building law as to that particular building, giving description and locality and street number if numbered. The inspector shall keep his record so that it will show readily by reference all such buildings as are approved. The inspector shall report to the insurance commissioner every person neglecting to secure such permit and certificate, and also bring the matter before the mayor, recorder or municipal court for their attention and action. (Rev., s. 2986; 1905, c. 506, s. 26; 1915, c. 192, s. 3; C. S. 2748.)

§ 160-127. Material used in construction of walls.—The walls of all buildings in cities or towns where this article applies, other than frame or wooden buildings, shall be constructed of brick, iron or other hard, incombustible material. All rules, regulations and requirements contained in the building law, or set out in this article in regard to the erection of buildings, or any part thereof, shall apply also where any building or walls, or any part thereof, is proposed to be raised, altered, repaired or added to, in order that the objects of the law may be accomplished and deficiencies and menaces to the safety of the city or town may not be made or perpetuated. (Rev., s. 2987; 1905, c. 506, s. 9; 1915, c. 192, s. 4; C. S. 2749.)

§ 160-128. Frame buildings within fire limits.—Within the fire limits of cities and towns where this article applies, as established and defined, no frame or wooden building shall be hereafter erected, altered, repaired, or moved except upon the permit of the building inspector, approved by the insurance commissioner. (Rev., s. 2988; 1905, c. 506, s. 8; 1915, c. 192, s. 5; C. S. 2750.)

§ 160-129. Thickness of walls.—The walls of warehouses, stores, factories, liverystables, hotels or other brick or stone buildings for business purposes in cities or towns where this article applies, except fireproof buildings where the framework is of steel, shall conform to the following schedules:

Three-story building	17	17	13	..	..
Four-story building	22	17	17	13	..
Five-story building	26	22	17	17	13

The walls of all brick or stone buildings over five stories high shall be thirteen inches thick for the top story and increasing four inches in thickness for each story below to the ground, the increased thickness of each story to be utilized for beam and girder ledges. All top story walls must extend through and eighteen inches above the roof in parapets not less than thirteen inches thick and coped with terra-cotta, stone, cast-iron or cement. Upon written application approved by the building inspector the insurance commissioner may, where he deems it advisable, allow decreased thickness in walls of concrete, or in brick walls where such thickness is compensated for by pilasters. The roofs of all buildings named in this section shall be of metal, slate or tile or gravel or other standard fireproof roofing. (Rev., s. 2989; 1905, c. 506, s. 10; 1915, c. 192, s. 6; C. S. 2751.)

Local Modification.—Durham: 1933, c. 254.

§ 160-130. Foundation of walls; openings and doors protected.—In all buildings mentioned in the preceding section there shall be prepared a proper and substantial foundation, and no foundation shall be less than one foot below the exposed surface of the ground, and no foundation shall rest on any filling or made ground, and the breadth of the foundation of the several parts of any building shall be proportioned so that as near as practicable the pressure shall be equal on each square foot of the foundation, and cement mortar shall be used in the masonry of all foundations exposed to dampness. (Rev., s. 2990; 1905, c. 506, s. 11; C. S. 2752.)

§ 160-131. Metallic stand-pipes required.—All business buildings being more than fifty-six feet high, covering an area of more than five thousand superficial feet, also all buildings exceeding eighty feet in height, shall have a four-inch or larger metallic stand-pipe within or near the front wall extending above the roof and arranged so that engine hose can be attached from the street, such riser to have two and one-half inch hose coupling on each floor. The building inspector may, with the approval of the insurance commissioner, allow two or more stand-pipes of smaller size and proper hose coupling, provided they are of such sizes and number as to be at least equivalent in service to the large stand-pipes required. All hose coupling shall conform to the size and pattern adopted by the fire department. (Rev., s. 2991; 1905, c. 506, s. 12; 1915, c. 192, s. 7; C. S. 2753.)

§ 160-132. Construction of joists.—The ends of joists or beams entering a brick wall shall be cut not less than three-inch bevel so as not to disturb the brickwork by any deflection or breaking of the joists or beams. All such joists or timbers entering a party or division wall from opposite sides shall have at least four inches of solid brickwork between the ends of such timbers or joists. (Rev., s. 2992; 1905, c. 506, s. 13; C. S. 2754.)

No woodwork or timber shall be placed under any fireplace or under the brickwork of any chimney. All floor beams, joists and headers shall be kept at least two inches clear of any wall enclosing a fire flue or chimney breast. (Rev., s. 2993; 1905, c. 506, s. 14; C. S. 2755.)

§ 160-134. Chimneys not built on wood.—No chimney shall be started or built upon a beam of wood or floor, the brickwork in all cases to start from the ground with proper foundation. In no case shall a chimney be corbeled out more than three inches from the wall, and in all cases corbeling shall consist of at least five courses of brick, the corbeling to start at least three feet below the bottom of the flue. (Rev., s. 2994; 1905, c. 506, s. 16; C. S. 2756.)

§ 160-135. Construction of flues.—All flues shall extend at least three feet above the roof and always above the comb of the roof, and shall be coped with well-burnt terra-cotta, stone, cast-iron or cement. In all buildings hereafter erected the stone or brickwork of all flues and the chimney shafts of all furnaces, boilers, bakers' ovens, large cooking ranges, and laundry stoves, and all flues used for similar purposes shall be at least eight inches in thickness, with the exception of smoke flues, which are lined with fire-clay lining or cast iron. These may be four inches in thickness, but this shall not apply to metal stacks of boiler-houses where properly constructed and arranged at a safe distance from wood or other inflammable material. All buildings hereafter erected shall have smoke flues constructed either in walls of eight inches thickness or with smoke flues lined with cast-iron or fire-clay lining, the walls of which may be four inches in thickness, the lining to commence at the bottom of the flue or at the throat of the fireplace and be carried up continuously the entire height of the flue. All joints shall be closely fitted and the lining shall be built in as the flue of flues are carried up. All chimneys which shall be dangerous in any manner whatever shall be repaired and made safe or taken down. (Rev., s. 2995; 1905, c. 506, s. 17; C. S. 2757.)

§ 160-136. Hanging flues.—Hanging flues (that is, for the reception of stovepipes built otherwise than from the ground) shall be allowed only when built according to the following specifications: The flue shall be built four inches thick of the best hard brick, laid on flat side, never on edge, extending at least three feet above the roof and always above the comb of the roof, lined on the inside with cast-iron or fire-clay flue lining from the bottom of the flue to the extreme height of the flue, and ends of all such lining pipes being made to fit close together and the lining pipe being built in as the flue is carried up. If the flue starts at the ceiling and receives the stovepipe vertically it shall be hung on iron stirrups, bent to come flush with the bottom of ceiling joints. All flues shall have a proper and sufficient support at their base, and in no case shall they be supported even partially by contact in passing through partitions, ceilings, or roofs. Flues not lined as above shall be built from the ground eight inches thick of the best hard brick with the joints struck smooth on the inside. (Rev., s. 2996; 1905, c. 506, s. 18; 1915, c. 192, s. 8; C. S. 2758.)

§ 160-137. Flues cleaned on completion of building.—The flues of every building shall be properly cleaned and all rubbish removed and the flues left smooth on the inside upon the completion of the building. (Rev., s. 2997; 1905, c. 506, s. 19; C. S. 2759.)

§ 160-138. Construction of stovepipes.—No stovepipe shall pass through any roof, window or weatherboarding, and no stovepipe in any building with wood or combustible floors, ceiling or partitions shall enter any flue unless such pipe shall be at lease twelve inches from such floors, ceiling or partitions, unless same is properly protected by metal shield, in which case the distance shall not be less than six inches. In all cases where stovepipes pass through wooden partitions of any kind or other woodwork they shall be guarded by either a double collar of metal with at least three inches air space and holes for ventilation or by a soapstone or burnt-clay ring not less than one inch in thickness extending through the partition or other woodwork. If any chimney, flue or heating apparatus on any premises shall, in the opinion of the inspector, endanger the premises, the inspector shall at once notify in writing the owner or agent of said premises. If such owner or agent fails for a period of forty-eight hours after the service of said notice upon him to make such chimney, flue or heating apparatus safe he shall be liable to a fine of not less than ten dollars nor more than fifty dollars for each day that the condition remains uncorrected. (Rev., s. 2998; 1905, c. 506, s. 20; 1915, c. 192, s. 9; C. S. 2760.)

All steam pipes passing through floors and ceilings or laths and plastered partitions shall be protected by a metal tube one inch larger in diameter than the pipe, and the space shall be filled in with mineral wool, asbestos or other incombustible material. (Rev., s. 3000; 1905, c. 506, s. 21; C. S. 2762.)

§ 160-141. Electric wiring of houses.—The electric wiring of houses or buildings for lighting or for other purposes shall conform to the regulations prescribed by the organization known as National Board of Fire Underwriters. In order to protect the property of citizens from the dangers incident to defective electric wiring of buildings, it shall be unlawful for any firm or corporation to allow any electric current for the purpose of illuminating any building belonging to any person, firm or corporation to be turned on without first having had an inspection made of the wiring by the building inspector and having received from the inspector a certificate approving the wiring of such building. It shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation engaged in the business of selling electricity to furnish any electric current for use for illuminating purposes in any building or buildings of any person, firm or corporation, unless the said building or buildings have been first inspected by the inspector of buildings and a certificate given as above provided. The fee that shall be allowed said inspector of buildings for the work of such inspection of electrical wiring shall be one dollar for each building inspected, to be paid by the person applying for the inspection. (Rev., s. 3001; 1905, c. 506, s. 23; C. S. 2763.)

Local Modification.—Alamance, City of Burlington: 1931, c. 133; Moore: 1931, c. 49.

The building inspector shall notify the owner or occupant of buildings of any defects, and notify them to correct the same within a reasonable time. (Rev., s. 3002; 1905, c. 506, s. 25; 1915, c. 192, s. 10; C. S. 2764.)

§ 160-143. Money received for such purpose, unless otherwise provided by the terms of the gift or bequest, shall be deposited with the treasurer of the municipality to the account of the recreation board or commission or other body having charge of such work, and the same may be withdrawn and paid out in the same manner as money appropriated for recreation purposes. now vested by law in any municipality or park or recreation board or commission. (1923, c. 83, s. 12; C. S. 2776(l).)

The said board shall organize and elect a chairman, secretary and treasurer from among its membership, may adopt by-laws for its own government and exercise the usual powers inherent in such bodies; they shall keep accurate minutes of their transactions and meetings, and keep or have kept accurate accounts of all moneys and property coming into their hands. Said board shall make and promulgate such rules and regulations for the operation, management and use of such market house or houses as it may deem advisable, not inconsistent with this article and not inconsistent with such rules and regulations as may be adopted from time to time by the governing bodies of such city or town and county, and employ such help as may be necessary in the operation thereof. (1923, c. 158, s. 3; C. S. 2776(o).)

§ 160-170. Special tax; specific appropriation.—To assist in and provide funds for the carrying out of the provisions and purposes of this article, the county commissioners of the county and the governing body of the city in which any market house or houses may be established under this article may each levy annually, as a part of their general levy for general purposes and not as a specially authorized tax, a tax of not exceeding two cents on each one hundred dollars ($100.00) value of real and personal property within their respective jurisdictions, which shall be collected as other taxes, kept in a separate fund and be used exclusively for the purposes contemplated and set forth in this article: Provided, however, that nothing in this section contained shall be held or construed to authorize or allow any city, town or county to levy any tax in excess of the amount now or hereafter limited by any general law or special charter. (1923, c. 158, s. 4; C. S. 2776(p).)

(1923, c. 158, s. 5; C. S. 2776(q).)

Art. 14. Zoning Regulations.

§ 160-172. Grant of power.—For the purpose of promoting health, safety, morals or the general welfare of the community, the legislative body of cities and incorporated towns is hereby empowered to regulate and restrict the height, number of stories and size of buildings and other structures, the percentage of lot that may be occupied, the size of yards, courts and other open spaces, the density of population, and the location and use of buildings, structures and land for trade, industry, residence or other purposes. Such regulations may provide that a board of adjustment may determine and vary their application in harmony with their general purpose and intent and in accordance with general or specific rules therein contained. (1923, c. 250, s. 1; C. S. 2776(r).)

§ 160-173. Districts.—For any or all said purposes it may divide the municipality into districts of such number, shape and area as may be deemed best suited to carry out the purposes of this article; and within such districts it may regulate and restrict the erection, construction, reconstruction, alteration, repair or use of buildings, structures or land. All such regulations shall be uniform for each class or kind of building throughout each district, but the regulations in one district may differ from those in other districts. Provided, however, that when at any intersection of streets in the corporate limits of any city or town the said legislative body of the said city or town promulgates any certain regulations and/or restrictions for the erection, construction, reconstruction, alteration, repair or use of buildings, structures or land on two or more of said corners at said intersection, it shall be the duty of such legislative body upon written application from the owner of the other corners of said intersection to redistrict, restrict and regulate the remaining said corners of said intersecting streets in the same manner as is prescribed for the erection, construction, reconstruction, alteration, repair or use of buildings, structure or land of the other said corners for a distance not to exceed one hundred and fifty feet from the property line of said intersecting additional corners. (1923, c. 250, s. 2; 1931, c. 176, s. 1; 1933, c. 7; C. S. 2776(s).)

Local Modification.—Cleveland, Durham, Forsyth, Guilford, Perquimans, Rockingham, Rowan, Wayne: 1931, c. 176, s. 1; Pasquotank: 1933, c. 263.

§ 160-174. Purposes in view.—Such regulations shall be made in accordance with a comprehensive plan and designed to lessen congestion in the streets; to secure safety from fire, panic and other dangers; to promote health and the general welfare; to provide adequate light and air; to prevent the overcrowding of land; to avoid undue concentration of population; to facilitate the adequate provision of transportation, water, sewerage, schools, parks and other public requirements. Such regulations shall be made with reasonable consideration, among other things, as to the character of the district and its peculiar suitability for particular uses, and with a view to conserving the value of buildings and encouraging the most appropriate use of land throughout such municipality. (1923, c. 250, s. 3; C. S. 2776(t).)

§ 160-175. Method of procedure.—The legislative body of such municipality shall provide for the manner in which such regulations and restrictions and the boundaries of such districts shall be determined, established and enforced, and from time to time amended, supplemented or changed. However, no such regulation, restriction or boundary shall become effective until after a public hearing in relation thereto, at which parties in interest and citizens shall have an opportunity to be heard. A notice of such public hearing shall be given once a week for two successive calendar weeks in a newspaper published in such municipality, or, if there be no newspaper published in the municipality, by posting such notice at four public places in the municipality, said notice to be published the first time or posted not less than fifteen days prior to the date fixed for said hearing. (1923, c. 250, s. 4; 1927, c. 90; C. S. 2776(u).)

§ 160-176. Changes.—Such regulations, restrictions and boundaries may from time to time be amended, supplemented, changed, modified or repealed. In case, however, of a protest against such change signed by the owners of twenty per cent or more either of the area of the lots included in such proposed change or of those immediately adjacent in the rear thereof extending one hundred feet therefrom, or of those directly opposite thereto extending one hundred feet from the street frontage of such opposite lots, such amendment shall not become effective except by favorable vote of three-fourths of all the members of the legislative body of such municipality. The provisions of the previous section relative to public hearings and official notice shall apply equally to all changes or amendments. (1923, c. 250, s. 5; C. S. 2776(v).)

§ 160-177. Zoning commission.—In order to avail itself of the powers conferred by this article, such legislative body shall appoint a commission to be known as the zoning commission to recommend the boundaries of the various original districts and appropriate regulations to be enforced therein. Such commission shall make a preliminary report and hold public hearings thereon before submitting its final report, and such legislative body shall not hold its public hearings or take action until it has received the final report of such commission. Where a city plan commission already exists, it may be appointed as the zoning commission. (1923, c. 250, s. 6; C. S. 2776(w).)

§ 160-178. Board of adjustment.—Such legislative body may provide for the appointment of a board of adjustment consisting of five members, each to be appointed for three years; provided, that such legislative body in the appointment of the original members of such board, or in the filling of vacancies caused by the expiration of the terms of the existing members of any such board, may make appointments of certain members for less than three years to the end that thereafter the terms of all members shall not expire at the same time. Such board of adjustment shall hear and decide appeals from and review any order, requirement, decision or determination made by an administrative official charged with the enforcement of any ordinance adopted pursuant to this article. It shall also hear and decide all matters referred to it or upon which it is required to pass under any such ordinance. The concurring vote of four members of the board shall be necessary to reverse any order, requirement, decision or determination of any such administrative official, or to decide in favor of the applicant any matter upon which it is required to pass under any such ordinance or to effect any variation in such ordinance. Every decision of such board shall, however, be subject to review by proceedings in the nature of certiorari. Such appeal may be taken by any person aggrieved or by an officer, department, board or bureau of the municipality. Such appeal shall be taken within such time as shall be prescribed by the board of adjustment by general rule, by filing with the officer from whom the appeal is taken and with the board of adjustment a notice of appeal, specifying the grounds thereof. The officer from whom the appeal is taken shall forthwith transmit to the board all the papers constituting the record upon which the action appealed from was taken. An appeal stays all proceedings in furtherance of the action appealed from, unless the officer from whom the appeal is taken certifies to the board of adjustment, after the notice of appeal shall have been filed with him, that by reason of facts stated in the certificate a stay would, in his opinion, cause imminent peril to life or property, in which case proceedings shall not be stayed otherwise than by a restraining order, which may be granted by the board of adjustment or by a court of record on application, on notice to the officer from whom the appeal is taken and on due cause shown. The board of adjustment shall fix a reasonable time for the hearing of the appeal and give due notice thereof to the parties, and decide the same within a reasonable time. Upon the hearing, any party may appear in person or by agent or by attorney. The board of adjustment may reverse or affirm, wholly or partly, or may modify the order, requirement, decision or determination appealed from, and shall make such order, requirement, decision or determination as in its opinion ought to be made in the premises, and to that end shall have all the powers of the officer from whom the appeal is taken. Where there are practical difficulties or unnecessary hardships in the way of carrying out the strict letter of such ordinance, the board of adjustment shall have the power, in passing upon appeals, to vary or modify any of the regulations or provisions of such ordinance relating to the use, construction or alteration of buildings or structures or the use of land, so that the spirit of the ordinance shall be observed, public safety and welfare secured and substantial justice done. (1923, c. 250, s. 7; 1929, c. 94, s. 1; C. S. 2776(x).)

§ 160-179. Remedies.—In case any building or structure is erected, constructed, reconstructed, altered, repaired, converted, or maintained, or any building, structure or land is used in violation of this article or of any ordinance or other regulation made under authority conferred thereby, the proper local authorities of the municipality, in addition to other remedies, may institute any appropriate action or proceedings to prevent such unlawful erection, construction, reconstruction, alteration, repair, conversion, maintenance or use, to restrain, correct or abate such violation, to prevent the occupancy of said building, structure or land, or to prevent any illegal act, conduct, business or use in or about such premises. (1923, c. 250, s. 8; C. S. 2776(y).)

§ 160-180. Conflict with other laws.—Wherever the regulations made under authority of this article require a greater width or size of yards or courts, or require a lower height of building or less number of stories, or require a greater percentage of lot to be left unoccupied, or impose other higher standards than are required in any other statute or local ordinance or regulation, the provisions of the regulations made under authority of this article shall govern. Whenever there shall be in any incorporated city or town a lot or lots owned by one or more persons, upon which water shall collect, either by falling upon the said lot or lots or collected thereon by drainage or otherwise from adjacent lots, no adequate drainage from which is provided by natural means, the governing body of any such city or town, upon being advised by the health officer of the said city or town, or the health officer of the county in which the town is located, that the conditions so existing are, or are liable to become, a nuisance and a menace to health in such city or town, is authorized to abate the nuisance, and to that end may proceed to abate it in the following manner:

Such city or town shall cause a survey to be made by a competent engineer to ascertain the means and methods and costs of providing an adequate drainage from such lot or lots and such engineer shall prepare plans and specifications to provide such drainage, with the estimated cost thereof and in making such survey he shall include therein the area of adjoining and adjacent lots which will be drained by such system of drainage. He shall also include in such survey the area of all adjoining and adjacent lots from which water flows and is gathered upon the lot or lots which are to be drained. The city or town shall thereupon cause notice to be published once in a newspaper published in the municipality, or if no newspaper is published in the municipality, then in a newspaper published in the county and of general circulation in the municipality, or if no newspaper is published in the county, said notice shall be posted in three public places in the municipality, which notice shall state in general and briefly the fact that a nuisance has been created and so declared, and that it is the purpose of the city or town to abate the same by causing a system of drainage to be put in, and that the cost thereof is to be paid or assessed in one of the ways hereinafter provided, that the report of the engineer is on file and subject to inspection, and that on a date to be named in the notice a hearing will be had before the board as to whether the plan shall be adopted and the assessment made, at which hearing the persons affected may be present and present such objections as they may have to the adoption of the report of the engineer and the doing of the work. Said notice shall also contain the names of the owners of the property affected in so far as the same can be ascertained on reasonable inquiry. Said notice shall be published or posted at least ten days before the hearing.

At the hearing provided for, if the governing body of the city or town shall determine that the work shall be done, and that the plans and specifications of the engineer are proper, it may adopt the said plans and specifications, and have the work done, either by letting a contract therefor or otherwise, and in the event a contract is let, it shall be advertised as is provided for in other cases of municipal work.

At the hearing above provided for, the governing body shall also determine the manner in which the cost of said work shall be paid or assessed, which shall be in either of the following ways: (a) Each and every lot affected by the plan or system shall be assessed with the cost thereof upon the following basis: that is to say, such proportion of the total cost of the survey and construction as the area of said lot bears to the total area as shown by the plans of the engineer when adopted by the governing body, which sum shall be due in such annual installments as the governing body may determine, which shall not exceed five in number, and such installments shall bear interest; (b) The cost of the survey and the construction of the main drains shall be borne by the municipality, and the cost of the construction of tributary drains assessed against the lots on which such tributary drains are constructed so that each lot shall bear the expense of tributary drains constructed on it. Said assessments shall be due in such annual installments as the governing body may determine, which shall not exceed five in number, and such installments shall bear interest.

The area which shall be included within and drained by the plans and specifications as herein provided for is hereby declared to be a "special improvement district."

The full faith and credit of such city or town shall be pledged for the payment of the said notes and interest when due.

The powers herein contained and hereby conferred are additional to any other powers conferred by any other law or laws, and are not affected by any limitations imposed by any other law.

The assessments, when made, shall be a lien upon the property benefited, and shall be collectible by the same means and methods as are other assessments for local or special improvements as is provided for in article nine of this chapter.

All acts or proceedings done or taken under this subdivision of this section prior to February 17, 1923, shall be valid.

(1917, c. 136, sub-ch. 5, s. 2; C. S. 2790.)

Part 2. Power to Acquire Property.

§ 160-204. Acquisition by purchase.—When in the opinion of the governing body of any city, or other board, commission, or department of the government of such city having and exercising or desiring to have and exercise the management and control of the streets, water, electric light, power, gas, sewerage or drainage systems, or other public utilities, parks, playgrounds, cemeteries, wharves, or markets, open-air or enclosed, which are or may by law be owned and operated or hereafter acquired by such city or by a separate association, corporation, or other organization on behalf and for the benefit of such city, any land, right of way, water right, privilege, or easement, either within or outside the city, shall be necessary for the purpose of opening, establishing, building, widening, extending, enlarging, maintaining, or operating any such streets, parks, playgrounds, cemetery, water, electric light, power, gas, sewerage or drainage systems, wharves, or other public utility so owned, operated, and maintained by or on behalf of any such city, such governing body, board, commission, or department of government of such city may purchase such land, right of way, water right, privilege, or easement from the owner or owners thereof and pay such compensation therefor as may be agreed upon. (1917, c. 136, sub-ch. 4, s. 1; 1919, c. 262; C. S. 2791.)

§ 160-205. (1917, c. 136, sub-ch. 4, s. 1; 1919, c. 262; 1923, c. 181; C. S. 2792.)

§ 160-206. Powers in addition and supplementary to powers in charters.—It is the intention of §§ 160-206 to 160-221 that the powers herein granted to cities for the purpose of improving their streets and improving their drainage and sewer conditions shall be in addition and supplementary to those powers granted in their charters, and in any case in which the provisions of these sections are in conflict with the provisions of any local statute or charter, then the governing body of any such municipality may in its discretion proceed in accordance with the provisions of such local statute or charter, or, as an alternative method of procedure, in accordance with the provisions of these sections. (1923, c. 220, s. 1; C. S. 2792(a).)

§ 160-207. Order for condemnation of land; assessment districts; maps and surveys; hearing.—When it is proposed by any municipal corporation to condemn any land, rights, privileges or easements for the purpose of opening, extending, widening, altering or improving any street or alley, or changing or improving the channel of any branch or watercourse, for the purpose of improving the drainage conditions, or the laying and construction of sanitary, storm or trunk sewer lines in such municipality, an order or resolution of the governing body of the municipality at a regular or special meeting shall be made stating generally, or as nearly as may be, the nature of the proposed improvement for which the land is required, and shall lay out, constitute and create an assessment district extending in every direction to the limits of the area or zone of damage or special benefits to property resulting from said improvement, in the best judgment of said governing body. Said governing body shall cause such maps and surveys to be made showing the area of such assessment district and improvements proposed to be made, and of all the lands located in said assessment district, as it may deem necessary. The governing body shall appoint a time and place for its final determination thereof, and cause notice of such time and a brief description of such proposed improvement to be published in some newspaper published in said municipality for not less than ten days prior to said meeting. At said time and place said governing body shall hear such reasons as shall be given for or against the making of such proposed improvement, and it may adjourn such hearing to a subsequent time: Provided, however, that no district shall be declared as an assessment district by the governing body of any municipality, where the purpose of the proposed improvements contemplates the opening of a new or the widening of an existing street and the destruction or removal of buildings abutting thereon and where as much or more than fifty per cent of the costs of such proposed improvement is to be charged against the property within such district, unless and until a petition therefor signed by the owners of a majority of the street frontage to be assessed within said district shall be filed with the governing body of the municipality: Provided, further, that for the purpose of this section the word "owners" shall be considered to mean the owners of a life estate or estate by the entirety or the estate of inheritance, and shall not include mortgagees, trustees of a naked trust, trustees under deeds of trust to secure the payment of money, lienholders, or persons having inchoate rights of curtesy or dower, and that the owners of undivided interests in any land shall be deemed and treated as one person, and such land shall be sufficiently signed for when the petition is signed by the owner or owners of a majority in amount of such undivided interest: Provided, further, that the owner of a leasehold estate of ninety-nine years or longer shall be deemed to be the owner within the meaning of this section: Provided, further, that the governing bodies of municipality and the officers, trustees, or boards of all incorporated or unincorporated bodies in whom is vested the right to hold and dispose of real property shall have the right by authority duly given to sign such petition. The determination of the governing body upon the sufficiency of the petition shall be final and conclusive. (1923, c. 220, s. 2; Ex. Sess. 1924, c. 107; 1927, c. 115; C. S. 2792(b).)

§ 160-208. Final order; petition for appointment of commissioners.—Whenever a final order shall be made by such governing body creating such assessment district and directing the laying out, opening, extending, altering, straightening or widening any street or alley, or the changing or otherwise improving any channel or watercourse for the purpose of improving the drainage conditions, or the building and construction of any sanitary, storm or trunk sewer lines in any such municipality, also its determination to condemn land, rights, privileges or easements for the purpose of making such proposed improvement, it shall determine what proportion of the estimated cost thereof, if any, shall be assessed against the city at large. After the adoption of such final order, as aforesaid, the governing body of such municipality shall file with the clerk of the superior court its petition, praying for the appointment of three commissioners to estimate and assess the expenses of the proposed improvement and to appraise and value the real property, rights, privileges or easements proposed to be taken or condemned for public use, also to appraise the value of the benefits accruing from such improvement to all property as shown and described on the maps or surveys of such assessment district. The petition shall set forth and describe the particular property, rights, privileges or easements proposed to be taken or condemned for the purposes, as aforesaid, also all other property situated and located in said assessment district, as shown on the maps or surveys of same, a copy or copies of which maps or surveys shall be filed with such petition, and such petition shall state the names and addresses of the owner or owners who have any interest in the lands therein which may be affected by the said condemnation or the said assessment of benefits, and whether any of the said owners are minors or without guardians. (1923, c. 220, s. 3; C. S. 2792(c).)

§ 160-209. Summons; return day; conduct of proceedings.—Upon the filing of said petition the clerk of the superior court shall issue a summons to the parties interested in the lands, rights, privileges or easements sought to be taken for public use and benefits proposed to be assessed, described in such petition, requiring them to appear at his office in the courthouse of said county on a day at least ten and not more than twenty days after the service of said summons, and answer or otherwise plead to the petition, or show cause why such condemnation, improvement and assessment of benefits should not be made. The said proceeding shall be conducted in all respects as are other special proceedings, and the clerk may issue process and make publication for parties and appoint guardians in like manner as is provided by law in the case of special proceedings. (1923, c. 220, s. 4; C. S. 2792(d).)

§ 160-210. Hearing; appointment of commissioners; damages and benefits.— The clerk of the superior court shall hear the proofs and allegations of the parties, and if no sufficient cause is shown against granting the prayer of the petition, he shall make an order appointing three disinterested competent freeholders of the county as such commissioners. The clerk shall issue a notice of their appointment to the said freeholders, to be served upon them by the sheriff of the county, and when so notified, they shall, within five days after being sworn to perform the duties which shall devolve upon them, go upon the premises and ascertain the value of the land, rights, privileges or easements to be taken for public use, determine by a majority vote the amount of damages, if any, to be paid for the same. Said commissioners shall also go upon the lots or lands described in the petition and shown on such map or survey of such assessment district, including the land condemned or any remainder thereof, and ascertain and determine by a majority vote the value of the benefits or advantages to such lots or lands accruing from the opening, extending, widening or improving said street or alley, or the changing or improving the channel of any branch or watercourse, or the building and construction of such sanitary, storm or trunk line sewers, both such benefits or advantages as are special to such lots and the benefits or advantages in common with other lots located in said assessment district: Provided, that if, in the judgment of the commissioners, any portion of the benefits accrue to the city at large, then a part of the estimated cost of such improvement, not exceeding the proportion fixed by said governing body in its final order or resolution, shall be assessed upon the city at large. Before making the reports hereinafter referred to the commissioners may take the evidence of witnesses as to the estimated cost of such improvement, the damage to such land or lands so condemned for public use, and the amount that should be paid therefor, and the benefits accruing to all other lands within such assessment district, either special or in common with others, as shown on such map or survey. In making the valuation and assessments aforesaid, the commissioners shall consider the loss or damage that may accrue to the owner or owners of the land condemned by reason of the surrender of the land or easement, and also any benefit or advantage such owner or owners may receive by reason of the making of such improvements, special to his land or in common with other lots located in said assessment district. (1923, c. 220, s. 5; C. S. 2792(e).)

§ 160-211. Written reports; land acquired on deposit of award. — The said commissioners shall make a separate written report of their findings to the clerk of the superior court within ten days after notice of their appointment, relative to the land, rights, privileges or easements so condemned, together with the amount to be paid each owner thereof, and upon deposit with the said clerk of the amount determined by said commissioners to be due said owners by such municipality, such land, rights, privileges or easements shall be deemed to be acquired for public use. (1923, c. 220, s. 6; C. S. 2792(f).)

§ 160-212. Report of benefits or advantages; assessment; hearing; confirmation; lien.—The said commissioners shall make a separate written report of their findings to the clerk of the superior court within ten days after notice of their appointment, relative to the benefits or advantages so appraised against said lands located in said assessment district, if any, giving the names of the owners thereof and the amount so appraised against each, with a brief description of the lots or parcels of land so appraised. The clerk shall thereupon deliver to the said governing body of such municipality a certified copy of such appraisal of benefits, which certified copy of appraisal of benefits, upon such receipt by said governing body, shall thereupon become an assessment roll, which the governing body shall cause to be deposited in the office of the clerk of the municipality for inspection by parties interested, and shall cause to be published a notice of the completion of such assessment roll, setting forth a description in general terms of the local improvement, and the time fixed for the meeting of the governing body for the hearing of allegations and objections relative to the adoption of such assessment roll, such meeting not to be earlier than ten days from the first publication of such notice, which publication shall be made in a newspaper published in such municipality. At the time appointed for the purpose, or at some other time to which it may adjourn, the governing body, or a committee thereof, must hear the allegations and objections of all persons interested who appear and make proof in relation thereto. The governing body may thereupon correct such assessment roll and either confirm the same or may set it aside and provide for a new appraisal of benefits in such proceeding pending before the clerk of the superior court. Whenever the governing body may confirm an assessment for such improvement the clerk of the municipality shall enter on the minutes of the governing body the date, hour and minute of such confirmation, and from the time of such confirmation the assessments embraced in the assessment roll shall be a lien on the real property against which the same are assessed, superior to all other liens and encumberances. Such governing body shall have the power and authority to provide, either in proceedings already completed or in those instituted after March 9, 1927, that such assessment shall be paid in cash of not less than five nor more than ten equal annual installments. (1923, c. 220, s. 7; 1927, c. 241; C. S. 2792(g).)

§ 160-213. Appeal; correction, etc., of assessment; interest; collection.— If a person assessed is dissatisfied with the amount of the charge, he may give notice of appeal in said proceeding pending before the clerk of superior court as hereinafter provided for. The governing body may correct, cancel or remit any assessment in connection with such improvement. After the assessment roll is confirmed a copy of the same must be delivered to the tax collector or other officer charged with the duty of collecting taxes, and such assessments shall be due and payable on the date on which taxes are payable and shall be collected like other taxes. In the event the governing body authorizes the payment of any assessment by installment, such installments shall bear interest at the rate of six per centum from the date of the confirmation of the assessment roll, and in case of the failure or neglect of any person to pay any such installments when the same shall become due and payable, then and in that event all of the installments remaining unpaid shall at once become due and payable. (1923, c. 220, s. 8; C. S. 2792(h).)

§ 160-214. Limit of assessments; exceptions; transfer to court for trial; appeal to supreme court.—The total value of the benefits assessed against the lots or land situated and located in said assessment district shall not exceed the total net amount of damages to be paid by the municipality to the owner or owners of the land or right condemned, together with the cost of such improvement as estimated by said commissioners. If any party to the proceedings shall be dissatisfied with the report of the commissioners, or the assessment levied by the said governing body [on either benefits or damages], he may file exceptions thereto with the clerk of the superior court within ten days after the filing of said report with said clerk, or in the event the appeal be from the levying of the assessment by said governing body, within ten days after the confirmation of such assessment roll by such governing body, and the issues of fact and law raised before the clerk in the said proceedings and upon the said exceptions shall be transferred to the superior court for trial [before a jury on issues of fact relating either to damages or to benefits] in like manner as provided in the case of other special proceedings pending before the clerk; and the said issues shall be tried at the first term after they are transferred, unless for a good cause shown a trial or hearing of the matter may be continued by the court. Provided, however, that the words in brackets in the preceding sentence shall not apply to the City of Greensboro, or to any city, town or municipality in any of the following counties: Alexander, Buncombe, Cabarrus, Cleveland, Davidson, Forsyth, Halifax, Harnett, Haywood, Hertford, Lincoln, Madison, Mitchell, Moore, Nash, Pender, Pitt, Rockingham, Rutherford, Stanly, Transylvania, Wake and Watauga. From the judgment of the superior court rendered in said proceeding any of the parties may appeal to the supreme court, as in other cases pending in the superior court: Provided, that if such municipality, at the time of the appraisal, shall pay into the court the sum appraised by the commissioners as being due any person for land so condemned and taken for public use, then and in that event such municipality may enter, take possession of and hold said lands notwithstanding the pendency of any appeal, and no appeal either to the superior court or to the supreme court shall hinder or delay such municipality in proceeding with such proposed improvement. (1923, c. 220, s. 9; 1931, c. 258; C. S. 2792(i).)

§ 160-215. Power of courts; practice and procedure.—In all cases of appraisal under §§ 160-206 to 160-221, where the mode or manner of procedure is not expressly or sufficiently provided for herein, the court before which such proceedings may be pending shall have the power to make all necessary orders and give proper directions to carry into effect the object and intent of said sections, and the practice and procedure in such cases shall conform as nearly as may be to the ordinary practice and procedure in such court. (1923, c. 220, s. 10; C. S. 2792(j).)

§ 160-216. Change of ownership or transfer of property, effect.—When any proceedings for appraisal of property or rights under §§ 160-206 to 160-221 shall have been instituted, no change of ownership or transfer of the real estate, or any interest therein, or of the subject-matter of the appraisal, or any part thereof, shall in any manner affect such proceedings, but the same may be carried on and perfected as if no such conveyance or transfer had been made, or attempted to be made. (1923, c. 220, s. 11; C. S. 2792(k).)

§ 160-217. Proceedings to perfect title; possession by municipality; parties.—If at any time after proceedings under §§ 160-206 to 160-221 shall have been instituted it shall be found that the title to any property or right proposed to be condemned, or which has been acquired or condemned, is defective, said municipality may proceed anew to acquire or perfect such title in the same manner as if no appraisal had been made, and at any stage of the new proceeding the court may authorize the municipality, if in possession of said property or rights, to continue in possession of the same, and if not in possession, to take possession and use such property or rights during the pendency and until the final conclusion of such new proceedings, and may stay all actions or proceedings against the municipality on account thereof, and in every case any party interested may conduct the proceedings to a conclusion if the municipality delays or omits to prosecute the same. (1923, c. 220, s. 12; C. S. 2792(l).)

§ 160-218. Recovery by municipality if title defective; limit of recovery.—If the title to any property, rights, privileges or easements condemned in any proceedings instituted under §§ 160-206 to 160-221 shall prove to be defective, such municipality may by action recover of the person or persons who have received compensation for the property or rights so condemned any loss or damage the city may have sustained by reason of said defect of title, not exceeding the amount paid as compensation for the taking of said property or rights. (1923, c. 220, s. 13; C. S. 2792(m).)

§ 160-219. Notice served on nonresidents. — Where any notice is required to be given in said proceeding before the court and the person to be notified is a nonresident of the county in which said proceedings are pending, the notice may be served by the sheriff or other lawful officer of any county in which the said person may be, and if the said person is a nonresident of the state, the notice may be served by the publication thereof once a week for four weeks in a newspaper published in such municipality, and the affidavit of the publisher, proprietor or foreman of said newspaper that said notice was so published shall be sufficient prima facie evidence or proof of such publication, and the time of notice shall be counted from the last day on which the notice was inserted in said newspaper. (1923, c. 220, s. 14; C. S. 2792(n).)

§ 160-220. Registration of final judgment; evidence; certificate under seal.—A copy of the final judgment of the court, duly certified by its clerk, may be registered in the office of the register of deeds for said county, and said copy so certified, or a copy of the registry of such judgment duly certified by the register of deeds, shall be received as evidence in all courts of the state, and where the said copy is offered in evidence in any court not held in the county in which the judgment is rendered, the certificate shall have affixed the official seal of the certifying officer. (1923, c. 220, s. 15; C. S. 2792(o).)

§ 160-221. Pay of appraisal commissioners; taxation as costs.—The commissioners appointed by the clerk of the superior court to make the appraisals provided for herein shall receive compensation at the rate of five dollars ($5.00) per day each, which compensation shall be taxed in the court costs of such proceedings. (1923, c. 220, s. 16; C. S. 2792(p).)

Part 3. Streets and Sidewalks.

§ 160-222. Power to make, improve and control.—The governing body of the city shall have power to control, grade, macadamize, cleanse, and pave and repair the streets and sidewalks of the city and make such improvements thereon as it may deem best for the public good, and may provide for and regulate the lighting of the public parks, and regulate, control, license, prohibit, and prevent digging in said streets and sidewalks, or placing therein of pipes, poles, wires, fixtures, and appliances of every kind, whether on, above, or below the surface thereof, and regulate and control the use thereof by persons, animals and vehicles; to prevent, abate, and remove obstructions, encroachments, pollution or litter therein; and shall have under its government, management, and control all parks and squares within or without the city limits established by the governing body for the use of the city except as otherwise provided. (1917, c. 136, sub-ch. 10, s. 1; C. S. 2793.)

§ 160-223. Increasing width of streets.—Any incorporated city or town in North Carolina where the State Highway and Public Works Commission or governing body of any city, town or county has constructed a road or street, or any part of any road or street through such city or town in North Carolina, and the governing body of said city or town desires to increase the width of said road or street or either, or both sides of same, so as to make such road or street conform to such width as the said governing body of said city or town may determine, the governing body of such city or town may increase the width of such road or street, on either side of same, such number of feet as may be necessary and may be determined by the governing body of such city or town: Provided, however, that the expense and cost of such increase in width to such road or street shall be borne by the city or town through which such road or street may run and without any expense or obligation, in any way, to the State Highway and Public Works Commission. (1925, c. 71, s. 1.)

§ 160-224. Right of eminent domain.—Whenever the governing body of any city or town in North Carolina deems it necessary to extend the width of any road or street in such city or town, and it becomes necessary for such governing body of such city or town to exercise the right of eminent domain, such governing body of such city or town shall have the power to exercise the right of eminent domain to the extent that the same is given such city or town, or governing body of such city or town, in the charter and amendments to the charter of such city or town or under the general law pertaining to such matters. (1925, c. 71, s. 2.)

§ 160-225. Interference with highway commission.—Nothing in §§ 160-223 and 160-224 shall authorize the governing body of any city or town to interfere with the rights and privileges of the State Highway and Public Works Commission when such city or town undertakes to exercise any of the privileges by such sections granted. (1925, c. 71, s. 3.)

§ 160-226. Maps of streets and sidewalks in subdivisions within one mile of city or town limits to be approved by such city or town.—No lands, lying within a distance of one mile of the corporate limits of any town or city in North Carolina, shall be subdivided and proposed streets and sidewalks laid out, until a map of said sub-division, showing the location of the lots and the proposed streets and sidewalks, shall have been submitted to the governing body of such town or city, and approved by it as to the location of the streets and sidewalks. After approval of the map as provided in this section, the map shall be placed on the records of the county in which the land is situated. (1929, c. 186, s. 1.)

§ 160-227. All expenses incurred by the city in disinfecting or caring for any person or persons, by authority of this section, may be recovered by it from the person, persons, or property cared for; and when expense is incurred in caring for property, the same shall become a lien on such property. Any person who shall attempt by force, or by threat of violence, to prevent his removal or that of any other persons to the pesthouse, house of detention, or hospital, or who shall in any way interfere with any officer while performing any of the duties allowed by this article, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. The governing body of any municipality, in order to provide for the management of a municipally owned hospital may lease such a hospital to a local, non-stock, non-profit corporation or association chartered to maintain and operate a community-type hospital upon such terms as the governing bodies of the municipality and of the hospital, corporation or association may agree, for a term of years, with or without consideration, and in the sound discretion of the governing body of said municipality. (1917, c. 136, sub-ch. 7, s. 3; C. S. 2799.)

§ 160-236. (1917, c. 136, sub-ch. 8, s. 2; C. S. 2802.)

Such governing body is hereby authorized to agree to furnish and to furnish protection against fire of property within an area of not more than twelve miles from the city limits upon such terms as such governing body may determine. (1919, c. 244; 1941, c. 188; C. S. 2804.)

Part 7. Sewerage.

§ 160-239. Establish and maintain sewerage system.—The governing body shall have power to acquire, provide, construct, establish, maintain and operate a system of sewerage for the city, and protect and regulate the same by adequate rules and regulations; and if it shall be necessary in obtaining proper outlets to such system to extend the same beyond the corporate limits, the governing body may condemn a right of way or rights of way to and for such outlets, and the proceedings for such condemnation shall be as herein provided for opening new streets and other purposes. It is the intention of this subchapter that the powers herein granted to municipalities shall not repeal any special or local law or affect any proceedings under any special or local law relative to providing, constructing, establishing, maintaining or operating any system of sewerage in any municipality, or for the raising of funds therefor, but shall be deemed to be additional and independent legislation for such purposes and to provide an alternative method of procedure for such purposes, and supplementary to those powers granted municipalities in their charters. In any case in which the provisions of this subchapter are in conflict with the provision of any local statute or charter, then the governing body of any such municipality may, in its discretion, proceed in accordance with the provisions of such local statute or charter, or as an alternative method of procedure in accordance with the provisions of this subchapter. (1917, c. 136, sub-ch. 7, s. 1; 1923, c. 166, s. 1; C. S. 2805.)

§ 160-240. Require connections to be made.—The governing body may require all owners of improved property which may be located upon or near any line of such system of sewerage to connect with such sewerage all water-closets, bathtubs, lavatories, sinks, or drains upon their respective properties or premises, so that their contents may be made to empty into such sewer, and fix charges for such connections. (1917, c. 136, sub-ch. 7, s. 2; C. S. 2806.)

§ 160-241. Order for construction or extension of system; assessment of cost; payment of assessment.—When it is proposed by any municipality to provide, construct and establish a system of sewerage, or to provide for the extension of any such system, an order or resolution of the governing body of such municipality at a regular or special meeting shall be made stating generally, or as nearly as may be, the nature of the proposed improvement. In such order or resolution such governing body may provide that the actual cost of the establishment and construction of such sewerage system, or any extension thereof, shall be assessed upon the lots and parcels of land abutting directly on the lateral mains of such sewerage system, or extension thereof, according to the extent of the respective frontage thereon, by an equal rate per foot of such frontage. Such governing body may provide in such order or resolution that the assessments to be levied in connection with such work may be paid in equal installments covering a period of not exceeding five years. Such order or resolutions shall designate by a general description the improvement to be made, and the street or streets, or part or parts thereof, whereon the work is to be affected and the cost thereof to be assessed upon all abutting property and the terms and manner of payment. Such order or resolution after its passage shall be published in a newspaper published in such municipality, or if there be no such newspaper, such order or resolution shall be posted in three public places in such municipality for at least five days. (1923, c. 166, s. 2; C. S. 2806(a).)

§ 160-242. Ascertainment of cost; assessment.—Upon the completion of the construction and establishment of any such sewerage system, or of any such extension, the governing body shall compute and ascertain the total cost thereof. The governing body shall thereupon make an assessment of such total cost, and for that purpose shall make out an assessment roll, in which must be entered the names of the persons assessed as far as can be ascertained, and the amount assessed against them respectively, with a brief description of the lots or parcels of land assessed. (1923, c. 166, s. 3; C. S. 2806(b).)

§ 160-243. Deposit for inspection; publication of completion; time for hearing objections.—Immediately after such assessment roll has been completed, the governing body shall cause it to be deposited in the office of the clerk of the municipality for inspection by parties interested, and shall cause to be published in the same manner as the order or resolution authorizing such work, a notice of the completion of the assessment roll, setting forth a description in general terms of the improvement, and the time fixed for the meeting of the governing body for a hearing of allegations and objections in respect of the special assessment, such meeting not to be earlier than ten days from the first publication or posting of said notice. (1923, c. 166, s. 4; C. S. 2806(c).)

§ 160-244. Hearing on objections; action; entry of confirmation; lien of assessment; copy of roll to tax collector.—At the time appointed for that purpose, or at some other time to which it may adjourn, the governing body, or a committee thereof, must hear the allegations and objections of all persons interested, who appear and make proof in relation thereto. The governing body may thereupon correct such assessment roll, either confirm the same or may set it aside, and provide for a new assessment. Whenever the governing body shall confirm an assessment for such a local improvement, the clerk of the municipality shall enter on the minutes of the governing body the date, hour and minute of such confirmation, and from the time of such confirmation the assessments embraced in the assessment roll shall be a lien on the real property against which the same are assessed, superior to all other liens and encumbrances. After the assessment roll is confirmed a copy of the same must be delivered to the tax collector, or other officer charged with the duty of collecting taxes. (1923, c. 166, s. 5; C. S. 2806(d).)

§ 160-245. Notice of appeal; service of statement; stay of work; trial of appeal.—If a person assessed is dissatisfied with the amount of the charge, he may give notice within ten days after such confirmation that he takes an appeal to the next term of the superior court of the county in which the municipality is located, and shall within five days thereafter serve a statement of facts upon which he bases his appeal; but the appeal shall not delay or stop the improvements. The appeal shall be tried at the term of court as other actions at law. (1923, c. 166, s. 6; C. S. 2806(e).)

§ 160-246. Correction, etc., of assessment; interest and penalties; power to set aside assessment.—The governing body may correct, cancel or remit any assessment for a local improvement, and may remit, cancel or adjust the interest or penalties on any such assessment. The governing body has the power when in its judgment there is any irregularity, omission, error or lack of jurisdiction in any of the proceedings relating thereto, to set aside the whole of the local assessment made by it, and thereupon to make a reassessment. (1923, c. 166, s. 7; C. S. 2806(f).)

§ 160-247. Cash payment; installment payments; rate of interest; sale of property.—In the event such governing body of such municipality shall provide that said assessment may be paid in equal annual installments, then and in that event the property owner shall have the option and privilege of paying for the improvement as hereinbefore provided for, in cash, or if they should elect and give notice of the fact in writing to the municipality within thirty days after the notice mentioned in the next succeeding section, they shall have the option and privilege of paying the assessment in not less than the number of equal annual installments as may have been determined by the governing body in the original order or resolution authorizing the improvement. Such installments shall bear interest at the rate of six per cent per annum from the date of the confirmation of the assessment roll, and in case of the failure or neglect of any property owner to pay any installment when the same shall become due and payable, then and in that event all of the installments remaining unpaid shall at once become due and payable, and such property shall be sold by the municipality under the same rules, regulations, rights of redemption and savings as are now prescribed by law for the sale of land for unpaid taxes. The whole assessment may be paid at the time of paying any installment by the payment of the principal and the interest accrued to that date. (1923, c. 166, s. 8; C. S. 2806(g).)

§ 160-248. Notice for payment of assessment; interest for nonpayment; maturity of installments; penalties.—After the expiration of twenty days from the confirmation of an assessment roll the tax collector, or such other officer of the municipality as the governing body may direct so to do, shall cause to be published in a newspaper, or, if there is no such newspaper, shall cause to be posted in at least three public places therein a notice that any assessment contained in the assessment roll, naming and describing it, may be paid to him at any time before the expiration of thirty days from the first publication of the notice, without any addition. In the event the assessment be not paid within such time the same shall bear interest at the rate of six per cent per annum from the date of the confirmation of the assessment roll and shall become due and payable on the date on which taxes are payable: Provided, that when an assessment is divided into installments, one installment shall become due and payable each year on the date on which taxes are due and payable. If any assessment or installment thereof is not paid when due, it shall be subject to the same penalties as are now prescribed for unpaid taxes, in addition to the interest herein provided for. (1923, c. 166, s. 9; C. S. 2806(h).)

§ 160-249. Authority to fix sewerage charges; lien thereof.—The governing body of any municipality, maintaining and operating a system of sewerage, including sewerage treatment works, if any, is hereby authorized to charge for sewerage service, to determine and fix a schedule of charges to be made for such service, to fix the time and manner in which such sewerage service charges shall be due and payable and to fix a penalty for the non-payment of the same when due. In no cases shall the charges, rents or penalties be a lien upon the property served and in cases where the service is rendered to a tenant and the tenant removes from the premises, the municipality shall not charge against the owner thereof the service charges or penalties for said service: Provided, however, that for sewerage service supplied outside of the corporate limits of the city, the governing body, board or body having such sewerage system in charge may fix a different schedule of rates from that fixed for such service rendered within the corporate limits, with the same exemption from liability by city or town as is contained in § 160-255. (1933, c. 322, s. 1; 1941, c. 106.)

Local Modification.—Mecklenburg, Transylvania: 1933, c. 322, s. 1.

§ 160-250. Joint construction, operation, etc., of sewerage works by adjacent municipal corporations.—Two or more adjoining or adjacent municipal corporations shall have authority as hereinafter provided and set forth, by the adoption of resolutions to be passed by the governing body of each of said municipal corporations, to acquire, construct, improve, maintain and operate jointly, either within or without their corporate limits, sewerage works, including sewage treatment facilities, or any integral part of such works. In order to render more effectual the exercise of the authority herein granted, such municipal corporations may enter into any and all contracts which may be appropriate to that end, among or between themselves, or with other parties. (1939, c. 205, s. 1.)

§ 160-251. Power of corporations to issue bonds.—Municipal corporations so determining upon such sewerage works are hereby granted the same authority to issue bonds for the acquisition, construction and improvement of such works as is now given to any municipal corporation under the general laws of North Carolina, and particularly under the Municipal Finance Act, as amended. (1939, c. 205, s. 2.)

§ 160-252. Apportionment of cost; establishment of charges.—The cost of any such joint acquisition, construction, improvement, maintenance and operation shall be apportioned between or among the participating municipal corporations in a manner to be by them agreed upon and determined. In order to pay such cost, such adjoining or adjacent municipal corporations may, by agreement between or among themselves, fix and establish reasonable charges for the use of such sewerage works. Any person, firm or corporation or other municipal corporation not participating in such joint construction and operation, who or which are living or are located outside of the corporate limits of such municipal corporations and desire to use such sewerage works, may be charged a reasonably higher rate for the use of such said works than that charged the users of the same who are living or located within the corporate limits of said participating municipal corporations. (1939, c. 205, s. 3.)

§ 160-253. Charges declared lien upon property.—The charges made for the use of said works shall be a lien upon the property served, and if any such charge shall not be paid within fifteen days after the same becomes payable, suit may be brought therefor in the name of the municipal corporation in which the property served is located, or the property, subject to the lien thereof, may be sold by the municipal corporation under the same rules and regulations, rights of redemption and savings, as are now or may hereafter be prescribed by law for the sale of land for unpaid taxes. Such municipal corporations shall have the right to establish reasonable rules and regulations for the use of said sewerage works and the collection of charges therefor, and said municipal corporations, through their officers or agents, are hereby authorized and empowered, in accordance with such reasonable regulations, to enter upon the premises of any person, firm or corporation using said sewerage works and failing to pay the charges therefor, and to disconnect the sewer line of such person, firm, or corporation from the public sewer line or disposal plant; and any person, firm or corporation who shall connect with such public sewer line or disposal plant, or reconnect his or their property therewith, without a permit from the officer authorized to give the same, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be fined or imprisoned at the discretion of any court of competent jurisdiction. (1939, c. 205, s. 4.)

§ 160-254. Law applicable to joint works initiated or completed prior to effective date.—The authority to issue bonds for the purpose of financing in whole or in part works of the type herein made provision for, and the authority to perform any other acts authorized hereunder, may be exercised in connection with sewerage works the construction of which may have been jointly initiated or completed by two or more adjoining or adjacent municipal corporations prior to March 28, 1939; and all acts done and proceedings had in relation to such joint construction of such works, and all acts, resolutions or ordinances performed prior to March 28, 1939, adopted or enacted in connection with the authorization or issuance of bonds to finance such joint construction, if such bonds are otherwise authorized or issued under and in substantial compliance with any applicable general law of North Carolina, are hereby ratified, validated and confirmed. (1939, c. 205, s. 5.)

Part 8. Water and Lights.

§ 160-255. Establish and maintain water and light plants.—The city may own and maintain its own light and waterworks system to furnish water for fire and other purposes, and light to the city and its citizens and to any person, firm or corporation desiring the same outside the corporate limits, where the service is available, but shall in no case be liable for damages for a failure to furnish a sufficient supply of either water or light. And the governing body shall have power to acquire and hold rights of way, water rights, and other property, within and without the city limits. (1917, c. 136, sub-ch. 11, ss. 1, 2; 1929, c. 285, s. 1.)

§ 160-256. Fix and enforce rates.—The governing body, or such board or body which has the management and control of the waterworks system in charge, may fix such uniform rents or rates for water or water service as will provide for the payment of the annual interest on existing bonded debt for such waterworks system, for the payment of the annual installment necessary to be raised for the amortization of the debt, and the necessary allowance for repairs, maintenance, and operation, and when the city shall own and maintain both waterworks and sewerage systems, including sewerage disposal plants, if any, the governing body shall have the right to operate such system as a combined and consolidated system, and when so operated to include in the rates adopted for the waterworks a sufficient amount to provide for the payment of the annual interest on the existing bonded debt for such sewerage system or systems, for the payment of the annual installment necessary to be raised for the amortization of such debt, and the necessary allowance for repairs, maintenance and operation. Such body shall fix the times when the water rents shall become due and payable, and in case such rent is not paid within ten days after it becomes due and payable, the same may at any time thereafter be collected either by suit in the name of the city or by the collector of taxes for the city. Upon the failure of the owner of property for which water is furnished under the rules and regulations of such body to pay the water rents when due, then the body, or its agents or employees, may cut off the water from such property; and when so cut off it shall be unlawful for any person, firm, or corporation, other than the body or its agents or employees, to turn on the water to such property, or to use the same in connection with the property, without first having paid the water rent and obtained permission to turn on the water: Provided, however, that for service supplied outside the corporate limits of the city, the governing body, board or body having such waterworks or lighting system in charge, may fix a different rate from that charged within the corporate limits, with the same exemption from liability by the city or town as is contained in § 160-255: Provided further, that where the water may be cut off under the provision of this section for the failure of the occupant of the premises to pay his water bill, and such occupant is not the owner of the premises but occupies said premises as a tenant, it shall not be lawful for the board in charge or management of the waterworks to require the payment of such delinquent bill before turning on the water at the instance of a new and different tenant or occupant of said premises. This proviso shall not apply in cases where the premises are occupied by two or more tenants serviced by the same water meter. (1917, c. 136, sub-ch. 11, s. 3; 1929, c. 285, s. 2; 1933, cc. 140, 353; C. S. 2808.)

Local Modification.—Ashe, Haywood, Mecklenburg, Transylvania: 1933, c. 353; Caldwell: 1933, c. 368.

§ 160-257. Separate accounts for water system.—It shall be the duty of the governing body to keep a separate statement and account of the money received by the city from the waterworks system, and it shall be the duty of the said body to give preference to the waterworks system over the other departments of the city in such funds, and to provide for the proper upkeep of the waterworks system and an amount necessary for the enlargement of the waterworks system before turning over to the other departments the money so received. (1917, c. 136, sub-ch. 11, s. 4; C. S. 2809.)

Part 9. Care of Cemeteries.

§ 160-258. Care fund established.—The governing body is authorized to create a fund to be known as the perpetual care fund for the cemeteries, for the purpose of perpetually caring for and beautifying the cemeteries, and such fund shall be kept by the city as is provided for bequests and gifts for cemetery purposes; and the governing body may make contracts with lot or space owners in the cemeteries, obligating the city to keep up and maintain said lots or spaces in perpetuity upon payment of such sum as may be fixed by the governing body; and the governing body is further authorized and empowered to accept gifts and bequests for such purposes, or upon such other trusts as the donors may prescribe; and the governing body is authorized to set aside for such perpetual care fund such portion of the proceeds of sale of cemetery lots as the governing body may deem advisable. (1917, c. 136, sub-ch. 9, s. 1; 1927, c. 254; C. S. 2810.)

§ 160-259. Application of fund.—The principal of the funds appropriated by the governing body for caring for the cemeteries shall be held by the governing body for caring for and beautifying the cemeteries and improving the same. The income from the fund heretofore or hereafter made shall be used for the purpose of carrying out contracts with the individual or space owners for the perpetual care of individual plats and spaces. Any gifts heretofore or hereafter made to and received by the city or any of its officers shall be held and used as a sacred trust fund for the purposes and upon the conditions named in such gifts or bequests, and all such funds shall be kept and invested separately and shall not be used for any other purpose, or by the city in its affairs. (1917, c. 136, sub-ch. 9, s. 1; C. S. 2811.)

§ 160-260. Separate accounts kept. — The city treasurer shall keep a separate account of the cemetery funds, and a still further separate account of all special gifts or bequests made by persons for and in connection with the cemeteries and particular lots therein. The governing body has the power to make rules and regulations and adopt ordinances for the carrying out of the duties imposed by this and the two preceding sections in regard to the care of cemeteries. (1917, c. 136, sub-ch. 9, s. 1; C. S. 2812.)

Part 10. Municipal Taxes.

§ 160-261. Provide for listing and collecting taxes.—The governing body shall provide by an ordinance or otherwise means for the collection of taxes in the city and shall cause property to be listed for taxation which has not otherwise been listed as required by law. The governing body of cities and towns are in all respects vested with the same powers and authority as is now, or may hereafter be, vested in the board of county commissioners of the county in which such city or town is located, with respect to the allowance of discounts and charging penalties in the collection of taxes. (1917, c. 136, sub-ch. 6, s. 2; 1925, c. 183; C. S. 2813.)

§ 160-262. Unlisted taxables entered.—The officer who has charge of the collection of taxes in any city shall, after the most diligent inquiry, and by comparing his book with the county tax books, make out a list of all persons liable for poll tax, or for taxes on property, who have failed to return a list in the manner and in the time prescribed, together with the estimated value of all the property not listed, and shall enter such persons in a separate part of his book. (1917, c. 136, sub-ch. 6, s. 4; C. S. 2814.)

§ 160-263. Power and duties of tax collector.—The officer who has charge of the collection of taxes in any city shall, in the collection of taxes, be vested with the same power and authority as is given by the state to sheriffs for like purpose, and shall be subject to the same fines and penalties on failure or neglect of duty. It shall be his duty to collect all taxes levied by the governing body, and he shall be charged with the sums appearing on the tax list as due for city taxes. He shall at no time retain in his hands over three hundred dollars for a longer time than seven days, under a penalty of ten per cent per month to be paid to the city upon all sums so unlawfully retained. (1917, c. 136, sub-ch. 6, s. 1; C. S. 2816.)

§ 160-264. Settlement with tax collector.—In settlement with the city the tax collector shall be credited with all poll taxes and taxes on personal property which the governing body shall declare to be insolvent and uncollectible, and with such amounts as may be involved in suit by appeal from the ruling of the board, and he shall be charged with and shall pay over all other sums appearing on the tax list. After the accounts of the tax collector shall be audited and settled, the same shall be reported to the governing body, and when approved by it the same shall be recorded in the minute book of such body, and shall be prima facie evidence of correctness, and impeachable only for fraud or specified error. (1917, c. 136, sub-ch. 6, s. 1; C. S. 2817.)

No person, firm, or corporation shall do any kind of plumbing or electrical wiring of buildings without first having obtained a license from the governing body. No license issued hereunder by the governing body shall be for more than one year, and same shall not be transferable or assignable except by the permission of the governing body. And no license shall be issued, as herein provided, before the license tax shall have been paid. (1917, c. 136, sub-ch. 6, ss. 6, 7, 8, 9; C. S. 2819.)

Regular and special meetings shall be held at a time and place fixed by ordinance. All legislative sessions shall be open to the public, and every matter shall be put to a vote, the result of which shall be duly recorded. The governing body shall not by executive session or otherwise consider or vote on any question in private session. A full and accurate journal of the proceedings shall be kept, and shall be open to the inspection of any qualified registered voter of the city. (1917, c. 136, sub-ch. 13, s. 1; C. S. 2822.)

Part 2. Ordinances.

§ 160-270. How adopted.—No ordinance shall be passed finally on the date on which it is introduced, unless by two-thirds vote of those present. No ordinance making a grant, renewal, or extension, whatever its kind or nature, of any franchise or special privilege shall be passed until voted on at two regular meetings, and no such grant, renewal, or extension shall be made otherwise than by ordinance. (1917, c. 136, sub-ch. 13, s. 3; C. S. 2823.)

§ 160-271. Ordinances amended or repealed.—No ordinance or part thereof shall be amended or annulled except by an ordinance adopted in accordance with the provisions of this subchapter. (1917, c. 136, sub-ch. 13, s. 4; C. S. 2824.)

(1917, c. 136, sub-ch. 13, s. 14; C. S. 2825.)

Part 3. Officers.

§ 160-273. City clerk elected; powers and duties.—The governing body shall, by a majority vote, elect a city clerk to hold office for the term of two years and until his successor is elected and qualified. He shall have such powers and perform such duties as the governing body may from time to time prescribe in addition to such duties as may be prescribed by law. He shall keep the records of the meetings. The person holding the office of city clerk at the time when any of the plans set forth in this subchapter shall be adopted by such city shall continue to hold office for the term for which he was elected, and until his successor is elected and qualified.

The governing body may also provide that the city clerk shall have the powers and perform the duties of city treasurer, such powers and duties to be prescribed from time to time by the governing body and to be in addition to all powers and duties as may be prescribed by law, and in such event the city clerk shall be known as the "city clerk and treasurer." The powers conferred by the next preceding sentence are in addition to and not in substitution for those conferred by any other act, whether general, special, private or local, and every municipality may proceed under the provisions of said next preceding sentence, notwithstanding any conditions, restrictions or limitations contained in any other act, whether general, special, private or local. (1917, c. 136, sub-ch. 13, s. 6; C. S. 2827.)

§ 160-275. Accountant for each city and town required.—It shall be the duty of the governing body of every city and town in this State on or before the first day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-one, and biennially thereafter before the first day of June in each odd year, to appoint some person of honesty and ability whose experience, training and qualifications have been approved by the Commission, as accountant for the municipality (or city accountant or town accountant or municipality accountant), to hold such office, or position at the will of the governing body or until such approval has been revoked by the Commission or until the appointment of his successor. The governing body in lieu of appointing an accountant as hereinabove required may impose and confer upon any municipal officer all the powers and duties herein imposed and conferred upon the municipal accountant and may revise and adjust the salary or compensation of any such officer upon whom such duties and powers are imposed or conferred: Provided, however, that if such officer upon whom such duties and powers are imposed or conferred should be a tax collecting officer of the unit, it shall be the duty of the governing body to require all his books and accounts to be audited semi-annually by a certified public accountant or a public accountant, registered under §§ 93-1 to 93-13, and amendments thereto: Provided further, that in towns of less than one thousand inhabitants, according to the census of one thousand nine hundred thirty, such books and accounts shall not be required to be audited more often than once each year. (1931, c. 60, s. 70; 1931, c. 269; 1931, c. 296, s. 9.)

Bond of accountant.—The municipal accountant may be required to furnish bond in some surety company authorized to do business in North Carolina, the amount to be fixed by the governing body, which bond shall be approved by the governing body and by the Commission and shall be conditioned for the faithful performance of his duties imposed by law. (1931, c. 60, s. 71.)

§ 160-277. Bonds required.—Every official, employee, or agent of any city who handles or has custody of more than one hundred dollars of such city's funds at any time shall, before assuming his duties as such, be required to enter into bond with good sureties, in an amount sufficient to protect such city, payable to such city, and conditioned upon the faithful performance of his duties and a true accounting for all funds of the city which may come into his hands, custody, or control, which bond shall be approved by the mayor and board of aldermen or other governing body and deposited with the city. (1917, c. 136, sub-ch. 13, s. 15; C. S. 2828.)

§ 160-278. Information requested from mayor.—The governing body at any time may request from the mayor specific information on any municipal matter within its jurisdiction, and may request him to be present to answer written questions relating thereto at a meeting to be held not earlier than one week from the date of the receipt by the mayor of such questions. (1917, c. 136, sub-ch. 13, s. 2; C. S. 2829.)

Part 4. Contracts Regulated.

§ 160-279. Certain contracts in writing and secured.—All contracts made by any department, board, or commission in which the amount involved is two hundred dollars or more shall be in writing, and no such contract shall be deemed to have been made or executed until signed by the officer authorized by law to sign such contract, approved by the governing body. Any contract made as aforesaid may be required to be accompanied by a bond with sureties, or by a deposit of money, certified check, or other security for the faithful performance thereof, satisfactory to the board or official having the matter in charge, and such bonds or other securities shall be deposited with the city treasurer until the contract has been carried out in all respects; and no such contract shall be altered except by a written agreement of the contractor, the sureties on his bond, and the officer, department, or board making the contract, with the approval of the governing body. (1917, c. 136, sub-ch. 13, s. 8; C. S. 2831.)

§ 160-280. Separate specifications for contracts; responsible contractors.—Every officer, board, department, commission or commissions charged with the duty of preparing specifications or awarding or entering into contract for the erection, construction or alteration of buildings in any county or city, when the entire cost of such work shall exceed ten thousand dollars, must have prepared separate specifications for each of the following branches of work to be performed: 1. Heating and ventilating. 2. Plumbing and gas fitting. All such specifications must be so drawn as to permit separate and independent bidding upon each of the classes of work enumerated in the above subdivisions. All contracts hereafter awarded by any county, or city, or a department, board, commission, or commissioner, or officer thereof, for the erection, construction or alteration of buildings or any part thereof, shall award respective work specified in the above subdivisions separately to responsible persons, firms or corporations regularly engaged in their respective line of work. (1925, c. 141, s. 1; 1929, c. 339, s. 1; 1931, c. 46.)

§ 160-281. Validating certain conveyances.—All deeds made, executed, and delivered prior to August 23, 1924, for a good and valuable consideration, by incorporated cities and towns conveying lands used for park purposes, without authority to make and deliver such deed having been first granted by the General Assembly, are hereby in all respects validated, ratified, and confirmed as fully and completely as if said cities and towns had been granted authority of the General Assembly to make and deliver said deeds, and said deeds are hereby declared to be valid conveyances of the land and premises therein described. (Ex. Sess. 1924, c. 95.)

Part 5. Control of Public Utilities, Institutions, and Charities.

§ 160-282. Power to establish and control public utilities, institutions, and charities. — Any city shall have the right to acquire, establish, and operate waterworks, electric lighting systems, gas systems, schools, libraries, cemeteries, market houses, wharves, play or recreation grounds, athletic grounds, parks, abattoirs, slaughter-houses, sewer systems, garbage and sewage disposal plants, auditoriums or places of amusement or entertainment, and armories. The city shall have the further right to make a civic survey of the city, establish hospitals, clinics, or dispensaries for the poor, and dispense milk for babies; shall have the power to establish a system of public charities and benevolence for the aid of the poor and destitute of the city; for the welfare of visitors from the country and elsewhere, to establish rest rooms, public water-closets and urinals, open sales places for the sale of produce, places for hitching and caring for animals and parking automobiles; and all reasonable appropriations made for the purposes above mentioned shall be binding obligations upon the city, subject to the provisions of the constitution of the state. (1917, c. 136, sub-ch. 13, s. 11; C. S. 2832.)

§ 160-283. How control exercised:

1. Control over departments. The waterworks department, electric or gas light system, sewerage system, library system, park or park and tree commission system, or playground system, or any other public service owned, operated, or conducted by any city under separate organization or as a separate corporation under the control of any city in the state, which has been heretofore under the separate management and control of separate boards or corporations, may henceforth be under the management and control of the governing body of such city in the state.

2. Departments may be abolished. In all cities except those which have adopted Plan C or Plan D, hereafter set forth, before the governing body shall have control or management of the waterworks, electric light, sewerage system, library system, park or park and tree commission system, or playground system, or any other public service owned, operated, or conducted by such city under separate organization or corporation, the governing body of the city, by two-thirds vote taken at two separate regular meetings of such governing body, shall pass an ordinance to the effect that the waterworks, electric or gas light system, sewerage system, library, park or park and tree commission system, or playground system, or any other public service owned, operated, or conducted by such city under separate organization or corporation, or either of them, shall be abolished and the control and management shall be under the governing body of the city.

3. Property vested in the city. Upon the passage by the governing body of any city of such ordinance, the waterworks, electric or gas light system, sewerage system, the library system, and the park or park and tree commission system, and any other public service owned, operated, or conducted by such city under separate organization or corporation then in existence either under separate organization or under separate management or control or under separate corporation, shall immediately become the property of the city, and all land, real estate, rights, easements, franchises, choses, and property of every kind, whether real or personal, tangible or intangible, the title of which is vested in such separate corporation or board, shall be and become vested in such city, and the boards of water commissioners, electric light commissioners, sewerage commissioners, library boards, park boards, or park and tree commission boards, or the board or commission of any other public service owned, operated, or conducted by or on behalf of such city under separate organization or corporation shall cease to exist as a corporation; and all indebtedness, bonds, or other contracts and obligations of any nature incurred by, for, or on account of the waterworks, electric or gas light system, sewerage system, library system, park or park and tree commission system, or other public utility in the name of or by such corporation, or by such city in its behalf, or by the corporation and such city jointly, shall be and become the sole obligations of such city.

4. Same procedure in other cases. There shall be the same procedure with reference to the library system, park or park and tree commission system, or playground system by the governing body of all cities which shall have adopted Plan C or Plan D before such control and title shall become vested as hereinbefore stated.

5. Popular vote required. In all cities, except those which have adopted Plan C or Plan D, hereafter set forth, before the foregoing provisions of this section shall become effective, such changes in the control and management of the waterworks, electric light, sewerage, etc., shall first be approved by a majority of the qualified voters of such municipality at any regular or special election held under the provisions of this subchapter. (1917, c. 136, sub-ch. 13, s. 9; C. S. 2833.)

§ 160-284. Ordinances to regulate management.—The governing body of any city in the exercise of its control and management of the waterworks, electric light, sewerage system, library system, park or park and tree commission system, or any other public service owned, operated, or conducted by such city, shall have power to make rules, regulations, and ordinances in connection with the management thereof as they may deem necessary, and shall have power to enforce such rules, regulations, and ordinances. (1917, c. 136, sub-ch. 13, s. 10; C. S. 2834.)

§ 160-285. Additional property acquired.—The governing body of any city shall have power to acquire such additional property as it may deem necessary for a better system of waterworks, electric light, sewerage, library, park or parks, or other public service owned, operated, or conducted by such city. Upon the adoption by the governing body of any city of any one of the plans of government provided for in this subchapter, the laws now in force in reference to the waterworks, electric light, sewerage, parks, libraries, or other public service owned, operated, or conducted by such city, shall not be repealed by this subchapter, but shall be construed with this subchapter and only repealed in so far as they are inconsistent with the provisions of this subchapter. (1917, c. 136, sub-ch. 13, s. 10; C. S. 2835.)

Part 6. Effect Upon Existing Regulations.

§ 160-286. Existing rights and obligations not affected. — All official bonds, recognizances, obligations, contracts, and all other instruments entered into or executed by or to the city before this subchapter takes effect in any city, and all taxes, special assessments, fines, penalties, forfeitures incurred or imposed, due or owing to the city, shall be enforced and collected, and all writs, prosecutions, actions and causes of action, except as is herein otherwise provided, shall continue without abatement and remain unaffected by this subchapter; and no legal act done by or in favor of the city shall be rendered invalid by its adoption of any plan of government provided for by this subchapter. (1917, c. 136, sub-ch. 13, s. 5; C. S. 2836.)

§ 160-287. Existing ordinances remain in force.—All valid ordinances and resolutions of any city in force on March 6, 1917, and not inconsistent with the provisions of this subchapter, and all rules of procedure adopted by the governing body of any city, shall be and remain in full force and effect until repealed, annulled, or amended under the provisions of this subchapter, or under the provisions of the charter of such city, and all laws relative to any city, not in conflict with the provisions of this subchapter shall be and remain in full force and effect. (1917, c. 136, sub-ch. 13, s. 5; C. S. 2837.)

§ 160-288. Existing election laws remain in force.—This subchapter shall not repeal or impair any general, special, or local election laws now in force in any city, but such general, special, or local laws shall be and continue in full force and effect except where clearly inconsistent with and repugnant to the provisions of this subchapter; and the municipal elections of such city shall continue to be held under and subject to the provisions of such special election laws except as herein otherwise provided: Provided, however, that in every case the governing body of any city shall have the right and power in its discretion and by an ordinance adopted by a two-thirds vote of the members of the entire governing body, to order a new registration of the voters of such city for any general, regular, or special municipal election held in such city for any purpose, unless excepted in this subchapter. (1917, c. 136, sub-ch. 13, s. 12; C. S. 2838.)

§ 160-289. General laws apply.—All questions arising in the administration of the government of any city, and not provided for in this subchapter, shall be governed by the laws of the state in such cases made and provided. (1917, c. 136, sub-ch. 13, s. 13; C. S. 2839.)

Art. 20. Accounting System.

§ 160-290. Nature of accounting system.—Accounting systems shall be devised and maintained which shall exhibit the condition of the city's assets and liabilities, the value of its several properties, and state of its several funds. Such systems shall be adequate to record in detail all transactions affecting the acquisition, custodianship, and disposition of values, including cash receipts and disbursements. The recorded facts shall be presented periodically to officials and to the public in such summaries and analytical schedules as shall be necessary to show the full effect of such transactions for each fiscal year upon the finances of the city and in relation to each department of the city government; and there shall be included distinct summaries and schedules for each public utility owned and operated by the city. In all respects, as far as the nature of the city's business permits, the accounting systems maintained shall conform to those employed by progressive business concerns and approved by the best usage. The governing body shall have power to employ accountants to assist in devising such accounting systems. (1917, c. 136, sub-ch. 14, s. 1; C. S. 2840.)

Art. 21. Adoption of New Plan of Government.

Part 1. Effect of Adoption.

§ 160-291. Continues corporation with powers according to plan.—Any city which shall adopt, in the manner hereinafter prescribed, one of the plans of government provided in this subchapter shall thereafter be governed by the provisions thereof; and the inhabitants of such city shall continue to be a municipal corporation under the name existing at the time of such adoption, and shall have, exercise, and enjoy all the rights, immunities, powers, and privileges, and shall be subject to all the duties, liabilities, and obligations provided for herein or otherwise pertaining to or incumbent upon such city as a municipal corporation. (1917, c. 136, sub-ch. 16, s. 1; C. S. 2842.)

§ 160-292. Legislative powers not restricted.—None of the legislative powers of a city shall be abridged or impaired by the provisions of this subchapter, but all such legislative powers shall be possessed and exercised by such body as shall be the legislative body of the city under the provisions of this subchapter. (1917, c. 136, sub-ch. 16, s. 2; C. S. 2843.)

§ 160-293. Ordinances remain in force. — All ordinances, resolutions, orders, or other regulations of a city or of any authorized body or official thereof existing at the time when such city adopts a plan of government set forth in this subchapter shall continue in full force and effect until annulled, repealed, modified, or superseded. (1917, c. 136, sub-ch. 16, s. 3; C. S. 2844.)

§ 160-294. Mayor and aldermen to hold no other offices.—The mayor or any member of the board of aldermen shall not hold any other office or position of profit, trust, or honor, or perform any other duties or functions than mayor or aldermen under the city government unless it shall be submitted to and approved by a majority of the qualified voters of the city at a regular or special election. (1917, c. 136, sub-ch. 16, s. 4; C. S. 2845.)

§ 160-295. Wards regulated.—The territory of any city adopting any one of the plans of government provided for in this subchapter shall continue to be divided into the same number of wards existing at the time of such adoption, which wards shall retain their boundaries until same shall be changed under the provisions of this subchapter: Provided, that if the plan so adopted provides for a different number and arrangement of wards from that existing at the time of such adoption, then in such event the wards of such city shall be so changed and arranged as to conform to the provisions of the plan so adopted. (1917, c. 136, sub-ch. 16, s. 5; C. S. 2846.)

Part 2. Manner of Adoption.

Petition filed.—A petition addressed to the board of elections of the county in which the city is situated, in the form and signed and certified as provided in the next section, may be filed with the county board of elections. The petition shall be signed by qualified voters of the city to a number equal to at least twenty-five per cent of the qualified voters at the last election next preceding the filing of the petition. In cities having a population of eighty thousand (80,000), as shown by the last census, in which it is proposed to adopt plan "B," the petition shall be signed by ten per cent of the qualified voters of said city. (1917, c. 136, sub-ch. 16, s. 6; 1933, c. 80, s. 5; C. S. 2847.)

§ 160-297. Form of petition.—The petition shall be in substantially the following form:

To the County Board of Elections of .....

Or, in case it shall be desired by such petitioners that two of such plans shall be submitted, then the question may be stated as follows:

"Shall the city of ..... adopt the form of government defined as Plan ..... or ..... (naming two of such plans as stated above), or remain under the present form of government?"

The petition may be in the form of separate sheets, each sheet containing at the top thereof the heading above set forth, and when attached together and offered for filing the several papers shall be deemed to constitute one petition, and there shall be endorsed thereon the name and address of the person presenting the same for filing. (1917, c. 136, sub-ch. 16, s. 7; C. S. 2848.)

§ 160-298. Election held. — Within five days after the petition has been filed with the county board of elections, if the petition shall contain twenty-five per cent of the qualified voters as before set forth, the board of elections shall call an election in accordance with such petition. The board of elections shall cause notice of such election to be given at least once a week for four weeks in some newspaper of general circulation in the county in which the election is to be held, or at the courthouse door of the county in which the city is situated or at the door of the city or town hall, and the date of such election shall be fixed by the board not later than forty days from the receipt of such petition. The notice shall be signed by the chairman of the county board of elections, and the cost of publication thereof paid by the city. § 160-299. Petitions for more than one plan.—Separate petitions for the submission of more than one of such plans may be filed in the form and manner hereinbefore provided, but if petitions for the submission of more than two of such plans shall be submitted at such election, those two plans shall be submitted at the election, petitions for which shall be first filed with the county board of elections. (1917, c. 136, sub-ch. 16, s. 9; C. S. 2850.)

§ 160-300. What the ballots shall contain.—All ballots used in elections held upon the adoption of the plans of government herein set forth shall contain the name of the plan submitted, as Plan A, B, C, or D, or any two of such plans submitted, as the case may be, with a brief description of each plan submitted, as described in the petition, and shall also contain the existing form of government under the name "present form of government." The names of the plans and forms shall be so printed that in appropriate squares the voter may designate by a cross (X) mark only the plan or form of government for which he casts his vote; if there shall be only one plan submitted, the letter and description of such plan and the "present form of government" only shall appear, and the voter shall express his preference between such plan and the "present form of government." If there shall be two plans submitted, then each of the plans shall be denominated and described on the ballot as herein set forth, and the "present form of government" shall also appear upon the ballot, and the ballot shall be so printed that in appropriate squares the voter may designate by a cross (X) mark only the plan or form of his first choice and the plan and form of his second choice. (1917, c. 136, sub-ch. 16, s. 10; C. S. 2851.)

§ 160-334. The initative and referendum:

1. Ordinances Submitted by Petition.—Any proposed ordinance may be submitted to the board of commissioners by petition signed by electors of the city equal to the number provided herein for recall of any official. The signatures, verifications, authentications, inspections, certification, amendments, and submission of such petition shall be the same as provided for the removal of officials.

2. Duty of the Board.—If the petition accompanying the proposed ordinance be signed by the requisite number of electors, and contains a request that the ordinance be passed, or submitted to a vote of the people if not passed by the board of commissioners, such board shall either:

a. Pass such ordinance without alteration within twenty days after attachment of the clerk's certificate to the accompanying petition, or

b. After the clerk shall attach to the petition accompanying such ordinance his certificate of sufficiency, the board of commissioners shall forthwith submit the question to the qualified voters at a special election called for that purpose, or to a general election occurring within ninety days after the date of the clerk's certificate. If the petition is signed by not less than ten and less than twenty-five per cent of the electors as above defined, then the board of commissioners shall within twenty days pass such ordinance without change or submit the same at the next general city election.

3. Popular Vote Taken.—The ballots used when voting upon such ordinance shall contain these words: "For the Ordinance" (stating the nature of the proposed ordinance) and "Against the Ordinance" (stating the nature of the proposed ordinance). If the majority of the qualified electors voting on the proposed ordinance shall vote in favor thereof, such ordinance shall thereupon become a valid and binding ordinance of the city; and any ordinance proposed by petition, or which shall be adopted by a vote of the people, cannot be repealed or amended except by a vote of the people. Any number of proposed ordinances may be voted upon at the same election, in accordance with the provisions of this section, but there shall not be more than one special election in any period of six months for such purpose.

4. Proposition for Repeal.— The board of commissioners may submit a proposition for the repeal of any such ordinance, or for amendments thereto, to be voted upon at any succeeding general election; and should any such proposition so submitted receive a majority of the votes cast thereon at such election, such ordinance shall thereby be repealed or amended accordingly.

5. Publication.—Whenever any ordinance or proposition is required by this subchapter to be submitted to the voters of the city at any election, the city shall cause such ordinance or proposition to be published once in a newspaper of general circulation in the city, such publication to be not more than twenty nor less than five days before the submission of such proposition or ordinance to be voted on.

6. When Ordinance Takes Effect.— No ordinance passed by the board of commissioners, unless otherwise expressly provided, except an ordinance for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health, or safety, which contains a statement of its urgency and is passed by a two-thirds vote of the board of commissioners, shall go into effect before twenty days from the time of its final passage and publication, as herein provided.

7. Action upon Protest Filed.— If during the twenty days a petition, signed by electors of the city equal to the number prescribed herein to be signed to a petition for the recall of any official, protesting against the passage of such ordinance, be presented to the board of commissioners, the operation of such ordinance shall thereupon be suspended, and it shall be the duty of the board of commissioners to consider such ordinance, and if the same is not entirely repealed, the board of commissioners shall submit to the qualified voters the question of the repeal of such ordinance at an election to be held for that purpose in the manner and under the conditions herein provided for reference to voters of the question of recall of an official. (1917, c. 136, sub-ch. 16, Part IV, Plan C, c. 3, s. 1; C. S. 2883.)

2. How Primaries Held.—The primary election for such nominations shall be held on the second Monday preceding all general municipal elections. The judges and other officers of election appointed for the general municipal election shall, whenever practicable, be the

3. Notice of Candidacy.—Any person desiring to become a candidate for nomination by the primary for the office of mayor or commissioner of either of the other two departments or any other elective office shall, at least ten days prior to the primary election, file with the clerk a statement of such candidacy in substantially the following form:

5. Ballots Prepared.—The clerk shall thereupon cause the primary ballots to be printed, authenticated with a facsimile of his signature. Upon the ballot the names of the candidates for mayor, arranged alphabetically, shall be placed, with a square at the left of each name, and immediately below the words, "vote for one." Following the names, likewise arranged in alphabetical order, shall appear the names of the candidates for the commissioners of the two other departments, respectively, with a square at the left of each name, and below the names of such candidates for each of the departments shall appear the words, "vote for one." Like provision shall be made for the names of candidates for each other elective office provided by law. The ballots shall be printed upon plain, substantial white paper, and shall be headed: "Candidates for nomination for mayor and commissioners of two other offices (naming them), of the city of ....., North Carolina, at the primary election," but shall have no party designation or mark whatever.

6. Form of Ballots.—The ballots shall be in substantially the following form:

Official ballot. Attest:

(Signature) ..... City Clerk.

7. Distribution of Ballots. — Having caused ballots to be printed, the city clerk shall cause to be delivered at each polling place a number of ballots equal to twice the number of votes cast in such polling precinct at the last general municipal election for mayor.

8. Who Entitled to Vote.—The persons who are qualified to vote at the succeeding municipal election shall be qualified to vote at such primary election, and shall be subject to challenge made by any resident of the city, under such rules as may be prescribed by the board of commissioners, and such challenge shall be passed upon by the judges of election and registrars: Provided, however, that the law applicable to challenge at a general municipal election shall be applicable to challenge made at such primary election.

9. Ballots Counted.—Judges of election shall, immediately upon the closing of the polls, count the ballots and ascertain the number of votes cast in such precincts for each of the candidates, and make return thereof to the city clerk, upon blanks to be furnished by the clerk, within six hours of the closing of the polls.

10. Returns Canvassed.—On the day following the primary election the city clerk, under the supervision and direction of the mayor, shall canvass such returns so received from all the polling precincts, and shall make and publish in some newspaper of general circulation in the city, at least once, the result thereof. The canvass by the city clerk chall be publicly made.

11. Who to Be Candidates. — The two candidates receiving the highest number of votes for mayor, and the two candidates receiving the highest number of votes for commissioners for each of the respective departments, and the two candidates receiving the highest number of votes for any other elective office, shall be the candidates, and the only candidates whose names shall be placed upon the ballot for mayor, commissioners, and other elective offices at the next succeeding general municipal election. Provided, however, if any candidate for Mayor receives a majority of all the votes cast for the office of Mayor, or if any candidate for Commissioner receives a majority of all the votes cast for the office of Commissioner of the Department for which such person is a candidate, then only the name of the candidate receiving a majority of all the votes cast for such position shall be placed upon the ballot for Mayor or Commissioner of such Department at the next succeeding general municipal election. (1917, c. 136, sub-ch. 16, Part IV, Plan C, c. 4; 1929, c. 32, s. 1; C. S. 2884.)

§ 160-336. Recall of officials by the people:

1. Who may be Removed.—The holder of any elective office may be removed at any time by the electors qualified to vote for a successor of such incumbent.

2. Petition Filed and Verified.—The procedure to effect the removal of an incumbent of an elective office shall be as follows: A petition signed by electors entitled to vote for a successor to the incumbent sought to be removed, equal in number to at least twenty-five per centum of the entire vote for all candidates for the office of mayor cast at the last preceding general municipal election, demanding an election of a successor of the person sought to be removed, shall be filed with the clerk, which petition shall contain a general statement of the ground for which the removal is sought. The signatures to the petition need not all be appended to one paper, but each signer shall add to his signature his place of residence, giving the street and number. One of the signers of each such paper shall make oath before an officer competent to administer oaths that the statements therein made are true, as he believes, and that each signature to the paper appended is the genuine signature of the person whose name it purports to be.

3. Clerk to Examine and Certify Sufficiency.—Within ten days from the date of filing such petition the city clerk shall examine and from the voters' register ascertain whether or not the petition is signed by the requisite number of qualified electors, and he shall attach to the petition his certificate, showing the result of such examination. If by the clerk's certificate the petition is shown to be insufficient, it may be amended within ten days from the date of the certificate. The clerk shall, within ten days after such amendment, make like examination of the amended petition, and if his certificate shall show the same to be insufficient, it shall be returned to the person filing the same; without prejudice, however, to the filing of a new petition to the same effect. If the petition shall be deemed to be sufficient, the clerk shall submit the same to the board of commissioners without delay.

4. Board to Order Primary.—If the petition shall be found to be sufficient, the board of commissioners shall order and fix a date for holding a primary, as provided in cases preceding regular elections, the primary to be held not less than ten days or more than twenty days from the date of the clerk's certificate to the board of commissioners that a sufficient petition is filed. If in the primary election any candidate receives a majority of all the votes cast, he shall be declared to be elected to fill out the remainder of the term of the officer who is sought to be recalled. If there be more than two candidates in such primary and no one received a majority of all the votes cast therein, then there shall be an election held within twenty days from the date of the primary, at which election the two candidates receiving the highest vote in the primary shall be voted for. Candidates' names shall be placed on the ticket in the primary and election held, and the results canvassed, under the same rules, conditions, and regulations as are prescribed for the primaries preceding regular elections. The board of commissioners shall make or cause to be made publication for ten days of notice and all arrangements for holding such election, and the same shall be conducted, returned, and the results thereof declared in all respects as other city elections.

5. Candidate Elected Succeeds to Office. — The successor of any officer so removed shall hold office during the unexpired term of his predecessor. Any person sought to be removed may be a candidate to succeed himself, and unless he requests otherwise in writing, the clerk shall place his name on the official ballot without nomination. At such election, if some other person than the incumbent is elected, the incumbent shall thereupon be deemed removed from the office upon qualification of his successor.

6. Vacancy Filled.—In case the party elected should fail to qualify within ten days after receiving notification of election, the office shall be deemed vacant, and in that event the unexpired term shall be filled by election by the board, but the commissioner removed shall not be eligible to election by the board, and the person so elected by the board shall be subject to recall as other commissioners. If the incumbent receives a majority of votes in the primary election he shall continue his office.

7. Application of Method of Removal.—Such method of removal shall be cumulative and additional to any other method provided by law. In the event any officer is recalled and any person is elected as his successor, the right of recall of such successor so elected shall be as in case of an officer originally elected. (1917, c. 136, sub-ch. 16, Part IV, Plan C, c. 5; C. S. 2885.)

The number of inhabitants shall be determined by the last United States government census or estimate. Every other officer, agent, employee, and assistant of the city government shall receive such salary or compensation as the board of commissioners shall by ordinance provide, payable in equal monthly installments, unless the board shall order payments to be made at other intervals. The petition shall be appropriately entitled and shall be addressed to the governing board of such municipality, and shall state in exact language the amendment, repeal, or adoption proposed; the petition need not be all on one sheet, and if on one or more than one sheet shall be verified by a freeholder in such municipality who is also a signer of such petition. The petition shall contain a request to the governing body of the municipality to submit to the qualified electors thereof the amendment, repeal, or adoption as therein stated, either at a regular election or at a special election to be called for that purpose. It shall thereupon be the duty of the clerk of such municipality to examine the petition for the purpose of ascertaining whether the same has been signed by the required number of qualified electors of the municipality, and the clerk shall certify to the governing body the result of his investigation.

2. Submitted to Vote.—Upon such certificate, it shall be the duty of the governing body to provide for submission to a vote of the amendment, repeal, or adoption proposed in the petition, either at a regular election or at a special election to be called for that purpose, and if the amendment, repeal, or adoption shall be approved by a majority of the votes cast, as hereinbefore provided, such amendment, repeal, or adoption shall become effective. (1917, c. 136, sub-ch. 16, Part VII, s. 3; C. S. 2905.)

§ 160-357. Nature of verification.—Whenever verification of any petition is provided or required to be made by this article, such verification shall consist of a written oath signed by the person making the same, which shall state in substance that the persons whose names appear signed to such petition were so signed by such persons respectively in the presence of the person making oath, and that, to the best of the knowledge and belief of the person making the oath, each of such persons is a qualified elector entitled to vote at the next preceding regular election in the municipality. (1917, c. 136, sub-ch. 16, Part VII, s. 4; C. S. 2906.)

§ 160-358. Laws controlling elections.—Whenever any election, either regular or special, is provided or required to be held under this article, such election shall be held under such laws, either general or special, as are at the time of the holding of such election in force and effect with reference to such municipality. (1917, c. 136, sub-ch. 16, Part VII, s. 5; C. S. 2907.)

§ 160-359. Several propositions voted on.—Any number of amendments or repeals may be initiated by one and the same resolution or petition, and whenever under this article an election is provided or required to be held, any number of such amendments or repeals may be submitted and voted upon at one and the same election. (1917, c. 136, sub-ch. 16, Part VII, s. 6; C. S. 2908.)

§ 160-360. Limitations as to holding special elections.—No special election provided or required by this article shall, except as otherwise provided in this subchapter, be held within two months of the time of holding any regular municipal election in any municipality; not more than two special elections may be held under this article in any municipality within any one year. The elections, subject to the other provisions of this section, shall be held within three months from the date of the filing of the petition. Any election heretofore called within three months from the date of filing any petition under this section and related sections is hereby validated. (1917, c. 136, sub-ch. 16, Part VII, s. 7; 1921, c. 56; C. S. 2909.)

§ 160-361. Adoption or change certified and recorded.—Upon the amendment, repeal, or adoption of a charter of any municipality as provided in this article, the governing body shall cause to be certified to the secretary of the municipal board of control a copy of such amendment, repeal, or adoption duly certified by its clerk and under the seal of such municipality; the copy so certified shall be recorded in the office of the secretary of state, and a copy shall be so certified by the secretary of state to the clerk of the superior court of the county in which such municipality is situated and recorded in the office of the clerk; the record therein provided for, either in the office of the secretary of state or in the office of the clerk of the superior court, shall be evidence in all the courts of this state. (1917, c. 136, sub-ch. 16, Part VII, s. 9; C. S. 2910.)

§ 160-362. Adoption or change ratified by vote.—Whenever any amendment, repeal, or adoption of a charter of any municipality is submitted under the provisions of this article to the qualified electors of such municipality, such amendment, repeal, or adoption shall not become effective unless and until the same shall have been approved by a majority of the votes cast at the election and the result of the election thereon canvassed, determined, and declared as provided by law. (1917, c. 136, sub-ch. 16, Part VII, s. 10; C. S. 2911.)

§ 160-363. Plan not changed for two years.—When any municipality shall, as provided in this subchapter, adopt any one of the plans as set forth in this subchapter, no amendment, repeal, or adoption of such plans shall be made until and after the expiration of two years from the date of the adoption of such plan. (1917, c. 136, sub-ch. 16, Part VII, s. 3; C. S. 2912.)

Art. 24. Elections Regulated.

§ 160-364. Laws governing elections.—All elections called and held by any city for any purpose under the provisions of this subchapter shall be held under, governed and controlled by the laws in force at the time of such election governing and controlling regular and special municipal elections of such city in so far as they are applicable and not inconsistent with the provisions of this subchapter, and where not otherwise provided by law. (1917, c. 136, sub-ch. 16, Part VIII, s. 1; C. S. 2913.)

§ 160-365. Publication of notice.—Except as otherwise provided in this subchapter, notice of every special election held in any city shall be published in a newspaper of general circulation in such city at least once a week for four weeks preceding the date of such election, and posted for thirty days at the door of the building in which the governing body holds its meetings and three other public places in the city. Such notice shall set forth the date and hours of such elections, the proposition to be voted on thereat, the location of the polling places, and, in the event a new registration is ordered for such election, shall so state and set forth the dates of opening and closing the registration books and the names and addresses of the several registrars in charge thereof. (1917, c. 136, sub-ch. 16, Part VIII, s. 1; C. S. 2914.)

§ 160-366. Time for holding elections.—If any city shall adopt any one of the plans of government provided for in this subchapter during the year nineteen hundred and seventeen, the election of city officers under such plan shall be held on Tuesday after the first Monday in May following the adoption of such plan, and the regular municipal elections of such city shall take place biennially thereafter. (1917, c. 136, sub-ch. 16, Part VIII, s. 1; C. S. 2915.)

§ 160-369. Publication of ordinance and notices.—An ordinance or notice required by this subchapter to be published by a municipality shall be published in a newspaper published in the municipality, or, if no newspaper is published therein, in a newspaper published in the county and circulating in the municipality, or, if there is no such newspaper, the ordinance or notice shall be posted at the door of the building in which the governing body usually holds its meetings and at three other public places in the municipality. (1917, c. 138, s. 3; 1919, c. 178, s. 3 (3); 1921, c. 8, s. 1; Ex. Sess. 1921, c. 106, s. 1; C. S. 2920.)

§ 160-370. Application and construction of subchapter.—This subchapter shall apply to all municipalities. Every provision of this subchapter shall be construed as being qualified by constitutional provisions, whenever such construction shall be necessary in order to sustain the constitutionality of any portion of this subchapter. If any portion of this subchapter shall be declared unconstitutional, the remainder shall stand, and the portion declared unconstitutional shall be exscinded. (1917, c. 138, ss. 4, 5; 1919, c. 178, s. 3 (4), (5); 1921, c. 8, s. 1; Ex. Sess. 1921, c. 106, s. 1; C. S. 2921.)

Art. 26. Budget and Appropriations.

§ 160-371. The fiscal year.—The fiscal year of every municipality shall begin on the first day of July, one thousand nine hundred thirty-one, and on the first day of July in each year thereafter. (1917, c. 138, s. 6; 1919, c. 178, s. 3 (6); 1921, c. 8, s. 1; Ex. Sess. 1921, c. 106, s. 1; 1931, c. 60, s. 66; C. S. 2922.)

§ 160-372. Special revolving fund for municipalities to supplant borrowing money on anticipations.—In order to avoid the necessity of borrowing money in anticipation of the receipt of taxes and revenues or the proceeds of the sale of bonds, a municipality may by ordinance create a special revolving fund and with the consent of the Local Government Commission, provide for raising the same to be used in anticipation of the receipt of such moneys and to be replenished by means of such moneys when received. Withdrawals of money from said fund shall be made only for the purposes and within the amounts and for the periods and upon the conditions stated in §§ 160-373, 160-374 and/or 160-375, in respect to the borrowing of the money. Such withdrawals shall not be made unless approved by the Local Government Commission in the same manner as loans made under said sections. No ordinance creating such a fund shall be repealed or amended so as to divert or reduce the amount of the fund, without the approval of said Commission as to necessity or expediency. (1931, c. 60, s. 47.)

Art. 27. Temporary Loans.

§ 160-373. Money borrowed to meet appropriations.—A municipality may borrow money for the purpose of meeting appropriations made for the current fiscal year, in anticipation of the collection of the taxes and revenues of such fiscal year, and within the amount of such appropriations. Such loans shall be paid not later than the tenth day of October in the next succeeding fiscal year. Provision shall be made in the annual budget and annual appropriation ordinance of each fiscal year for the payment of all unpaid loans predicated upon the taxes and revenues of the previous fiscal year. (1917, c. 138, s. 12; 1919, c. 178, s. 3 (12); 1921, c. 8, s. 1; Ex. Sess. 1921, c. 106, s. 1.)

§ 160-374. Money borrowed to pay judgments or interest.—For the purpose of paying a judgment recovered against a municipality, or paying the principal or interest of bonds due or to become due within two months and not otherwise adequately provided for, a municipality may borrow money in anticipation of the receipt of either the revenues of the fiscal year in which the money is borrowed or the revenues of the next succeeding fiscal year. Such loans shall be paid not later than the end of such next succeeding fiscal year. In the event, however, that a judgment or judgments against a municipality amount to more than one cent per hundred dollars of the assessed valuation of taxable property of the municipality for the year in which taxes were last levied before the recovery of the judgment, a loan to pay the judgment may be made payable in not more than five substantially equal annual installments, beginning within one year after the loan is made. For the purpose of paying or renewing notes evidencing indebtedness incurred before July first, one thousand nine hundred thirty-three, and authorized by this subchapter as amended, to be funded, any municipality may issue new notes from time to time until such indebtedness is paid out of revenues or funded into bonds. Such new notes may be made payable at any time or times not later than five years after the first day of July, one thousand nine hundred thirty-three, notwithstanding anything to the contrary in this section.

In addition to the foregoing powers, a municipality may borrow money for the purpose of refunding or funding the principal or interest of bonds due or to become due within two months and not otherwise adequately provided for, and such loans shall be paid not later than the end of the next succeeding fiscal year following the fiscal year within which they are made: Provided, however, if such loans, or any renewals thereof, shall not be paid within the fiscal year in which the same are made, the governing body shall in the next succeeding fiscal year levy and collect a tax ad valorem upon the taxable property in the municipality sufficient to pay the principal and interest thereof. (1919, c. 178, s. 3 (12); 1921, c. 8, s. 1; Ex. Sess. 1921, c. 106, s. 1; 1931, c. 60, s. 64; 1933, c. 259, s. 1; 1939, c. 231, s. 1; C. S. 2933.)

§ 160-375. Money borrowed in anticipation of bond sales.—At any time after a bond ordinance has taken effect as provided in article 28 herein, a municipality may borrow money for the purposes for which the bonds are to be issued, in anticipation of the receipt of the proceeds of the sale of the bonds, and within the maximum authorized amount of the bond issue. Such loans shall be paid not later than three years after the time of taking effect of the ordinance authorizing the bonds upon which they are predicated. The governing body may, in its discretion, retire any such loans by means of current revenues, special assessments, or other funds, in lieu of retiring them by means of bonds: Provided, however, that the governing body, before the actual retirement of any such loan by any means other than the issuance of bonds, under the bond ordinance upon which such loan is predicated, shall amend or repeal such ordinance so as to reduce the authorized amount of the bond issue by the amount of the loan to be so retired. Such an amendatory or repealing ordinance shall take effect upon its passage and need not be published. (1917, c. 138, s. 13; 1919, c. 178, s. 3 (13); 1921, c. 8, s. 1; Ex. Sess. 1921, c. 106, s. 1; C. S. 2934.)

§ 160-376. Notes issued for temporary loans.—Negotiable notes shall be issued for all moneys borrowed under the last three sections. Such notes may be renewed from time to time and money may be borrowed upon notes from time to time for the payment for any indebtedness evidenced thereby, but all such notes shall mature within the time limited by said sections for the payment of the original loan. No money shall be borrowed under said sections at a rate of interest exceeding the maximum rate permitted by law. The said notes may be disposed of by public or private negotiations as provided in the Local Government Act. The issuance of such notes shall be authorized by resolution of the governing body, which shall fix the actual or maximum face amount of the notes and the actual or maximum rate of interest to be paid upon the amount borrowed. The governing body may delegate to any officer the power to fix said face amount, and rate of interest within the limitations prescribed by said resolution. All such notes shall be executed in the manner provided in § 160-393 of this subchapter in relation to bonds. They shall be submitted to and approved by the attorney for the municipality before they are issued, and his written approval indorsed on the notes. The resolution authorizing issuance of notes for money borrowed under § 160-374 for the purpose of refunding or funding principal or interest of bonds shall contain a description of the bonds the principal or interest of which is to be so paid, including the respective amounts of such principal or interest and the date or dates on which the same is due and payable. (1917, c. 138, s. 14; 1919, c. 178, s. 3, (14); 1921, c. 8, s. 1; Ex. Sess. 1921, c. 106, s. 1; 1931, c. 293; 1939, c. 231, s. 1; C. S. 2935.)

Art. 28. Permanent Financing.

§ 160-377. Not applied to temporary loans.—The provisions of this article shall not apply to temporary loans made under article 27, unless otherwise provided in said article. (1917, c. 138, s. 15; 1919, c. 178, s. 3 (15); 1921, c. 8, s. 1; Ex. Sess. 1921, c. 106, s. 1; C. S. 2936.)

§ 160-378. For what purpose bonds may be issued.—A municipality may issue its negotiable bonds for any one or more of the following purposes:

1. For any purpose or purposes for which it may raise or appropriate money, except for current expenses.

2. To fund or refund a debt of the municipality if such debt be payable at the time of the passage of the ordinance authorizing bonds to fund or refund such debt or be payable within one year thereafter, or if such debt, although payable more than one year thereafter, is to be cancelled prior to its maturity and simultaneously with the issuance of the bonds to fund or refund such debt. The word "debt" as used in this subsection two includes all valid or enforceable debts of a municipality, whether incurred for current expenses or for any purpose. It includes debts evidenced by bonds, bond anticipation notes, revenue anticipation notes, judgments and unpaid interest on said debts accrued to the date of the bonds issued. Bond anticipation notes evidencing debts incurred before July first, one thousand nine hundred thirty-three, may, at the option of the governing body, be retired either by means of funding bonds issued under this section or by means of bonds in anticipation of the sale of which the notes were issued. It also includes debts assumed by a municipality as well as debts created by a municipality. Furthermore, the said word "debt" as used in this section includes the principal of and accrued interest on funding bonds, refunding bonds, and other evidences of indebtedness heretofore or hereafter issued. The above enumeration of particular kinds of debt shall not be construed as limiting the word "debt" as used in this section, the intention being that said word shall include debts of every kind and character. Bonds hereafter issued to fund or refund interest may, at the option of the governing body, be named or designated as certificates of indebtedness. No interest accruing after the year one thousand nine hundred forty shall be funded or refunded. (1917, c. 138, s. 16; 1919, c. 178, s. 3 (16); 1921, c. 8, s. 1; Ex. Sess. 1921, c. 106, s. 1; 1931, c. 60, s. 48; 1933, c. 259, s. 1; 1935, c. 302, s. 1; 1939, c. 231, s. 1; C. S. 2937.)

§ 160-379. Ordinance for bond issue:

1. Ordinance Required.—All bonds of a municipality shall be authorized by an ordinance passed by the governing body.

2. What Ordinance Must Show.—The ordinance shall state:

a. In brief and general terms the purpose for which the bonds are to be issued, including, in the case of funding or refunding bonds a brief description of the indebtedness to be funded or refunded sufficient to identify such indebtedness.

b. The maximum aggregate principal amount of the bonds;

c. That a tax sufficient to pay the principal and interest of the bonds shall be annually levied and collected: Provided, in lieu of the foregoing and in the case of funding or refunding bonds, such statement with respect to an annual tax may, in the discretion of the governing body, be altered or omitted;

d. That a statement of the debt of the municipality has been filed with the clerk and is open to public inspection.

e. One of the following provisions:

(1) If the bonds are funding or refunding bonds or for local improvements of which at least one-fourth of the cost, exclusive of the cost of paving at street intersections, has been or is to be specially assessed, that the ordinance shall take effect upon its passage, and shall not be submitted to the voters; or

(2) If the bonds are for a purpose other than the payment of necessary expenses, or if the governing body, although not required to obtain the assent of the voters before issuing the bonds, deems it advisable to obtain such assent, that the ordinance shall take effect when approved by the voters of the municipality at an election as provided in this subchapter; or

(3) In any other case, that the ordinance shall take effect thirty days after its first publication (or posting) unless in the meantime a petition for its submission to the voters is filed under this subchapter, and that in such event it shall take effect when approved by the voters of the municipality at an election as provided in this subchapter.

3. When the Ordinance Takes Effect.— A bond ordinance shall take effect at the time and upon the conditions indicated therein. If the ordinance provides that it shall take effect upon its passage no vote of the people shall be necessary for the issuance of the bonds.

4. Need not Specify Location of Improvement. —In stating the purpose of a bond issue, a bond ordinance need not specify the location of any improvement or property, or the kind of pavement or other material to be used in the construction or reconstruction of streets, highways, sidewalks, curbs, or gutters, or the kind of construction or reconstruction to be adopted for any building, for which the bonds are to be issued. A description in a bond ordinance of a property or improvement substantially in the language employed in § 160-382 of this subchapter to describe such a property or improvement, shall be a sufficiently definite statement of the purpose for which the bonds authorized by the ordinance are to be issued.

5. Application of Other Laws.—No restriction, limitation or provision contained in any special, private or public-local law relating to the issuance of bonds, notes or other obligations of a municipality shall apply to bonds or notes issued under this subchapter for the purpose of refunding, funding or renewing indebtedness, and no vote of the people shall be required for the issuance of bonds or notes for said purpose, unless required by the constitution of this state. The special, private and public-local laws here referred to include all such laws enacted prior to the expiration of the regular session of the general assembly in the year one thousand nine hundred thirty-five. Nothing herein shall be construed, however, as prohibiting a municipality from issuing bonds or notes under any special private or public-local law applicable to such municipality, it being intended that this subchapter shall be cumulative and additional authority for the issuance of bonds and notes. (1917, c. 138, s. 17; 1919, c. 178, s. 3 (17); 1919, c. 285, s. 2; 1921, c. 8, s. 1; Ex. Sess. 1921, c. 106, s. 1; 1931, c. 60, s. 49; 1933, c. 259, s. 1; 1935, c. 302, s. 1; C. S. 2938.)

§ 160-380. Ordinance not to include unrelated purposes.—Bonds for two or more unrelated purposes, not of the same general class or character, shall not be authorized by the same ordinance: Provided, however, that bonds for two or more improvements or properties mentioned together in any one clause of subsection 4 of § 160-382 of this subchapter may be treated as being but for one purpose, and may be authorized by the same bond ordinance. After two or more bond ordinances have been passed, the governing body may, in its discretion, direct all or any of the bonds authorized by the ordinances to be actually issued as one consolidated bond issue. Separate issues of funding and/or refunding bonds may be made under authority of the same bond ordinance for the retirement of two or more different debts or classes of debts. (1919, c. 178, s. 3 (17); 1919, c. 285, s. 3; 1921, c. 8, s. 1; Ex. Sess. 1921, c. 106, s. 1; 1933, c. 259, s. 1; C. S. 2939.)

§ 160-381. Ordinance and bond issue; when petition required.—In cases where a petition of property owners is required by law for the making of local improvements, a bond ordinance authorizing bonds for such local improvements may be passed before any such petition is made, but no bonds for the local improvements in respect of which such petitions are required shall be issued under the ordinance, nor shall any temporary loan be contracted in anticipation of the issuance of such bonds, unless and until such petitions are made, and then only up to the actual or estimated amount of the cost of the work petitioned for. The determination of the governing body as to the actual or estimated cost of work so petitioned for shall be conclusive in any action involving the validity of bonds or notes or other indebtedness. The bond ordinance may be made to take effect upon its passage, notwithstanding that the necessary petitions for the local improvements have not been filed: Provided, that it appears upon the face of the ordinance that one-fourth or some greater proportion of the cost, exclusive of the cost of work at street intersections, has been or is to be assessed. (1919, c. 178, s. 3 (17); 1921, c. 8, s. 1; Ex. Sess. 1921, c. 106, s. 1.)

§ 160-382. Determining periods for bonds to run:

1. How Periods Estimated.—Either in the bond ordinance or in a resolution passed after the bond ordinance but before any bonds are issued thereunder, the governing body shall, within the limits prescribed by subsection four of this section, determine and declare:

a. The probable period of usefulness of the improvements or properties for which the bonds are to be issued; or

b. If the bonds are to be funding or refunding bonds, either the shortest period in which the debt to be funded or refunded can be finally paid without making it unduly burdensome upon the taxpayers of the municipality, or, at the option of the governing body, the probable unexpired period of usefulness of the improvement or property for which the debt was incurred.

2. Average of Periods Determined.—In the case of a consolidated bond issue comprising bonds authorized by different ordinances for different purposes, and in the case of a bond issue authorized by but one ordinance for several related purposes in respect of which several different periods are determined as aforesaid, the governing body shall also determine the average of the different periods so determined, taking into consideration the amount of bonds to be issued on account of each purpose or item in respect of which a period is determined.

The period required to be determined as aforesaid shall be computed from a date not more than one year after the time of passage of any bond ordinance authorizing the issuance of the bonds. The determination of any such period by the governing body shall be conclusive.

3. Maturity of Bonds.—The bonds must mature within the period determined as aforesaid, or, if several different periods are so determined, then within said average period.

4. Periods of Usefulness.—In determining, for the purpose of this section, the probable period of the usefulness of an improvement or property, the governing body shall not deem said period to exceed the following periods for the following improvements and properties, respectively, viz.:

a. Sewer systems (either sanitary or surface drainage), forty years.

b. Water supply systems, or combined water and electric light systems, or combined water, electric light, and power systems, forty years.

c. Gas systems, thirty years.

d. Electric light and power systems, separate or combined, thirty years.

e. Plants for the incineration or disposal of ashes, or garbage, or refuse (other than sewage), twenty years.

f. Public parks (including or not including a playground, as a part thereof, and any buildings thereon at the time of acquisition thereof, or to be erected thereon, with the proceeds of the bonds issued for such public parks), fifty years.

g. Playgrounds, fifty years.

h. Buildings for purposes not stated in this section, if they are:

(1) Of fireproof construction, that is, a building the walls of which are constructed of brick, stone, iron, or other hard, incombustible materials, and in which there are no wood beams or lintels, and in which the floors, roofs, stair halls, and public halls are built entirely of brick, stone, iron, or other hard, incombustible materials, and in which no woodwork or other inflammable materials are used in any of the partitions, floorings, or ceiling (but the building shall be deemed to be of fireproof construction notwithstanding that elsewhere than in the stair halls and entrance halls there is a wooden flooring on top of the fireproof floor, and that wooden sleepers are used, and that it contains wooden handrails and treads, made of hardwood, not less than two inches thick), forty years.

(2) Of nonfireproof construction, that is, a building the outer walls of which are constructed of brick, stone, iron, or other hard, incombustible materials, but which in any other respect differs from a fireproof building as defined in this section, thirty years.

(3) Of other construction, twenty years.

i. Bridges and culverts (including retaining walls and approaches), forty years, unless constructed of wood, and in that case, ten years.

j. Lands for purposes not stated in this section, fifty years.

k. Constructing or reconstructing the surface of roads, streets, or highways, whether including or not including contemporaneous constructing or reconstructing of sidewalks, curbs, gutters, or drains, and whether including or not including grading, if such surface:

(1) Is constructed of sand and gravel, five years;

(2) Is of waterbound macadam or penetration process, ten years;

(3) Is of bricks, blocks, sheet asphalt, bitulithic, or bituminous concrete, laid on a solid foundation, or is of concrete, twenty years.

l. Land for roads, streets, highways, or sidewalks, or grading, or constructing or reconstructing culverts, or retaining walls, or surface, or subsurface drains, fifty years.

m. Constructing sidewalks, curbs, or gutters of brick, stone, concrete, or other material of similar lasting character, twenty years.

(1917, c. 138, s. 18; 1919, c. 178, s. 3 (18); 1921, c. 8, s. 1; Ex. Sess. 1921, c. 106, s. 1; 929, c. 170; 1931, c. 60, s. 50; 1931, cc. 188, 301; 1933, c. 259, s. 1; C. S. 2942.)

(1) Outstanding debt not evidenced by bonds.

(2) Outstanding bonded debts.

(7) The amount which the municipality shall be entitled to receive from any railroad or street-railway company under contract theretofore made for payment by such company of all or a portion of the cost of eliminating a grade crossing or crossings within the municipality, which amount will be applied when received to the payment of any part of the gross debt;

3. Statement Filed for Inspection.—Such statements shall remain on file with the clerk and be open to public inspection. In any action or proceeding in any court involving the validity of bonds, said statement shall be deemed to be true and to comply with the provisions of this subchapter, unless it appears (in an action or proceeding commenced within the time limited by § 160-385 for the commencement thereof), first, that the representations contained therein could not by any reasonable method of computation be true; and second, that a true statement would show that the ordinance authorizing the bonds could not be passed. (1917, c. 138, s. 19; 1919, c. 178, s. 3 (19); 1919, c. 285, s. 4; 1921, c. 8, s. 1; Ex. Sess. 1921, c. 106, s. 1; 1927, c. 102, s. 1; 1931, c. 60, s. 51; 1933, c. 259, s. 1; 1933, c. 321; Ex. A notice substantially in the following form (the blanks being first properly filled in), with the printed or written signature of the clerk appended thereto, shall be published with the ordinance:

§ 160-385. Limitation of action to set aside ordinance.—Any action or proceeding in any court to set aside a bond ordinance, or to obtain any other relief upon the ground that the ordinance is invalid, must be commenced within thirty days after the first publication of the notice aforesaid and the ordinance or supposed ordinance referred to in the notice. After the expiration of such period of limitation, no right of action or defense founded upon the invalidity of the ordinance shall be asserted, nor shall the validity of the ordinance be open to question in any court upon any ground whatever, except in an action or proceeding commenced within such period. (1917, c. 138, s. 20; 1919, c. 49, s. 1; 1919, c. 178, s. 3 (20); 1921, c. 8, s. 1; Ex. Sess. 1921, c. 106, s. 1; C. S. 2945.)

§ 160-386. Ordinance requiring popular vote.—1. When Vote Required.—If a bond ordinance provides that it shall take effect thirty days after its first publication unless a petition for its submission to the voters shall be filed in the meantime, the ordinance shall be inoperative without the approval of the voters of the municipality at an election if a petition shall be filed as provided in this section.

2. Petition Filed.—A petition demanding that a bond ordinance be submitted to the voters may be filed with the clerk within thirty days after the first publication of the ordinance. The petition shall be in writing and signed by voters of the municipality equal in number to at least twenty-five per centum of the total number of registered voters in the municipality as shown by the registration books for the last preceding election for municipal officers therein. The residence address of each signer shall be written after his signature. Each signature to the petition shall be verified by a statement (which may relate to a specified number of signatures), made by some adult resident freeholder of the municipality, under oath before an officer competent to administer oaths, to the effect that the signature was made in his presence and is the genuine signature of the person whose name it purports to be. The petition need not contain the text of the ordinance to which it refers. The petition need not be all on one sheet, and if on more than one sheet, it shall be verified as to each sheet.

3. Sufficiency of Petition.—The clerk shall investigate the sufficiency of the petition and present it to the governing body with a certificate stating the result of his investigation. (1917, c. 138, s. 21; 1919, c. 49, ss. 1, 2; 1919, c. 178, s. 3 (21); 1921, c. 8, s. 1; Ex. Sess. 1921, c. 106, s. 1; 1927, c. 102, s. 2; C. S. 2947.)

§ 160-387. Elections on bond issue.

1. What Majority Required.—If a bond ordinance provides for the issuance of bonds for a purpose other than the payment of necessary expenses of the municipality, the approval of a majority of the qualified voters of the municipality, as required by the constitution of North Carolina, shall be necessary in order to make the ordinance operative. If however, the bonds are to be issued for necessary expenses, the affirmative vote of the majority of the voters voting on the bond ordinance shall be sufficient to make it operative, in all cases where the ordinance is required by this subchapter to be submitted to the voters. If the bonds will result in an increase in the municipal debt by more than two-thirds of the amount by which it was decreased during the preceding year, a majority of the votes cast will be required to make the ordinance operative.

2. When Election Held.—Whenever the taking effect of an ordinance authorizing the issuance of bonds is dependent upon the approval of the ordinances by the voters of a municipality, the governing body may submit the ordinance to the voters at an election to be held not more than six months after the passage of the ordinance. The governing body may call a special election for that purpose or may submit the ordinance to the voters at the regular municipal election next succeeding the passage of the ordinance, but no such special election shall be held within one month before or after a regular election. Several ordinances or other matters may be voted upon at the same election.

3. New Registration.—The governing body of the city or town in which such election is held may, in their discretion, order a new registration of the voters for such election. The books for such new registration shall remain open in each precinct from nine a. m. to six p. m. on each day, except Sundays and holidays, for three weeks, beginning on a Monday morning and ending on the second Saturday evening before the election. A registrar and two judges of election shall be appointed by the governing body for each precinct: Provided, that the books shall be open at the polling places on each Saturday during the registration period. Sufficient notice shall be deemed to have been given of such new registration and of the appointment of the election officers if a notice thereof be published at least thirty (30) days before the closing of the registration books, stating the hours and days for registration. It shall not be necessary to specify in said notice the places for registration. In case the registrar shall fail or refuse for any cause to perform his duties, it shall be lawful for the clerk to appoint another person to perform such duties, and no notice of such appointment shall be necessary.

4. Notice of Election.—A notice of the election shall be deemed sufficiently published if published once not later than twenty days before the election. Such notice shall state the maximum amount of the proposed bonds and the purpose thereof, and the fact that a tax will be levied for the payment thereof. The date of the election shall be stated therein.

5. Ballots.—A ballot shall be furnished to each qualified voter at said election, which ballot may contain the words "for the ordinance authorizing $.... bonds (briefly stating the purpose), and a tax therefor," and "against the ordinance authorizing $.... bonds (briefly stating the purpose), and a tax therefor," with squares in front of each proposition, in one of which squares the voter may make an (X) mark, but this form of ballot is not prescribed.

6. Returns Canvassed.—The officers appointed to hold the election in making return of the result thereof, shall incorporate therein not only the number of votes cast for and against each ordinance submitted, but also the number of voters registered and qualified to vote in the election. The governing body shall canvass the returns, and shall include in their canvass the votes cast and the number of voters registered and qualified to vote in the election, and shall judicially determine and declare the result of the election.

7. Application of other laws.—Except as herein otherwise provided, the registration and election shall be conducted in accordance with the laws then governing elections for municipal officers in such municipality, and governing the registration of the electors for such election of officers.

8. Statement of Result.—The board shall prepare a statement showing the number of votes cast for and against each ordinance submitted. and the number of voters qualified to vote in the election, and declaring the result of the election, which statement shall be signed by a majority of the members of the board and delivered to the clerk of the municipality, who shall record it in the book of ordinances of the municipality and file the original in his office and publish it once.

9. Limitation as to Actions.—No right of action or defense founded upon the invalidity of the election shall be asserted, nor shall the validity of the election be open to question in any court upon any ground whatever, except in an action or proceeding commenced within thirty days after the publication of such statement: Provided, that §§ 160-386 and 160-387 shall not apply to the incorporated towns of Madison county. (1917, c. 138, s. 22; 1919, c. 178, s. 3 (22); 1919, c. 291; 1921, c. 8, s. 1; Ex. Sess. 1921, c. 106, s. 1; C. S. 2948.)

§ 160-388. Preparation for issuing bonds.—At any time after the passage of a bond ordinance, all steps preliminary to the actual issuance of bonds under the ordinance may be taken, but the bonds shall not be actually issued unless and until the ordinance takes effect. (1917, c. 138, s. 23; 1919, c. 178, s. 3 (23); 1921, c. 8, s. 1; Ex. Sess. 1921, c. 106, s. 1; C. S. 2949.)

§ 160-389. Within what time bonds issued.—After a bond ordinance takes effect, bonds may be issued in conformity with its provisions at any time within three years after the ordinance takes effect, unless the ordinance shall have been repealed, which repeal is permitted (without the privilege of referendum upon the question of appeal), unless notes shall have been issued in anticipation of the receipts of the proceeds of the bonds and shall be outstanding: Provided, however, that funding or refunding bonds heretofore or hereafter authorized may be issued at any time within five years after the ordinance takes effect. (1917, c. 138, s. 24; 1919, c. 178, s. 3 (24); 1921, c. 8, s. 1; Ex. Sess. 1921, c. 106, s. 1; 1939, c. 231, s. 1; C. S. 2950.)

§ 160-390. Amount and nature of bonds determined.—The aggregate amount of bonds to be issued under a bond ordinance, the rate or rates of interest they shall bear, not exceeding six per centum per annum, payable semiannually or otherwise, and the times and place or places of payment of the principal and interest of the bonds, shall be fixed by resolution or resolutions of the governing body. The bonds may be issued either all at one time or from time to time in blocks, and different provisions may be made for different blocks. (1917, c. 138, s. 25; 1919, c. 178, s. 3 (25); 1921, c. 8, s. 1; Ex. Sess. 1921, c. 106, s. 1; 1933, c. 259, s. 1; C. S. 2951.)

§ 160-391. Bonded debt payable in installments.—Each bond issue made under this subchapter shall mature in annual installments or series, the first of which shall be made payable not more than three years after the date of the first issued bonds of such issue, and the last within the period determined and declared pursuant to § 160-382, of this subchapter. No such installment or series shall be more than two and one-half times as great in amount as the smallest prior installment or series of the same bond issue. If all of the bonds of an issue are not issued at the same time, the bonds at any one time outstanding shall mature as aforesaid. This section shall not apply to funding or refunding bonds. (1917, c. 138, s. 26; 1919, c. 178, s. 3 (26); 1921, c. 8, s. 1; Ex. Sess. 1921, c. 106, s. 1; 1931, c. 60, s. 52; 1933, c. 259, s. 1; C. S. 2952.)

§ 160-392. Medium and place of payment.—The bonds may be made payable in such kinds of money and at such place or places within or without the state of North Carolina as the governing body may by resolution provide. (1917, c. 138, s. 27; 1919, c. 178, s. 3 (27); 1921, c. 8, s. 1; Ex. Sess. 1921, c. 106, s. 1; C. S. 2953.)

§ 160-393. Formal execution of bonds.—The bonds shall be issued in such form as the officers who execute them shall adopt, except as otherwise provided by the governing body. They shall be signed by two or more officers designated by the governing body, or, if the governing body makes no such designation, then by the mayor or other chief executive officer and by the clerk, and the corporate seal of the municipality shall be affixed to the bonds. The bonds may have coupons attached for the interest to be paid thereon, which coupons shall bear a facsimile signature of the clerk in office, at the date of the bonds or at the date of delivery thereof. The delivery of bonds so executed shall be valid notwithstanding any change in the officers or in the seal of the municipality occurring after the signing and sealing of the bonds. (1917, c. 138, s. 28; 1919, c. 178, s. 3 (28); 1921, c. 8, s. 1; Ex. Sess. 1921, c. 106, s. 1; C. S. 2954.)

§ 160-394. Registration and transfer of bonds:

1. Bonds Payable to Bearer.—Bonds issued under this subchapter shall be payable to the bearer unless they are registered as provided in this section; and each coupon appertaining to a bond shall be payable to the bearer of the coupon.

2. Registration and Effect.—A municipality may keep in the office of its financial officer or in the office of a bank or trust company appointed by the governing body as bond registrar or transfer agent, a register or registers for the registration and transfer of its bonds, in which it may register any bond at the time of its issue, or, at the request of the holder, thereafter. After such registration the principal and interest of the bond shall be payable to the person in whose name it is registered except in the case of a coupon bond registered as to principal only, in which case the principal shall be payable to such person, unless the bond shall be discharged from registry by being registered as payable to bearer. After registration a bond may be transferred on such register by the registered owner in person or by attorney, upon presentation to the bond registrar, accompanied by delivery of a written instrument of transfer in a form approved by the bond registrar, executed by the registered owner.

3. Registration and Transfer Noted on Bond.—Upon the registration or transfer of a bond as aforesaid, the bond registrar shall note such registration or transfer on the back of the bond. Upon the registration of a coupon bond as to both principal and interest he shall also cut off and cancel the coupons.

4. Agreement for Registration.—A municipality may, by recital in its bonds, agree to register the bonds as to principal only, or agree to register them either as to principal only or as to both principal and interest at the option of the bond-holder. (1917, c. 138, s. 29; 1919, c. 178, s. 3 (29); 1921, c. 8, s. 1; Ex. Sess. 1921, c. 106, s. 1; C. S. 2955.)

§ 160-395. Application of funds.—The proceeds of the sale of bonds under this subchapter shall be used only for the purposes specified in the ordinance authorizing said bonds, and for the payment of the principal and interest of temporary loans made in anticipation of the sale of bonds: Provided, however, that if for any reason any part of such proceeds are not applied to or are not necessary for such purposes, such unexpended part of the proceeds shall be applied to the payment of the principal or interest of said bonds. The cost of preparing, issuing, and marketing bonds shall be deemed to be one of the purposes for which the bonds are issued. (1917, c. 138, s. 31; 1919, c. 178, s. 3 (31); 1921, c. 8, s. 1; Ex. Sess. 1921, c. 106, s. 1; C. S. 2957.)

§ 160-396. Bonds incontestable after delivery.—Any bonds reciting that they are issued pursuant to this subchapter shall in any action or proceeding involving their validity be conclusively deemed to be fully authorized by this subchapter and to have been issued, sold, executed, and delivered in conformity herewith, and with all other provisions of statutes applicable thereto, and shall be incontestable, anything herein or in other statutes to the contrary notwithstanding, unless such action or proceeding is begun prior to the delivery of such bonds. (1917, c. 138, s. 32; 1919, c. 178, s. 3 (32); 1921, c. 8, s. 1; Ex. Sess. 1921, c. 106, s. 1; C. S. 2958.)

§ 160-397. Taxes levied for payment of bonds.—The full faith and credit of the municipality shall be deemed to be pledged for the punctual payment of the principal of and interest on every bond and note issued under this subchapter, including assessment bonds or other bonds for which special funds are provided. The governing body shall annually levy and collect a tax ad valorem upon all the taxable property in the municipality sufficient to pay the principal and interest of all bonds issued under this subchapter as such principal and interest become due: Provided, however, that such tax may be reduced by the amount of other moneys appropriated and actually available for such purpose.

So much of the net revenue derived by the municipality in any fiscal year from the operation of any revenue producing enterprise owned by the municipality after paying all expenses of operating, managing, maintaining, repairing, enlarging and extending such enterprise, shall be applied, first to the payment of the interest, payable in the next succeeding year on bonds issued for such enterprise, and next, to the payment of the amount necessary to be raised by tax in such succeeding year for the payment of the principal of said bonds. All money derived from the collection of special assessments for local improvements for which bonds or notes were issued shall be placed in a special fund and used only for the payment of bonds or notes issued for the same or other local improvements.

Every municipality shall have the power to levy taxes ad valorem upon all taxable property therein for the purpose of paying the principal of or the interest on any bonds or notes for the payment of which the municipality is liable, issued under any act other than this subchapter, or for the purpose of providing a sinking fund for the payment of said principal, or for the purpose of paying the principal of or interest on any notes issued under this subchapter.

The powers stated in this section in respect of the levy of taxes for the payment of the principal and interest of bonds and notes shall not be subject to any limitation prescribed by law upon the amount or rate of taxes which a municipality may levy. Taxes levied under this section shall be levied and collected in the same manner as other taxes are levied and collected upon property in the municipality: Provided, in the case of funding or refunding bonds which do not mature in installments, as provided in § 160-391 of this subchapter, a tax for the payment of the principal of said bonds need not be levied prior to the fiscal year or years said bonds mature unless it is so provided for in an ordinance or resolution passed before the issuance of said bonds, in which case such tax shall be levied in accordance with the provisions of such ordinance or resolution. (1917, c. 138, s. 33; 1919, c. 178, s. 3 (33); 1921, c. 8, s. 1; Ex. Sess. 1921, c. 106, s. 1; 1933, c. 259, s. 1; C. S. 2959.)

§ 160-398. Destruction of surrendered bonds of cities and towns.—All surrendered bonds of a city or town may, in the discretion of the governing board of such city or town, be destroyed. Before such bonds are destroyed the treasurer of the municipality shall make a correct descriptive list of all surrendered bonds of the municipality, in a substantially bound book to be kept by him for that purpose, which list shall include the number, date and amount of each bond and the purpose for which it was issued, when this can be ascertained; and after such list shall be made, such surrendered bonds shall be destroyed by burning in the presence of the mayor, treasurer or auditor, city attorney and secretary of the governing board of the city or town, who shall each certify under his hand in such book that he saw the described bonds so burned and destroyed. (1941, c. 203.)

Art. 29. Restrictions upon the Exercise of Municipal Powers.

§ 160-399. In borrowing or expending money:

1. No municipality shall:

a. Make an appropriation of money except as provided in this subchapter.

b. Borrow money or issue bonds or notes except as provided in this subchapter;

c. Make an expenditure of money unless the money shall have been appropriated as provided in this subchapter, or unless the expenditure is a payment of a judgment against the municipality or is a payment of the principal or interest of a bond or note of the municipality; or,

d. Enter into any contract involving the expenditure of money unless a sufficient appropriation shall have been made therefor, except a continuing contract to be performed in whole or in part in an ensuing fiscal year, in which case an appropriation shall be made sufficient to meet the amount to be paid in the fiscal year in which the contract is made.

2. The authorization of bonds by a municipality shall be deemed to be an appropriation of the maximum authorized amount of the bonds for the purposes for which they are to be issued. (1917, c. 138, s. 34; 1919, c. 178, s. 3 (34); 1921, c. 8, s. 1; Ex. Sess. 1921, c. 106, s. 1; C. S. 2960.)

§ 160-400. Manner of passing ordinances and resolutions.—Ordinances and resolutions passed pursuant to this subchapter shall be passed in the manner provided by other laws for the passage of ordinances and resolutions, but shall not be subject to the provisions of other laws prescribing conditions, acts, or things necessary to exist, happen, or be performed precedent to or after the passage of ordinances or resolutions in order to give them full force and effect: Provided, however, that in any municipality in which the acts of the governing body thereof involving the raising or expenditure of money are required by law to be approved by some other official board or officer of the municipality in order to make them effective, all ordinances and resolutions passed by the governing body under this subchapter shall, unless they relate solely to elections held under this subchapter, be so approved before they take effect. (1917, c. 138, s. 35; 1919, c. 178, s. 3 (35); 1921, c. 8, s. 4; Ex. Sess. 1921, c. 106, s. 1; C. S. 2961.)

§ 160-401. Enforcement of subchapter.—If any board or officer of a municipality shall be ordered by a court of competent jurisdiction to levy or collect a tax to pay a judgment or other debt, or to perform any duty required by this subchapter to be performed by such board or officer, and shall fail to carry out such order, the court, in addition to all other remedies, may appoint its own officers or other persons to carry out such order. (1917, c. 138, s. 36; 1919, c. 178, s. 3 (36); 1921, c. 8, s. 1; Ex. Sess. 1921, c. 106, s. 1; C. S. 2962.)

§ 160-402. Procedure for authorization of undertaking and revenue bonds. — The acquisition, construction, reconstruction, improvement, betterment, or extension of any undertaking, and the issuance, in anticipation of the collection of the revenues of such undertaking, of bonds to provide funds to pay the cost thereof, may be authorized under this article by resolution or resolutions of the governing body which may be adopted at a regular or special meeting by a majority of the members of the governing body. Unless otherwise provided therein, such resolution or resolutions shall take effect immediately and need not be laid over or published or posted. The governing body in determining such cost may include all costs and estimated costs of the issuance of said bonds; all engineering, inspection, fiscal, and legal expenses, and interest, which it is estimated will accrue during the construction period and for six months thereafter, on money borrowed or which it is estimated will be borrowed pursuant to this article. (Ex. Sess., 1938, c. 2, s. 4.)

§ 160-417. All bonds issued under this article bearing the signature of officers in office on the date of the signing thereof shall be valid and binding notwithstanding that before the delivery thereof and payment therefor, such officers whose signatures appear thereon shall have ceased to be officers of the municipality issuing the same. Pending the preparation of the definitive bonds, interim receipts, in such form and with such provisions as the governing body may determine, may be issued to the purchaser or purchasers of bonds to be issued under this article. Said bonds and coupons and said interim receipts shall be negotiable for all purposes, except as restricted by registration, and shall be and are hereby declared to be nontaxable for any and all purposes. (Ex. Sess., 1938, c. 2, s. 5.)

§ 160-418. (k) the continuous operation and maintenance of the undertaking.

The provisions of this article and of any such resolution or resolutions shall be a contract with every holder of said bonds; and the duties of the municipality and the governing body and the officers of the municipality under this article and under any such resolution or resolutions shall be enforceable by any bondholder by mandamus or other appropriate suit, action, or proceeding at law or in equity. (Ex. Sess., 1938, c. 2, s. 6.)

§ 160-419. No municipal liability on bonds. — Revenue bonds issued under this article shall not be payable from or charged upon any funds other than the revenue pledged to the payment thereof, nor shall the municipality issuing the same be subject to any pecuniary liability thereon. No holder or holders of any such bonds shall ever have the right to compel any exercise of the taxing power of the municipality to pay any such bonds or the interest thereon; nor to enforce payment thereof against any property of the municipality; nor shall any such bonds constitute a charge, lien, or encumbrance, legal or equitable, upon any property of the municipality. Every bond issued under this article shall contain a statement on its face that "this bond is not a debt of ....., but is payable solely from the revenues of the undertaking for which it is issued, as provided by law and the proceedings in accordance therewith, and the holder hereof has no right to compel the levy of any tax for the payment of this bond or the interest to accrue hereon and has no charge, lien or encumbrance legal or equitable upon any property of said .....". (Ex. Sess., 1938, c. 2, s. 7.)

§ 160-420. Right to receivership upon default.— (a) In the event that the municipality shall default in the payment of the principal or interest on any of the bonds after the same shall become due, whether at maturity or upon call for redemption, and such default shall continue for a period of thirty days; or in the event that the municipality or the governing body, or officers, agents, or employees thereof shall fail or refuse to comply with the provisions of this article or shall default in any agreement made with the holders of the bonds, any holders of bonds or trustee therefor shall have the right to apply in an appropriate judicial proceeding to the superior court of the county in which the municipality is located or any court of competent jurisdiction for the appointment of a receiver of the undertaking, whether or not all bonds have been declared due and payable and whether or not such holder, or trustee therefor, is seeking or has sought to enforce any other right, or exercise any remedy in connection with such bonds. Upon such application the superior court or any other court of competent jurisdiction may appoint, and if the application is made by the holders of twenty-five per centum in principal amount of such bonds then outstanding, or any trustee for holders of such bonds in such principal amount, shall appoint a receiver of the undertaking.

(b) The receiver so appointed shall forthwith, directly or by his agents and attorneys, enter into and upon and take possession of the undertaking and each and every part thereof and may exclude the municipality, its governing body, officers, agents, and employees and all persons claiming under them wholly therefrom and shall have, hold, use, operate, manage and control the same and each and every part thereof, and, in the name of the municipality or otherwise, as the receiver may deem best, and shall exercise all the rights and powers of the municipality with respect to the undertaking as the municipality itself might do.

Such receiver shall maintain, restore, insure and keep insured, the undertaking, and from time to time shall make all such necessary or proper repairs as to such receiver may seem expedient and shall establish, levy, maintain and collect such fees, tolls, rentals, and other charges in connection with the undertaking as such receiver may deem necessary or proper and reasonable, and shall collect and receive all revenues and shall deposit the same in a separate account and apply such revenues so collected and received in such manner as the court shall direct.

(c) Whenever all that is due upon the bonds and interest thereon, and upon any other notes, or other obligations, and interest thereon, having a charge, lien, or other encumbrance on the revenues of the undertaking and under any of the terms of any covenants or agreements with holders of bonds shall have been paid or deposited as provided therein, and all defaults shall have been cured and made good, the court may in its discretion, and after such notice and hearing as it deems reasonable and proper, direct the receiver to surrender possession of the undertaking to the municipality, the same right of the holders of the bonds to secure the appointment of a receiver to exist upon any subsequent default as hereinabove provided.

(d) Such receiver shall in the performance of the powers hereinabove conferred upon him, act under the direction and supervision of the court making such appointment and shall at all times be subject to the orders and decrees of such court and may be removed thereby. Nothing herein contained shall limit or restrict the jurisdiction of such court to enter such other and further orders and decrees as such court may deem necessary or appropriate for the exercise by the receiver of any functions specifically set forth herein. (Ex. Sess., 1938, c. 2, s. 8.)

§ 160-421. Approval of state agencies and sale of bonds by local government commission.—All revenue bonds issued pursuant to this article shall be approved and sold by the local government commission in the same manner as municipal bonds are approved and sold by that commission, except that the said commission may sell any bonds issued pursuant to this article to the United States of America, or any agency thereof, at private sale and without advertisement. It shall not be necessary for any municipality proceeding under this article to obtain any other approval, consent, or authorization of any bureau, board, commission, or other like instrumentality of the state for the construction of an undertaking, provided, however, that existing powers and duties of the state board of health shall continue in full force and effect; and provided, further, that no municipality shall construct any systems, plants, works, instrumentalities and properties used or useful in connection with the generation, production, transmission and distribution of gas (natural, artificial, or mixed), or electric energy for lighting, heating, and power, for public and private uses, without having first obtained a certificate of convenience and necessity from the public utilities commissioner, except that this requirement for a certificate of convenience and necessity shall not apply to any such undertaking defined in this proviso which has been authorized, or the bonds for which have been authorized, by any general, special or local law enacted prior to August 13, 1938. (Ex. Sess., 1938, c. 2, s. 9.)

§ 160-422. Construction of article.—The powers conferred by this article shall be in addition and supplemental to, and not in substitution for; and the limitations imposed by this article shall not affect the powers conferred by any other general, special, or local law. Bonds or interim receipts may be issued under this article without regard to the provisions of any other general, special, or local law. The general assembly hereby declares its intention that the limitations of the amount or percentage of, and the restrictions relating to indebtedness of a municipality and the incurring thereof contained in the constitution of the state and in any general, special or local law shall not apply to bonds or interim receipts and the issuance thereof under this article. (Ex. Sess., 1938, c. 2, s. 10.)

§ 160-423. Termination of power to issue bonds.—Except in pursuance to any contract or agreement entered into prior to March 14, 1941, by any municipality, no municipality shall borrow any money or deliver any bonds pursuant to this article to the purchaser, or purchasers, thereof, after March first, one thousand nine hundred and forty-three. (Ex. Sess., 1938, c. 2, s. 11; 1941, c. 207, s. 1.)

§ 160-424. Article applicable to school dormitories and teacherages.—All the terms, conditions and provisions of this article are hereby made applicable to the acquisition, construction, reconstruction, improvement, betterment, or extension of school dormitories and teacherages within this state. They shall prevent riots, violence, tumult or disorder. In the discharge of these duties they may call upon the sheriff, police, or other peace officers to aid them in enforcing the law. They may order the arrest of any person violating any provision of the election law, but such arrest shall not prevent such person from registering or voting if he is entitled so to do. The sheriff, all constables, police officers and other officers of the peace, shall immediately obey and aid in the enforcement of any lawful order made by the precinct election officials in the enforcement of the election laws.

3. The registrar shall have in his charge the actual registration of voters within his precinct and shall attend the polling place on the days required for the registration of new voters and for hearing challenges, but in the performance of these duties the registrar shall be subject to the observance of such reasonable rules and regulations as the county board of elections may prescribe not inconsistent with the law.

In the case of the alteration of the election precincts or polling places therein, they shall give twenty days' notice thereof, prior to the beginning of the registration period, in some public journal, or in lieu thereof, in three public places in such county, and at the courthouse door. And the county board of elections shall have power from time to time, after dividing their counties into election precincts, to establish, alter, discon-

When an order for revision is made by said county board of elections, it shall be directed to the registrar and judges of election of the precinct to which it relates, directing said officials to meet at the polling place on the first Saturday for the registration of voters, before any primary or general election, and to prepare from the registration books a list of the names of registered voters, with their names and addresses as appearing on the registration books, who are, in the opinion of said precinct officials, dead or disqualified by removal from said precinct or county for the length of time prescribed by law to be disqualified to vote in that particular precinct. When such list is prepared it shall, within forty-eight hours, be delivered to the chairman of the county board of elections, who shall cause to be mailed to each of the names on said list, at his or her address as shown on said list, a notice requiring such person to appear at the polling place for the precinct in which they are registered, on the Saturday prescribed for hearing challenges, and show that they are legally entitled to vote in that particular precinct, or in lieu of a personal appearance at the precinct on the day named for hearing challenges, such person may furnish such satisfactory evidence by mail or otherwise, that he or she is qualified to vote in said precinct. Upon failure of such person to make such personal appearance on challenge day, or upon failure of such person to offer satisfactory evidence that he or she is qualified and entitled to vote in said precinct in the approaching primary or general election, their names shall be stricken off the registration book. After due investigation, such precinct officers shall strike from the registration book the names of all such persons found by them to be dead or disqualified to vote by removal from the precinct for such time as prescribed by law shall disqualify them from voting in such precinct.

However, in the event that any person, whose name has been removed from the registration book by said county board of elections as having been disqualified to vote in that precinct, should appear at the polling place on election day and give satisfactory evidence to the registrar and judges that he had never received any notice by mail or otherwise of his name being placed among the list of disqualified voters in that precinct, and can satisfy said officials that he is qualified to vote in that precinct, then such person's name shall be placed back on the registration book and he shall be allowed to vote in said precinct as before. (Rev., s. 4314; 1905, c. 510; 1909, c. 894; 1921, c. 181, s. 3; 1933, c. 165, s. 3; C. S. 5935.)

court shall, at this meeting, deliver to the chairman of the county board of elections three new registration books and one new poll book for each precinct in the county, which new books shall have been furnished to said clerk of the superior court by the state board of elections prior thereto together with a copy of this article. The cost of printing and distribution of said new books shall be paid for by the state out of the contingency and emergency fund. The said clerk of the superior court shall, at this meeting, deliver to the said chairman of the county board of elections the old registration books for each precinct in the county together with the poll books used in each precinct in the one thousand nine hundred and thirty-six and one thousand nine hundred and thirty-eight general elections, and he shall take a receipt from said chairman for the same. At this meeting the county board of elections shall authorize and direct the chairman of the county board of elections, with the assistance of the registrars and any other necessary assistance to proceed with the relisting of the voters in the county, the cost of which shall be paid for by the board of county commissioners out of the county funds, but which shall be held to as low an amount as is consistent with the purposes of this article. The said chairman of the board of elections shall begin said work within eight days after said meeting and supervise the same until it is completed. (1939, c. 263, s. 1.)

§ 163-44. "General election registration book" for each precinct.—For each precinct the chairman shall have copied in a new registration book, to be known and labeled as "The General Election Registration Book," the names only of all registered electors who are shown by the poll book to have voted in such precinct in either the one thousand nine hundred and thirty-six or the one thousand nine hundred and thirty-eight general election or the primary election, except electors who are known by the chairman to have died or moved their voting residence, and to record in said book opposite each name, information available with reference to the race, age, residence, place of birth and the township, county and state from whence he has removed, in the event of a removal. The party affiliation of the voters shall not be entered in this general election registration book. When this is completed, there shall be prepared for each precinct in duplicate a list of all the registered voters whose names were not transferred to the new general election registration book for the reason that such electors did not appear, according to the poll books, to have voted in either the general election or the primary election of one thousand nine hundred and thirty-six or one thousand nine hundred and thirty-eight. The said chairman of the county board of elections shall thereafter publish said lists once a week for at least two consecutive weeks in a county journal or in his discretion have said lists posted at the courthouse door of said county at least two weeks prior to the opening of the regular primary registration period notifying all persons on said lists that their names would be erased from the registration books unless such persons personally appeared before their respective registrars during the regular registration period and showed their right to remain on the registration book and vote as qualified electors in said precinct. In the event that either the one thousand nine hundred and thirty-six or one thousand nine hundred and thirty-eight poll books for a precinct are lost and cannot be found then the chairman shall order a new registration of voters in such precinct before the primary election. In all counties having had a new county-wide registration of voters, either in the year one thousand nine hundred and thirty-six or one thousand nine hundred and thirty-eight, the said chairman in said county is authorized to transfer to the new registration books the names of all persons registered therein regardless of whether any of the persons so registered voted in neither of said elections or primary elections of one thousand nine hundred and thirty-six or one thousand nine hundred and thirty-eight, except that the chairman shall remove from the books the names of all persons known by the chairman to have died or moved their voting residence elsewhere since said registration was held: Provided, however, that if the registration books in those counties having had a new registration within the time above mentioned do not show the party affiliation of the voter together with the other required information then the chairman shall order a new registration therein. In instances where the party affiliation is shown part of the time and is not shown in some cases, then the procedure set forth in § 163-46 shall be followed: Provided, further, that in those counties having had a new county-wide registration of voters either in the year one thousand nine hundred and thirty-six or one thousand nine hundred and thirty-eight, which registration, revision and relisting of voters was performed in substantial compliance with the terms of this article, in the opinion of the chairman of the state board of elections the said chairman will not be required to comply with the terms and provisions of this article. (1939, c. 263, s. 2.)

§ 163-45. New registration in discretion of county board.—In lieu of the procedure prescribed in this article, any county board of elections in its discretion, may order a new registration of the voters in that county, or in any precinct or precincts therein: Provided, that in all cases the three registration books provided for in this article shall be made so that there shall be a general election registration book and a separate primary registration book. (1939, c. 263, s. 2½.)

§ 163-46. Required information may be supplied by registered persons who voted in 1936 or 1938 general election.—Where the registration books do not show in part the voters party affiliation, or age, race, residence, place of birth, etc., and the poll book for the precinct shows that such persons voted in either the one thousand nine hundred and thirty-six or the one thousand nine hundred and thirty-eight general election, or primary election, then the said chairman shall prepare a list of all such registered persons—including all of those absent from the county and employed outside of the county—and shall immediately mail a blank form to each of such persons whose address is given or known, instructing them to fill in the requested information on the blank return form enclosed and to return the same to the said chairman or registrar of the precinct by the close of the registration period or their names will be removed from the registration book. It shall then be the duty of the registrar to remove from the registration book the names of all such persons who fail to return the blank return form with the requested information by the close of the registration period. All blank return forms of this kind so received by the registrars shall be kept until after the primary election and thereafter filed with the said chairman along with the precinct returns as part of the public records in the chairman's office: Provided, however, that the provisions of this section shall not be mandatory as to any voter when the chairman of the county board of elections with the assistance of the registrars, or from any available source of information can obtain the facts, set out in said section, required to be obtained by the election laws of the state; but in all cases the party affiliation shall be shown on the primary registration books in order for the voter to participate in the primary election.

However, in the event that any person, whose name has been removed from the registration book by said county board of elections as having been disqualified to vote in the precinct, should appear at the polling place on election or primary day and give satisfactory evidence to the registrar and judges that he had never received any notice by mail or otherwise of his name being placed among the list of disqualified voters in that precinct, and can satisfy said officials that he is qualified to vote in that precinct, then such person's name shall be placed back on the general election registration book and on the primary registration book if he declares his party affiliation as provided in § 163-50, and he shall be allowed to vote in said precinct as before. (1939, c. 263, s. 3.)

§ 163-47. Return of registration and poll books to chairman of county board.—On the day of the canvass of votes the registration books herein provided for shall be returned together with the poll books by the registrar to the chairman of the county board of elections who shall have the care and custody of the same until they are placed in the hands of the registrar for the purpose of registration of voters or holding subsequent primary or general elections. Said chairman of the county board of elections shall keep said books in a safe and secure place, a fire-proof vault if possible. (1939, c. 263, s. 3½.)

§ 163-48. Democratic and Republican primary registration books. — After the completion of the transfer of the names of registered electors to the general election registration book, as above provided, the chairman of the county board of elections shall then transcribe to another new registration book to be labeled and known as "The Democratic Primary Registration Book," the names of all registered democrats who are shown by the poll books to have voted in either the one thousand nine hundred and thirty-six or one thousand nine hundred and thirty-eight general election or primary election, and on another registration book shall transcribe the names of all registered republicans who voted in either of the above specified elections, which book shall be known and labeled as the "Republican Primary Registration Book." The names of all electors registered on the old books without any party affiliation being given, or who are registered as independents, or who fail to show their age, race, place of birth, residence, etc., shall not be transcribed to either party primary registration book until the said chairman or registrar shall have received back the blank return form from such electors as above provided for giving the requested information, or shall have obtained said information otherwise as hereinbefore provided in § 163-46.

Only the party primary registration book of the party participating in a primary election shall be used at the polls at a primary election and if only one party so participates then the other party primary registration book shall not be used or kept at the polls on primary day but shall, after the close of the registration period, be transmitted to the chairman of the county board of elections along with the general election registration book. At a general election, only the general election registration book shall be used at the polls on election day, and after the close of the registration period the two party primary registration books shall be transmitted to the said chairman. In all registrations hereafter held before a primary or an election, the registrars shall register all qualified applicants for registration in both the general election registration book and also in the party primary book of the party with which the elector professes affiliation, but the party affiliations shall not be recorded in the general election registration book. Any applicant for registration who refuses to state his or her party affiliation shall not be registered in a party primary registration book and shall not be permitted to vote in a primary until the affiliation is stated and so recorded in the primary book of such party. (1939, c. 263, s. 4.)

§ 163-49. Transfer of persons registered under the "Grandfather Clause."—The chairman of the county board of elections shall transcribe to the new registration books the names of all persons who are recorded as having registered under the Grandfather Clause of the constitution of North Carolina, regardless of whether such persons voted in either the one thousand nine hundred and thirty-six or one thousand nine hundred and thirty-eight election. The said chairman, however, shall not transcribe to the new books the names of any persons so registered who are known to have died or moved their voting residence elsewhere. (1939, c. 263, s. 5.)

§ 163-50. Change of party affiliation.—No registered elector shall be permitted to change his party affiliation for a primary or second primary after the close of the registration period. Any elector who desires to change his party affiliation for a primary from the registration book on which registered to that of another party shall, during the registration period only, go to the registrar of his precinct and request that such change be made on the party primary books. Before being permitted to change his party affiliation, for the purpose of participating in a primary election, however, such elector shall be required by the registrar to take the oath of party loyalty to the party to which he wishes to now affiliate, and the registrar shall thereupon administer to the said elector the following oath:

I, ..., do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I desire in good faith to change my party affiliation from the ..... party to the ..... party, and that such change of affiliation be made on the party registration books, and I further solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will support the nominees of the party to which I am now changing my affiliation in the next election and the said party nominees thereafter until I shall, in good faith, change my party affiliation in the manner provided by law, so help me God.

If at any time the chairman of the board of elections or the registrar of any precinct shall be satisfied that an error has been made in designating the party affiliation of any voter on the primary registration books then and in all such events the chairman of the county board of elections or the registrar, having the custody of the registration book may make the necessary correction upon the voter taking the oath of party loyalty in substance of the form set forth in this section. (1939, c. 263, s. 6.)

§ 163-51. Willful violations made misdemeanor. —Any chairman of a county board of elections who willfully and knowingly refuses or fails to comply with the provisions of this article with respect to his duties as herein specified shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and, upon conviction, shall be punished by a fine, imprisonment, or both, in the discretion of the court.

Any registrar who wilfully and knowingly registers an elector in the wrong party primary registration book contrary to the direction of the voter; or any registrar who willfully and knowingly refuses to make the change in the affiliation from one party primary book to another party primary book at the request of an elector who has taken the oath prescribed in § 163-50; or any registrar who willfully and knowingly permits any person to vote in the primary of a party in whose registration book such person is not registered; or any registrar who willfully and knowingly fails to comply with any of the duties placed upon him by this article shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine, imprisonment, or both, in the discretion of the court. (1939, c. 263, s. 7.)

§ 163-52. Removal of chairman of county board for violations; appointment of successor. — The state board of elections shall have the authority to summarily remove any chairman of a county board of elections who fails or refuses to comply with any of the duties placed upon him by the provisions of this article, and shall thereupon request the chairman of the state executive committee to recommend a person to succeed the member removed from said county board of elections, which said person shall thereupon be appointed by the state board of elections as the chairman of such county board of elections. (1939, c. 263, s. 8.)

Art. 10. Absent Voters.

§ 163-53. Registration of voters expecting to be absent during registration period.—Any citizen of the state, not duly registered, who may be qualified to vote under the constitution and laws of this state, and who expects to be absent from the county in which he lives during the usual period provided for registration of voters, may be registered as herein provided. The State Board of Elections shall furnish to the chairman of the county board of elections in each county a book for the registration of absent electors, which book shall contain separate columns for the name of elector, name of precinct in which elector resides, age, place of birth, race, and precinct in which elector last resided. It shall be the duty of the chairman of the board of elections in each county to register on said county registration book any qualified elector who presents himself for registration at any time other than the usual registration period, and who expects to be absent from the voting precinct in which he resides during the usual registration period, if found to be otherwise entitled to registration, in the same manner as now provided by law for the registration of voters before the precinct registrar in the usual registration period. The Chairman of the county board of elections shall, immediately after the appointment of a registrar or registrars for any election to be held in his county, either legalized primary or general election, either for the county or for any political subdivision thereof, certify to the respective registrars in each of such precincts the names, age, and residence, place of birth, etc., of any electors registered on the said county registration book and thereby entitled to vote in such precinct; and it shall be the duty of the registrar in every such precinct to enter upon the regular registration book for such precinct the names of all such electors so certified to him by the chairman of the county board of elections, marking opposite the names of such electors the words "Registered before chairman county board of elections"; and electors so registered shall be entitled to vote in any election in such precinct in the same manner as if registered by the precinct registrar. (1917, c. 23, s. 2; C. S. 5961.)

§ 163-54. Absentee voting in general elections. —Any qualified voter of the state who finds that he will be absent from the county in which he is entitled to vote during the day of the holding of any general election, or who by reason of sickness or other physical disability will be unable to travel from his home, or place of confinement, to the voting place in his precinct, may vote in any such general election, in the manner as hereinafter provided. (1939, c. 159, s. 1.)

Local Modification.—Jackson: 1939, c. 309; Sampson: 1941, c. 167.

§ 163-55. Written application for official ballot.—Such voter, not more than thirty days, nor less than two days prior to the date of such general election shall make application, in person, by some member of his or her immediate family (husband and wife, brother and sister, parent and child only) or by mail, in writing, to the chairman of the county board of elections of his county, for an official ballot to be voted in such general election. Provided that said two days minimum shall not apply to voters becoming unexpectedly physically disabled to attend the polls.

Such application shall be made on a blank to be furnished by the chairman of the county board of elections and shall be substantially in the following form:

Local Modification.—Sampson: 1941, c. 167.

§ 163-60. List of ballots issued for each precinct delivered to registrar on day preceding election.—On the day preceding any general election, the chairman of the county board of elections shall deliver to the registrar a list of all absent voters ballots issued for such precinct and on the day of the general election the chairman of the county board of elections shall deliver the absent voters ballots received by him to the precinct officials of the appropriate and proper precinct or precincts in his county.

The registrar shall post said list in a public place, at the opening of the polls in said precinct, where it can be seen and inspected by any interested voter. (1939, c. 159, s. 7.)

Local Modification.—Sampson: 1941, c. 167.

§ 163-61. Ballots deemed voted upon delivery to precinct officials; opening, depositing and recording; rejected ballots; challenges.—Absent voters ballots shall be deemed to be voted when delivered to the precinct officials, unless upon being opened and inspected it shall appear that the affidavit and jurat, or either, are not in due form, or that the name on the container envelope, the ballot and the chairman's certificate do not correspond. In either of which events, the ballot shall not be voted, nor counted. At any time during the day or, if more convenient, immediately upon the closing of the polls for the voting of voters in person, the recording of the absent voters names on the poll book and depositing the ballot in the ballot box shall be begun and the procedure shall be as follows:

(1) The name of the voter as it appears on the affidavit shall be called by one of the judges of the elections. If it be found that he is a qualified voter of the precinct, and no challenge is offered to the vote, the name shall then be recorded on the poll book, with the notation—"Absent Voter." A judge of elections shall then open the envelope by slitting it with a sharp instrument in such manner as not to destroy, tear or obliterate any part of the affidavit; the ballot shall be removed from the envelope without unfolding the same so as to disclose how the ballot is marked, and if the signature of the voter on the ballot or ballots corresponds with the name on the envelope and with the name set out in the chairman's certificate on the back of the ballot, such ballot, without examination as to how it is marked, shall be deposited in the appropriate ballot box, as other ballots are deposited; provided, however, that if the name on the envelope and the name on the ballot and in the chairman's certificate on the back of the ballot do not correspond, or if the affidavit and jurat are not in due form, said ballot shall not be deposited in the ballot box, nor counted, but returned to its envelope and marked —"Rejected."

(2) If an absent voter's ballot is challenged and the challenge is sustained, the ballot shall be returned to its envelope and marked "Challenge Sustained" and returned as provided for the return of rejected ballots.

All envelopes shall be carefully preserved, and, with ballots marked "Rejected" and "Challenge Sustained," shall be filed with the chairman of the county board of elections, at the time the returns from said precinct are filed, and shall be preserved, intact, by the chairman of the county board of elections for a period of six months, or longer if any contest shall then be pending concerning the validity of any of the absentee ballots so delivered to him. (1939, c. 159, s. 8.)

Local Modification.—Sampson: 1941, c. 167.

§ 163-62. Challenged voter granted right of hearing before county board.—The absent voter, whose ballot has been challenged, shall, upon notice, have the right to appear before the county board of elections on canvass day and be given the opportunity to sustain the validity, and if its validity is sustained, his ballot shall be counted and added to the returns from the proper precincts. (1939, c. 159, s. 9.)

Local Modification.—Sampson: 1941, c. 167.

§ 163-63. Register of applications declared a public record.—The register of applications for absent voters ballots, required to be kept by the chairman of the county board of elections, shall constitute a public record and shall be opened to the inspection of any elector of the county, at any time within thirty days before and thirty days after any general election, or at any other time when good and sufficient reason may be assigned for such inspection. (1939, c. 159, s. 10.)

Local Modification.—Sampson: 1941, c. 167.

§ 163-64. Certification without administering oath made misdemeanor.—Any person authorized to administer oaths, who wilfully signs a certificate that any person has subscribed and sworn to an affidavit for use in obtaining an absent voters application, or absent voters affidavit, or any other purported affidavit referred to and required by this article, when, as a matter of fact, he has not administered the oath to such person, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction, shall be fined not less than one hundred dollars ($100.00), or imprisoned not less than sixty days, or both, in the discretion of the court. (1939, c. 159, s. 11.)

Local Modification.—Sampson: 1941, c. 167.

§ 163-65. False statements under oath made misdemeanor.—If any person shall willfully and falsely make any affidavit or statement, under oath, which affidavit or statement, under oath, is required to be made by the provisions of this article, such person shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction, shall be punished by a fine of not less than one hundred dollars ($100.00), or imprisoned for not less than sixty days, or both, in the discretion of the court. (1939, c. 159, s. 12.)

In case of any such objection, the registrar shall enter upon his books, opposite the name of the person so objected to, the word "Challenged," and shall appoint a time and place, before the election day, when he, together with the judges of election, shall hear and decide said objection, giving personal notice of such challenge to the voter so objected to; and if for any cause personal notice cannot be given, then it shall be sufficient notice to leave a copy thereof at his residence: Provided, nothing in this section shall prohibit any elector from challenging or objecting to the name of any person registered or offering to register at any time other than that above specified. If any person so challenged or objected to shall be found not duly qualified, the registrar shall erase his name from the books. (Rev., s. 4339; 1901, c. 89, s. 19; C. S. 5972.)

§ 163-79. How challenges heard. — When any person is challenged, the judges and registrar shall explain to him the qualifications of an elector, and shall examine him as to his qualifications; and if the person insists that he is qualified and shall prove his identity with the person in whose name he offers to vote, and his continued residence in the precinct since his name was placed upon the registration list, as the case may be, by the testimony, under oath, of at least one elector, one of the judges or the registrar shall tender to him the following oath or affirmation:

You do solemnly swear (or affirm) that you are a citizen of the United States; that you are twenty-one years old, and that you have resided in this state for one year, and in this precinct (ward or township) for four months next preceding this election, and that you are not disqualified from voting by the constitution and laws of this state; that your name is (here insert name given), and that in such name you were duly registered as a voter of this township; and that you are the identical person you represent yourself to be, and that you have not voted in this election at this or any other polling place. So help you, God.

And if he refuses to take such oath, when tendered, his vote shall be rejected; if, however, he does take the oath when tendered, his vote shall be received: Provided, that after such oath or affirmation shall have been taken, the registrar and judges may, nevertheless, refuse to permit such person to vote, unless they be satisfied that he is a legal voter; and they are hereby authorized to administer the necessary oaths or affirmations to all witnesses brought before them to testify to the qualification of a person offering to vote. Whenever any person's vote shall be received, after having taken the oath or affirmation prescribed in this section, the registrar or one of the judges shall write on the poll books, at the end of such person's name the word "Sworn." The same powers as to the administration of oaths and affirmations and the examination of witnesses, as in this section granted to registrars and judges of election, may be exercised by the registrars in all cases where the names of persons registered or offering to register are objected to. (Rev., s. 4340; 1901, c. 89, s. 22; Ex. Sess. 1920, c. 93, s. 2, IV; C. S. 5973.)

§ 163-80. Challenge as felon; answer not used on prosecution. — If any person is challenged as being convicted of any crime which excludes him from the right of suffrage, he shall be required to answer any question in relation to such alleged conviction; but his answer to such questions shall not be used against him in any criminal prosecution. (Rev., s. 3388; 1901, c. 89, s. 71; C. S. 5974.)

Art. 13. Conduct of Elections.

§ 163-81. Special elections.—Every election held in pursuance of a writ from the governor shall be conducted in like manner as the regular biennial elections, so far as the particular case can be governed by general rules, and shall, to all intents and purposes, be as legal and valid, and subject the officers holding and the persons elected to the same penalties and liabilities as if the same had been held at the time and according to the rules and regulations prescribed for the regular biennial elections. (Rev., s. 4341; 1901, c. 89, s. 75; C. S. 5975.)

§ 163-82. Power of election officers to maintain order.—The registrar and judges of election in each ward or precinct, the board of elections of each county, and the state board of elections shall respectively possess full power and authority to maintain order, and to enforce obedience to their lawful commands during their sessions, respectively, and shall be constituted inferior courts for that purpose, and if any person shall refuse to obey the lawful commands of any such registrar or judges of election, county boards of elections, or state board of elections, or by disorderly conduct in their hearing or presence shall interrupt or disturb their proceedings, they may, by an order in writing, signed by their chairman, and attested by their clerk, commit the person so offending to the common jail of the county for a period not exceeding thirty days, and such order shall be executed by any sheriff or constable to whom the same shall be delivered, or if a sheriff or constable shall not be present, or shall refuse to act, by any other person who shall be deputed by such state or county boards of elections in writing, and the keeper of such jail shall receive the person so committed and safely keep him for such time as shall be mentioned in the commitment. (Rev., s. 4376; 1901, c. 89, s. 72; C. S. 5977.)

Art. 14. Counting of Ballots; Precinct Returns; Canvass of Votes and Preparation of Abstracts; Certification of Results by County Board of Elections.

§ 163-84. Proceedings when polls close; counting of ballots. — At the time for closing the polls the registrar shall announce that the polls are closed, but any qualified electors who are in the process of voting, or are in line within the voting enclosure waiting to vote, shall be allowed to vote before the polls close. After the polls are closed the registrar shall then proceed to open one ballot box at a time for the purpose of counting the ballots in that box in the presence of all election officials, witnesses and watchers, if there are any present.

The counting of ballots shall be conducted as follows: One of the ballots shall be taken out of the ballot box by one of the judges and opened in full view of all the judges and witnesses. If the judges and registrar all agree as to how the ballot shall be counted, one of them shall place it where it can be seen by any one present and shall read aloud distinctly the names of the candidates voted for and the vote on any issue submitted; and the tally-man shall tally the same directly on the tally sheets. In the event the registrar and judges cannot agree as to how the ballot shall be counted, such ballot shall not be counted, but shall be placed in an envelope and marked "disputed ballots" and returned to the county board of elections.

No ballot shall be counted which is marked contrary to law, except that no ballot shall be rejected for any technical error unless it is impossible to determine the voter's choice.

The counting of ballots shall be continuous until completed. From the time the ballot box is opened and the count of votes begun, until the votes are counted and returns are made out, signed and certified as herein required, and given to the presiding judge or registrar for delivery to the county board as required herein, the registrar and judges of election in each precinct shall not separate, nor shall a registrar or judge leave the polling place except from unavoidable necessity. He may in the manner hereinbefore prescribed mark such names as he desires, and these and only these shall be counted as being voted for by him, and he shall have the right to so vote for only one candidate as his choice for each office. At the written request of the chairman of any political party of any county, the judges and registrar of any precinct shall designate the name of some elector in each precinct, if there be such elector who affiliates with such political party, who shall be furnished the opportunity to observe the method of holding such primary election; but such elector shall in no manner interfere with the method of holding such election or interfere or communicate with or observe any voter in casting his ballot, but shall make such observation and notes of the manner of holding such election and the counting of the ballots as he may desire: Provided, nothing herein contained shall be construed to prevent any elector from casting at the general election a free and untrammeled ballot for the candidate or candidates of his choice. The ballots of each of the several parties in the boxes in each precinct shall be counted and bound in separate packages, and the result shall be certified to the proper county board of elections and by them to the state board of elections upon blanks to be provided by the state board of elections at the expense of the state within the time and, as near as may be, in the manner provided for the certification of the result of general elections. (1915, c. 101, s. 12; 1917, c. 218; C. S. 6032.)

If in the case of an office no aspirant shall receive a majority of the votes cast, a second primary, subject to the conditions hereinafter set out, shall be held in which only the two aspirants who shall have received the highest and next highest number of votes shall be voted for: Provided, that if either of such two shall withdraw and decline to run, and shall file notice to the effect with the appropriate board of elections, such board shall declare the other aspirant nominated: Provided further, that unless the aspirant receiving the second highest number of votes shall, within five days after the result of such primary election shall have been officially declared, and such aspirant has been notified by the appropriate board of elections, file in writing with the appropriate board of elections a request that a second primary be called and held, the aspirant receiving the highest number of votes cast shall be declared nominated by such appropriate board.

If a second primary be ordered by the state or a county board of elections, it shall be held four weeks after the first primary, in which case such second primary shall be held under the same laws, rules, and regulations as are provided for the first primary, except that there shall be no further registration of voters other than such as may have become legally qualified after the first primary election, and such persons may register on the day of the second primary, and shall be entitled to vote therein under the provisions of this article. Any excess of the sum so ascertained, shall be the majority within the meaning of this section. If in ascertaining the result in this way, it appears that more candidates have obtained this majority than there are positions to be filled, then those having the highest vote, if beyond the majority just defined, shall be declared the nominees for the positions to be filled. Where candidates for all the offices within such group do not receive a majority as defined and set out in this section, those candidates equal in number to the positions to be filled and having the highest number of votes shall be declared nominated unless a second primary shall be demanded, which may be done by any one or all of the candidates equal in number to the positions remaining to be filled and having the second highest number of votes. When any one or all of such candidates in the group receiving the second highest number of votes demand a second primary, such second primary shall be held and the names of all those candidates in the group receiving the highest number of votes and all those in the group receiving the second highest number of votes and demanding a second primary shall be put on the ballot for such primary. In no case shall there be a third primary, but the candidates receiving the highest number of votes in the second primary shall be nominated. may be filled by the action of the executive committee of the party affected thereby in the county wherein such vacancy occurs: Provided, that should a vacancy occur in any office after the primary has been held, a nomination shall be made in like manner as above provided, and the name of the person so nominated shall be placed on the official ballot: Provided further, that after the time for filing notice of candidacy has expired and the candidate who has been declared the nominee for any office shall die before the date of the primary, the vacancy thus created may be filled by nomination in like manner as above provided, and the name of the person so nominated shall be placed on the official ballot: Provided further, that if, after the time for filing notice of candidacy has expired, any person who has filed notice of his candidacy in accordance with law, die, and there be only one other person who has filed notice of his candidacy for such office, the board of elections shall reopen the time for filing notice of candidacy, and fix a date upon which the primary election for such office shall be held. On the bottom of each ballot shall be printed the following:

(f) In primary elections there shall be no provision for designating the choice of a party ticket by one act or mark, but there shall be a separate ballot for each party and of different colors. The ballots containing the names of the respective candidates shall be so printed that the names of the opposing candidates for any office shall, as far as practicable, alternate in position upon the ballot, to the end that the name of each candidate shall occupy with reference to the name of every other candidate for the same office, first position, second position and every other position, if any, upon an equal number of ballots, and the said ballots shall be distributed impartially and without discrimination. A square shall be to the left of the name of each candidate in which the voter may make a cross (X) mark indicating his choice for each candidate. On the bottom of each ballot in such primary election printed by the state board of elections shall be printed the following:

Facsimile of signature of chairman of state board of elections.

And on the bottom of each ballot printed by the county board of elections shall be printed the following:

Facsimile of signature of chairman of county board of elections.

(g) In all city or municipal elections and primaries there shall be an official ballot on which shall be printed the names of all candidates for city or town offices. It shall conform as nearly as possible to the rules prescribed for the printing of the official general ballot, but on the bottom thereof shall be printed the following:

Facsimile of signature of city clerk. (1929, c. 164, s. 9; 1931, c. 254, ss. 2-10; 1933, c. 165, ss. 20, 21; 1939, c. 116, s. 1.)

§ 163-156. Ballots for each precinct wrapped separately.—All ballots for use in each precinct shall be wrapped in packages, each package to contain whatever number of ballots the chairman of the county board of elections may deem advisable for the respective precincts in his own county, but each package shall have written or stamped thereon the number of ballots contained therein so the registrar will know how many ballots to account for in his precinct. (1929, c. 164, s. 10; 1933, c. 165, s. 22.)

§ 163-157. Number of ballots to be furnished polling places.—There shall be provided for each voting place at which an election or primary is to be held such a number of ballots that there shall be at least one hundred and twenty-five ballots for every one hundred registered voters at each polling place, or an excess of ballots of twenty-five per cent over the registration at each precinct. (1929, c. 164, s. 11; 1933, c. 165, s. 22.)

§ 163-158. Ballot boxes. — The County Board of Elections shall provide for each precinct ballot boxes for the official ballots, as herein specified, which boxes shall respectively be plainly marked "Presidential Electors," "Ballot Box Members of Congress," "Ballot Box United States Senator," "Official State Ballot Box," "Official County Ballot Box," "Official Township Ballot Box," and "Official Propositions Ballot Box," and also one additional box for spoiled ballots, to be plainly marked "For Spoiled Ballots." Each box shall be supplied with a lock and key and with an opening in the top large enough to allow a single folded ballot to be easily passed through, but no larger. (1929, s. 164, s. 12; 1931, c. 254, s. 11.)

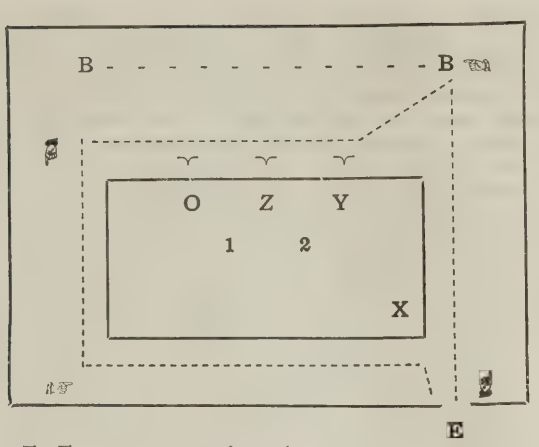
§ 163-159. Sample ballots. — The State Board of Elections shall prepare sample ballots of each kind of ballot printed by the State for the purpose of instructing voters in marking their ballots, which sample ballots shall be printed on colored paper and with the words "Sample Ballots" printed conspicuously thereon and shall distribute the same to the County Boards of Elections. The County Boards of Elections shall likewise print on colored paper and distribute county and township sample ballots for instructing said voters. (1929, c. 164, s. 13; 1931, c. 254, s. 12.)

§ 163-160. Distribution of ballots and boxes.—The County Board of Elections shall deliver to the Registrar in each precinct the proper number of ballots and boxes, as required by the provisions of this article, three days before the day of election, and shall obtain from each Registrar a receipt for same. (1929, c. 164, s. 14.)

§ 163-161. Destroyed or stolen ballots; how replaced; reports as to.—In case the ballots furnished to any precinct in accordance with the provisions of this article shall be destroyed or stolen, it shall be the duty of the County Board of Elections to cause other ballots to be prepared in the form of the ballots so wanting. Within three days after the close of the polls on election days, the Registrars having lost such ballots shall make a written report of the whole circumstances of the loss of the ballots, under oath, to the County Board of Elections. (1929, c. 164, s. 15.)

§ 163-162. Registrars, duties of, compensation; failure to serve.—In addition to the compensation for performance of the duties required in the registration of voters, each Registrar shall receive for his services on election day the sum of five dollars. If any Registrar or Judge of election fails or refuses to serve as herein provided, the officer holding the election shall swear in a bystander of the same political faith as the Registrar not serving, and if none such be present then any other qualified elector. The bystander sworn in to act as Registrar or Judge shall receive the same compensation as the Registrar is entitled to. One of the judges appointed for such purpose by the precinct election officers shall have charge of the ballots and furnish them to the voters in manner hereinafter set forth. The Registrar shall promptly, at the close of the registration period, certify to the County Board of Elections the number of voters registered in his precinct. (1929, c. 164, s. 16; 1939, c. 264.)

§ 163-163. Voting booths; arrangement and number of; provisions as to.—The County Board of Elections in each county whose duty it is to hold the election and appoint polling places therein, as herein provided for, shall cause the same to be suitably provided with a sufficient number of voting booths, equipped with the tables or shelves on which voters may conveniently mark their ballots. Each voting booth shall be at least three feet square and six feet high and shall contain three sides and have a door or curtain in front, which door or curtain shall extend within two feet of the floor; and each booth shall be so arranged that it shall be impossible for one voter in one voting booth to see another voter at another voting booth in the act of marking his ballot. The arrangement shall be such that the ballot boxes and voting booths shall be in plain view of the judges of election. The number of such voting booths shall be not less than one for each hundred voters qualified to vote at such polling places. Each voting booth shall be kept properly lighted and provided with proper supplies and conveniences for marking ballots. The County Board of Elections may provide buildings by lease or otherwise in which the elections are to be conducted, or they may cause a space not more than one hundred feet from the ballot box to be roped off, in which space no person shall be allowed to enter except through a way not exceeding three feet in width for the entrance and exit of voters. They may prescribe the manner in which the place for holding elections shall be prepared in every precinct so as to properly effectuate the purpose of this article. The County Board of Elections shall also be entitled to demand and use any school or other public building for the purpose of holding any election and require that such building be vacated for such purpose. (1929, c. 164, s. 17.)



§ 163-164. Regulations for opening polls; oath of judges and registrars.—The Judges of election and Registrars of each precinct shall meet at the polling places therein at least one-half hour before the time set for opening polls for each election referred to in this article, and shall proceed to arrange the space within the enclosures set apart for election, and to prepare the booths for the orderly and legal conduct of the election. They shall then and there have the official ballot boxes, herein referred to, together with the boxes for ballot stubs and the boxes for spoiled ballots as hereinbefore provided, the sealed packages of official ballots, the registration book, the polling book, and the required supplies. They shall see that the voting booths are supplied with pencils, or pen and ink; unlock the official ballot boxes; see that the same are empty; allow the authorized watchers present and any other electors who may be present to examine said boxes, and shall lock the same again while empty. After such official ballot boxes are relocked they shall not be unlocked or opened until the closing of the polls; and except as authorized by law no ballot or other matter shall be placed in such boxes. Each Judge of election and Registrar shall before the opening of the polls take the following oath:

"I do solemnly swear that I will administer the duties of my office without fear or favor; that I will not in any manner request or seek to persuade or induce any voter to vote for or against any particular candidate or proposition, and that I will not keep or make any memorandum of anything occurring within the voting booths, except I be called upon to testify in a judicial proceeding for a violation of the election laws of this State: so help me God."

This oath shall be administered at the time hereinbefore prescribed by the Registrar to the two Judges of election and by one of them to the Registrar. The same oath shall be taken before the Registrar or Judge by every person rendering assistance. They shall then open the sealed package of ballots, and one of the Judges shall make proclamation that the polls are open and of the time when they will be closed. From the time of opening of the polls until the announcement of the result of the canvass of the votes after the close of the polls and the signing of the official returns the official ballot boxes and the other boxes herein provided for and all the official ballots herein provided for shall be kept within the precinct election enclosures. (1929, c. 164, s. 18.)

§ 163-165. No loitering or electioneering allowed within 50 feet of polls; regulations for voting at polling places; banners or placards; guard rail; diagram.—No person shall, while the polls are open at polling places, loiter about or do any electioneering within such polling place or within fifty feet thereof, and no political banner, poster, or placard shall be allowed in or upon such polling places during the day of the election. The election officials and ballot boxes shall at all times be in plain view of the qualified voters who are present, and a guard rail shall be placed not nearer than ten feet nor further than twenty feet from the said election officials and ballot boxes.

The arrangement of the polling place shall be substantially according to the following diagram, and shall conform as nearly thereto as the building or other place in which said election is held will permit:

E. Entrance to voting place.
X. Judge with ballots and box for spoiled ballots.
B. Voting booths.
Y. Polls book.
Z. Ballot box.
O. Box for stubs.
1, 2. Other election officials.
- - - - - Direction of entry and exit of voter.
(1929, c. 164, s. 19.)

§ 163-166. Delivery of ballot to voter; testing registration.—The voter shall enter through the entrance provided, and shall forthwith give to the Judge of election his name and residence. One of the Judges shall thereupon announce the name and residence of the voter in distinct tone of voice. The Registrar shall at once announce whether the name of such voter is duly registered. If he be registered, and be not challenged, or if he be challenged and the challenge decided in his favor, or if he take the requisite oath and be lawfully entitled to vote, the proper Judge of election shall prepare for him one official ballot of each kind, folded by such judge in the proper manner for voting, which is: first, bring the bottom of the ballot up to the margin of the printing at the top of the ballot, allowing the margin to overlap; and second, fold both sides of the center, so that when folded the face of the ballot, except the one inch margin at the top thereof, shall be concealed, and so that the ballot shall be not more than four inches wide. Such Judge shall then instruct the voter to refold the ballot in the same creases when he has marked it. (1929, c. 164, s. 20; 1931, c. 254, s. 13.)

§ 163-167. Marking ballots by voter. — The voter shall then go to one of the voting booths and shall therein prepare his ballot by marking in the appropriate margin or place a cross (X) mark opposite the name of the candidate or party of his choice for each office to be filled, or by filling the name of the candidate of his choice in the blank space provided therefor, and marking a cross (X) opposite thereto. The voter may designate choice of candidate by a cross (X) or by a check mark, or other clear indicative mark. (1929, c. 164, s. 21.)

§ 163-168. Folding and depositing of ballots; signature of voter if challenged; delivery of poll books to clerks of Superior Court.—When the voter shall have prepared his ballot or ballots, he shall leave the voting booth with his ballot folded so as to conceal the face of the ballot, and keep it so folded, shall proceed at once to the judge of election designated to receive ballots and shall offer them to such judge who shall then deposit the ballots in the proper boxes: Provided, however, that if the voter shall have been challenged and the challenge be decided in the voter's favor, before depositing the ballot or ballots in the proper boxes, the voter shall write his name on the ballot or ballots for identification in the event that anv action should be taken later in regard to the voter's right to vote. After voting, the voter shall forthwith pass outside the guard-rail, unless he be one of the persons authorized to remain for purposes other than voting. No ballots except official ballots bearing the official endorsement shall be allowed to be deposited in the ballot boxes or to be counted. No official ballot folded shall be unfolded outside of the voting booth until it is to be counted. No person to whom any official ballot shall be delivered shall leave the space within the guard-rail until after he shall have delivered back all such ballots. When a person shall have received an official ballot from the judge, he shall be deemed to have begun the act of voting, and if he leave the guard-rail before the deposit of his ballot in the box he shall not be entitled to pass again within the guard-rail for the purpose of voting.

The poll books required to be kept by the judges of elections shall be signed by the judge at the close of the election, and delivered to the registrar, who shall deliver them to the Clerk of the Superior Court. (1929, c. 164, s. 22; 1931, c. 254, s. 14.)

§ 163-169. Manner and time of voting.—On receiving his ballot the voter shall forthwith, and without leaving the enclosed space, retire alone, unless he be one that is entitled to assistance as hereinafter provided, to one of the voting booths, and without undue delay unfold and mark his ballots. No voter shall be allowed to occupy a booth already occupied by another, or to occupy a booth more than five minutes in case all the booths are in use and voters are waiting. It shall be unlawful purposely to deface or tear an official ballot in any manner, or to erase any name or mark written thereon by a voter If a voter wrongly mark or deface or tear a ballot he may obtain others successively one at a time, but not more than three of any one kind, upon returning to the Judge each ballot so spoiled. (1929, c. 164, s. 23.)

§ 163-170. Who allowed in room or enclosure; peace officers. — No person other than voters in the act of voting shall be allowed in the room or enclosure in which said ballot box and booths are, except the officers of election and official markers as hereinafter provided. In case of cities having duly enrolled policemen or peace officers, the city authorities may designate the officers to keep the peace at the polls on the outside of the enclosure in which is the ballot box. But in no event shall said policemen or peace officers come nearer to said entrance than ten feet, or enter the room or enclosure in which is the ballot box, unless specially requested to do so by the officers holding the elections, and then only for the purpose of preventing disorder; and at any time when requested to do so by said officers holding the elections, the said policemen shall retire from the room or enclosure in which is the ballot box, and to a point not nearer than ten feet to the aforesaid entrance. (1929, c. 164, s. 24.)

Local Modification.—Cumberland: 1937, c. 426.

§ 163-171. Ballots not taken from polls; other ballots for spoiled ballots; delivery to County Board of Elections.—No person shall take or remove any ballots from the polling place before the close of the polls. If any voter spoils a ballot, he may successively obtain others, one at a time, not exceeding three in all, upon returning each spoiled one to the Registrar, and the Registrar shall deposit said spoiled ballot in the box kept for the purpose by him. Within three days after each election or primary the Registrar of each precinct shall deliver to the County Board of Elections in an envelope to be furnished by the County Board of Elections for such purpose the spoiled ballots so deposited at such precinct, and shall at the same time in another envelope furnished for such purpose, deliver to the said County Board of Elections the unused ballots from said precinct. The County Board of Elections shall thereupon make a check to ascertain whether the total of such spoiled ballots and such unused ballots when added to the number of ballots cast at such precinct shall equal the total number of ballots furnished to the Registrar of such precinct prior to such election or primary. (1929, c. 164, s. 25.)

§ 163-172. Assistance to voters in elections.—Prior to the date of any election hereunder the county board of elections, together with the registrar of each precinct of each county, shall designate for each precinct therein a sufficient number of persons of good moral character and of the requisite educational qualifications, who shall be bona fide electors of the precinct for which they are appointed, to act as markers, whose duty it shall be to assist voters in the preparation of their ballots. The assistants or markers so appointed by the said county board of elections shall be so appointed as to give fair representation to each political party whose candidates appear upon the ballot. The chairman of the county organization of any political party may, not more than ten days before any election to be held, hereunder, submit to the county board of elections the names of not less than ten qualified voters in any voting precinct of the county, and thereupon the marker or markers appointed to represent such party in said election at said voting precinct shall be selected from among those so named. Such persons shall remain within the enclosure prepared for the holding of elections, but shall not come within ten feet of the guard-rail, except when going to or returning from the booth with any elector who has requested assistance. Such marker or assistant shall not in any manner seek to persuade or induce any voter to cast his vote in any particular way, and shall not make or keep any memorandum of anything occurring within such booth, and shall not, directly or indirectly, reveal to any other person how in any particular such voter marked his ballot, unless he, or they, be called upon to testify in a judicial proceeding for a violation of the election laws. Every such marker or assistant, together with the registrar and judge of election, shall, before the opening of the polls, take and subscribe an oath that he will not, in any manner, seek to persuade or induce any voter to vote for or against any particular candidate, or for or against any particular proposition, and that he will not make or keep any memorandum of anything occurring within the booth, and will not disclose the same, unless he be called upon to testify in a judicial proceeding for a violation of the election laws of this state. The said oath, after first being taken by the registrar, may be administered by him to the two judges of election and to the markers or assistants, as herein provided: Provided, that in all general elections held under the provisions of this article any voter may select another member of his or her family who shall have the right to accompany such voter into the voting booth and assist in the preparation of the ballot, but immediately after rendering such assistance the person so assisting shall vacate the booth and withdraw from the voting arena. This section is not applicable to primary elections. (1929, c. 164, s. 26; 1933, c. 165, s. 24; 1939, c. 352, s. 1.)

Local Modification.—Brunswick: 1933, c. 164; 1935, c. 221; Cherokee: 1935, c. 461; 1937, c. 391; Cumberland: 1937, c. 426; Sampson: 1941, c. 166.

§ 163-173. Aid to persons suffering from physical disability or illiteracy.—Any person who, on account of physical disability, is obviously unable to enter the booth without assistance, or who on account of such disability, or because of illiteracy, or for any other good reason, shall request assistance from the registrar or judges of election, may, upon such declaration and upon his own request, have assistance from any one of the markers or assistants provided for in § 163-172. The voter may indicate which of the markers he desires to assist him; whereupon the registrar shall direct that the marker or assistant so indicated by the voter accompany said voter into the booth and give him such aid as may be requested in the preparation of his ballot, whereupon said marker or assistant shall withdraw from said booth and to his place within the rail, and shall not accompany the voter to the ballot box unless assistance be required on account of physical infirmity and such assistance is requested by the voter, or have any further conversation with said voter prior to the time that he deposits his ballot. In the event the voter does not request the assistance of any particular marker or assistant, then the registrar shall appoint from among the official markers or assistants some person to aid the voter in preparing his ballot. This section is not applicable to primary elections. (1929, c. 164, s. 27; 1939, c. 352, s. 1.)

Local Modification.—Brunswick: 1933, c. 164; 1935, c. 221; Cherokee: 1935, c. 461; 1937, c. 391; Cumberland: 1937, c. 426; Sampson: 1941, c. 166.

§ 163-174. Assistance to illiterate or disabled voter in primary.—Any qualified voter entitled to vote in any primary, but who by reason of any physical disability or illiteracy is unable to mark his ballot may upon statement to the registrar of his incapacity and upon his request be aided by a near relative (husband or wife, brother or sister, parent or child, grandparent or grandchild), who shall be admitted to the booth with such voter, or if no near relative is present such voter may call to his assistance any other voter of his precinct who has not given aid to another voter, and who shall likewise be admitted to the booth with such voter: Provided that if the voter needs and is entitled to the assistance as herein provided for, and there is no near relative present, or anyone else authorized hereunder to give assistance, the voter may call to his assistance the registrar or one of the judges of the election: Provided, further, that any voter may upon his request be accompanied into the voting booth by a near relative (as above defined), and obtain such assistance from said member of the family as he may desire whether disabled or not. It shall be unlawful for any person to give, receive, or permit assistance in the voting booth during any primary to any voter otherwise than as is herein provided for. (1939, c. 352, s. 2.)

Local Modification.—Cumberland, Wilson: 1939, c. 402.

§ 163-175. Method of marking ballots; improperly marked ballots not counted; when.—The voter shall observe the following rules in marking his ballot:

1. If the elector desires to vote a straight ticket, or in other words, for each and every candidate of one party for whatever office nominated, he shall, either—

(a) Make a cross mark in the circular space below the name of the party at the head of the ticket; or

(b) Make a cross mark on the left of and opposite the name of each and every candidate of such party in the blank space provided therefor.

2. If the elector desires to vote a mixed ticket, or in other words for candidates of different parties, he shall, either,

(a) Omit making a cross mark in the party circle above the name of any party and make a cross mark in the voting square opposite the name of each candidate for whom he desires to vote on whatever ticket he may be; or

(b) Make a cross mark in the party circle above the name of the party for some of whose candidates he desires to vote, and then make a cross mark in the voting square opposite the name of any candidates of any other party for whom he may desire to vote, in which case, the cross mark in the party circle above the name of a party will cast the elector's vote for every candidate on the ticket of such party, except for offices for which candidates are marked on other party tickets, and the cross marks before the names of such candidates will cast the elector's vote for them.

3. If the elector desires to vote for a person whose name does not appear on the ticket, he can substitute the name by writing it in with a pencil or ink in the proper place, and making a cross (x) mark in the blank space at the left of the name so written in. When a name is written in on the official ballot, the new name so written in is to be treated like any other name on the ballot. No sticker is to be used.

4. If the elector marks more names than there are persons to be elected to an office, or, if for any reason, it is impossible to determine the voter's choice for an office to be filled, his ballot shall not be counted for such office but shall be returned as a blank vote for such office.

5. If a voter shall do any act extrinsic to the ballot itself, such as enclosing any paper or other article in the folded ballot, such ballot shall be void.

6. No ballot shall be rejected for any technical error which does not make it impossible to determine the voter's choice.

7. Every elector who does not vote a ballot delivered by the election officer shall, before leaving the polling place, return such ballot to such officer.

8. A cross (x) mark shall consist of any straight line crossing any other straight line at an angle within a voting circle or square. A voter may designate his choice of candidate by the cross (x) mark or by a check mark, or any other clear indicative mark. Any ballot which is defaced or torn by the voter shall be void. (1929, c. 164, s. 28; 1931, c. 254, s. 15; 1933, c. 165, s. 23; 1939, c. 116, s. 2.)

§ 163-176. Offenses of voters; interference with voters; penalty.—A voter who shall, except as herein otherwise provided, allow his ballot to be seen by any person, or who shall take or remove, or attempt to take or remove, any ballot from the polling place or any person who shall interfere with, or attempt to interfere with any voter when inside said enclosed space, or when marking his ballot, or who shall remain longer than the specified time allowed by this article in the booth, after being notified that his time has expired, or who shall endeavor to induce any voter, while within the enclosure, before voting, to show how he marks or has marked his ballot, or aid, or attempt to aid, any voter by means of any mechanical device, or any other means whatever, while within the enclosure, in marking his ballot, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be fined or imprisoned, or both, in the discretion of the court; and election officers shall cause any person committing any of the offenses herein set forth to be arrested and shall cause charges to be preferred against the person so offending, in a court of competent jurisdiction. (1929, c. 164, s. 29.)

§ 163-177. Offenses of election officers. — Any judge of election or registrar, or other election officer, after having qualified, who wilfully and knowingly refuses or fails to perform the duties herein prescribed, or who wilfully and knowingly violates the provisions of this article, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and subject to a fine, or to imprisonment in the county jail not less than ten nor more than ninety days, at the discretion of the court. (1929, c. 164, s. 30.)

§ 163-178. Reading and numbering the ballots; certificate of result; delivery of boxes to Board of Elections.—When the polls are closed the Registrar and Judge shall, in the presence of the watchers appointed by the respective executive committees of the several political parties and any other electors of the precinct who choose to be present open the box and count and record the number of the votes received by each candidate and on each question or measure. The said Judge of election and Registrar shall not adjourn or postpone the canvass of the vote in such precinct until it shall be fully completed. The Judges of election may, at their discretion, open the ballots of absent electors immediately after the close of the polls, subject to the rights of challenge now allowed by law. A certificate setting forth the results of such election shall be signed by the Registrar and Judges of election. Upon the close of the counting of the ballots, as herein provided, the said election official shall replace said ballots in the official ballot box and lock the same. The ballot box shall then be delivered to such place as may be designated by the county board of elections. (1929, c. 164, s. 32.)

§ 163-179. Hours of primaries and elections. — In all primary and general elections held in this state, including all local and municipal elections, the polls shall open at six-thirty o'clock A. M. and shall close at the hour of six-thirty o'clock P. M. Eastern Standard Time. (1929, c. 164, s. 33; 1937, cc. 258, 457; 1941, c. 222.)

§ 163-180. Application to all primary elections; repeal of conflicting law; one-party primary officials selected from party.—The provisions of this article shall apply to any and all primary elections held in this State, or in any county thereof, as fully as it applies to general elections, as herein provided, and § 163-126 is hereby repealed, in so far as it conflicts with this article, the intent being to provide the same laws for the conduct of primaries as for general elections.

Provided, further, that in any primary election held under the provisions of this article, when only one political party participates in such primary, then, all of the election officials selected for holding such primary shall be chosen only from the political party so participating. (1929, c. 164, s. 34.)

§ 163-181. Assistants at polls; when allowed and amount to be paid. — The county board of elections may appoint one clerk or assistant at any precinct in the county which has as many as five hundred qualified registered voters on the registration books in such precinct, and one additional such clerk or assistant for each additional five hundred qualified registered voters at such precinct. No other clerk or assistant shall be appointed for any precinct except as herein set out. Such assistants and clerks shall, in all cases, be qualified voters of the ward, or precinct, for which they are appointed, and they shall be paid the same compensation as is provided by law for the judges of election to be paid. (1929, c. 134, s. 35; 1933, c. 165, s. 24.)

§ 163-182. Watchers; challengers.—Each political party or independent candidate named on the ballot may, by a writing signed by the county chairman of such political party, or, as the case may be, by the independent candidate or his manager, filed with one of the Judges of election, appoint two watchers to attend each polling place. Such watchers shall serve also as challengers; Provided, that no person shall be appointed as a watcher who is not of good moral character; and the Judges of election and registrar may for good cause shown reject any appointee and require that another be appointed. Such watchers shall in no case enter the guard-rail, but may be present at the opening of the boxes and the canvass of the ballots at the close of the election. Provided that any elector when the name of any elector is called by the judges of election, may exercise the right of challenging the elector's right to vote and when he or she does so then such challenger may enter the election space to make good such challenge and then retire at once when such challenge is heard. (1929, c. 164, s. 36.)

§ 163-183. Supervision over primaries and elections; regulations.—The State Board of Elections shall have general supervision over the primaries and elections provided for herein, and may delegate its authority to county boards appointed by it, and in case where sufficient provision may not appear to have been made herein may make such regulations and provisions as it may deem necessary: Provided, none of the same shall be in conflict with any of the provisions of this article. (1929, c. 164, s. 37.)

§ 163-184. Ballots furnished absentee electors; when deemed voted before sunset; deposit in boxes.—The ballots to be furnished absentee electors under the provisions of article 10 shall be the same as the official ballots hereinbefore designated. Explanatory Note Regarding Index

In view of the fact that the legislative edition of the Code cannot contain the additional laws enacted by the 1943 Session of the General Assembly, or reflect any changes made by that Session, it is obviously impossible to set forth the complete index in this edition. The final index cannot be set up and published until after the adjournment of the General Assembly of 1943, at which time the editorial work incident to the inclusion of the 1943 laws will be commenced. However, in order to illustrate the make-up and general features of the index, a word of explanation is in order with reference to the use of the "See" references in this index.

As primarily used in this index, the word "See" differs from its use in prior indexes in that it is not a direction to the user of the index to look elsewhere for additional citations of statutes on the same subject matter, but rather, it follows a reference which gives the inclusive section numbers for which the user is looking in order to refer the user to the place where these statutes are "broken down" into a line-by-line index analysis. For example, on Page 2073 under the black letter title "Abandonment" one finds the following lines:

"Streets and highways, §§ 136-26, 136-58, 136-67, 136-96.
See Streets and Highways."

The latter line is not intended to refer the user to other statutes relating to the abandonment of streets and highways, but merely to refer the user to the title "Streets and Highways" if he should desire to approach the question in which he is interested from the standpoint of a more detailed analysis of the individual statutes. He has already been cited to all the statutes on the subject by section numbers but not by detailed contents of the statutes and the sole purpose of the "See" reference is to give him a reference to the black letter heading where the sections referred to are fully analyzed and indexed. This use of the word "See" is thus different from the use of that word in prior indexes and should not be confused with the former practice. It may thus be seen that the frequent appearance of the word "See" is due in large part not to a continuation of the former practice but to a policy of using that word to improve the over-all effectiveness of the index.

However, in a relatively few instances, where the number of sections involved would run to such length that a mere listing would serve no useful purpose and on the other hand a detailed line-by-line "break down" would involve too much duplication, the "See" reference has been employed to refer the user of the index to the proper index title under which may be found the detailed line-by-line index analysis. The latter use of "See" is absolutely necessary and in accordance with the best indexing standards.

Reference is made to the Preface for further explanation of the index work.
